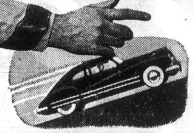
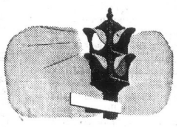
Tip about that trip..

For fun-on-the-run, as you've already discovered, there's no travel mate like that Buick of yours—especially if it's really in the pink.

So while you're readying yourself for vacation tours, how about doing the same for your car—with a little of that special Buick care that does so much to make trips top-notch? For instance—



Got plenty of pep? Our engine tune-up is just the ticket to bring back flashing, new-car liveliness on hills and straightaways.



Can you "stop on a dime"? The answer's yes—when our experts get through truing up worn drums, mounting new linings to replace old worn ones.

How's your view? It'll be good, night and day, when you let our experts check your lights, windshield wipers, and windows.

Chassis sassy?

Does it ride roughly—squeal and squeak at you?

Drive in—we'll "shoot the works" with our grease guns and oilcans to take the noise and stiffness out of your ride—give you easier steering.

And a Buick-trained mechanic will give your car a conscientious trouble-preventing inspection as well—without charge!

In short, start your trip in our shop and you'll find it free of car worries all the way. Drop in—see our facilities—talk to our experts—and see for yourself it's the best insurance of a good time that you can buy.

Orville H. Farver Weds Florida Girl

The first Methodist Church in St. Augustine, Fla., was the setting for the wedding, Saturday evening, June 25, of Shirley Constance Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben William Adams, of St. Augustine, and Orville Herbert Farver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Wilbert Farver of Tecumseh. The Rev. A. R. Buhrman performed the double ring ceremony at seven-thirty o'clock.

Lighted white tapers in Cathedral standards cast a soft glow over the wedding party assembled before the altar, effectively decorated with palms, ferns and magnolia foliage, which formed the background for arrangements of white gladioli. Family pews were marked with clusters of white flowers tied with satin ribbons.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Wm. K. Moeller, church organist, played a program of nuptial music and Lewis Hinson sang "For You Alone," "Through The Years" and "Because." After the wedding vows were taken Mr. Hinson sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. Farver served as best man for his son and the guests were seated by Robert W. Herndon. Walter Foy, George Morgan, Burnett Thomas and Tommy Rogero.

Gowned in shimmering ivory satin the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. The deeply cut, square neckline of the bodice was filled with sheer imported marquisette and outlined with a deep square collar that was richly embroidered with seed pearls and bugle beads. The slim, long waisted bodice, which closed down the front with satin covered buttons, terminated in a full skirt that swept into a long court train. Her veil of imported illusion with hand-rolled edges fell from a queen's crown of seed pearls and opalescent beads. The bride carried a semi-cascade bouquet of lily of the valley, stephanotis and frenched carnations, centered with a single Brasso orchid.

Doris Christine Adams, sister of the bride and maid of honor, and Mrs. Robert W. Herndon, cousin of the bride and matron of honor, were gowned identically in pink summer taffeta, fashioned with a yoke of sheer marquisette forming a high jewel neckline. A wide sash belt on the bouffant skirt terminated in a graceful bustle bow in the back.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Carolyn Crowley, Phyllis Trask, Jo Anne McRae and Peggy McCormick, wore gowns of aqua summer taffeta styled on the same lines. All the attendants carried Colonial bouquets of carnations and wore floral arrangements in their hair and short white gloves.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Adams was gowned in delft blue chantilly lace with pink nylon gloves, a floral headpiece and a corsage of pink frenched carnations. Mrs. Farver, mother of the groom, selected a gown of toast colored chantilly lace with matching headpiece and mitts. Her corsage was of yellow frenched carnations.

A reception was held at the Elks Club following the ceremony. During the evening the couple left for a wedding trip. They will return to St. Augustine before leaving on an extended trip north, after which they will reside in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Farver graduated from Ketterlinus High School and later attended Florida State University in Tallahassee, where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. The bridegroom attended Albion College and served in the Navy Air Corps for two years. He is now a student at Adrian College where he is affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega.

Married men should be masters in their homes or know the reason why, states a writer. At least most of them know the reason why.

It's a pretty good sign that the honeymoon is over when the bride starts complaining about the noise hubby makes getting breakfast.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Now I'm Going Back To High School!

When I saw lights burning in the High School auditorium last night, I looked in to see what went on. About twenty people were listening to Buzz Ellis, the electrician, talk about television.

I slipped into a back seat and asked Hap Thomas what was up. Hap told me it was the new Self-Improvement Club. I stayed to listen—and learned a lot. Buzz really knows his stuff.

Turns out this club meets every Friday night. Each member gives a talk on the subject he knows most about. I joined on the spot because learning new things is one of my favorite hobbies.

From where I sit, it's willingness to learn from the other person that makes Americans tolerant towards so many different viewpoints and tastes in things. Just because Buzz Ellis goes for chocolate malteds, while I prefer a mellow glass of beer, doesn't mean I'm right and he's wrong. Incidentally, next week I'm going to talk on how to run a newspaper.

Earl C. Michener, M. C.

From Lansing: "Best wishes to the village of Tecumseh for an outstanding 125th anniversary celebration," G. Mennen Williams, Governor. Governor Williams will visit Tecumseh tomorrow and will officially crown "Queen Lenawee and Queen Tecumseh" who are reigning over the celebration.

From two other sources come the following greetings which should warm the hearts of all Tecumseh citizens: "The citizens of our town are sorry that we cannot actively participate in your celebration, but we want to extend our best wishes upon your 125th anniversary and may you have continuous prosperity and success and celebrate many more anniversaries." This is signed by J. D. McNerney, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Tecumseh, Nebraska.

Also from out West: "The city officials of Tecumseh, Oklahoma, have decided to give extended publicity to your anniversary celebration, through our local press and luncheon programs, to urge every citizen who contemplates a vacation trip, business trip or other passage through your great state or anywhere within a reasonable distance of your fair city, to make every effort to call upon your city during this time or any time in the future.

"The writer feels that on behalf of the City of Tecumseh, Oklahoma, and its citizens by reciprocity, extend to you, the officials and members of the Chamber of Commerce of Tecumseh, Michigan, and all the citizens of your city, a welcome invitation to visit the City of Tecumseh, Oklahoma, at any time the opportunity affords and if they will call the city seat of Government, in the Municipal building, they will be accorded every favor, and extended such welcome as a small western city that has grown up out of the Indian Territory can afford." This letter is signed by Foy Edwards, Mayor of the City of Tecumseh, Oklahoma.

told a living story of the many products and by-products produced by the company. These included everything from foods for man and beast to nylon hosiery, tires and other industrial products. Quaker's model kitchen also was in operation, producing cookies by the thousands and each guest received a sample as well as a package of Quaker candy.

"I never realized," many visitors were heard to remark, "that Quaker produced so many, many things." Others commented, "It's my first to the plant, though I've lived here all my life. It's so sparkling clean that it amazes me."

Here for the Quaker show were Donald Cowell, public relations manager of the company; Alec Donnelly, president of the Cerophyl Laboratories, Kansas City, and Dallas Western, director of the grain improvements program. The show was under the direction of Joe Horner of Chicago.

ginning to arrive for the celebration and reunions and picnics in parks are numerous. Tonight at 8:30, of course, will see the second performance of the pageant at Recreation.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams will arrive here Friday at 11 a.m., and he will be greeted by an official party and taken immediately to the Country Club for a luncheon. Edward C. Heilman is chairman of this program. At 2 p.m., at Recreation, he will officially crown Miss Moore and Miss Hayden as the celebration's queens. Another performance of the pageant will be given again Friday evening.

It is expected that Saturday will be one of the largest of the week-long anniversary—from the crowd standpoint—with the arrival of 1,000 or more persons from Tecumseh, Ontario, Canada, and other points "across the border." The Canadians will arrive about 10 a. m., with the Chatham Canadian Legion Bagpipe Band and the Canadian Legion Boys and Girls Bugle Corps. At 11 o'clock there will be a parade with local veterans groups participating, through the business district, the Tecumseh High School Band joining with the Canadians. The line of march will be to Brookside Cemetery where a wreath will be laid on the veterans' lot by the visitors.

At 1:30 in the afternoon of Saturday, Mayor Tom Scott of Tecumseh, Ont., will present Mayor Marvin Watkins, of Tecumseh, Michigan, with a British flag and, in return, Mr. Watkins will present the Canadian mayor with an American flag. Ronald Harris, Chamber secretary, will act as master-of-ceremonies at this program, which will take place at Recreation. Gustav LaCasse, Canadian federal senator, will speak. This program will be broadcast over Station WABJ, Adrian. At 3 p.m., at Recreation, there will be a ball game between the Tecumsehs. There will be another pageant performance at 8:30 p.m.

Sunday's high-light will be a special church service at 7:30 at Recreation. Bishop Marshall Reed, Michigan's Methodist bishop, will speak, and this program is under the direction of the Tecumseh Ministerial Association. The public is invited to this service.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and again at 8 p.m., at Recreation, Chief Flying Cloud and many other authentic Indians will present a ceremonial. James Welsh, the original I-A Traveler, will act as narrator of this program. The pageant will not be presented on Sunday evening.

Monday's program, for which more than 25,000 persons are expected, will bring the anniversary celebration to an official close.

The day will begin with a "Band Battle" at 10 a.m., with organizations from half a dozen or more towns participating. There will be parades and concerts throughout the morning, and again at 2 p.m. The afternoon will be given over to picnics and reunions in the parks.

At 8:30 the final performance of the pageant will start and immediately following will be the $1,000 display of fireworks. A licensed pyrotechnician will arrive Saturday to take over the shooting of the giant pieces from Recreation. Last year, it was estimated that 25,000 people were on hand for Tecumseh's 4th celebration, when a similar amount of fireworks were discharged.

The anniversary party got under way on Monday with the Quaker Oats company's industrial show, starring Rin Tin Tin III and his trainer from Hollywood. This show had a total attendance of more than 5,000.

Tuesday was "Industrial Day," and tours through local factories were arranged. Yesterday was "Youth Day," and there was a parade in the afternoon with prizes contributed by merchants. This parade attracted a big crowd.

Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and again Tuesday evening at the high school, the General Motors "Preview of Progress," a new and startling stage demonstration of the miracles of science was presented. This entertainment was brought here through Schneider Bros. Garage, Inc.

Demonstrations included the mercury vapor lamp, smaller than a cigarette yet one-fifth as bright as the sun; jet propulsion flying models; the capturing of sound on the recording wire; the stove that is not hot yet will fry an egg; the manufacture of synthetic rubber, and many others.

Last evening, at the initial pageant performance, the Queens made their first appearance before a near-capacity audience. More than 400 persons participate in the pageant which is under the direction of Richard Spitler of the John B. Rogers Co. The pageant scenes depict Tecumseh's early history, showing the march of progress and is declared by those who have witnessed it to be one of the best produced in this section of Michigan.

In addition to all of the other attractions, a carnival and amusement company is operating each afternoon and evening in the park opposite the Central School.

Tecumseh is in gala dress for the anniversary. Every downtown building is decorated with red, white and blue bunting and welcome signs, and ornamental lamp posts along the boulevard also are displaying American flags.

The pageant and anniversary program is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce with Leon P. Williamson as general chairman, assisted by Mr. Harris, the Chamber secretary.

OBITUARY

Mrs. C. W. Bell

Ella Clarinda Walker was born October 31, 1867 on a farm south of Tecumseh, Michigan, the daughter of James David and Nancy Lewis Walker. At the age of five years she moved with her parents to a farm east of Brooklyn, Michigan, where she lived until her marriage to Charles W. Bell of Jackson, Michigan, August 19, 1896. To this union one daughter, Esther, was born.

With the exception of a few years spent in Chicago and Wisconsin, she lived in Jackson, Michigan until the death of her husband in 1940, when she went to Bloomfield, N. J., to live with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Enos. After a short acute illness she passed away in the home of her daughter, May 5, 1949.

She was a member of the Presbyterian church, active in all branches of work in the church and W. C. T. U., a charter member of the famous Peterson Bible class in Brooklyn and the Brooklyn chapter O. E. S. One brother, Dr. Ellis Walker of Lynchburg, Va., and a sister, Mrs. Lou Walker Davis of Appleton, Wisconsin, preceded her in death. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Enos, one nephew, Dr. Donald Davis, of Neenah, Wis., two nieces, Mrs. Dorothy Davis Meyer, of Port Edwards, Wis., and Dr. Marian Beauchawk of Lynchburg, Va., and three cousins, S. S. Walker of Roscommon, Michigan, W. J. Walker of Elgin, Ill., and Mrs. Mane Walker Coder Allen of Clinton, Michigan.

"Ella" was loved by all who knew her. Her cheerful disposition and untiring energy were an inspiration to her friends. Her many new friends in New Jersey will greatly miss her in church activities and Red Cross, where she endeared herself to all.

Funeral services were held at the VanTassel Funeral Home in Bloomfield, N. J. The remains were brought to Tecumseh, Michigan, where services were conducted by her former Jackson pastor, the late Rev. Shannon Griffith. Interment was in the family lot in Brookside cemetery, Tecumseh. Friends were present from Tecumseh, Clinton, Jackson, Brooklyn, Roscommon, Michigan and Neenah, Wisconsin.

Dorothy May Cook Weds C. E. Lembrick

Saturday afternoon, June 25, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Cook of Tipton, their daughter, Dorothy May, became the bride of Charles Raymond Lembrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lembrick of Britton. The Rev. W. N. Taylor of Tipton read the double ring service at three o'clock before an improvised altar of delphiniums, rambler roses and lighted tapers in candelabra. Roses and delphiniums were used throughout the home for decorations.

Before the ceremony Charles Bishop, nephew of the bridegroom, lighted the candles.

Gowned in ivory satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her fingertip veil of white net was held in place by a wreath of rosebuds and she carried a white Bible covered with the same material as her wedding gown with a corsage of white rosebuds. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cook chose a light blue dress with white accessories. Mrs. Lembrick wore an aqua print. Both mothers had corsages of pink rosebuds. The bride's grandmother wore a gray dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

A reception was held in the home after the ceremony for some 35 guests. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. White tapers in crystal candleholders and a bouquet of white delphiniums and white roses decorated the table. Refreshments were served by Elizabeth Galloway and Mrs. Dale Clark, friends of the bride. Mrs. Melvin Bishop, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Dean Cook, sister-in-law of the bride, cut the cake.

When the couple left on a trip to northern Michigan the bride was wearing a floral print dress, white accessories and her wedding corsage. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Lembrick will reside in a home south of Ridgeway.

The bride graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1947 and is employed by the Tecumseh Refrigeration Sales and Engineering Co. The groom is a graduate of Britton high school and is employed by the Tecumseh Products Company.

Miss Barbara Brooks Weds Richard W. Graf

The marriage of Miss Barbara Elaine Brooks and Richard W. Graf, both of Tecumseh, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, June 25, in St. Peter's Episcopal church, the Rev. Gilbert A. Runkel, jr., of Adrian, officiating at the double ring service. The couple repeated their vows at two o'clock before the altar decorated with white carnations, gladioli and green fern.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brooks are the parents of the bride and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Graf.

Tracy Zick of Clinton and Donald Graf seated the guests as Jack Tonneberger played several organ selections. The family pews were marked with white satin bows. John Duaine Brooks, brother of the bride, served the groom as best man.

Preceding the bride to the altar were the bridesmaids, Miss Donna Adams and Miss Marilyn Malady, and the matron of honor, Mrs. Curtis Schilberg of Miami, Fla., sister of the groom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a gown fashioned of white brocaded satin. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, and the peplum was edged with lace. Her long veil edged in Chantilly lace fell from a headpiece of orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet of white carnations was centered with a lavender orchid. A single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, was the bride's only jewelry.

Mrs. Schilberg was gowned in yellow brocaded satin styled like the bride's and white mitts. She carried a bouquet of blue carnations. Miss Adams and Miss Malady wore green and pink, respectively, with white mitts. Each of the attendants wore a headband of daisies and a single strand of pearls.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Gordon Miller sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brooks chose a rose print with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Graf, the groom's mother, selected a light brown dress with white and brown accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the parish house for some 150 guests. Made by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Clifford Underwood of Britton, the five-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and cut by Mrs. Underwood. Mrs. Charles Benedict and Mrs. John Beal of Britton and Mrs. George Heimerdinger of Clinton presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Kenneth McEnroe was in charge of the gifts.

In the evening at eight o'clock a reception was held for some 150 friends at the I. O. O. F. hall. At this time the bride wore a white suit with an orchid corsage.

The bride graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1948 and is employed at the Nation Wide store. The groom graduated from Macon in 1945 and is employed by the Tecumseh Products Company. The couple will reside in their new home in Herrick Park.

Miss Clara Hendershot Is Buried At Macon

Miss Clara Hendershot, age 86 years, died Wednesday morning, June 22, at the Bower nursing home in Adrian where she had been a patient for three weeks.

Miss Hendershot was born April 29, 1863, the eldest daughter of Isaac and Christian (Sones) Hendershot who were among the first pioneer settlers of Macon township. Her entire life was spent in the family home in the village of Macon except for about 40 years spent on the homestead farm one mile south of Macon. She returned to the village to make her home in 1911.

In her early years and until a few years ago when her eyesight began to fail Miss Hendershot was a designer and seamstress of renown. Her work was of great demand and she was called into many homes where the finest of handiwork was desired. In her book of memos she has listed over 100 wedding gowns that she designed and made.

She was a member and faithful attendant of the Macon Methodist Church, the W. S. C. S., Pythian Sisters of Tecumseh, and the Macon Community Club.

Surviving are a sister Mrs. Ida VanValkenburg and a brother Frank of Macon, several nephews, nieces and cousins. A brother Charles and a sister Mrs. Alta Collins preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Macon Methodist Church, the Rev. Edward Escolme officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bigelow sang "The Dawn of Eternal Day" accompanied by Mrs. Maude Halladay at the piano. The bearers were Alton Osborne, Ralph Halladay, Clayton Bigelow, Guy Collins, Will Swick and Ray Smith. Burial was in the family lot in Macon Cemetery.

Hay Fever Sufferers Find Aid In Michigan

Approximately half of Michigan may offer relief to ragweed hay-fever sufferers, and at least five areas in the state are virtually free from ragweed pollen concentration, according to report of the Michigan Department of Health's 1948 ragweed pollen survey, now being distributed.

Five of the 52 pollen collecting stations set up by the Department's laboratories reported no day with a ragweed pollen concentration of more than 100 grains per cubic yard of air. Six others reported no more than five days with pollen counts over 100.

Boyne City, Charlevoix and Petoskey in the lower peninsula and Sault Ste. Marie and St. Ignace in the upper peninsula reported no day with significant pollen count. Frankfort had only one day with pollen count over 100; Manistee three days; Crystal Falls and Marquette, four days; and Mackinac Island and Mt. Pleasant, five days. Additional areas whose total seasonal count remained under 2,000 grains per cubic yard of air were Cadillac, Cheboygan, Gladwin and Munising.

August 11 was the first date that a station (Sturgis) reported a pollen count over 100. Most of the stations attained that level between August 18 and 23. Counts at all stations had dropped below 100 by September 20.

Highest total pollen count was reported from the Lansing station which had a seasonal count of 16,583. Other stations with high seasonal counts were: Sturgis, 15,291; Mt. Clemens, 14,705; Bay City (North Shore), 13,638; Saginaw, 13,573; Grand Rapids, 13,500; Midland, 12,566; Jackson, 12,081; South Haven, 11,618; Bay City, 10,477, and Kalamazoo, 10,259.

The Michigan Department of Health has published detailed reports of the 1948 pollen survey including a map and weekly counts for each of the 52 collecting stations which may be had without charge, by writing to the Michigan Department of Health, Lansing 4, Michigan.

We're Proud To Be A Part Of This 125-Year-Old Community

On this occasion of Tecumseh's 125th Birthday, we'd like to extend our congratulations to the community, of which we are proud to now be a part.

There are few communities in Michigan older than Tecumseh and none that are more proud of their historic record of achievements and accomplishments.

To those who visit us on this occasion we say, "Welcome, come again!" We're happy to have you take part in our "birthday party" — especially you who are from Canada who have extended your hand of international friendship.

Western Auto Supply
H. A. BADOUR, Owner

Congratulations, Tecumseh!

Although we're what might be called a newcomer to Tecumseh — we've been here three and a half years — we'd like to pause this week to extend our congratulations to the fine community that is celebrating its 125th anniversary.

We're happy that we're a part of Tecumseh and to be able to join in this fine celebration.

To the folk from Canada and other communities who visit us this week, we say, "Welcome." We hope they'll come again soon and, perhaps, become a part — as we did — of "The Biggest Little Town On Earth."

"THERE'S NO BETTER STOMACH MEDICINE THAN O-JIB-WA"

John Johnson

Mr. John Johnson writes from Midland, Michigan, that he suffered continually with gas and indigestion, and was so weak, nervous and run down that life was miserable.

The fast pace of modern living puts a continual strain on our nerves and digestive organs. Few people today escape the miseries of gas, indigestion, heartburn, bloating, nervousness and other stomach disorders. For over 35 years O-JIB-WA BITTERS has helped thousands of people who have suffered with these conditions. The following testimonial of Mr. John Johnson of 346 Oak Street, Midland, is typical and is offered as convincing proof that O-JIB-WA BITTERS is worth your trial if you are suffering from stomach distress.

Mr. J. Johnson

Everything Turned to Gas

"I have suffered with stomach distress for quite some time, and although I found medicine that brought temporary relief, it was not until I read about O-JIB-WA BITTERS in the local paper, and had tried it, that I realized what O-JIB-WA was the best I had ever taken. Before taking this medicine, everything I ate turned to gas, even a glass of water formed gas on my stomach and I belched continually. At times it was so bad that it caused pressure on my lungs and made me short of breath, and my heart would just pound. I have always been an active man, but this stomach trouble and gas really got me down, and I found myself always tired and weak. Several times I had to grab a hold of something to keep from falling. My nerves and kidneys were also bad, and very seldom did I get a real good night's sleep."

Results in Just 5 Days

"As bad as I was, O-JIB-WA BITTERS took effect in just 5 days and now two weeks later, I can eat anything and everything without the slightest distress, gas and indigestion. I now sleep better and feel wide awake and full of pep. My kidneys are improved and in spite of being over 60 years old, I feel better than I have in years. I really was in bad shape before I used this wonderful medicine, and because of what it has done for me, I highly recommend O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I don't think anybody can take anything better for stomach trouble."

Strike at the Cause

O-JIB-WA INDIAN BITTERS is an all-herb medicine which acts to stimulate the digestive system, stomach, liver; to normal, thus overcoming gas, indigestion and heartburn. O-JIB-WA acts to clear the blood of poisons and toxin, waste that foster dizzy spells, headaches and rheumatism. O-JIB-WA Bitters strengthens weak, sluggish kidneys to stop backaches, night rising and restless nights. Yes! O-JIB-WA is truly an amazing medicine, and will probably do more for you than anything that you have ever tried, so why not get a bottle today and give it a chance to help you.

O-JIB-WA IS NOT EXPENSIVE! In fact, it is very reasonable and within the reach of all. It is available in three economical sizes for your convenience and sold by

Yes, suh! We're proud like to be a part of a community what's celebratin' her 125th Anniversary this week and we'd like to say "How-dy" to all the folk who'll visit us on this okashun but yuh know, it jist kant be did. We'd be so busy shakin' hands and talkin' we'd probably wind up in the booby hatch or somepin. Waal, wasn't that a mouthful.

Anyhow, while we ain't much on writin' and spellin'—to say nothin' about punquation—our heart's right and we want the folk to know it. We're happy that our Canadian brothers and sisters in Tecumseh, Ontario, are visitin' us and we hope that some time they'll invite us to come over there to return the kompliment.

And we're glad, also, that the Indians are komin' again to Tecumseh, Michigan. Course, 'tant any treat for Indians to walk down Chicago boulevard—they did it over 125 years ago and, off the rekord, we seed some folk we thot was wild Indians drivin' one of them 4-wheel hosses past our stabul tother day, goin like—wa'al.

And there we go talkin' hosses again. We jist kint seem to get away from hosses—course it's our bisniss. And incidentally, if any strangers in town have trouble with their iron steeds durin' this celebrashun we'll be happy to have 'em in our hoss-pitul, and we'll treat the patients right as well as their folk.

Hospitality, we says, is what's needed to make this Demokrasy of ours tick jist a little better. It's needed from the White House right thru to the Back House. As we said fust, "Hello, everybody." We're glad you kum to see us, hope you'll kum again. If we kin be of any service to yuh at any time, that'll make us happy, too.

Queens Are Crowned By Michigan Governor

C. OF C. CLAIMS TO THE CONTRARY NOTWITHSTANDING

Hottest Thing On Birthday Program Was Weather

In spite of all claims by the Chamber of Commerce to the contrary, the hottest thing about Tecumseh's 125th Anniversary Celebration was the weather.

Tecumseh really "turned on the heat" on Friday for Michigan's governor, G. Mennen Williams. The mercury soared to a high of 94 degrees.

On Saturday, when 1,200 Canadians of Tecumseh, Ontario, and other parts of the province came to participate in "Canada Day," the temperature continued its upward climb until a high of 96 was recorded.

Sunday, without a cloud in the sky or a "breath of air," a high of 98 was recorded. It was too hot mid-Sunday afternoon for the scheduled Indian ceremonial at Recreation Center and it was cancelled. Only the evening performance was given. Sunday evening it had cooled sufficiently—the temperature dropped to the late 80's—and the special church service, at which Bishop Marshall Reed spoke, and, later at 9 p.m., the Indian ceremonial, were presented as previously scheduled.

Monday, when everyone felt that it "simply had to rain to cool things off," brought an 11 o'clock temperature of 84 degrees and the mercury continued to climb into the 90's during the afternoon. Despite the heat, half a dozen bands "battled it out" for instrumental honors while the crowds watched from beneath the shade of trees or buildings. There was a gentle breeze on Monday, which seemed to give a little relief.

Monday evening, however, for the pageant and the fireworks, heat seemed of secondary consideration for the crowds that took part in the final celebration program. Recreation Center was packed to its capacity, streets were thronged, and everyone "forgot the weather" as one of the largest displays of fireworks in Southern Michigan lighted the sky for more than an hour.

There was a "hot time in the old town, tonight—and each and every day" of the 8-day long celebration. Without fear of contradiction, the Chamber of Commerce may lay claim to having produced the hottest thing in anniversary celebrations in Michigan.

Oldest Guest

DR. WILLIAM C. BURNS of Toledo was probably the oldest man to attend the "Pageant of Progress," during Tecumseh's 125th anniversary celebration. Dr. Burns is a retired Presbyterian minister. He was 95 years of age last February 10 and is still as active as a man 25 years his junior. He will be remembered by many of the older residents here, and at one time he preached in Macon and supplied in local pulpits. His late pastorate before retirement was Monroe. Dr. Burns is an uncle of Ellsworth Collins and he was a guest in the Collins home with his daughter, Miss Mildred Burns, during the celebration.

Historical Society Elects

LENAWEE ORGANIZATION RENAMED MRS. BURTSEL CLAUS AS PRESIDENT

Mrs. Burtsel Claus was re-elected president of the Lenawee County Historical Society, at the annual meeting of that organization, recently in the tower room of the Adrian Public Library. Other officers re-elected are as follows: first, second third vice presidents, Mrs. Howard Evans of Tipton. Miss Edith Ingersoll of Tecumseh and Mrs. Campbell of Clinton; treasurer, Miss Beth Satterthwaite of Tecumseh; secretary, Mrs. Clare Beland of Tecumseh; historian, Mrs. Frank Kellogg of Adrian.

After the picnic dinner served at noon, a business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Beland as follows: Pledge of Allegiance, group singing of "America," secretary's and treasurer's reports, vocal solo, "Mrs. Lofty and I," written in 1854, sung by Mrs. Seifert of Adrian accompanied by Mrs. Mattison with an encore of "Grandma"; talk, "History of the Society," Mrs. Frank Kellogg of Adrian; piano solo, "A Medley of Patriotic Airs," Mrs. Woodrow Hunt of Tipton.

Miss Edith Haviland of Adrian gave an interesting talk on "Memories of Aunt Laura Haviland." Mrs. Charles Williamson of Tecumseh told of events of 1855 as recorded in the scrapbook of Dr. North, including a railroad journey from Detroit to Chicago that required one week's time. Mrs. Clare Beland told of the events to take place at the 125th anniversary celebration of the founding of Tecumseh and urged all to attend. Mrs. Howard Evans of Tipton read the History of the Soldier's Monument at Tipton, written by Mrs. Claus.

S. from the University of Michigan School of Dentistry in 1949. He is a member of the Delta Sigma Delta, professional fraternity, and of the Omicron Kappa Upsilon, national dental honorary society. He will be assisted in his offices by Mrs. Laidlaw, who is a registered nurse.

Place Named To Fund Board

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT IS GIVEN EXECUTIVE SPOT ON NEW HEALTH GROUP

Earl H. Place was elected a director of the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan, when that organization held its annual meeting in Lansing last Thursday. Roy McPhail and Frank Reed of Adrian were also elected as directors. James M. Shackleton of Saginaw was re-eleted president.

The Fund has a participating membership of 19 health and welfare agencies and James K. Watkins, chairman of the Admissions and Budget Committee, indicated that the committee probably would recommend the inclusion also of The National Foundation for Ceberbral Palsy, Michigan Welfare League, Leader Dog League for the Blind, Epileptic Clinic, Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation for Polio and the Roscoe B. Jackson Memorial Laboratory for Cancer Research. The Fund's recommended campaign goal is almost $2,000,000.

In opening the meeting Mr. Shackleton praised organized labor, management and farm groups for their cooperation in support of the United Fund idea. "The United Fund is firmly established as a vehicle for giving to many necessary health and welfare services," he said. "It will go just as far and become just inclusive as the people want it to be."

INJURED IN FALL

Ernest Updike, 75, who resides northwest of Tecumseh, suffered head and shoulder injuries, Monday afternoon, when he fell while loading baled hay at his farm. He was removed to Tecumseh Hospital by ambulance and X-ray examinations are being made.

2 Boys Drowned At Lake Resorts

ACCIDENT DEATH TOLL, NATION-WIDE, LARGEST OVER JULY 4TH HOLIDAY

Lenawee county added two deaths to the nation's total of 812 over the long Fourth of July weekend, sheriff's officers reported. In Michigan, 45 persons died over the holiday, of that number 32 by drowning. Eight others were killed in traffic mishaps and five died in other accidents. Nationwide it was a record number of deaths over the July holiday.

Both of Lenawee county's deaths were due to drowning.

Jack Ames, 16, Hudson high school athlete, drowned Sunday afternoon in Round Pond, about a mile and a half west of Rollin. The youth was swimming alone when he went down. Sheriff's deputies recovered the body in 12 feet of water about one and a half hours later.

Officers still are searching for the body of Raymond Mustafaga, jr., 17, of Toledo, who was drowned off Orchard Hill beach Devils Lake, Sunday. He was swimming with companions when it is believed that he was seized with cramps while in deep water.

The only serious traffic accident involving local folk happened at 7:55 Sunday evening on the

Mail Delivery To Be Expanded

SUBDIVISIONS TO GET DAILY CARRIER SERVICE IN NEAR FUTURE

Residents of Herrick Park, the Brown street-North Union subdivision and a portion of the Quaker Oats subdivision will soon be receiving daily carrier mail delivery service, F. E. N. Thatcher, acting postmaster, indicated today. Mr. Thatcher said that such service had been recommended by postoffice inspectors, here over the week-end, but final approval must first come from Washington. This should be coming within a few days, he believes.

The increased delivery service comes as a result of Thatcher's appeal to Washington, several weeks ago. He said that if Washington approves, another regular carrier will be added. The office now has two village carriers and one auxiliary carrier.

Heretofore, the new subdivisions have been served by rural carriers and the load on that division of the office has, as a result, been greatly increased. Thatcher said that with the added carrier, the load on the general delivery section would be lightened, also, and speed up service.

Lock boxes at the local office are at a premium, the postmaster said, and he hopes soon to have 56 more of these available for customers.

The number of pieces of both incoming and outgoing mail at the local office has steadily increased over the past 15 years and last year a new record was established.

Fireworks End Big Celebration

TECUMSEH'S 125TH BIRTHDAY PARTY COMES TO AN END ON MONDAY

Tecumseh's 125th Anniversary Celebration is history.

The eight-day long porgram, produced and presented during a heat wave that shattered Michigan's weather record, attracted an overall crowd estimated at more than $5,000.

The high-light of the celebration came Monday evening when crowds thronged Recreation Center for the last performance of the "Pageant of Progress," and, finally, for the shooting of $1,000 worth of fireworks, the largest single display of its kind in Southern Michigan.

For the Monday night program, crowds began forming in mid-afternoon and before 8 p.m., parking places on near-by streets were at a premium. Traffic lanes were blocked as residents from all over Lenawee and adjoining counties came to attend the final staging of the pageant, to join in the carnival of fun and to see the pyrotechnical display which lasted for more than an hour.

Monday's program got under way during the morning hours with a "Band Battle" that lasted until mid-afternoon. Bands from the high schools participating included Britton, Ida, Clinton, Sand Creek and Tecumseh. Because of the intense heat—Monday's temperature was in the 90's—the bands presented their program on the high school lawn, rather than in the downtown district. This was deemed advisable by the several directors.

When the temperature soared to 98 degrees on Sunday, Chamber of Commerce officials decided to call off the Indian Ceremonial scheduled for 2:30 at Recreation. This program was not given until 9 p.m., Sunday, and attracted a good crowd.

Included in the performance at which James Welsh, the old AAA traveler, acted as narrator, Maza Kinyan, Chief Flying Iron of the Montana Sioux tribe, was in

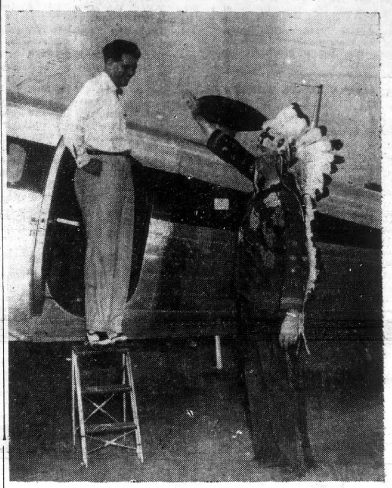
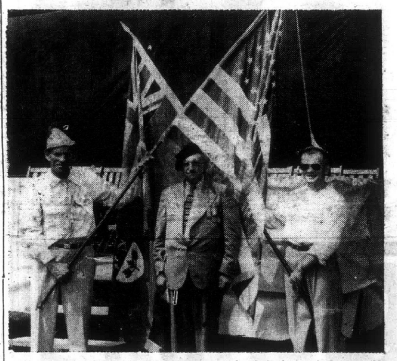
Governor Meets Chief



ROBERT H. MOORE in the role of Chief Tecumseh says, "How" to Michigan's governor, G. Mennen Williams as the state's chief executive steps from a National Guard plane at the Adrian airport. The Governor and the Chief and a group of Tecumseh men made a hurried departure from the airport—where the shade temperature was 97 degrees—to keep a date at Tecumseh Recreation Center—where the sun temperature was 105—to permit Williams to crown the queens of the 125th Anniversary Celebration. The affair took place last Friday afternoon.

Flags Are Exchanged



FLAGS OF TWO NATIONS, the United States and Canada, were exchanged by the executives of Tecumseh, Ontario, and Tecumseh, Michigan, last Saturday in an impressive ceremony at Recreation Center. Saturday was "Canada Day" in the Anniversary celebration and 1,200 Canadians came by caravan to participate in the event. Shown in the picture above are Mayor Tom Scott, left, of Tecumseh, Ontario, and George McCombs, president pro tem of the local council, a moment after the flags had been exchanged. The man standing between the two mayors, a Canadian, was not identified. Marvin Watkins, Tecumseh village president, was not able to participate in the service because of the illness of his wife in a Toledo hospital.

School Election

Voters in Tecumseh's school district will cast their ballots between 3 and 8 p.m., nxt Monday, July 11, to elect one member to the board of education. The term of Dr. Ralph Helzerman, secretary, expires with the election and he is a candidate to succeed himself.

Voting will take place at the high school.

The annual meeting of the electors of the district will be held in the high school auditorium, beginning at 8 o'clock next Monday evening.

STUDENT NURSES ON DUTY AT HOSPITAL

Four senior student nurses from Wayne University, Detroit, arrived at Tecumseh Hospital this week for a four-week study and work course. They are the Misses Patricia Bloom, Alba Gilli, Marjorie Mayo and Maurine McCool.

The local hospital has joined a cooperating program with the Wayne school and nurses in their senior year receive a month's actual training duty in a community hospital. The program fulfills one of the requirements for their degrees.

Big Audience Hears Bishop

MARSHALL REED OF METHODIST CHURCH, ADDRESSES RECREATION SERVICE

"There is no scientific solution to the problems of our day," said Bishop Marshall Reed of the Methodist church as he addressed a large audience Sunday evening in the Tecumseh Recreation Center. "We must face the fact that in the last analysis all of our problems are spiritual ones, and must be faced with the same courage, faith, and stamina that was demonstrated by our forefathers, especially those God fearing emigrants who settled in Lenawee county one hundred and twenty-five years ago."

Bishop Reed took for his subject, "Our Christian Heritage," and emphasized the fact that whereas in many sections of the country settlers came only for material gain that such was definitely not the case with Lenawee's pioneers, who for the most part came from New York state and from Bucks County, Pennsylvania, and were as much interested in the spiritual development of the community as the material.

Bishop Reed referred to the fact that he was attending school in Tecumseh the day the Boulder was dedicated in Brownville, some forty years ago. "That was a high light in my life," said the Bishop, "I recall distinctly being excused from my Latin class that day."

Bishop Reed, a graduate of the

MONOPOLY AT ITS WORST

Many years ago Congress passed a series of anti-trust laws to prevent monopolies and combinations in restraint of trade in this country. These laws apply to industry and finance alone. They pointedly exempt labor organizations. Yet, at this time, certain labor leaders and labor unions are wielding power to an extent which was never dreamed of by the "robber barons" of the last century.

One of the most startling examples of this is found in John L. Lewis' order to the United Mine Workers, which he controls lock, stock and barrel, to close down the coal mines of the United States for a period of a week. It was claimed that this was not a strike in the ordinary meaning of the term, that coal stocks above ground were at a high level, and that a brief shutdown would not seriously affect the industries of the nation. But these excuses are entirely beside the point. If Mr. Lewis can close down a vital industry at his whim for one week or one day or one minute he could by the same kind of dictatorial action, close it down indefinitely. He could cause a breakdown in such essential industries as the railroads, the electric utilities, and steel, which cannot function without coal. He could tie up ships carrying coal under the Marshall Plan to other lands, and thus undermine a foreign policy which has been approved by the President and Congress. Could we have a more glaring example of absolute monopolistic power than this?

It makes no sense to criticize Mr. Lewis for what he has done in the past or what he may do in the future. The real fault lies in laws which do not recognize that industry-wide bargaining creates as serious a monopoly as this country has ever faced. So long as this kind of bargaining is permitted, one union, dominated by one man, can tell the nation whether or not it shall have a commodity it cannot do without.

Congress is now considering a proposal to give the government the power to seize and operate strike-bound plants and industries. This is an expedient which totally overlooks the principle at stake. It would establish bureaucratic statism of the Hitler type in this country, and labor would be among the greatest losers. The only way out is to abolish labor monopolies precisely as we have abolished industrial and financial monopolies—to make all of them equal in the eyes of the law. The time for action is now.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON — This country probably will do more new construction work this year than it did in 1948, the Producers' Council said. The council said that the amount of money spent probably will fall off a bit from last year, but also building costs "probably will be somewhat lower."

The council is a national organization of building products manufacturers.

It is said that construction work this year is running high because of an anticipated 22 per cent increase in publicly financed projects.

The value of privately financed construction, it added, is about 9 per cent below last year.

Nearly every type of private building is expected to decline. For instance, there will be a drop of 17 per cent in new stores, restaurants, and garages, the council statement said.

In public construction, gains are reported in almost every field except in army and navy installations.

This country is building more highways and laying more sewers and water lines than it did in 1948.

But the biggest gain is in the construction of public schools.

There the increase over 1948 is 50 per cent, the council added.

Why is it that so many people get a lot of pleasure out of trying to keep someone else from having any.

Good Buy—all around

FRIENDS gather, look over that long bonnet and wish they had as much Fireball life as you have here.

They size up the broad windshield and narrow corner posts—and don't have to be told how these things step up "see-power."

They appraise the smart styling, the roomy interiors, the usability of luggage space—and agree you've made a buy.

But don't stop, please, with letting them look. Invite them in and introduce them to some of the special pleasures you'll know as a Buick owner.

Show them, for instance, how completely different Dynaflow Drive† is, with every mile cushioned by flowing oil and none of the rigid harshness of direct-drive cars.

Let them sample the matchless Buick ride, with all four wheels cradled on soft, coil springs and low-pressure tires made still easier-riding by extra-wide rims.

Point out how solid this Buick feels. That's what you get from husky frames, low-swung weight, and power delivered through a torque-tube instead of the rear springs.

For the truth is, this Buick's a bargain on much, much more than you can see.

It's a big buy on the solid goodness a demonstration quickly makes plain. On increasingly favorable delivery dates. On attractive price. On the kind of "deal" your Buick dealer makes.

That's why we keep saying "Better see your Buick dealer—and get that order in promptly!"

BUICK alone has all these features

Silk-smooth DYNAFLOW DRIVE • FULL-VIEW VISION from enlarged glass area • SWING-EASY DOORS and easy access • "LIVING SPACE" INTERIORS with Deep-Cradle cushions • Buoyant-riding QUADRUFLEX COIL SPRINGING • Lively FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT POWER with SELF-SETTING VALVE LIFTERS plus HI-POISED ENGINE MOUNTINGS Low-pressure tires on SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • Cruiser-Line VENTIPORTS • DUREX BEARINGS, main and connecting rods • BODY BY FISHER

Miss Ella Louise Kroh, Weds Granville Kniffen

Miss Ella Louise Kroh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kroh of Monroe, and Granville Kniffen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kniffin of Britton, were united in marriage Saturday, June 25 at 7:30 p. m., at a double ring service performed by the Rev. Vernon E. Kotter in Christ Lutheran church at Monroe. The altar was decorated with white carnations, feverfew and lighted tapers in candelabra.

Fashioned of Chantilly lace, the bride's gown featured a yoke of illusion edged with folds of lace, shirred at intervals. The fitted bodice with long sleeves was fastened to the skirt which swept into a long train. Her fingertip vail of tulle edged in lace was attached to a crown of seedpearls and her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift of the groom. Her cascade bouquet of white roses was centered with an orchid.

As matron of honor Mrs. John Houseman of Britton was gowned in pink marquisette and carried pink roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Keehn of Monroe and Miss Delores Scott of Dundee wore orchid gowns and carried yellow roses. Ruth Ann Kroh and Marilyn Kotter were the little flower girls, and were dressed in pale green dimity. They carried pink and white snapdragons. Herbert Kroh, jr., was the ring bearer.

Les Edelbrock of Ridgeway was the best man and the ushers were John Houseman of Britton and Merlin Schultz of Tecumseh.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Monroe after which the couple left on a trip through northern Michigan, the bride wearing a pink linen dress with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride graduated from Monroe high school and the Providence hospital School of Nursing in Detroit and has been a member of the Mercy hospital staff at Monroe. The groom graduated from Britton high school and is engaged in farming. They will make their home near Britton.

One thing to remember while traveling on the highway is that lost time can sometimes be made up, but death is permanent.

Tourists Want Money's Worth

COMPETITION IS BECOMING KEEN; 46 STATES BID FOR BUSINESS

The return of keen competition to the tourist business places new emphasis on old fashioned hospitality, says Robert J. Furlong, Administrative Secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council.

"With 45 other states now spending tax money to lure the tourist, Michigan finds herself in a highly competitive business," commented Furlong. "And the tourist today is shopping around. Unlike his counterpart of the past few years, he insists on getting his money's worth.

"True, we have the natural attractions and the man-made assets that make us one of the greatest vacation lands in the world. But if our tourist business is to remain among our leading income producers, every resident of Michigan must re-alert himself to the value of that tourist business to himself, his community and his state.

"In effect, we are all hosts with hundreds of thousands of visitors as our guests. If we are friendly hosts, those visitors will come back and Michigan will remain up front among the nation's vacation lands. Our tourist industry will continue to play its vital role in our general economy."

Furlong pointed out that the dollars left by vacationists do not remain in service stations, hotels cabin courts and resorts. They pay doctor bills, buy food, pay taxes and become a part of the state's economic structure. For this reason, he added, the responsibility of playing host to tourists is not limited to the men and women who have something to sell the visitor.

"Michigan's tourist business is everybody's business," he said. "A cheerful 'good morning' or a friendly suggestion by a man on the street is just as important as the smile of a gas station attendant as he wipes a windshield."

"QUICK THINKING AND FAST ACTION GOT ME $175 EXTRA ON A FORD TRUCK TRADE!"

"When I heard my Ford Dealer was making the best truck deals in town, I decided to check," says Andrew Ligeski.

"It was a fact! The offer looked extra good. And when I stopped to think that used truck values were slipping, and that I might take quite a loss if I waited, I made up my mind on the spot.

"I'm tickled pink I did. Used truck values have slipped so fast in the last three months, I figure my quick thinking and fast action got me at least $175 extra on a Ford Truck trade."

Miss Betty Boldridge Weds Robert G. Zornow

The marriage of Betty Boldridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Boldridge of Toledo, and Robert G. Zornow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Zornow of Britton, was solemnized Saturday, July 2, in the Broadway Methodist church in Toledo. The Rev. H. E. Mumma read the double ring service at 7:30 o'clock before the altar decorated with palms and white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and full skirt ending in a train. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Dalt wore green taffeta and carried white carnations. The bridesmaids, Miss Joyce Zattau, Miss Mary Jan Peterson and Miss Dorothy Stevens, were gowned in yellow, styled identically to that of the honor aid.

Emma Stevens was soloist and Mrs. Redman the organist. The guests were ushered by Kenneth and Melvin Zornow and Robert Dalt.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Boldridge chose pink silk crepe and navy accessories. The groom's mother wore navy blue with white accessories. Both mothers had a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride graduated from Whitney high school and is employed by the Kolman Builders Supply & Brick Co. The groom graduated from Britton high school and is employed by the Britton Implement Co.

Wisconsin Cows Set Milk Record

SLUMPING MARKETS CAUSE OWNERS TO CULL HERDS FOR TOP PRODUCTION

MADISON, WIS.—Milk animals are establishing new high records for individual production. Declining markets have caused dairymen to cull their cattle herds, and to keep only the best producers.

Preliminary estimates of the state's 1948 milk production indicate a total yield somewhat below previous years, but an all-time record in the production for each cow, according to the State Department of Agriculture.

The 1948 production for each cow amounted to 64.2 hundredweight, a gain of about 50 pounds for each animal over the previous year. The average was figured for the whole state, including the poor soil regions of central and northern Wisconsin. In the best producing regions, the individual cow figure rose to 70.7 hundredweight, as in the rich counties of southern Wisconsin.

Production for each cow in the Wisconsin dairy herd has continued to grow over the years, as dairymen adopted modern practices in feeding and breeding. Dairy specialists at the College of Agriculture predict that the gains will be continued in the future, and especially as cow testing programs result in the discarding of inferior animals.

The census for this year estimates a total of 3,766,000 of all types of cattle. Last year at this time the total was put at 3,804,000. Today's dairy herd, including milk cows and heifers two years old and over, consists of about 2,432,000 animals, a decline of about 50,000 from last year.

The state's total milk yield for 1948, according to a preliminary estimate of the State Department of Agriculture, was slightly under 15 billions of pounds. In 1947 and during most of the war years, the total exceeded 15 billions.

Many a story gets its start at club meetings—probably the sense of 'rumor' of some members.

LONDON—Owners of 12 tugs which refloated the British transatlantic liner Queen Elizabeth when she ran aground at Southhampton in April, 1947, will share £ 43,000 ($172,000) salvage money.

An admiralty court judgment said the salvage services were brief but well and efficiently performed. Had the liner remained aground, there was a remote possibility of total loss.

Delay in salvage might also have affected the owner's prestige, which was something they would wish to avoid in view of their high standing in the shipping world.

Imagine, if you can, what this world would be like if people had no faith in one another. Many of us would have to live within our incomes.

About The Folk You Know

That loud noise heard coming from the North last week was none other than the campers at Camp Algonquian at Burt Lake rejoicing because Tom Will shot a 49 x 50 on the rifle range . . . That was Tommy's part in Tecumseh's Anniversary Celebration . . . Now that the celebration is over and another day of Independence has passed folk can sit back and enjoy (?) the heat and humidity, but first a summary of out of town visitors in Tecumseh throughout the week and weekend.

Among the hundreds of spectators watching the parade on "Canada Day" was an uncle of Ellsworth Collins, 96-years-young Dr. W. C. Burns of Toledo, who with his daughter, Miss Mildred Burns, came to spend the weekend with the Collins's. Other guests in the home over the holiday were Mr. and Mrs. William Robertson and Mr. and Mrs. Nilo Manso and son Ellsworth of Detroit. Little Ellsworth is now enjoying two weeks with his grandpa and grandma, Mr. and Mrs. Collins.

Elizabeth "Beppie" Escolme entertained five of her schoolmates from Baldwin-Wallace College for the weekend. They were Mary Potter of Meyersdale, Pa., Helen Martin of Canal Fulton, Ohio, Marilyn Moffit of New Philadelphia, Ohio, Alyce Miller of East Cleveland, Ohio and Peggy Malfeldt of Connecticut. Earlier in the week the Escolmes had as guests, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gaunt and children, Roger and David of Amhurst, Mass.

Guests in the L. W. Larsen home were Dr. and Mrs. Robert Larsen and son, who are moving from Madison, Wisc., to Royal Oak where Dr. Larsen has entered Grace hospital as a surgical resident physician, and Dr. and Mrs. Peter McGee of Detroit. Dr. McGee has completed his internship and is now a resident physician of Receiving hospital in Detroit. Mrs. McGee is a fashion editor of a Detroit newspaper.

Carol Ann Partridge visited her grandparents, the M. G. Partridges, last week and her brother Dick came for the weekend. Mrs. Partridge took them back to their home at the Plymouth Country Club, Tuesday . . . Ezra Ralisburger of Lansing came to visit friends and relatives here and brothers and sisters in Dundee and Morenci for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ash and daughter Pam of Toledo visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon on Sunday . . . Don Tew and Jerry Coyle of Dresdon, Ont., were week end house guests of the Perry Hayden family. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Hayden attended the wedding of Miss Ann Schoonmaker and Richard Boyd of Detroit at the Presbyterian church in Kalamazoo.

Mrs. O. J. Marsh and daughter Zita of Toledo came for the week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Hara and are remaining this week . . . Monday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. William Bruce and son were Mr. and Mrs. William V. Coons and family of Owosso.

Seeking relief from the intense heat, some folk drove north for the long weekend . . . Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Herrick and Todd and Toni were in Holland . . . Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brandt spent the time in Gaylord . . . Mr. and Mrs. Percy Heidenreich rested at their cottage at South Branch . . . Mr. and Mrs. Royce Beal were at the summer home of his parents at Torch Lake.

Whether or not the Northbound folk found any relief from the heat is questionable but one thing is sure, the Neil Pearsons did on their trip to Cape Cod, Maine, and Northern New Hampshire . . . Their daughter, Mrs. Max Brandt and her son Jimmy, accompanied them and Mrs. Pearson said they slept under wool blankets every night for the two and one half weeks they were gone . . . They arrived home Sunday, just in time to participate in the closing events of the Celebration.

The group gathered on the lawn of the Robert Welch home for a picnic Monday, were honoring Mrs. Welch's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Orris Bumpus, of Batavia, New York, who visited there over the holidays . . . The 18 relatives and friends were from Adrian, Milan, Saline and Tecumseh.

The tables at all the parks here were filled with picnicers throughout the day and evening on Sunday and Monday and others enjoyed lunches in their own back yards . . . Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bailey attended a family picnic at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. K. McIntyre in Clinton, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Psauduer and son of Chicago came to spend the weekend at the Carroll Frost home so Mr. and Mrs. Frost entertained at a potluck picnic dinner, served on the lawn at their country home, Sunday. The 38 guests were from Saline, Britton, Holloway, Blissfield, Detroit and Tecumseh.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Beardsley and family of Bloomfield Hills spent the weekend with his mother and brother, Mrs. Mable Beardsley and Jim Beardsley . . . Mrs. Bertha Brodock and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith of Somerset Center were in town during the celebration to visit the former's daughter, Miss Marie Brodock. The Smiths dropped in to say "hello" to some former neighbors, the George Schumm family. Incidentally, Mrs. Schumm's yucca, which blooms once every seven years, is in full bloom now for the first time and is six feet tall.

Tecumseh High School, was introduced by one of his former classmates of 1919, Perry C. Satterthwaite, who mentioned that, Marshall was so good a baseball that had he decided to follow an athletic career he would surely have soon been a member of the Detroit Tigers.

Dr. Norman MacNaughton presided at the service, which was attended by many out of town people, especially from Onsted, the home town of the speaker, Rev. B. O. Bashore led in prayer, and two numbers were sung by the Girl's Chorus of the Tecumseh Friends church led by Mrs. Amos Wilson of Clinton. Just preceding the sunset service, chimes were heard from St. Peters Episcopal Church. Clare Camburn with his cornet assisted the members of the Friends Sunday School orchestra as they led in the singing of several well known church hymns. The closing prayer and benediction was given by Edward Escolme, pastor of the Tecumseh Friends Church.

charge. Others in the cast included Chief Buffalo Eagle and Chief Little Elk, both of the Pueblo tribe, New Mexico, and from the Mohawk tribe on the St. Lawrence, in Canada, Chief Lone Wolf, Young Chief Rolling Cloud, Princess Precious Word, Grandmother Red Deer, and Princesses Pretty Bird and Prancing Rain. They presented a program of Indian songs and dances that were greatly enjoyed.

The anniversary program reached one its high points on Saturday when more than 1,200 residents of Tecumseh, Canada, and other points in Ontario, came by caravan to join the pageantry.

The Canadians arrived for "Canada Day," about 11 a.m., in eight chartered busses and 129 private passenger cars. They brought with them the Chatham Canadian Legion Bagpipe Band and the Tecumseh Canadian Legion Boys and Girls Bugle Corps.

Headed by the Tecumseh (Michigan) high school band, a parade was formed shortly after 12 o'clock, in which the visiting bands, local vetirans organizations and other citizens participated. It moved westward on Chicago boulevard to Union street and then to Brookside Cemetery where a wreath was laid on the Veterans' Lot by Steven LeBlanc, commander of the Canadian Legion. This was a most impressive ceremony.

During the afternoon the Bagpipe band paraded and played, as did the junior band. At 3 p.m., at Recreation Center, the flags of the two countries were exchanged in an official program that was broadcast over Radio Station WABJ, Adrian. Participating in this program were Mayor Tom Scott of Tecumseh, Canada, George McCombs, president pro tem of the Tecumseh, Michigan, village council, and Gustav LaCasse, federal Canadian senator. Ronald Harris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, acted as master of ceremonies.

"This is a very unusual occasion, and one in which I am very proud to participate," Mr. McCombs said. "In this hands across the border program we are accomplishing a new spirit of good will between two great nations. May we forever live in harmony." He then presented Mayor Scott with an American flag, to be flown in the Tecumseh, Ontario, council rooms. Mayor Scott, in presenting a Canadian flag to Mr. McCombs, said that his country and his community were proud to give the emblem to Tecumseh. "There are no fortifications along the Canadian-U.S. border, and may there never be any," he declared.

Senator LaCasse, like the two mayors, declared that he, too, was happy to participate in the "hands across the creek" program. He declared that ther is only a spirit of friendship in Canada for the U. S.

"This is your town," McCombs said, in welcoming the 1,200 or more Canadians, "Do with it as you will while you are here. We ask only one thing, that you put it together before you return."

In the baseball game, played between the two Tecumsehs, it was a five to five tie at the end of the seventh inning. Because of the heat—the thermometer at the park registered 96—the game was stopped.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, was here on Friday afternoon for the official crowning of the queens of the celebration. Gov. Williams arrived nearly two hours late at the Adrian airport and it was four o'clock before the crowning, scheduled for 2 p.m., took place. A delegation of Tecumseh, men headed by Chief Tecumseh, a part played by Robert H. Moore, "sweat it out" at the Adrian airport in a 97-degree temperature until the governor's ship arrived, at about 3:1.5 The party was then speeded to Tecumseh by state police escort and 500 or more persons saw the crowning, which took place at Recreation Center.

"I am very happy to be here, and to bring you the official greetings of the State of Michigan on your 125th birthday," the governor said. "You, in Tecumseh, have many things to make you proud, and I am very pleased to come here to crown the queens of your celebration."

He first crowned Miss Shirley Anne Moore as Queen Lenawee and then Miss Martha Ann Hayden as Queen Tecumseh.

Both Miss Moore and Miss Hayden expressed appreciation to the Governor for his interest in the program, and to their friends who cast their votes to make their queenships possible. At the conclusion of the ceremony Miss Hayden presented Gov. Williams with three "Robinhood Hats" for his children and Miss Moore crowned the governor with one of the hats.

The pageant, scheduled for presentation each evening, Wedensday through Monday, except Sunday, was a John B. Rogers production under the direction of Richard Spitler. About 400 persons took part in the performance. Only one evening did a shower of rain halt the program.

Mr. Spitler estimated that up to the Monday evening performance the pageant had been witnessed by about 3,500 persons. Monday night was a "sell out" for the production.

The anniversary celebration got under way last week Monday with the Quaker Oats Company's $20,000 show, "Industry Comes to Life," which was attended by more than 5,300 persons at the local plant. The high light of this show was Rin Tin Tin III, famous movie dog and his owner-trainer Lee Duncan of Hollywood.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday were given over to industrial, old timers and homecoming programs. Most of the stores displayed mementos of yester-years in their windows that attracted crowds. All of the town was in holiday dress for the celebration.

Firecracker Youths Hold Up Display Of $1,000 In Fireworks

The $1,000 fireworks display at Recreation Center was held up for 20 minutes, Monday evening, because youngsters—no one knows for sure just how young— insisted upon throwing firecrackers dangerously near to the cartons in which some of the large powder-filled pieces were stored. The licensed pyrotechnician refused to start the display until the nuisance was abated.

It was necessary for celebration officials to ask police to rout the noisy celebrants and while this was being done the crowd of several thousands waited for the grand display.

The same culprits, it was said, spent a part of the earlier evening hurling lighted firecrackers into the pageant crowd. Fortunately, no one was hurt.

The shooting of firecrackers and other powder pieces is forbidden except by licensed operators, in Michigan.

ANTIQUE SILVER DISPLAYED HERE

An antique solid silver tea service 136 years old, purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Goddard in Cambridge, during their trip to England last summer, was displayed in the Gamble Store window, last weekend. Of King William the Fourth design, the service includes, besides the teapot, cream pitcher and sugar bowl, a Sheffield silver tray. Also displayed were two Sheffield silver entrie dishes and two letter openers which belonged to Mr. Goddard's great-grandmohter. One opener has a genuine Mother of Pearl blade and agate handle while the other has a tortoise shell blade and solid silver handles. These are 135 years old.

Traffic on all state and federal trunk lines was extremely heavy over the long holiday and at one time it was impossible for any more cars to enter Hayes State Park, Wamplers Lake. Police said, however, that motorists, for the most part, were operating their cars in a sane manner and they credited this for the lack of serious accidents.

At the lake resorts every cottage was occupied and along the beaches it was "standing room only" as the thermometer recorded Saturday, Sunday and Monday temperatures of 100 degrees or more.

U. S, Denmark Trade Farmers

EACH WILL HAVE CHANCE TO LEARN OTHER'S METHODS FIRST-HAND

NEW YORK—Young farmers of Denmark and the United States will have an opportunity to learn each other's methods firsthand under an exchange program just initiated here.

Twenty-four young Danish farmers have arrived for a year's work and study on United States farms. By the end of the year, according to the Danish Information Office, 75 others will have come from the land which is "the old country" to many United States farmers. Later, a number of American farmers are expected to go to Denmark.

The Danes will spend three months on each farm they visit, then move on to another part of the country. The schedule will enable them to give genuine assistance to American farmers throughout the year.

Each Danish farmer will have the chance to handle up-to-date equipment, participate in United States family and community life and improve his English. Almost 800 Danes have applied for the program so far.

The United States Department of Agriculture, the National Grange, and other organizations, both Danish and American, sponsor the program in cooperation with the Danish embassy. The Danish farmers will pay for the ocean trip, according to the information office. They will receive board, room, and funds for minor personal expenses from their American hosts.

Americans Are Eating Better

THAT ACCOUNTS FOR HIGHER FOOD BILLS, THOUGH PRICES ARE HIGHER, TOO

WASHINGTON—To the city housewife whose task is to glean as many groceries as possible with the family food budget, it will come as no surprise that in the spring of 1948 she spent 32 per cent of the total weekly income on edibles.

Whereas before the war she could hardly stagger home under the load of food $5 or $6 would buy, she now finds "toting" no problem. As proof of that, to keep her family fed for one week last year, she spent an average of $25.57. Compare this with her average weekly grocery bill of $14.23 in 1942.

These figures are drawn from a survey conducted by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They represent reports from 1,600 households in 68 cities in 34 states at different seasons of the year.

It is no news either that this increase in the cost of the family's weekly market basket is due to higher food prices. Every shopper knows that. However, experts conducting the investigation find it is also due in part to larger purchases — better nutrition in 1948.

For instance, the sweet potato and its cousin, the lowly Irish spud, represent the only food group which actually decreased in use among city families between 1942 and 1948. All other groups increased, except leafy vegetables, which remained about the same.

Compared with 1942, urban families in all income groups were using 23 per cent more milk than in 1948, 11 per cent more eggs, 12 per cent more meat, poultry and fish, 8 per cent more citrus fruits and tomatoes.

All this adds up to better eating, always a welcome sign. But families who are consuming about the same type and variety of food they have eaten for years, know it is taking a much larger slice out of the weekly income than it did in the past.

Charles Robert Jewell Weds Wisconsin Girl

The Congregational Church of Genoa City, Wis., was the scene of an attractive Spring wedding at 4 o'clock, Saturday, June 11, when Miss Julia A. Brunswick, daughter of Leo Brunswick of Genoa City became the bride of Charles Robert Jewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jewell of Tecumseh. The Rev. C. E. Brenneman performed the single ring ceremony.

White peonies decorated the altar and nuptial music played by Mrs. Robert Kautz added to the beauty of the service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white marquisette fashioned with a rounded neckline featuring six folds of marquisette, full sleeves gathered at the wrists, a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara of French lilacs and to complete her bridal ensemble she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal bouquet was of white gladioli with detachable glamelia corsage.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Carl Faust, of Britton, sister of the bridegroom, as matron of honor. Her gown was of blue marquisette, fashioned similar to that of the brids but with cap sleeves. She wore a headdress of pink flowers with pink velvet streamers down the back, and carried a pink gladioli bouquet.

Gerald Brunswick, brother of the bride, assisted as best man. Leo J. Brunswick and William Brunswick, also brothers of the bride were ushers.

Following the ceremony, dinner was served at the Hunter Golf Club to the immediate families. The wedding cake held the traditional bride and groom.

The couple left on a trip through the Southern states and upon their return will be at home in Milwaukee, Wis. For her going away ensemble, the bride wore a navy blue suit with navy and white accessories and the glamelia corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Genoa City high school, State Teacher's College of White Water, Wis., and attended Northwestern University. She was a member of the Theta Sigma Upsilon sorority. She is now employed as educational therapist at Veteran's Hospital, Wood, Wis.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and served in the navy in World War II. He is a student at the University of Wisconsin.

Fishing Laws Will Be Eased

CATCHING MORE FISH, NOT RESTRICTING CATCH, MAY BOOST LAKES' STOCK

LANSING—More than one million people — men, women and children — can't be wrong!

Fishing in Michigan has become "big business." Nearly one-third of the million plus fishing licenses to be issued in 1949 will go to non-resident tourists. Fishing and Michigan are one-and-the-same to several hundred thousand summer travelers.

All of this is timely. Saturday (June 25) opened the traditional bass and panfish season on lakes otherwise closed to year-round fishing.

This point bears emphasis for the legislature permitted the state conservation department, beginning in 1947, to designate 20 lakes for year-round fishing. The latest lake on the experimental list is Hess lake in Newaygo county. Anglers may fish at any time, summer or winter, for bluegills, sunfish, perch, rock bass and calico bass.

The 1949 legislature weighed evidence submitted by fish management experts and voted to liberalize the rules still further. Effective September 23, the six-inch size limits on panfish will be removed. The legal limit continues at 25 in any combination per day. The bluegill and sunfish season will be lengthened one month, ending March 31 instead of February 28.

Why this change in thinking on conservation of fish?

Year-round fishing and removal of size limits are complete reversals of the sportsman's traditional attitudes.

The answer is simple. "We have reached that stage in believing that continued stocking of young bass, perch and bluegills is not the answer to better fishing," says F. A. Westerman, chief of the fish and fisheries division, state conservation department.

"Our lakes appear to have a considerable reserve of catchable fish, not taken by present inefficient methods of angling. Our populations of warm-water fish are still not being taxed to their limit to produce. Fishermen can still take more of the crop of warm-water fish, at least of the pan fish."

The idea that fishing can be improved if more fish are removed from the lake is one of those things that confound the sportsman. At first, it doesn't seem to make sense. Then the fish management expert brings in factual proof. Tests show that most lakes have countless thousands of the young game and pan fishes. Often the fish population is so great that fish have trouble growing up to adult size. Stunting follows.

What counts is the availability of food and protective habitat. Brush shelters are placed along the shores of lakes. Trout streams have been improved by planting of 50,000 white and red pine, mountain ash, hawthorne, rosa multiflora and willow. These were planted primarily to provide shade and to prevent erosion. This work is financed by 40 cents out of fisherman's license fee.

To provide access to fishing lakes the state has acquired nearly 280 fishing sites, 261 on lakes and 118 on streams. Some land was obtained due to tax reversion; others were purchased from private owners.

Because fish ladders at dams have not proved to be entirely satisfactory, the department has transferred thousands of walleyed pike and rainbows to power dam ponds above.

Dams to provide trout ponds have been built in southern Michigan at Spring Creek near Pontiac, Sylvan Creek in the Waterloo area, and a tributary to the Dowagiac River near Summerville.

Noxious fish, such as carp, have been removed by netting them in 15 lakes. The waters then were stocked with trout.

While the bass and panfish prospects are steadily improving, the brook trout continues to present a problem. The pressure is greater than ever, as more fishermen turn to fly casting. Overfishing is depleting the trout population in Michigan streams.

Year-round fishing for panfish, now on a limited and experimental scale, offers the best hope for better fishing in the future.

Michigan lakes contain more panfish today than 50 years ago. If properly managed, they may continue to attract thousands of summer visitors to Michigan and to provide healthful recreation for Michigan residents.

Uncover Ruins Near Tel Aviv

DISCOVERY IS LINKED WITH KING SOLOMON AS POSSIBLE ANCIENT PORT

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL—Ruins of an ancient Hebrew city, believed to be some 3,000 years old, which may have served King Solomon as a port, are being excavated on a hill north of Tel Aviv.

The excavation is under the direction of Dr. Benjamin Maisler, representing the Jewish Palenstine Exploration Society and the city of Tel Aviv.

"It is already evident that the unearthed city is a typical example of Israelite culture, with certain influences of the somewhat older Philistine style," Dr. Maisler said.

Near the site is an ancient Hebrew fortress, excavated several years ago, which may have served to guard the port just found.

The new discovery covers approximately 80 acres. Apparently the city's population was about 2,000. Situated at the mouth of the Yarkon River, it has archaeological indications that it was founded about 1000 B.C.

Conclusions as to the nature of the city are substantiated by the fact the Philistines occupied the coastal stretch from Gaza up to the Yarkon at the time of David and Solomon (1000 to 931 B.C.).

The city's name is unknown. It may be the same referred to in the book of Joshua as situated "opposite Jaffa." Apparently it existed for only 250 years. Repeatedly destroyed by fire, apparently in war, it was rebuilt each time but was razed for the last time in about the eighth century B. C.

Found in the ruins was a stove with a pot on it, in which a meal was apparently being prepared when the home—a sort of flat—was suddenly destroyed.

The romance of its trade is implied in two Hebrew inscriptions found referring to "1,100 oil from the king" and to "Ophir gold for Beth Choron," another town between the coastal plain and Jerusalem.

In the same five-room flat where the ancient meal was interrupted, diggers found a figurine of Astarte, the Syro-Phoenician goddess. At the time the city existed, which was before Israel had definitely embraced monotheism, idolatry was rather widespread, particularly among the surrounding peoples.

Walter A. Bailey Dies; Funeral Here, Friday

Preceding Mr. Bailey in death was his wife, Mrs. Lillie Rosser Bailey, on October 24, 1939. Surviving are four sons, Claude of Macon, Fred of Ypsilanti, Clyde and Georgge of Tecumseh; three daughters, Mrs. Irene Russell at home and Mrs. Gladys Parker and Mrs. Florence Dunnigan of Jackson; 16 grandchildren, two brothers, Leslie Bailey of Saline and Bert Bailey of Milan, one sister, Mrs. Rena Towler of Saline and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

The story is making the rounds that a rooster lived three days after he lost his head on the chopping block. Don't be surprised —some people have been running around that way for years.

It takes a lot of funny kind of people to make a world, including those who paste pictures of bathing girls on the windshield.

Many Tourists Plan Vacation In Germany

LONDON—British travel agents are again issuing detailed programs for tourist trips to Germany in readiness for the end of the ban on travel there next month.

Though Christopher Mayhew, Foreign Office Undersecretary, when he announced the relaxation week, appealed to the public not to contact travel agencies until further details were announced, most agencies report that they have provisional bookings in hand.

"We have been having inquiries off and on since the end of the war," a spokesman of one of the biggest agencies said. "The majority are from people who went to Germany for their holidays before the war and want to go back."

Most of the conducted trips planned by the travel agencies are to the popular prewar areas in the Rhineland and Bavarian mountains.

Cheapest trip offered by one of the leading agencies is a nine-day vacation with six nights spent at Konigsforst, near Cologne, for the equivalent of $99.80.

Though many German hotels are still in the hands of occupation forces, travel agents report that those available for tourists are good and that prices compare very favorably with other European countries.

Herald classifieds pay big dividends.

God Shows His Power When The People Complain

The children of Israel were still disgruntled. After God had sent them Manna to feed them, they became cross when the water supply was running low—and asked Moses why he led them to this dreary dry land. Then God told Moses to strike a certain rock, and he did, and water flowed forth. Thus the fault-finders were pacified again.

It was here, too that the Israelites were attacked by a fierce mountain tribe—and Moses prayed again for help. When he was so exhausted that he had to be helped to a rock to sit down, the prayers were answered, and the enemies were driven back for the last time.

Many times, our prayers aren't answered immediately. In this case, Moses' prayers were attended by some fierce work by the children. That is true in any case. We can pray to our God as much as we choose, but we can't expect prayer alone to help us. Regular visits in prayer, like regular church attendance, gives us the mental strength to do what we want to do. To develop your understanding of your God, attend your church regularly.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of the new grandstand-clubhouse building to be erected in time for the 1950 season by the Michigan Racing Association.

Construction of the Michigan Racing Association's new $4,500,000 thoroughbred racing center will be started immediately on its 240 acre site at Middlebelt and Schoolcraft roads near Detroit, vice president George Haggarty announced today.

The huge plant, which will be beautifully landscaped into a park rivalling such famous tracks as Hialeah and Santa Anita, will be completely fireproof and will be ready for Memorial Day 1950.

It will accomodate 33,000 spectators in the clubhouse, stands, and along the racing strip and will be the most modern in the world. The infield will boast not only a one mile oval for running races, but a half-mile track for harness racing.

"Nothing will be spared in the way of conveniences to make this plant the finest to be found anywhere," Haggarty said. "The design is such that it will permit a clear view of the races from every standpoint."

Options on the Livonia township site have been taken up and engineers are now conducting surveys on the property. First bids for actual construction will be taken in two weeks.

The Michigan Racing Association is now conducting an 80-day meeting at the Detroit Fairgrounds—the last at the present racing oval by act of the 1949 legislature.

U. S. ZONE GERMANS BACK ALLIED POLICY

BERLIN—Most Germans living in the American Zone approved Western policy toward Germany during 1948, according to a public opinion poll survey published by the United States Military Government.

Entitled "Trends in German Public Opinion," the survey demonstrated that Germans supported currency reform, the Berlin airlift, and west German government, the military government said.

But the surveys also revealed that Germans made little progress toward "positive democratic values" and still show "indifference toward politics."

Analysts report that during the last two years, Germans have tended to increase acceptance of the idea of German responsibility for the war.

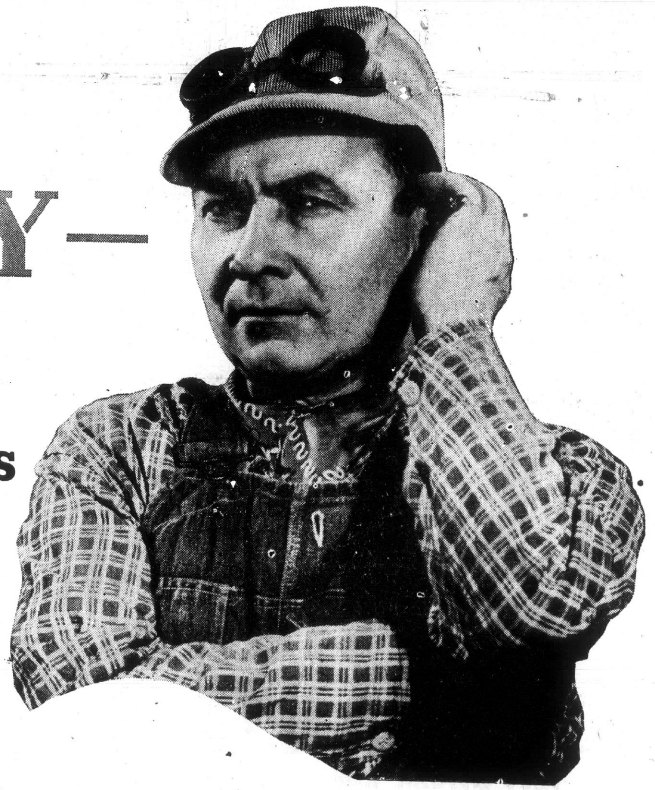
OKAY—



but what's in it for me?

"So America's the richest country in the world. So what?

"So Americans produce more than any people on earth. Okay—but what's in it for me?"

At all times, in all ages, nations have had to answer that question—or go out of business.

The average man—the worker, the farmer, the small businessman—is human enough to ask: "What will it do for me—for me and my wife and my kids?"

Let's look at the record—Here in America we have the best answer in the world to that question.

Machine Power: Since 1910 we have increased our supply of machine power 4½ times.

Production: Since 1910 we have more than doubled the output each of us produces for every hour we work.

Income: Since 1910 we have increased our annual income from less than $2400 per household to about $4000 (in dollars of the same purchasing power), yet

Work Hours: Since 1910 we have cut 18 hours from our average work week—equivalent to two present average workdays.

BUT THE BEST IS YET—

You're right—things can be even better . . . and must be better. Right now, everyone admits prices are too high. We still have the threat of boom and bust. Our system has faults, yet it has brought more benefits to more people than any other system ever devised.

We can beat the boom and bust cycle. We can have even better food, better clothing, better wages, better homes, more leisure, more educational and medical facilities.

We can have all this IF we all continue to work together and share together . . . IF we continue to realize that each American's personal standard of living will rise in proportion to how much all Americans produce through better machines, better methods, better teamwork.

And that's about it. What's in it for you depends on what's in it for America.

THE BETTER WE PRODUCE
THE BETTER WE LIVE

An' Give Her That "New Look"---With A Toni and Everything

We don't like to brag—much, but a feller brought his battered ol' hoss to our stabul tother day and wanted to know if we'd use some of o' art in rehabilitatin' her Waal, we looked her over. Hre fenders were bent, some of her paint was off, the trunk caved in, partly, and, to put it mildly like, she looked a mess.

Waal, we ordered out our plastic surgeons and boy did they do a job. They ironed out the old girl's wrinkles, lifted her face, gave her a Toni, applied fresh paint an' lip-stick and wound up with an overall polish. An' what yuh know. The feller came back in a couple o' days to get his hoss an' when we trotted her out he had to look at a licens' plate 'fore he knew her.

Point we want to make is that we now offer our kustomers complete collision service. We don't kare what kondishun a hoss is in when we get her, jist so most o the parts are there. Maybe we'll have to remove a toe or an arm or sumpin, but we'll graft a new one on and it won't show, either.

So, if yuh get in an aksident, or somebody swats yuh front or rear, or yuh roller over in a ditch, phone us at 289. We'll send out our ambulance and bring her in, and in a few days time, with the kind of surgery and nursin' we do in our hosspitul, she'll be back, purrin' and lookin' like new.

We never know'ed 'fore how many tricks could be done with these 4-wheel hosses via plastic surgery 'till we took some ideas from them human hospituls. Boy, we decided right away that if them docs kud do the tricks on humans that we'd seed done, we kud jist work miralkes on iron hosses. And, sure 'nuf, we're doin' it.

Library Here Gets Assistant

FULL-TIME ASSISTANT NECESSARY TO PARTICIPATE IN STATE AID

Acting on the instructions of the state board of librarians, the Tecumseh school board of education has engaged a full time assistant librarian for the public library, Earl H. Place, superintendent of schools said today. Miss Garnet Saum began her duties as assistant to Miss Ruth Harding, July 1.

In correspondence with Mr. Place in January, the state board urged the superintendent to submit plans to obtain a full time assistant in order that state aid may be granted to the library for the coming year. It was said school districts with a population between 3,000 and 5,000 must have a full time librarian and assistant. Because of Tecumseh's rapid growth, the district's population well exceeds 3,000, Mr. Place said.

After Miss Saum's consent to act in that capacity, Mr. Place replied to the state board and said a full time assistant had been engaged. The local library is under the jurisdiction of the board of education.

A gift of four books and several booklets and pamphlets dealing with childhood problems has been received by the public library from the Tecumseh Child Study Club. The books are: "You and Psychiatry," Menninger and Leaf; "On Being A Real Person," Fosdick; "Big Family," Partridge, and "Life With Family," Grossman.

A set of 15 volumes of Compton's pictured encyclopdia is among the new books at the library. Others include: "Famous Indian Chiefs," Wood; "Woman of Samaria," Ingels; "Creative Hands," Cox and Weismann; "Roosevelt and Hopkins," Sherwood; "Behind The Curtain," Gunther; "Father of the Bride," Streeter; "With A Feather On My Nose," Billie Burke, and "Double Muscadine," Gaither.

Tells Of Experiences At Boy's State, Lansing

David Green, Tecumseh high school senior and the Rotary Club's representative at Wolverine Boy's State, East Lansing, told of his experiences while at Lansing when he talked to Rotarians, following dinner at Brees House, Tuesday evening.

At Boys' State, youth of Michigan — thousands of them — learn the fundamentals of government and what makes it tick. David was active in the "political group" and successfully campaigned for his election as county clery. He was a member of the Athenian party.

It was a great experience for a high school youth, he told club members in expressing his appreciation for the trip.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Green.

HOME FROM CAMP

Rev. Donald C. Wilson and eight young people returned home Thursday from Waldenwoods where the Rev. Mr. Wilson was director of the Presbyterian church camp, at which 99 boys and girls and 11 leaders from the Michigan synod of the church enjoyed a week's stay. The young people from the local church attending were Tom Naser, Kirk Smith, Sue Kiser, Nancy Treby, Marie Boyce, Mary Nixon, Joan Pfaus and Diane Dillon. The Rev. W. E. Simpson of Monroe was a member of the staff.

Get Training At 2-Week Camp

Many people passing along the Macon-Clinton highway this summer wonder what has happened to Boysville. They are surprised to see groups of healthy youngsters enjoying the spacious campus of the new technical high school. The answer is simple. Boysville has been invaded by a group of deaf youngsters from Detroit and surrounding cities.

The problem of the deaf is quite complex. For many years they have been stared at in public places and sometimes maltreated, because the signs which they use to communicate their ideas are not understood by their neighbors. But a revolution has taken place. No longer is the child taught the sign language. Instead, by much patience and perseverance, he is taught to read the lips of others. By learning to lipread, the child is enabled to become a more complete participant in his social or economical life. After many years of constant practice, the average deaf person can talk to others with the greatest facility, and very often such a deaf person will not betray his or her handicap.

His Eminence, Edward Cardinal Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit, has long felt the need of religious vacation school for the deaf children under his care. On June 26 of this year, this need was filled. For on that day, Father John C. Ryan and his staff of six ventured into this field for the first time. They accepted some forty boys for a two week period, and at present are helping forty girls to enjoy a profitable vacation in the country, at Boysville.

The staff consists of three sisters, Sister Mary Germaine, Sister Mary Monica, and Sister Mary Maureen, members of the Institute of Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart, Towson, Maryland; and three students for the Catholic priesthood: Rev. Mr. John Zwers, Thomas Esper and Robert Kavanaugh. Rev. Mr. Zwers and Mr. Esper are on vacation from Catholic University, Washington, D. C., and Mr. Kavanaugh from Mt. St. Mary's of the West, Norwood, Ohio.

The day at vacation school begins at seven o'clock in the morning and ends when the lights flash out at nine fifteen. Each day the children attend mass in the beautiful Boysville Chapel, with the chaplain, Father Michael Collins of Tecumseh, officiating.

The boys and girls attend three classes each day, where they are instructed in the truths of faith. Many unique devices are used to impress the ideas upon the children. Flash cards, pictures, drawings and charts are in frequent use. The classes are conducted in small groups to facilitate the mutual lip-reading, and in accordance with modern trends, the sign language is outlawed.

Swimming in the beautiful outdoor pool is the most popular pastime of the day. For two hours each day the children splash about in the spring-fed water, under the

Only 12 Attend School Election

LITTLE INTEREST SHOWN BY TAXPAYERS IN OPERATIONS OF SCHOOLS

Although the Tecumseh public schools is a $300,000 a year business, only 12 electors showed sufficient interest as "stockholders" to cast their votes at the annual school meeting, Monday. When the polls closed at 8 p.m., 12 votes were counted for Dr. Ralph Helzerman as a member of the board of education for a three year term. He was the only candidate seeking the office.

The board, in session following the election, re-elected officers for the new year as follows: Jens Tonborg, president; Jerry Spafford, vice president; P. C. Satterthwaite, treasurer and Dr. Helzerman, secretary. Paul Breitenbacher is the other member of the board.

Eleven persons attended the annual meeting, in the high school auditorium. The report of the treasurer showed that last year the cost of operating the schools here amounted to $164,529.98. In addition, $163,637.73 was spent in the construction of the new high school building, (which will be completed at a cost of $400,000 by January 1), and that another $5,370.74 was spent for the operation of the public library. The total outlay during the school year was $333,538.05.

The budget for the year 1949-50 as approved by the electors amounted to $200,920 for school operation and debt service. Of that amount $25,935 goes for the retirement of bonds and the payment of interest. The actual budget, with that amount subtracted, is only about $10,000 higher than this year and this, it was said, is due to the hiring of four additional teachers.

The total school enrollment this year was 984 and there were 34 teachers on the staff. Next year's initial enrollment is expected to be 1,051, and there will be 38 teachers on the staff.

Reports were given by the secretary and by Earl H. Place, superintendent. Construction of the new building is progressing normally and will be completed and ready for occupancy about the first of the new year, it was said.

275 Bicycles Are Licensed

POLICE ASK THAT OWNERS OF UNLICENSED BIKES REPORT ON SATURDAY

Police have fixed Saturday, July 16, as the final day for the licensing of bicycles in Tecumseh. They believe that there are about 100 unregistered bikes in the village.

Thus far, according to Earl Bowen, chief, 275 bicycle owners have registered their vehicles. The cost of the license and tag for the first year is 50 cents and each succeeding year the charge is 25 cents.

The purpose of the ordinance, which is now in effect, is not a money-making scheme, it was pointed out. Police desire that every bike be registered with the village, making it easily possible to trace the owner in event of loss or theft.

The ordinance provides that if a used bicycle is sold the sale must be registered with police, and new bicycles must be licensed when purchased.

Police Seek To Issue Licenses

COUNCIL REQUEST MADE TO STATE POLICE; SANITATION LAW EXPLAINED

Tecumseh police, through the village council, have made a request to Capt. C. J. Scavarda of the Michigan State Police, asking that they be permitted to issue operator's and chauffeur's licenses locally. The appeal received formal council approval at its meeting last week, and has been forwarded to the state. Heretofore, all such licenses have been issued at Adrian.

Police also ask the council to enact an ordinance controlling the discharge of air guns within the village limits and another for the control of parades.

The council sent a request to the superintendent of the New York Central Lines, objecting to the "parking" of railroad engines on the tracks in the downtown district.

Geo. McCombs, president protem, acting in the absence of President Watkins, named F. K. Smith as a member of the Tecumseh Hospital board for a five year term, to succeed himself.

A delegation of merchants attended the council meeting and sought a clarification of the new health and sanitation ordinance, now in effect. Their principal objection, it was said, was the variance in the charges made for physical examinations. It finally was agreed that the doctor's fee for the examination should be $3, unless more than one examination was necessary.

The new health ordinance provides that all persons operating or employed in places handling or selling foods must undergo physical examinations. It further provides for the licensing of such places and regular inspections.

Dr. H. C. Huntley, director of the Lenawee Health Department, announced today that the department had succeeded in securing the services of two nationally known health educators for the purpose of conducting a series of food-handlers courses which will be held in Lenawee county, September 27 and 28.

W. H. Haskell, D.V.M. and Tom Laughlin spend their entire time conducting these courses all over the midwest; and, through the media of oral discussion, strip films, and motion pictures, they will bring the latest information on such subjects as the proper storage and handling of food, the scientific methods of washing dishes, making food attractive to the customer, and how to attract customers through cleanliness.

C. H. Niggeman, sanitary engineer of the Health Department, and Carleton Dennis, sanitarian for the City of Adrian and Lenawee county, who will supervise these classes, said that they are being held especially for the restaurants in Adrian and Tecumseh where there is no standard ordinance. However, the managers and employees of restaurants all over Lenawee county are invited. There will be both afternoon and evening classes and those completing the four hour course will be given a certificate of attendance. The exact time and place will be announced later.

Dr. Huntley said this is the first time any course of this type has been offered in this county, although in many cities over the country, including Flint in Michigan, a course of this type is required before a food-handler's permit will be granted. He said this type of education has been shown to be much more effective in protecting the health of the public than any other type of control over food-handlers.

GREAT, GREAT GRANDSON PRIZES OLD U. S. DEED

Earl Pennington Has "Sheepskin" Signed By President Jackson

Earl Pennington of Ridgeway, whose great, great grandfather, John Pennington, was one of Lenawee county's earliest settlers, has many mementos of the pioneer days in the Tecumseh area but few that he prizes more highly than the sheepskin deed, signed by President Jackson in 1828, which brought into the Pennington family a 160-acre farm just east of Macon, four acres of which still is in Earl Pennington's name. The balance of the acreage was sold to Henry Ford a few years ago and since has been resold to other parties.

The four-acre tract which Earl Pennington now owns he kept purely for sentimental reasons. It was his great, great grandfather's nursery and orchard, one of the first in Michigan. Some of the trees still remain.

Mr. Pennington also has some other treasures including a set of Almanacs dating from 1808 through 1822. Some were published by Asbury, others by Webster, Utica, others bear the name of New York and Vermont and there is still another known as the "Agricultural Almanac." They are yellow with age but the printing is still clear.

Earl Pennington's father was Mayne Pennington. His grandfather was Humbolt, his great grandfather's first name was Israel and his great, great grandfather was Jorn.

From the "Memoirs of Lenawee County," published by Richard Bonner in 1909, John Pennington was one of the first settlers of Macon township, having moved there with his family from Raisin in 1829. He was born in Stafford, New Jersey. He was a brother-in-law of Darius Comstock. He chose Macon because of the rich, black soil and he acquired 160 acres from the government. What is now the village of Macon, originally was known as Pennington's Corners and is located on land which he took up under President Jackson's signature.

The township of Macon was named in the winter of 1833 after a creek which flows through it from the northwest. Israel Pennington and Dr. Joseph Howell circulated a petition to have the township set off from Tecumseh.

Earl Pennington also has in his possession several old newspapers including the February 13, 1833, issue of the Michigan Emigrant, the July 4, 1863, issue of Moore's Rural New Yorker, and the Sept. 9, 1886, issue of The Tecumseh Herald, in which is printed an excellent history of Macon township. The history is included in a report of the Lenawee County Pioneers Society of which F. A. Dewey was president. The meeting was at the Macon Grange Hall.

SENATE STRIKES STRIKERS

There has been a continuous battle in Congress between win-or-oust forces headed by President Truman, who supports strikes, and real statesmen who know that the Taft-Hartley law will save the American economic system.

The Senate approves both Taft-Hartley injunction and plant seizures in National emergency strikes.

While many of our people may not feel the blows that have weakened constitutional and Democratic Government, the fact remains that these strikes are about the most destructive foes we have to contend with in our Nation.

When it comes to a point where the President is willing to sacrifice the National interests in order to carry the labor vote it is high time for a showdown.

That showdown was reached in the Senate on June 28 when Senator Taft was supported by seventeen Democratic Senators who broke ranks, to vote with Republicans for the Taft plan. The Administration mustered only five Republicans and thirty-five Democrats.

Naturally everyone wants all workers to get the highest wages that can be paid. But any Congress that will continue to back labor bosses to order hundreds of thousands of men to lay down their tools have no right to expect the support of the American public.

On the very day that Truman was licked by the Senate and a guarantee made by the Government that workers and employers will hereafter be protected by just laws of the land, the venerable Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York resigned from the Senate after 22½ years service, because of long continued ill health. He was the author of the original labor act that bears his name.

The retiring Senator told his countrymen:

"As I retire from the arena which has been home to me these many years, I have no misgivings about the future.

"I see a generation grown up which is well equipped with learning, intelligence, courage and faith in our country to meet the challenge of the new day more successfully than my own generation.

"I have faith that this new generation will exercise power for the common good. So long as it treasures freedom and the love of God and country, the prospect is bright."

Senator Wagner evidently doesn't want this cheap program of politicians to grab votes through bad labor laws any more than Senator Taft wants such a disgraceful letdown in our National affairs.

So, we gain many hopes that Congress will continue to strengthen the Taft-Hartley Act in every way that will improve its value to all the American people.

Senator Wagner in his final message appeals to the American people to "continue the battle for human rights."

The Senate has heralded a forward march in that direction.

Windy Sure "Stopped The Show"!

The other night a bunch of us were over at Judge Cunningham's watching a swell vaudeville program on his new television set. It came in fine, but just once, the screen got a little streaky.

Before the Judge could touch the knob to bring it into focus, old Windy Taylor starts fooling around with the antenna connection. "I can fix that!" he says.

Windy fixed it all right. He "stopped the show" for us, and Buzz Ellis had to come over and do a $20 repair job. I understand Windy feels so bad, that he's paying the bill and has apologized to the Judge for acting so smart.

From where I sit, it pays to practice a little restraint whenever we get the urge to meddle. Whether it's television or a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of sparkling beer now and then—let's get a good clear "picture" of the real situation before we cause more harm than good.

QUITE literally, it's one car in a thousand—999 other cars take the road for every Estate Wagon Buick turns out.

But it's far more than something exclusive, as you'll soon see when one takes its place in your garage.

For those times, for instance, when house guests arrive — what smarter equipage could you send to the station, what greater comfort, what handier way to manage the luggage problem?

And when the Lord and Master yearns for a few days away from it all — what's handier than this nimble gadabout, that lets him fold down a back seat at nightfall and enjoy full-length double-bed sleeping space?

And that place in the country, calling for a car that can go just about everywhere, do just about everything . . .

That's when you'll go for the ruggedness of this beauty with its steel framing, steel top and springs of durable, service-free coiled steel. That's when you'll go for Dynaflow Drive† too — and the steady, even, fluid pull that takes furrowed fields, rough pastures and narrow back roads with equal, shift-free ease.

In all truth, this is a star of many roles. Smart and sleek, finished like an express cruiser, it's a standout for style in any parking line-up, a family favorite for its quick readiness to take on any transportation job.

Springville Has New Church

METHODIST EDIFICE DEDICATED ON SUNDAY BY BISHOP MARSHALL REED

The first service to be held in a church building in Springville since 1941 was on Sunday when Bishop Marshall R. Reed officiated at the dedication services of the Methodist Church, recently moved to that community on M-50 from the Summerfield community near Deerfield. Bishop Reed was assisted by Howard Montgomery, pastor, Dr. Frank L. Fitch, superintendent of the Ann Arbor district, and the Rev. Howard Western professor at Adrian College.

The original church burned to the ground in 1941 and since that time services have been held in a school building. The present structure was moved to the site September 14, 1948 and members of the community banded together to rehabilitate the building.

"They Found A Church Here" was the theme of Bishop Reed's sermon, in which he likened the congregation to "a colony of Heaven, a citadel of righteousness, and a city of refuge." Claire Wallace, president of the board of trustees, presented the building to the bishop for dedication. There were several other contributions to the service.

After a cooperative dinner served at noon by the Ladies Aid in the church parlors to some 100 persons, the informal afternoon program was opened by Mr. Montgomery. It included readings and brief talk by former pastors. Mrs. Mary Toland had prepared a history of the destroyed structure until it burned in 1941 and this was given by Mrs. Frederick Biddix. Mrs. Speer Tabbert of Adrian gave a history of the Summerfield church up to the time it was moved to Springville.

Among those present at the dedication were eight persons who had attended the Springville Methodist church more than 50 years ago, and three who had the distinction of having attended more than 60 years in the past.

Safe Canning Methods Urged

FOOD MAY BE POISON WHEN IT HAS NEITHER BAD TASTE, ODOR OR APPEARANCE

Here's some advice on safe canning and safe canned foods issued today by the Michigan Department of Health in pointing out that improperly canned food can be poison when it has neither bad taste, odor or appearance.

It is best to can everything except tomatoes and fruits by the pressure cooker method. Other methods are less safe and when non-acid foods such as vegetables, meat or poultry are canned by any other method they must be boiled for 15 minutes before tasting or serving. The boiling water bath method of canning is safe for tomatoes and acid fruits. Do not cold-pack. Never can in the oven.

When using the pressure cooker method of canning follow government timetables and directions exactly. Keep the opening of the pressure cooker's safety valve petcock and gauge clean. Have the gauge checked.

Can only fresh foods in the very best condition. Be sure that all food for canning, hands, towels and all canning equipment including cans and tops are immaculately clean.

Prepare only one "load" for the cooker at one time. Work quickly. While one load is processing, prepare another.

Cool jars quickly, but don't turn them upside down—this breaks the seal. Tip them gently to test for leaks. When vacuum seal lids are used, remove the screw cap the following day to be certain that no jars are stored which are not adequately sealed. Store in a cool, dark, dry place.

If young children must be in the kitchen, use a portable folding fence to keep them away from the stove, canning operations and cooling cans. Let other housework go during canning hours. Don't try to can the entire crop in one day. Keep a jar or bottle of burn preparation in the kitchen.

Use care in home canning giving special attention to every step in the process. For those who do not know how to can, the United States Department of Agriculture has prepared two pamphlets "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" and "Home Canning of Meats and Poultry" which can be had from county agricultural agents or from Michigan State College.

Lack Of Funds Holds Up Roads

STATE IS WITHOUT CASH TO MEET MILLIONS AVAILABLE IN U. S. GRANTS

LANSING—Michigan is not getting all of the federal aid for state highways it is entitled to receive.

Because Michigan now pays to the federal government about four times more in taxes than it gets back, it is the judgment of Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, that Michigan is missing a good bet.

"There are about $11 million of federal funds available since 1948 on which contracts have not been let because we have no state funds to match these federal funds," said Commissioner Ziegler.

"We won't lose this money, but the people of the state will lose one year's use of badly needed highway facilities which these funds would permit. We also have an additional $12 million of new federal funds becoming available in Jan. 1. No contracts can be let against this new money during 1949 because we have no matching money.

"Without additional state funds we will be unable to avail ourselves of all federal aid allocated to Michigan as rapidly as need dictates. If federal aid funds are not matched by state funds and used for highway construction within a limited period, they revert for reallocation to other states which are financially able to match funds."

The problem of state highways has a familiar ring to it. It is an echo of the problem which exists today in every activity of government — local, state and federal. Costs have gone up tremendously during the postwar inflation period. A dollar of revenue buys only 50 cents in prewar value. Something must give way. Services must be curtailed or taxes must be increased. You can't have better highways without paying more for them.

When Commissioner Ziegler points to the dollar deficiency in explaining why state highway department is lagging in its progress program, he believes he does so with a good conscience. Ziegler is proud of his record of economy—"getting the most value from the funds at our disposal."

Ziegler maintains that he had weeded out "non-producing employees" to the extent of 475. The annual saving is estimated at $1 million. This economy is in addition to 650 state employees who were dropped when the state department contracted with county road commissions to maintain state trunk-line routes. Ziegler considers the 475 total as the "net" reduction.

A second economy is claimed by Ziegler by elimination of duplication caused by two organizations—state and county—doing the "same work" in counties. Ziegler puts the annual savings at another $1 million.

Another dollar-stretching policy has been to salvage old trunkline roads by resurfacing them with two and one-quarter inches of asphaltic concrete at a cost of about $20,000 per mile. About 1,000 miles of old pavements have been so treated.

Another economy is claimed by Ziegler in the lower cost of building state roads in Michigan—"15 per cent cheaper than the national average and well below our neighboring states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Pennsylvania."

"Four important factors enter into these comparatively low prices," said Ziegler. "First, contractors in Michigan do not buy jobs, but receive contracts based on the low qualified bids. Second, Michigan contractors are exceptionally well-equipped to perform the work required and have highly-qualified personnel. Third, the gamble of lost time from labor disturbances is out of the picture due to the fine relationship existing between the department and the road construction unions.

"Fourth, we pay contractors promptly every two weeks as work progresses, less 10 per cent reserve, which enables them to meet payrolls promptly and to discount material purchases."

Michigan motorists are paying less than those in other states to finance new roads and maintain old ones.

Such being the case, they are "saving" money and are getting "their money's worth"—but at the expense of improved highways. As we pointed out last week, better roads and higher taxes go hand in hand. Which do you prefer?

MID-SUMMER PICNIC

Members and guests of Abi Evans chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, enjoyed the annual mid-summer picnic, Friday, July 8, at the home of Mrs. Don Hunt near Tipton. A short business meeting was conducted by the regent, Mrs. Louis Schneider. Mrs. Cecile Smith has been admitted as a new member.

Swimming Don'ts Are Pointed Out By Health Department

Thirteen drownings in Michigan waters in one short weekend broucht a timely warning from the Michigan Department of Health.

"The people who drowned were just ordinary folk—a child wading in a river, another who stumbled into a deep channel, a couple whose boat capsized, a lad who dived into a shallow creek, a woman who fell out of a boat," the Department said.

"Observing the ordinary swimming and boating precautions may save your life or the life of your child," it added.

Do not swim in unfamiliar or swift waters, nor dive into water of unknown depth. Do not rush or dive headlong into cold water.

Wait two hours after meals before you swim and then do not swim until exhausted or chilled. If you must race, race toward shore.

Be sure the person who takes your boat out can handle it. Do not overload the boat, and do not rock it. Remain seated aboard small boats.

If you cannot swim, wear a life-jacket or take a life preserver or old inner tube along with you.

Carry oars in motor boats. Do not fill the engine while smoking. Carry an extra shear pin for the propeller.

Stay ashore or put for shore when a storm threatens. Avoid the swell of larger boats. Stay out of swift currents.

Last year, 289 people drowned in Michigan waters. Sixty-five per cent of the drownings occurred during the summer months. Six out of seven of those who drowned were men and boys.

Two thirds of the men and boys who drowned were under 30 years of age with the greater number in the 15 to 30 age group.

Two thirds of the women and girls who drowned were under 15 years of age.

Lakes took the lives of 77 persons; rivers, 75 persons; boating accidents, 75 persons, and quarries and miscellaneous places, 62 persons.

God Speaks To Moses From A Smoking Mountain

While the people were arranging their tents and preparing food one evening, Moses climbed Mount Sinai for a talk with God. And the Lord said him, "I shall speak to them on the third day from this." When Moses relayed this message, the people worked hard for three days in preparation for the meeting.

On the third day, a thick dark cloud rolled down the mountain sides into the valley where they were camped. The whole mountain shook. The people were terrified.

While the people were standing there, a voice came from the smoke of the mountain and gave them the Ten Commandments. God's voice was so strong that the people left the scene. Then Moses went into the smoke and talked with God. When he came out the commandments were written in a book. Then, the children made a sacrifice to God, and made their covenant with His laws.

A covenant is an agreement — more solemn and precious than a mere contract, as we speak of everyday business. This covenant you made when you joined your church. Today, resolve to renew that covenant and give your church the help it needs. Attend it every week.

Polio Precautions

Children should guard against sudden chilling during the summer polio epidemic season. Wet shoes and clothing should be removed at once and extra blankets and heavier clothing kept handy for sudden weather changes.

THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Hay Fever Victims Get Daily Pollen Count

To provide Michigan's resident and vacationing hay fever sufferers with daily information on the ragweed pollen concentration in various areas of the state, the ninth annual ragweed pollen survey of the Michigan Department of Health will be conducted in 57 stations in the state this summer.

The survey which will begin July 15 and continue until September 15 is taking in more areas in the state than any previous survey. This year's plan of operation will make pollen counts for each area available from the local health officer of that area on a day to day basis. Many local hospitals and laboratories as well as the local health departments are cooperating in the survey.

New stations at which pollen will be collected this year include: Lapeer, Mio, Roscommon, East Tawas and Paris. The station at Mackinaw City and one of two stations in Bay City will be discontinued.

Other stations will be located in: Alpena, Battle Creek, Bay City, Boyne City, Cadillac, Charlevoix, Charlotte, Cheboygan, Crystal Falls, Eagle Harbor, Eloise, Escanaba, Frankfort, Fremont, Gaylord, Gladwin, Grand Haven, Grand Rapids, Grayling, Harbor Beach, Hart, Hillsdale, Holland, Houghton, Ironwood, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Ludington, Mackinac Island Manistee, Manistique, Marquette, Menominee, Midland, Mt. Clemens, Mt. Pleasant, Munising, Muskegon, Newberry, Ontagon Petoskey, Pinconning, Port Huron, Powers, Rogers City, Saginaw, St. Ignace, Sault Ste. Marie, South Haven, Sturgis, and Traverse City.

Copies of the new 1948 survey report and pollen map, snowing areas of greatest and least pollen concentration in the state, are available without charge from the Michigan Department of Health, Lansing 4, Michigan.

The Truth About Electric Appliance Prices

ARE PRICES TOO HIGH? ARE YOU GETTING THE NEW FEATURES AND QUALITY YOU EXPECTED IN POST-WAR APPLIANCES?

If your family has been thinking of buying a new appliance, you may be confused by conflicting stories about today's prices and values. The fact is, there is no purchase you can make at this time that brings you more real value for your money than a good electric appliance. While the cost of living is up 70 percent over 1939, according to government statistics, the average price increase of ranges, refrigerators, washing machines, water heaters and dishwashers is only a little more than half that!

For example, today you can buy a brand new 1949 Hotpoint Refrigerator for $189.75—only $10 more than the same kind and size cost in 1939—and this is a lot better refrigerator and has many improved features. When you consider that the dollar today is worth just 60% of its 1939 value, you must agree that this new, vastly-improved Hotpoint post-war refrigerator actually costs a lot less.

Compare this with the price increase in automobiles, houses or almost anything you buy—up from 50 to more than 100 percent.

We see no reason for you to wait to buy a new appliance. At today's new low appliance prices you get the greatest dollar-for-dollar values we have ever been able to offer. We say this knowing full well that our future depends on satisfying you. We sell a lot of things—everything for the complete electric kitchen and home laundry—so we can't afford to lose you as a future customer when you buy any one of our appliances.

"You can Look to Hotpoint for the Finest—FIRST" is no idle statement. We mean it. So, we back it up with the greatest dollar-for-dollar value in quality appliances ever offered—right now!

Britain Happy With Tourists

NATION IS FEELING INFLUX OF VISITORS; AMERICAN CASH IS WELCOME

LONDON—The biggest tourist invasion Britain has ever known is in full flood. The appearance of parties from America, the Commonwealth, and Europe in small towns and villages in the most rural parts of the country is giving Britons a new "tourist complex."

The idea of Britain as a playground for visitors from overseas has been slow to germinate in the thinking of provincial folk, in spite of official encouragement. This year seems likely to mark a big change. Hotel and restaurant proprietors, transport operators, and manufacturers and publishers are working with new enthusiasm and sense of purpose.

By the close of the year, the British Government hopes that 560,000 overseas visitors will have spent more than £55,000,000 ($220,000,000) on British vacations. Statistics published by the Travel Association of Great Britain show that such figures would substantially exceed previous tourist records.

In 1947, fewer than 400,000 overseas visitors spent about £31,000,000. Last year, 504,000 visitors spent £47,000,000.

Britain, short of dollars, is particularly eager to welcome American visitors — and at present, about one-third of the money spent on British vacations by overseas visitors is American. The harvest of dollars is bigger than from exports by any single British manufacturing industry.

"It should be realized that the wealthier American tourists and the American business visitors comprise only one section of the traffic and that the less wealthy groups are likely to prove even more numerous in the future," the Travel Association states.

The association sees "unparalleled opportunities" for expansion of tourism in the new traveling public "in the lower income groups" — particularly among North Americans.

From western European countries — particularly France, Holland and Belgium, — visitors are coming to Britain in double the prewar numbers. Many more Scandinavians, too, are spending vacations here.

The Travel Association—which last year sent 7,528,000 publications and 340,000 posters to all parts of the world to attract visitors—believes "it can truly be said that almost every British town has played host to our overseas visitors."

The 1950 reunion will be held at the home of Edith and Forest Gray at Waldron.

How to tune a piano!

The piano is out of tune. So we'll chop it up. Then we'll get a tin horn instead.

Sure, these men are crazy.

But they're using the same kind of thinking a lot of people have been using on the American economic system lately.

Our American way isn't perfect. We still have our ups and downs of prices and jobs. We'll have to change that. But even so, our system works a lot better than the second-rate substitutes being peddled by some countries we could mention.

It works better because of a few simple things. We are more inventive, and we know how to use machine power to produce more goods at lower cost. We have more skilled workers than any other country. We believe in collective bargaining and enjoy its benefits. And we Americans save—and our savings go into new tools, new plants, new and better machines.

Because of this, we produce more every working hour . . . and can buy more goods with an hour's work than any other people in the world.

We can make the system work even better, too: by all of us working together to turn out more for every hour we work—through better machines and methods, more power, greater skills, and by sharing the benefits through higher wages, lower prices, shorter hours.

It's a good system. It can be made better. And even now it beats anything that any other country in the world has to offer.

So—let's tune it up, not chop it down.

—John Johnson—

Mr. John Johnson writes from Midland, Michigan, that he suffered continually with gas and indigestion, and was so weak, nervous and run down that life was miserable.

The fast pace of modern living puts a continual strain on our nerves and digestive organs. Few people today escape the miseries of gas, indigestion, heartburn, bloating, nervousness and other stomach disorders. For over 35 years, O-JIB-WA BITTERS has helped thousands of people who have suffered with these conditions. The following testimonial of Mr. John Johnson of 346 Oak Street, Midland, is typical and is offered as convincing proof that O-JIB-WA BITTERS is worth your trial if you are suffering from stomach distress.

Everything Turned to Gas

"I have suffered with stomach distress for quite some time, and although I found medicines that brought temporary relief, it was not until I read about O-JIB-WA BITTERS in the local paper, and had tried it, that I realized that O-JIB-WA was the best I had ever taken. Before taking this medicine, everything I ate turned to gas, even a glass of water formed gas on my stomach and I belched continually. At times it was so bad that it caused pressure on my lungs and made me short of breath, and my heart would just pound. I have always been an active man, but this stomach trouble and gas really got me down, and I found myself always tired and weak. Several times I had to grab a hold of something to keep from falling. My nerves and kidneys were also bad, and very seldom did I get a real good night's sleep."

Results In Just 5 Days

"As bad as I was, O-JIB-WA BITTERS took effect in just 5 days, and now two weeks later I can eat anything and everything without the slightest distress from gas and indigestion. I now sleep better and feel wide awake and full of pep. My kidneys are improved and in spite of being over 65 years old, I feel better than I have in years. I really was in bad shape before I used this wonderful medicine, and because of what it has done for me, I highly recommend O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I don't think anybody can take anything better for stomach trouble."

Strike at the Cause

O-JIB-WA INDIAN BITTERS is an all-herb medicine which acts to stimulate the digestive system (stomach, liver) to normal, thus overcoming gas, indigestion and heartburn. O-Jib-Wa acts to clear the blood of poisons and toxin waste that foster dizzy spells, headaches and rheumatism. O-Jib-Wa Bitters strengthens weak, sluggish kidneys to stop backaches, night rising and restless nights. Yes! O-Jib-Wa is truly an amazing medicine, and will probably do more for you than anything that you have ever tried, so why not get a bottle today and give it a chance to help you.

O-JIB-WA IS NOT EXPENSIVE! In fact, it is very reasonable and within the reach of all. It is available in three economical sizes for your convenience and sold by

It Makes Fur Kustomers in This Hoss-Tradin', Garagin' Bisnis

Yuh here a lot o' talk about drivin' safe, bein' courteous to other motorists and pedestrians when yur behind th' wheel. That's good logik, and we preach it ourselves 'cause we know that if it sinks in thru some thick skull it's goin' to save lives.

But we'd like to tell yuh that in this hoss-tradin', garagin' bisnis there's got to be a lot o' courtesy right here in the stahd. We've preached that to our cowboys ever since we started this place, and we're still preachin' it.

Yuh kant keep yur eye on the dollar all o' the time, no suh! Yuh got to give a little and take a little, we says, to make any bisnis klick. Maybe the kustomer isn't right, all o' the time, but we try to make him think that he is, anyhow.

If yuh bring yur hoss to our hoss-pitul for treatment, we want yuh to be treated as good or bettern the hoss. We want to do the operatin' and the treatin' as quick as we kan, and we want to hold down the expenses, 'cause we know that is important, too. And here's another thing: We want you SATISFIED when yuh take yuh hoss out o' our place. If she don't work right, if she bucks and wheezes, bring her back. All 'o us make mistakes, sometimes, we says, and we want yuh to tell us about ours. Then we kin korrect them.

We're lookin' for satisfied kustomers and we've got a lot o' em. That's how we've stayed in bisnis here for nearly 20 years. We want to stay 20 more, anyway, and we knows there's only one way to do it. Keep 'em happy, we says, and they'll keep comin' back.

PERHAPS IT WAS THE RED PAINT

2 - lb. Bass Takes Boat Ride

When a bass "jumps" into a boat, evidently preferring the company of an artist to the seclusion of the water of the Red Pond, it sounds like a "fish story." It is, but it's also the truth.

Monday afternoon, Russell Steinke, an artist vacationing in a cabin at Red Pond, took his easel, paints and brushes with him and proceeded to row his boat around the Red Pond, in search for scenery which he could put on canvas. Sighting his objective, the artist rowed closer to shore when suddenly he felt something hit him in the back and then—kerplop! Upon turning around to investigate, to his amazement Steinke saw a small-mouthed bass in the bottom of his boat. Checking later he found the fish weighed over two pounds.

The artist had no tackle whatsoever, the only lure being himself and his equipment. Besides the mounted head to prove the story are his friends who vouch for his truthfulness.

Golf And Cards Get Club Crowds

LADIES ARE INTERESTED IN "WOOD" INSTRUCTIONS; PLAY 9 HOLES OF GOLF

Ladies Day at the Country Club yesterday opened with free golf instruction by Leo Bishop, the club's pro. This was the second lesson on "wood" and it was evident that many had been swinging diligently during the past week in practice. Class instruction begins at 8:30 a.m., each Wednesday followed by nine holes of golf before the luncheon at 1 p.m.

Hostesses at golf this week were Mrs. Larry Larsen and Mrs. Leo Seidel. Prizes at golf were won last week by Mrs. Walter Pfaus, Mrs. Bobby Robinson and Mrs. Herbert Dalton.

Mrs. O. Butler and Mrs. R. S. Moore were the flower committee for yesterday's luncheon.

Cards were enjoyed from two until 4:15 p.m. The hostesses presiding over the bridge tables Wednesday were Mrs. Paul Keyser and Mrs. Paul Breitenwischer. Last week the winners at cards were Mrs. John Smith of Adrian and Mrs. Charles O'Neill. Mrs. Clyde Giltner received the door prize.

Golf hostesses for next week will be Mrs. Robert Moore and Mrs. Donald Nettleman. For the luncheon and cards the hostesses will be Mrs. Harold Naser and Mrs. Frank Smith. The above hostesses will receive luncheon reservations until Tuesday noon, and also arrange transportation. Members may also sign for reservations at the club's bulletin board.

Sound Warnings On Food Poison

PICNIC PARTIES ESPECIALLY ARE URGED TO "CHECK" FOR DANGER

Outbreaks of food poisoning are traced each year to Michigan picnic baskets, the Michigan Department of Health warned today. Three C's—CAREFULNESS of selection and preparation; CLEANLINESS of person, kitchen utensils and ingredients; and COLDNESS of ingredients through storage, stages of preparation and until eaten—may save you and your family from food poisoning, the Department said.

Don't get the mistaken ideas that food, once cooked, will remain safe for hours; that pre-cooked or cured meat will stay safe without refrigeration; that spoiled food always tastes or smells bad, it added.

These are the foods which require special care: all pre-cooked and cooked meats, poultry, fish and eggs, salad dressings and cream-filled pastries. Still others requiring care are: gelatin preparations, baked beans, gravies and puddings.

These foods must be kept cold—50 degrees or below from the time they are prepared until they are eaten. These cannot be kept safely at room temperature, or in the ordinary picnic basket.

Food poisoning is caused by the growth in food of germs (staphylococci) usually found in the nose and throat of people with bad colds, and in pimples, boils, carbuncles and infected sores.

These germs may reach food from the air, from sore or dirty hands, unclean towels, dishes, utensils, sandwich and meat boards and meat grinders or from flies, mice and roaches.

In warm weather, these germs multiply and produce poisons so fast that food kept even an hour without proper refrigeration may be dangerous, even though it is refrigerated later. Usually heating up such food is not sufficient to destroy the bacteria and the poison they produce.

Food poisoning usually takes effect within one to six hours after contaminated food is eaten. Vomiting and diarrhea occur. Not all people eating contaminated

2-Year-Old Irish Setter Gives Birth To 15 Puppies

Myles E. Runk, high school athletic coach, believes that his 2-year-old Irish Setter has established a near-record in the dog world. On Sunday, "Patty," that is th dog's name, gave birth to 15 puppies in an ordeal that lasted from 11 a.m., until 7 p.m. There were eight females and seven males. All but two of them lived.

Mr. Runk, who lives at 115 e. Maumee street, believes that Patty may have established a record for Irish Setters, although he says that he has heard of dogs of other breeds giving birth to as many as 18 puppies.

VFW Baseball Team On 'Fire'

LEADS LEAGUE AFTER TWO HARD HITTING GAMES FOR WINS ON MONDAY

The VFW's baseball aggregation was wound up last week and defeated Tecumseh Products 30 to four, staying that way Monday night when they trounced FFA 25 to five, at Recreation Center. The other civic league game played under the lights found Tipton running over B & S with a final score of 19 to five. Both of Monday night's lopsided games were called in the sixth inning due to time.

There is only one thing to say about VFW—they're on fire. In this week's game the first seven hitters up in the first inning scored runs. With four wins and no losses VFW heads the list in league standings. FFA and Tecumseh Products are tied for second place, each having won two and lost one. Following up is Tipton with one win and two losses, and Presbyterian church with one win and three losses. The cellar-dwelling B & S team has three losses and no wins to its credit.

Gaylord V. Nobles, 75, Buried In Brookside

Gaylord V. Nobles, born February 2, 1874 in Macon township, died Saturday night at the Parrett nursing home where he had been a patient since March 21, aged 75 years, five months and 14 days.

Mr. Nobles had been confined to his bed since February 21, when he fell and broke his leg, just below the hip joint, at which time he was taken to St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor, remaining there until removed to the nursing home in Tecumseh. He was gaining satisfactorily until three weeks ago, when stricken suddenly with pneumonia, from which he did not recover.

Having lived in the vicinity of Tecumseh all his life, Mr. Nobles was well known and had many friends. He is survived by one brother, Charles Nobles; five nephews, Fred and Raymond Nobles, Paul I. Nobles, Llewellyn Sisson and Alexander James Nobles of California; two nieces, Mrs. Gladys Reid of California and Mrs. Laura Sisson Moore of Clinton; and Mrs. Iola Hyden of Olivet, a half-niece.

Funeral services were conducted at the Green Funeral Home Tuesday at 2:30 p.m., with the Rev. B. O. Bashore officiating. The pall bearers were Paul, Fred and Raymond Nobles and Llewellyn Sisson, all nephews. Burial was in the family lot at Brookside cemetery.

WHO SAYS WHO CAN DO WHAT, AND FOR HOW MUCH?

Can An Archer Defeat A Golfer On The Golf Course?

Weather permitting, somebody is going to buy somebody else a $2.50 steak dinner at the Country Club, Friday evening, and, on the side, Robert H. "Bob" Moore is wagering another dinner that the buyers will be Leo Bishop, golf pro, and C. O. Butler, local Ford dealer. In any event, the club chef is preparing half a dozen steaks and he is also polishing up the key on the cash register that reads $15.

It all happened this way:

A week ago, at the club, Mr. Moore and Mr. Bishop were discussing their golf games when W. D. Hite, owner of Hite's Hardware and an archery enthusiast, came along.

Bishop immediately challenged Mr. Kite to a golf match, Bishop using golf clubs and ball, Hite his bow and arrow. Hite accepted. Moore wagered Bishop a steak dinner that he'd lose.

Then the men sat down to more serious discussion. Bishop agreed that he would get Mr. Butler as his partner and told Hite to choose his own, he didn't care who.

But what Bishop didn't know is that Hite and Harold Doan of Adrian are great friends. Mr. Doan is an archer of national reputation. He placed second in the National Archers Tournament this year at San Diego, Calif. He has agreed to play as Hite's partner in the match.

So, weather permitting, the match will be played tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 5 p.m., on the Country Club course. Bishop and Butler will play under the standard golf rules. Hite and Doan will use their bows and arrows. On the green, instead of shooting their arrows into the cup, they must burst a six-inch balloon with an arrow.

It is expected that a good crowd will be on hand to see the match.

But in the dining room, steak dinner will be bought for only six—and it still remains to be seen who does the buying.

BOYS TOWN WARNS OF MAGAZINE SOLICITORS

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Nicholas H. Wegner, director of Boys Town, Neb., today issued a warning to the public that a magazine racket is misusing the name of Boys Town in various communities throughout the U. S.

"I would appreciate it very much if you would warn your readers to beware of any magazine solicitors identifying themselves as having any connection whatsoever with Boys Town," Msgr. Wegner writes.

"We have no authorized representative selling books or magazine subscriptions. None of our boys are permitted to do so and we have no arrangments with any solicitors whereby a portion of their commissions are turned over to Boys Town.

"Will you please warn your readers of this magazine racket in which the good name of Boys Town is being misused," the monsignor continues. "We do not want any of your readers to be victimized or taken advantage of."

Seek To Reduce Farm Accidents

"FARM SAFETY WEEK" JULY 24 TO 30, IS DECLARED IN HEALTH DEPT.

"Every Michigan farm family should use Farm Safety Week, July 24 to 30, to check up and repair unsafe farm machinery and equipment, and to eliminate unsafe farming practices," Dr. A. E. Heustis, state health commissioner urged today.

Farming accidents took the lives of every fourth person killed in occupational pursuit in Michigan last year. The National Safety Council estimates that one out of every 17 farm residents will suffer a disabling injury by accident this year. The average, non-fatal, farm accident, results in three-weeks loss of working time.

Farm machinery, livestock and falls are involved in the majority of farm accidents, but the attitude of the farmer is a contributing factor in almost every case.

"Getting farm work done is NOT as important as protecting life and limb while it is being done. The minutes you fail to spend in inspection, and in repair of known hazards, may take your life or that of your helper," Dr. Heustis advised. "Knowing that a hazard exists, is not enough, the hazard must be eliminated. An injury to yourself or your farm hand may cost your family its security."

Harvest time is especially dangerous for farmers. Check up on your tractor; inspect and repair your harvesting machinery, and see that all guards are in place before it goes into the field. See that controls, hitches, brakes, seats and steps are in safe condition. Do not try to oil, adjust or unclog machinery while it is operating. Keep an alert, watchful eye on combines, threshing machines, corn pickers and shredders, cutting equipment, shafting, belting and gears. Don't wear loose, flopping or torn clothing which may catch in revolving machinery. Keep your small children away from

FIREMEN HUNT BLAZE

The Tecumseh fire department was summoned last Thursday afternoon to extinguish a fire in an automobile one mile west of Ridgeway. Unable to locate the burning vehicle, the firemen returned without seeing any action.

Friday at 5:30 p.m., local firemen reached the George Tilton farm in time to extinguish a fire in a straw pile before it did any damage to the barn behind which it was located.

Tecumseh Says Thanks For Fun

ONTARIO VILLAGE CLERK EXPRESSES APPRECIATION TO C. OF C.

W. V. Bouteiller, clerk-treasurer of the Village of Tecumseh, Ontario, Canada, today expressed his appreciation for the good time enjoyed by the citizens of his community in Tecumseh, Michigan, on Saturday, July 2. That date was "Canada Day," in this community's 125th Anniversary Celebration and more than 1,200 from the Ontario village came here by caravan to participate in the occasion.

"I have been requested by the council," Mr. Bouteiller's letter to Ronald Harris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, says, "to convey to you the appreciation of the citizens of our municipality who were fortunate enough to participate in the celebration on the 125th anniversary of your town. My task would be too onerous to voice our appreciation to all those who were responsible for the wonderful reception given us, including your council, veterans' organizations, Chamber of Commerce, clergy and citizens as a whole. If it is possible could you through your splendid local newspaper convey our message to all of you from all of us.

"With best wishes for continued cooperation and friendship, I am, W. V. Bouteiller, clerk-treasurer.

Canada Day was one of the biggest days of the 8-day celebration which ended on July 4. The Canadians came to Tecumseh in eight chartered busses and about 125 automobiles. Their veterans groups participated in parades, a baseball game was played in the afternoon, and the mayors of the two villages exchanged national emblems.

Traffic Deaths Can Be Reduced

CAREFUL DRIVING OVER JULY 4TH CONVINCES THE STATE POLICE

At least 10 lives can be saved each week-end the remainder of the summer if Michigan motorists exercise the same caution that they did over the recent Fourth of July week-end, State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard states.

Reports received thus far by the department's safety and traffic bureau show only seven traffic deaths in the state over the recent holiday. This is the all-time low for that period. The previous low was 10 in 1946 and the high was 32 in 1938. Last year 23 lost their lives.

During the summer months of 1948 an average of 18 persons were killed in traffic accidents each week-end. A saving of 10 lives a week would mean a total of 60 before the end of the present summer.

Of the total deaths recorded over a period of 13 consecutive week-ends last year 50 occurred on Fridays, 95 on Saturdays and 86 on Sundays.

Leonard attributed the Fourth of July record this year to unusual care on the part of drivers, intensified efforts of enforcement officers and the constant emphasis placed on safety by press and radio.

"It shows what can be done when there is a desire to do it," he said. "This record is a remarkable credit to all concerned and was accomplished despite the fact that the volume of Fourth of July traffic was the highest it has ever been for that week-end."

Both aerial and ground observations indicated greater vigilance on the part of drivers, Leonard said. On the last day of the week-end the State Police plane circled the Detroit metropolitan area during the congested hours and periodic traffic reports were broadcast so that they could be received over car radios. Drivers on crowded highways were advised as to less heavily traveled alternate routes, with the result that traffic moved more quickly and hazards were reduced.

ALL-A RECORD

James C. Sisson, was one of 102 students who earned all-A records at the University of Michigan during the Spring semester, it was announced today. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sisson, Jim was enrolled in the College of Literature, Science and the Arts. Other students who made the perfect records were enrolled in the Colleges of Engineering, Pharmacy and School of Education, Forestry and Conservation, Music, Public Health and Business Administration.

TECUMSEH TOWNSHIP NOW HAS ASSESSED VALUATION OF OVER $5,000,000

Both the Village of Tecumseh and Tecumseh Township made steady financial progress during the past year, according to records in the offices of LeRoy Titley, supervisor.

Tecumseh township now has an assessed valuation of 5,294,110, as compared with a valuation of $4,-723,010 last year, an increase of more than half a million dollars. The increase, Mr. Titley said, is due largely to increased industrial activity and to the new construction of dwellings.

This year, real estate in the village is valued at $3,187,500 as compared with a value of $2,792,000 a year ago. Personal property in the village this year is valued at $780,500 as compared with $706,000 last year, making Tecumseh village total assessed valuation $3,-968,000.

In the township, farm real estate is valued at $1,117,200 this year as compared with last year's figure of $1,052,000. Farm personal this year has a value of $208,910 and last year it was $181,-310. The total value of property in the township this year is $1,-326,110.

"The heaviest gain in the assessment came in real estate," Titley said, "an increase of about $400,-000. There also was a gain of about $100,000 in personal property."

It is not difficult to understand the nearly half a million boost in real values considering the number of new houses that have been built in the village in the past 12 months.

Charles Fay, village assessor, now is sending out Tecumseh tax notices to property owners and local village taxes are now due and payable.

A "BIT OF SOCIALISM"

There is a saying to the effect that a "little bit of socialism" is a good thing for a country—that it puts free enterprise on its toes and keeps it humping.

However, having a "little bit of socialism" is much like having a "little touch of leprosy." It always grows and feeds upon itself. And in time consumes everything that stands in its way.

As an example, on June 8 the New York World-Telegram carried a revealing news story. It said that "Britain's Labor government served notice that if it wins next year's parliamentary elections it will transform the United Kingdom into a collectivist state as soon as possible." It will demand and undoubtedly enact a law giving the government permanent authority to impose rationing and other such controls. It has marked at least six more major industries for socialization, including sugar refining, meat wholesaling, cement making, and various forms of insurance. A high labor spokesman warned that "people must be ready to change their jobs and managements to change their lines of production if the need arises." He said further that private industry must watch its step.

The meaning and intent of all this is certainly clear. If the labor party wins, "a little bit of socialism" will be made all inclusive, and a total, regimented economy established by the government. All the principal instruments of production and employment will become possessions of the state. Labor will be a tool of the state, to be used in whatever way the bosses think best.

It is only a step from this to the police state that exists behind the iron curtain. When you have a dictated economy, you eventually have a dictator and lost liberty. Powerful political forces in the United States want us to go the way of Britain, and are using every subterfuge to sell us on a similar program, before the people are aware of the danger.

Margarine Licenes Are Merchant Worry

LANSING—Describing the plight of the small grocer as "little short of pathetic," W. R. Keasey, secretary of the Michigan Retail Grocers & Meat Dealers Association, has written Senators Vandenberg and Ferguson urging immediate action.

"The grocers—and that even includes the large ones—don't know what to do about license fees for sale of margarine," Keasey wrote the Senators.

"For that reason, I am urging you to use every means at your command to try and get the Poage Bill (H. R. 2023) out on the floor and pass it at this session—and before July 31," he continued.

"The most immediate problem to Michigan's grocers, of course, is the six-dollar license fee to sell uncolored margarine, which became due July 1. If the Poage Bill passes, these grocers will not need that license.

"They have until July 31 to file for the license, but if the Poage Bill then passes, after that date, these small business men who can ill-afford it, will be out that money," Keasey declared.

"Actually, it will cost grocers throughout the nation about $4,000,000 if the Poage Bill becomes law after July 31—and all competent observers concede it eventually will be passed.

"This sum includes the $48 annual license fees for sale of yellow margarine, which Michigan's small grocers will have to buy, too, after Sept. 23 when sale of the colored product becomes legal here.

KROGER STORES OPEN ALL DAY MONDAY

Michigan Mirror

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

In making your plans for summertime recreation don't overlook Michigan's 60 state park and recreational areas.

Free to everyone, they attracted more than 12,000,000 visitors last year.

Leading in attendance was the Holland State Park. It is estimated that 1,800,000 people enjoyed its facilities. Forty-four thousand permits to camp (tent and trailers) were issued by all parks. Camping is free, too. A small charge is made for electricity.

These parks are administered by the parks and recreation division of the state conservation department. Arthur C. Elmer is division chief.

Because of their popularity with Michigan residents and out-of-state tourists, the park system has plenty of headaches. For one thing, the parks range in size from 11 acres to the 60,000-acre Porcupine Mountains State Park at Ontonagon and Geogebic counties. They include bathing beaches at Grand Haven, Holland and Warren Dunes; historic sites such as Fort Wilkins in the Copper County's scenic Keweenaw peninsula; natural phenomena such as the Kitch-iti-ki-pi Spring in the Palms Book State Park.

Michigan's state park system has grown like Topsy. A 32-acre tract of timber and dunes in Lee lanau county near Glen Arbor, the gift of David H. Day (then chairman of the state conservation commission) started the ball rolling in 1920. Other picnic and camping spots were added from time to time. Michigan now has 60 parks—all sizes, some good, some poor.

The conservation department would like to return 20 to counties for local recreational use. But local legislators howl to the heavens whenever the suggestion is made. And so the department spreads the legislative appropriation around the best it can.

The state park division, now with 144,000 acres of park and recreational land to administer, asked the legislature for $2,344,000 to make possible long-planned capital improvements. Much of this money was to be used to develop the southeastern Michigan recreational program in Metropolitan Detroit area.

The legislature was on the spot. Twice the voters had voted to return 78 per cent of the state sales tax revenue back to local governments. With insufficient money in the state treasury to meet even the growing needs of the university and colleges, the legislature sliced the $2.3 million request down to $50,000—almost nothing!

On paper the state park system has a development program which would put Michigan well into the lead nationally. The parks would attract more tourists to Michigan; the $16 million cost would be more than repaid by additional out-of-state dollars received by businessmen everywhere. Yet, to date, the legislature has appropriated only $1.75 millions in the past four years.

The state treasury squeeze, caused by earmarking of state funds for local government spending, is wrecking the state park plan. The $991,000 maintenance budget, cut from an original $1,165,000 request, must be spread over 60 parks.

The state department was again rebuffed by the legislature in 1949 when it asked discretionary authority to charge admission and use fees, if and when and where needed. Legislators were skeptical, hesitant and reluctant. The bill died in committee. The department is about convinced that broad discretionary power is not the answer to the park financing problem. Perhaps use fees, limited to specified facilities, would be more acceptable.

When you visit the state parks this summer, don't be too critical. There are 60 parks, good and poor, large and small, to be maintained. Everything is free—admission, camping, bathing, and automobile parking. You shouldn't have much trouble getting your money's worth!

INDUSTRIAL EMPLOYMENT OFF 6 PER CENT IN STATE

Michigan's Buying Power Is Great; Banks Bulge With Cash

By Gene Alleman
(Special To The Herald)

LANSING—How's business in Michigan?

Industrial employment is off 6 per cent as a state average, according to the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission and the state employment service.

This figure was for July 1. The national average was 6.5 per cent. There are mid-July signs that the situation is improving somewhat.

At a capitol conference on Michigan economic trends, Gov. G. Mennen Williams reported that Muskegon was the top critical industrial center with unemployment running 23 per cent. Providence, Rhode Island, was first in the nation as a distress city; Muskegon, a war boom town, was second.

Mining operations are lagging in the Upper Peninsula with a result that the northern peninsula has a jobless rating of 18.5 per cent. All copper mines of Calumet & Hecla are closed. Jackson has reported 15 per cent of its regularly employed workers to be idle; Port Huron, 13 per cent; Benton Harbor 11 per cent, and Grand Rapids, 10 per cent.

It is interesting to note that the state's total of employed citizens, despite the current deflation in industry, is pretty much the same today as it was one year ago. GI college students and high school graduates have entered the summer employment field making up the difference.

How's the tourist business? Reflecting the general business downturn, tourist patronage is reported to be less than one year ago. The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, sparked by enterprising George E. Bishop, reports that a spot check shows business at "some resorts" to be off as much as 20 to 30 per cent. There's always an exception, of course. Blaney Park's aggressive promotion by Ed Drier has boomed patronage for a 48 per cent increase during the first half of 1949. Reservations are 30 days' ahead of last year.

Merchants cannot complain unduly, either. Retail trade (corrected for prices) on a national scale has dipped only a trifling 1 per cent below its 1948 peak. Sales are down only 4 per cent otherwise.

The sag in consumer income was off only 2 per cent in April. More people are buying Opportunity (government) E bonds.

Maurice Eveland, banking commissioner, reports that the 357 state banks are bulging with savings. Deposits are three times as large as they were six years ago. "Banks are 71 per cent liquid," said Eveland.

Compared with pre-war conditions, Michigan's buying power today is tremendous. Business is awaiting the resourceful, enterprising businessman who can deliver what people want at prices they are willing to pay.

A tippling citizen can walk into any state liquor store and buy all the Scotch whiskey he can pay for. Wine sales are now 19 per cent of total volume, whereas in 1941 they were only 1 per cent. Lower priced commodities are in demand. Mail order catalogs all reflect this economic change.

Governor Williams has indicated he is shaping up a program, perhaps along the line of President Truman's "Fair Deal," for the legislature to consider.

Public housing is expected to receive attention. New federal legislation calls for construction of $10,000 low-rent public housing units over the next six years. The government will pay subsidies . . . "contributions" to cover the difference between actual rents and rates on a cost basis. Farmers may get up to 33-year loans (4% maximum interest) to finance construction of buildings. Even non-supporting farms are eligible to get "contribution" up to $300 to cover minor repairs and improvements.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan's senator statesman at Washington, is to be brought into closer relationship with the Republican party. That is one goal of Arthur E. Summerfield of Flint, newly appointed chairman of the party's "strategy committee." It is Summerfield's belief that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey might have been elected president if there had been agreement among party leaders on conduct of his campaign. A New York public relations firm is blamed for the Dewey pre-election strategy to avoid fighting issues and preach "national harmony" since Republican victory was "in the bag."

Harold M. Wilson, 1420 Sudbury Court, Willow Run Village, Michigan, winner of the Ford Dealers Baseball Contest, accepts keys to '49 Ford from George Kell, leading Tiger hitter for June. A mystery that engulfed the D. A. Greenman household last week was cleared up Monday morning with the arrival of Cindy, a large, sleek black cat which had traveled from California in a huge crate, built especially for her . . . The Greenmans had received a card from their son, Thomas, saying Cindy was on its way, but, never having heard of her before they were quite surprised when a cat arrived . . . Thomas and his wife are enroute from California to Rhode Island, where he will be stationed with the U. S. Navy, and they expect to stop here on the way, hence the surprise . . . Mrs. Greenman says it has a collar and leash and is led around like a dog . . . It evidently is a rare breed.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Spreeman and son Charles made a day of it Sunday when they visited the Buck Lake Ranch at Angola, Ind., called on her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McGill at Archbold, Ohio, enroute home, and dropped in to say "hello" to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy McGill at Hudson.

Seek To Reduce

Careless handling of farm animals result in many painful injuries each year. Domestic horses, bulls and cows are dangerous animals. Approach all horses and cows with a reassuring word or pat. Keep feet away from cow's hooves. See that harnesses are safe. Have a sturdy bull pen.

Falls down loose steps, open hay shutes, off hay wagons, down dark or cluttered barn steps and from cracked ladder rungs disable farmers every day. Falls in homes disable their helpmates. Most of these falls are preventable.

If very Michigan farm person uses Farm Safety Week to repair one unsafe item of equipment or machinery and to eliminate one unsafe farming practice the farm accident toll in Michigan can be cut drastically, Dr. Heustis estimated. It's a good time to check up on hazards in the farm home, too.

Sound Warnings

The ingredients of the picnic lunch especially, should be kept clean and cold during preparation, should be refrigerated until transferred to an insulated container or packed in ice for transportation. There are insulated containers on the market and putting potato salad, baked beans and sandwich fillings in clean, closed jars and then packing them in a box of cracked ice, thoroughly insulated with newspaper wrappings, is an inexpensive recommended procedure. Keep the refrigerated picnic foods covered and in the shade until eaten.

TO HOLD PICNIC

The Baptist Church and Church School will hold a picnic today (Thursday) at Recreation Center, beginning at 4 p.m. Teachers are in charge of the games. A potluck supper will be served at 6 p.m., and those attending are to bring their own drink, sandwiches, a dish to pass and table service. Ice cream will be furnished by the Church School.

PAST CHIEFS CLUB

Fishing Is Aid To Health, State Doctors Declare

Rally 'round all you would-be Izaak Waltons. Drop your lines, baits, weights and bobbers in your tackle box and listen.

You SHOULD go fishing. Pan fishing is good for a man. We have no less authority than the Michigan Department of Health.

The Department has come out with a dozen good solid reasons for going fishing.

A man needs a hobby, pleasure, and escape from routine. He needs relaxation and out-of-door exercise. The fish he catches are good for him, too, the Department said. Fishing with its enthusiasm, anticipation, fresh air, sunshine, exercise, relaxation and good companionship, helps a man live happily and work well.

As usual, the Health Department tacked on a few precautions, but they may "bring US back alive."

Check your boat to be sure it doesn't leak and that its motor is in safe working order; then don't overload it, stand up in it, or lean way out of it. Don't smoke while filling your motor or near anyone's leaky motor. If you can't swim, take along that old inner tube. Get for shore if a storm comes up.

Wear a hat, long sleeves and long trousers. They protect you from sunburn, sunstroke, and mosquitos. Maybe you'd better take along a bottle of insect repellant, too, and have a first aid kit in your car just in case somebody snags you with a casting plug or your hands get blistered.

Don't drink lake water—it's got "bugs" in it. Carry your own cool, safe supply. If you're bound to drink something stronger, drink it with your fish dinner and not while traveling to the lake or on the lake.

Rowing and hauling-in those big ones takes a strong heart. Don't overdo and don't get overexcited. Take your time coming, going and fishing.

It is better to lose time, fish and tackle than to lose your life, the Department reminded.

The Children Fall From Grace . . . They Worship a Golden Calf

While Moses was on Mt. Sinai talking to God, the people grew worried about him—and knew that he had been lost. So, they began immediately to pack up and leave and asked Aaron to lead them. Now Aaron feared the people, and obeyed them. Since they had to have a god to lead them, and since they feared that God had destroyed Moses, they built a golden calf, like the Egyptians had done, and worshipped it—thus breaking God's law for the first time.

When God saw this, he was angry—and Moses had to persuade him not to wipe out the entire band of Israelites. Moses was sent to stop this idolatry. When he saw the people worshipping the idol, and dancing and singing, he said, "What is the use of keeping these tablets with the commandments if they are already broken. So he threw it down and broke them. Then, he broke up the feast, and caused every one of the children who still wanted to worship the calf to be killed. And three thousand were killed.

God is a jealous God—but he is kind, too. If we obey his teachings; we can reflect this kindness in our own daily life. Attend the church of your choice this Sunday—and rededicate yourself to living these principles of brother trust and love.

MAKING Sport travel in Michigan during the 1949 season is expected to hit a new post-war peak, surpassing even the bonanza vacation trade of 1947 and 1948, a survey of the latest seasonal trends by the International Geneva association, world-wide hotel employees' organization, discloses.

The bright outlook for the 1949 summer season, explains Frank A. Ludwig, I.G.A. executive, is based on such facts as the 100 per cent increase, as compared with a year ago, in the number of vacation inquiries pouring into the office of the Michigan Tourist Council and four regional tourist associations in the state.

Last year, when just half as many vacation inquiries had been received in the corresponding period, traffic on main highways rose nine per cent over 1947, traffic at the Straits of Mackinac increased 10 per cent, bus lines serving resort areas carried five per cent more passengers and the railroads reported a 10 to 12 per cent increase. The number of visitors to Mackinac Island reached an all-time high in 1948 and attendance at Michigan's state parks was up three per cent.

Michigan's resort, motel, cabin and hotel operators may lower prices this year as a result of the general downward trend in labor, food and material costs, the survey indicated. Michigan vacationers will find some lower prices for quality liquors, according to Stanley R. Teele, state manager for the Gibson Distilling Company, who said his firm's Gibson Selected 8 whiskey now sells for $3.61 per four-fifths quart as compared with $3.87 formerly.

Travelers on Michigan's highways this summer will have their choice of 60 completely equipped roadside parks, 15 new ones having been completed since last year. The parks have 150 new picnic tables to raise the total number to 3,000.

A new road leading to within one-half mile of the famous Tahquamenon Falls in the Upper Peninsula will be open to tourists this year. The road starts at Newberry. A new shoreline pavement in Mackinac county, also in the Upper Peninsula, will take travelers over the scenic Cut river bridge on US-2, highest bridge in Michigan. New highway construction also has closed several gaps in US-25 along the Lake Huron shore.

ANNOUNCING THE APPOINTMENT OF Acme Self - Service Laundry
AS AGENTS FOR
Welch Cleaners
3 DAY SERVICE

Sure, America's going ahead...

if we all pull together!

● Let's compare yesterday with today . . . that will give us an idea of what tomorrow can be!

Machine Power: Since 1910 we have increased our supply of machine power 4½ times.

Production: Since 1910 we have more than doubled the output each of us produces for every hour we work.

Income: Since 1910 we have increased our annual income from less than $2400 per household to about $4000 (in dollars of the same purchasing power).

Work Hours: Yet, since 1910 we have cut 18 hours from our average workweek—equivalent to two present average workdays.

HOW have we achieved all this? Through the American kind of teamwork! And what is teamwork?

American teamwork is management that pays reasonable wages and takes fair profits—that provides the best machines, tools, materials and working conditions it possibly can—that seeks new methods, new markets, new ideas; that bargains freely and fairly with its employees.

Our teamwork is labor that produces as efficiently and as much as it can—that realizes its standard of living ultimately depends upon how much America produces—that expects better wages as it helps increase that production.

Teamwork is simply working together to turn out more goods in fewer man-hours—making things at lower costs and paying higher wages to the people who make them and selling them at lower prices to the people who use them.

What we've already accomplished is just a foretaste of what we can do. It's just a start toward a goal we are all striving to reach: better housing, clothing, food, health, education, with ever greater opportunities for individual development. Sure, our American System has its faults. We all know that. We still have sharp ups and downs in prices and jobs. We'll have to change that—and we will!

It will continue to take teamwork, but if we work together, there's no limit on what we can all share together of even greater things.

THE BETTER WE LIVE

What we have already accomplished is just a foretaste of what we can do—if we continue to work together.

Yuh know, we've been operatin' a Square-shootin' hoss stabul in this here town for a good many years—nearly 20 of 'em. And there ain't no feller here 'round that we kint look in the eye in spite of all of the swappin' we've done. We don't like to brag, but we do say that we've got a reputashun that we intend to protect, cause we're goin' to be swappin' cars around here for another 20 years—maybe.

Serious-like, we'd like to say that if you're in the market for a better used hoss than the one you're drivin' we'd like to have you stop in an see our stock. We'll tell you just all about 'em and we'll tell you honest. If things are not the way we say, then there's no swap. No, suh!

That Cowboy Harv Wilson's ridin' herd this week and he's roundin' up some sweet bargains for somebudy. Wilson's a good guy—to our customers— but sometimes we think he's a bit tough on us cause he makes some awful long deals—in 'tother feller's favur.

If yuh think yud like to swap for somethin' better'n yuh got and maybe the cash side of yur ledger's a bit short, come in anyway. We've financed a lot o' swaps and we're still doin' it. We'll be lookin' fur yuh.

Here's some o our bargins:

'48 FORD super deluxe, four door sedan. Low mileage, excellent condition. Six cylinders. Less than 10,000 miles. All accessories. Plastic seat covers.

2 Plants Seek Location Here

BOTH ARE SMALL BUT THEY WOULD EMPLOY 50 TO 75 MEN AND WOMEN

Two industrial plants, both of them small, are seeking locations in Tecumseh, Ronald E. Harris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said today.

"Neither of the plants are large," Mr. Harris said, "but one of them employs from 10 to 20 people, the other about 50. I understand that they have a good record of steady employment, and one of them desires to bring three or four executives to Tecumseh, along with the factory."

The Chamber's problem, Harris said, is to find suitable buildings in which to house the plants. One of them desires from 10,000 to 15,000 square feet of floor space, the other about 50,000 square feet.

"I don't think that we have to act immediately—by that I mean this week—in order to get the plants to come here. However, both of them desire to change from their present location and if we could offer them something available for lease or rent I believe we could bring them here yet this fall."

The Chamber's industrial committee is now working on the inquiries, seeking to find suitable quarters. To date, Harris said, nothing has been found and he urged persons who might be in touch with vacancies to contact his office.

"While both plants are small, they would add 50 to 75 persons to the town's overall payroll, and that is important. Small plants grow larger, also," he said.

The smallest of the two factories employs principally men, Harris said. The larger plant would employ 40 or more women.

THINGS MAY BE DIFFERENT IN THE NEXT MATCH

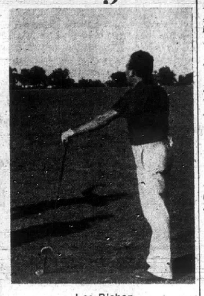
C. O. Butler

W. D. Hite and Harold Doan



Leo Bishop

If you think you're a golfer—and maybe you are good—don't brag about it around an archer.

Two top-flight Tecumseh golfers—one of them the pro at the Tecumseh Country Club—learned the value of that advice last Friday evening. Not only were they defeated on the greens and the fairways, they wound up in the Club's dining room picking up the check for four steak dinners.

The game between the golfers and the archers was played on the Club course Friday afternoon starting at 2:30. The match was between Leo Bishop, Club pro, with Charles O. Butler as his partner, and W. D. Hite of Tecumseh and Harold Doan of Adrian. Mr. Doan ran second in the national archery meet at San Diego, Calif., recently, and Mr. Hite, local archery enthusiast, hurls a mean arrow. Mr. Bishop, of course, being a pro, reigns unchallenged on the local course and Mr. Butler shoots a near-par score.

But in the match, it was different. The golfers succeeded in taking one or the nine holes. The other eight went to the archers. It was a distinct walk-away for the bow and arrow men. On the greens, the archers were compelled to break a 6-inch balloon instead of sinking the arrows in the cups.

And when the match was finished, the golfers challenged the archers to two more holes of golf with the archers using clubs, the golfers using bows.

And so, to make good a previous wager, the golfers treated the archers to $2.50 steak dinners after the match was over.

Now all that remains to be done is for Bishop to buy Robert H. (Bob) Moore a $2.50 steak. Mr. Moore wagered Bishop that he could be beaten in the match when it was planned, two weeks ago. Moore was out of town on Friday and has not as yet collected his "feed."

Professional golfers say that Friday's game was not played according to National Golf Association rules for archers and golfers. Butler and Bishop didn't have a "chinaman's chance," one golfer was heard to remark, contending that a handicap of at least one stroke on each hole is necessary, even for professional golfers, to put a golf-archery match on a near-even basis. And so, it is rumored, the archers may be challenged to a return engagement, playing under National Association rules.

Addison To Have Big Homecoming

BANDS, BALLOON ASCENSION CONCESSIONS THERE AUG UST 4-5-6

Plans are nearing completion for the annual Addison Homecoming days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 4th, 5th and 6th. The celebration is sponsored by the Addison Fire Department.

Nine bands have been scheduled and will play each day. A prize will be awarded the best performing band, and on the last day of the celebration the final selection will be made. The Golden Rhythm Girls, a majorette band made up of girls from Metamora and Lyons, Ohio, will do precision marching and play swing music and marches. The date of their appearance will be announced later, but it will be on one of the three evenings.

J. P. Henderson of Alvordton, Ohio, will make a 5,000 foot parachute drop from his Radio balloon on each day of the homecoming. The time will probably be about 6:30 p.m. and the balloon will be inflated in Addison Park.

Victor Faber, National Champion Drum Major, will judge the baton twirling contest and also give a demonstration of the twirling technique that has made him famous.

A Beauty contest will again be held this year for little girls five through ten years. A cup will be awarded the winner. The Addison Saddle Club has announced it will give a demonstration on one of the three days, probably a square dance on horseback or some other demonstration highly entertaining.

The midway which will extend across the mill pond will be larger this year with a Ferris wheel, loop-o-plane, merry-go-round and a swing ride. Stands and games will line each side of the midway providing amusement for all ages. Ruoff's shetland ponies will also be on hand for the enjoyment of the smaller folk.

Town's Legal Problems Discussed By Attorney

Some of the legal problems that villages encounter, particularly those involving financing, were explained to members of the Rotary Club on Tuesday evening by John R. Zeigler, village attorney. Mr. Zeigler spoke following the club's dinner at Brees House.

The lawyer pointed out that the three ways for municipalities to obtain funds are revenue bonds, special assessment bonds and general obligation bonds. He indicated that sooner or later—and probably in the not-to-distant future—Tecumseh would be forced to build a sewage disposal plant the cost of which has been estimated at $250,000 or more. Some form of financing will be necessary when this improvement is demanded by the state.

L. W. Larsen, vice-president, presided at Tuesday's meeting in the absence of the president, C. W. Gilman.

Men's Golf Tourney Scheduled For Sunday

A golf tournament for men—with breakfast for those who desire—will be played Sunday morning, starting at 9 o'clock, Charles O. Butler, chairman, announced today. Sunday's tourney will be in the form of a blind bogy, giving all players an equal chance, regardless of skill.

"We feel that there are many who belong to the Country Club who are not playing golf because they feel that their game is poor," Mr. Butler said. "Tournaments such as is planned for Sunday give everyone an equal chance to win."

Butler urged that male members of the club turn out for Sunday's games. He said that those who desired breakfast previous to the 9 o'clock hour could get it at the clubhouse.

Dr. Stafford Dies In Adrian

VETERAN OF WORLD WAR I AND PROMINENT PHYSICIAN; WELL KNOWN HERE

Dr. Leo J. Stafford, prominent Adrian physician and surgeon, died Tuesday morning at 1:30 in Bixby hospital in that city. Death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

Born in Springville, November 16, 1889, Dr. Stafford attended the rural school in his community and later graduated from Adrian High School and the Detroit College of medicine. He began his practice in Adrian in 1913. He served in World War I and was discharged with the rank of captain.

The Doctor with Mrs. Stafford had only returned over the weekend from a two week vacation at Crystal Lake in northern Michigan. He operated at Bixby hospital on Monday morning and, following the surgery, stopped on South Winter street to call on a patient. It was there that he was stricken about 12:15 p.m. and was removed to the hospital by ambulance.

Dr. Stafford was widely known as a surgeon, and he was well known in this community.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m., Friday, from St. Mary's church in Adrian, with burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

The remodeled store will be completely air-conditioned, and new fixtures are expected to arrive within a week or 10 days. Mr. Osborne hopes to have the store opened to the public before September 1.

The second floor of the Osborne building also is air conditioned and contains offices and rooms which are rented to the public.

PFC. RICHARD PURKEY RECOVERING FROM INJURIES

The condition of Pfc. Richard L. Purkey, who suffered serious injuries when struck in the head by a truck at Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif., last week, is improving, according to word received by [illegible] Mrs. Leo Sykes, Tuesday.

Pfc. Purkey was working on a truck when it broke loose from its suspending chains, hitting him in the head. He suffered a skull fracture, broken nose and broken upper jaw. He was removed to the Naval Hospital at San Diego, Calif.

Mr. Purkey, who flew by plane to San Diego after being notified of the accident, is expected home this week.

AN APOLOGY

WE, THE MEMBERS OF THE LADIES AID OF THE HOLLOWAY PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, wish to apologize for the ICE instead of Ice Cream, which was served at the Ice Cream Social last Wednesday evening. This was due to circumstances which were discovered too late to be remedied. We wish to convey our regrets to our many friends and patrons, and to assure them that this will not happen again.

Leisure Time Fast Fading?

HOME-WORK BY MOTHERS IS FAST "EATING UP" FORMER "IDLE HOURS"

A growing trend in America is the increase in industrial home-work, performed by women, for the most part, who have home duties and yet manage time to complete factory and office assignments. Some of this work is on a piece basis, and other work is figured on a straight time basis. Statistics from the state of New York indicate that the bulk of such workers are mothers of small children with husbands working but whose earnings are insufficient to maintain the family.

Direct mail establishments have greatly increased homework operations since the war in New York. In fact, homeworkers outnumber shop workers now in the great amount of typing of addresses on envelopes and labels that is being done.

It is reported, further, that in the 323 direct mail houses employing workers on any operation than can be performed at home, there were about 1,500 homeworkers out of a total work force of almost 5,400 in the spring of 1948, whereas in October the number of homeworkers had increased to more than 1,950. Wages for the homeworkers were reported lower than shop workers' wages. The average straight-time wage of typists at home was approximately 68 cents an hour compared with 84.2 cents for typists in the shop.

In Maine, industrial homework is now under regulation of the State Department of Labor. Manufacture by industrial homework is prohibited, furthermore, on five specified types of goods, and power is given the commissioner of labor to prohibit the process in any other industry, as provided by the law.

Health Dep't Warns of Seriousness of Tetanus

You don't have to step on a rusty nail or have gun powder burns to get "lockjaw."

The tiny cut, blister or scratch which is hardly noticed in vacation play or gardening or a slight injury in an automobile or bicycling accident can result in tetanus.

This is the time of year when tetanus is prevalent. Every vacationist in a rural area, especially little children, as well as all farm workers and horsehandlers and those in industry who are apt to receive scrape or puncture wounds should be immunized against tetanus, the Michigan Department of Health warned today.

Tetanus is caused by a germ, which commonly lives in the bowels of horses and possibly other farm animals. These germs are found wherever manure is found and they may be carried on dust for considerable distances. They do harm only when they get into a wound which is then closed to air.

Not many people get tetanus, but four out of five of those who get the infection die of it.

The Michigan Department of Health makes and distributes toxoids which immunize against tetanus. The Department recommends that every child be immunized against tetanus between six and nine months of age, and have a booster dose by age three, again when he enters school and at the time of any known injury. The school age child or adult should have booster shots every five years. The toxoid can be given by any physician or health officer.

The Department makes, also, a tetanus anti-toxin which can prevent lockjaw when given at the time of a known injury, even though the person has not been immunized.

Fire Sweeps Garage; Loss Estimated At $500

Fire of unknown origin did an estimated damage of $500 to a garage and its contents at the Robert L. French residence, 306 W. Jummins, Tuesday morning.

The Tecumseh fire department was summoned at 11:30 a.m., when the fire was discovered. Several articles of household goods were stored in the frame building. Although the building was not completely destroyed it was said it would take a considerable amount to restore it to its original condition.

State Police Fight Speeding

DRIVERS ARE REMINDED THAT MICHIGAN STILL DOES HAVE SPEED LAW

The state safety commission's current campaign to reduce speeding has been necessitated by the excessive number of deaths attributed to this form of reckless driving, according to Sgt. Carl M. Miller, commanding officer of the Clinton post of the Michigan State Police.

Police agencies of the state are cooperating in the special emphasis program, which is part of a nation-wide effort being carried on during July and August under the auspices of the National Safety Council.

"State Police records show there were 1,502 persons killed and 40,392 injured in 140,172 traffic accidents in Michigan last year," Sgt. Miller said. "Speed was the direct cause of one-third of the deaths and a contributory cause in most of the others.

"Contrary to widespread belief, Michigan does have a speed law applying to the open highway. The law does not set the limit at a specific number of miles per hour, but it does require that a car be driven no faster than is reasonable under existing conditions, such as the weather, visibility, volume of traffic, hour of the day, and similar factors. Sometimes that could mean that 10 miles an hour is too fast.

"We hope, through the present campaign, to develop voluntary cooperation on the part of drivers in driving safely and at a reasonable rate. The fast driver is not only risking himself, but is a danger to others. The time saved in speeding isn't worth the risk, and certainly there is no justification to step on it just for a thrill."

Sgt. Miller said that last year 3,000 Michigan drivers lost their drivers' licenses because of speed violations.

"Why take a chance on losing your privilege to drive," he added. "More important, why take a chance on losing your life?"

Country Club Lures Ladies

CROWDS AT GOLF AND CARDS CONTINUES TO GROW; PARTY NEXT WEEK

Continuing their enthusiasm for golfing, 33 Tecumseh Country Club ladies met at the course last week, on Ladies Day, for free class instruction in the sport by Leo Bishop, Club pro. In this lesson on "irons," Mr. Bishop gave a personal demonstration of the wrong and the right way to hit the ball, his prowess setting a high goal of attainment for all the feminine trainees.

Chairman Mrs. Charles Butler announced a "putting" tournament for the day, and the golf hostesses, Mrs. Larry Larsen and Mrs. Leo Seidel, took charge of the arrangements. In threesomes the group made the rounds of the course and delivered themselves at the luncheon by 1 p.m., fresh and shining. Mrs. Butler announced the winners of the putting contest as follows: first, Mrs. Don Nettleman, 15 putts; second, Mrs. C. Butler, 16 putts; third, Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Frank Purcell, tied with 17 putts.

It was announced that daughters of members 17 years of age or under were eligible for class instruction at a nominal fee.

Fifty-two ladies enjoyed luncheon in the banquet room at tables decorated with flowers arranged by Mrs. Larry Larsen and Mrs. Gertrude Schneider.

Hostesses at cards, Mrs. Paul Keyser and Mrs. Paul Breitenwischer, arranged eight tables for bridge and one for pinochle. Winners of the donated prizes for the afternoon were: Mrs. Hal Lewis, bridge; Mrs. Charles O'Neil, pinochle; Mrs. Paul Ammer, door prize.

The golf hostesses for next Wednesday, August 3, are Mrs. Leo Bishop and Mrs. Lou Fisher. The hostesses at cards will be Mrs. Ned Rosacrans, phone 336M, and Mrs. Hugh Andrews phone 457M.

Reservations should be made with the card hostesses by Tuesday noon each week. These reservations are binding but in cases of necessity, cancellations might be arranged, by calling a hostess well in advance.

New Buick Car Will Be Shown In August

Louis S. Schneider of Schneider Bros. Garage, Inc., local Buick dealers, was in Detroit on Friday to attend a preview of the new Buick Special model which will be introduced to the public next month. Some 185 dealers from the Detroit zone were present at the all-day session which was held at the Masonic Temple with the meeting being described as Buick's most important full-fledged convention since before the war.

The Special is Buick's lowest-priced model and is reported to be completely redesigned. It has been eagerly awaited by the industry since the former model went out of production last December. R. F. Blair, zone manager presided and, with his staff, relayed to dealers technical and descriptive data on the car which they obtained during a field sales organization convention in Flint, earlier in July. Talks on films were presented to dealers by top management covering all phases of manufacturing, engineering, sales and merchandising.

WINS STATE HONOR

Mrs. Louis Schneider was installed as Chapaux (president) of the state 8 & 40 during ceremonies at the Michigan State convention of the American Legion and Auxiliary in Detroit, Wednesday evening.

LUCKY AMERICANS

If any of the countless thousands of graduation speakers needed source material on which to build a clincher for his talk, he could have picked up something in the closing phases of an article in the June issue of The American magazine by C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors.

Mr. Wilson titled the article "Americans Are Lucky" and then went on to outline some of the great opportunities provided by this country in the past, present and ahead for the future, not at hand in most other sections of the World.

He said, in closing:

"I do not know what the developments of the next half century will be, any more than I could foresee the developments of the past 50 years when I was a boy, but I do know they will be equally startling.

"New and important discoveries are assuredly on the way; and human needs and human wants will continue to expand in the future, as they have done in the past.

"Each new discovery opens up new opportunities for producing more and accomplishing more with the same amount of human labor. The opportunities for young people today are undoubtedly greater than when I was a boy. They will be greater still tomorrow.

"Forty years ago, when I was launching my career, every boy expected to have to get out and hustle to make a living. This is true today; but the same amount of hustle will produce a much better living. Of course, those young people who expect to have things made easy for them are likely to receive benefits only in proportion to the value of their social contributions. The more there are of this sort, the less will be the competition for the girl or boy who has the energy and ambition to work and improve himself.

"America continues to be a wonderland of opportunity for those who are willing to invest a little extra effort. If we keep it that way, if we hold fast to the things that made our country great, no force on earth can halt this Nation's social and economic progress."

A collection of empty skulls is being shipped to the National Museum in Washington. Talk about carrying coals to Newcastle! —Hard-Hearted Hiram, Neb.

About The Folk You Know

Folk who witnessed the beautiful sunset Saturday evening are still talking about it . . . and those who missed it will never have the opportunity to see it again, for such a spectacle comes but once.

Sue Ann Hammack was two years old Friday, so in celebration a family picnic was held Thursday evening at the Walter J. Hayes State Park at Wamplers Lake . . . Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hammack, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Francouer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Creger and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Creger enjoyed the birthday cake, decorated with lighted candles, along with Sue Ann, who also had fun opening many nice gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kempf and son Teddy and Andrew Kempf returned home last week from a ten-day motor trip . . . They drove South through the Great Smokeys, the Carolinas, and took the Skyline Drive to Washington, D. C. After touring the nation's capital, they spent a few days in New York City, seeing almost everything there was to see in the great city, and returned home by way of the Niagara Falls and Blue Water Bridge.

Mrs. Earl Lindsley and daughter Marilyn returned Saturday from a ten-day trip to the Eastern states . . . Guests of Mrs. Lindsley's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Smith in Lodi, New York, they also visited in Elmira, Ithaca, Geneva, Ovid and Watkins Glen . . . Friday the two travelers were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pfals at Birmingham.

Folk listening to a Canadian radio station Saturday morning perked their ears when they heard Mrs. Harry Creger being interviewed by a disc jockey . . . Mr. and Mrs. Creger were spending the weekend in Canada and Detroit visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Austin.

Three times and out! Starting out for Angola, Ind., Sunday morning, the Elmer Spreemans and the William Spreemans crossed the Michigan-Ohio border when their car failed them, so they turned around and came back to Michigan. Once again they took off for their destination, and again they turned back after crossing the border line. In all, this happened three times, so, giving up, they enjoyed their picnic lunch in Fayette, Ohio, and spent the remainder of the afternoon visiting lakes . . . In spite of it all, they reported an extra good time.

The George Schumm family and Mrs. Elizabeth Wing and daughters attended services at the Trinity Lutheran church in Saline, Sunday morning, when little Barbara Ernestine Goltz was baptised . . . Mrs. Wing was one of the sponsors . . . Afterwards dinner was served at the Roland Goltz home and the guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Schaller of East Detroit, who returned with the Schumms to spend the week here . . . Barbara is the namesake of Mrs. Schaller and Mrs. Schumm.

All Factions Like New Texas Governor

DALLAS—Allan Shivers, new Governor of Texas, who has succeeded Beauford H. Jester, is a typical east Texan. He even says, "Howdy" and "I reckon." He likes black-eyed peas and turnip greens and he knows how to grow them on his big Woodville farm.

But Allan Shivers isn't any sort of hill-billy politician. He is just the opposite. He is dark haired and handsome and is a typical Yanky Texan, even to the slow, lazy drawl that one hears around the piny woods of Woodville.

Mr. Shivers is six feet, two inches, and weighs almost 200 pounds. He struggled hard for an education, serving as a night watchman in the State Treasury Department to help pay his way through the University of Texas, where he was graduated with a degree in law and also in business administration. At 26, he was in the State Senate — the youngest member of that body.

For 12 years he served in the Senate, then went away to the war. He was a major in the United States Army in the European theater when his friends put his name on the ballot for Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. He won easily although he never returned to campaign or lifted his hand politically during the entire campaign.

Allan Shivers is a powerful figure in politics in Texas and in the Southwest. In a state torn by liberal and conservative Democrats he is considered an ideal leader.

SOO CANAL LOCKS IN SHADOW OF WAR-SECURITY FENCES

U.S. May Again Reactivate Fort Brady In Canal Zone

By Gene Alleman
(Special To The Herald)

At the close of World War II the army engineers removed the tall steel barriers. Troops left Fort Brady. The government announced it was abandoning the post established in 1823.

When Hitler's Nazis were threatening to invade England and then proceed by Greenland toward this continent, American workers feverishly constructed landing fields near the Soo. Anti-Aircraft troops moved freely on both sides of the American-Canadian international boundary.

In 1949, four years after V-J-Day, Washington military officials changed their minds. The steel gate is back, ready for instant use, tourists continue to inspect the locks freely as before. Thousands of visitors daily witness the passage of long ore boats through the locks in almost endless procession, day and night.

Fort Brady, recently abandoned, may be restored in 1950 to active status. The government has agreed to permit the state to use the barracks during 1949 as a state hospital. But in 1950—well, that is another matter.

One hundred years ago it was a village of only 500 souls, mostly French and Indians and their half-breed kin. In history this spot at the junction of Lake Superior and the St. Mary's river pre-dates the Revolutionary war by more than a century. The Jesuits built a mission here in 1668. Father Jacques Marquette conducted services in a small chapel surrounded by a log stockade fort.

In 1797 the British constructed a bateau canal and lock, with a nine-foot lift, on the Canadian side, American troops destroyed it in 1814. Incidentally the ruins of this last British outpost on American soil may still be seen. The fort cemetery is nearby. The fort and the cemetery are unmarked and forgotten.

As a notice that the Soo was an American frontier, army troops built Fort Brady in 1823. The reign of the British and French here then came to an end.

One hundred years ago the portage of goods around the St. Mary's river fall was the Soo's leading industry. In fact when the State of Michigan decided in 1855 to build a canal and lock the inhabitants were highly resentful. The canal threatened to end their livelihood, the carrying of freight around the falls.

The centennial of the Soo's first canal locks, now one of the leading tourist attractions of Michigan, is to be celebrated in 1955. The state legislature has recognized the event, and a bill is now before Congress to assure federal participation.

Every Michigan child is told in school how the Soo canal carries more freight traffic in a year than all the other canals in the world. The great Panama canal is a piker by comparison, although equally vital to our security.

The military strategic importance of the Soo locks was doubly recognized by the United States government during World War II when a huge ore-loading railroad terminal was rushed to near completion at Escanaba. This project swallowed up many millions of war bond money. It reflected the jittery fears of Washington strategists as to what might happen if the Soo canal locks were bombed out of usefulness by raiding Germans.

Today, as midwest tourists again freely inspect the canal locks, they do so in the shadow of war-time security fences. Fort Brady will probably be reactivated before 1955 when the Centennial is held. This northernly Michigan city remains a key economic artery of our nation in peace as in war.

SKI TECHNIQUE TAKES TO WATER . . . Who minds the weather when sports and scenes like this are available to cool off the sufferer? Let the temperature soar, it matters not to aquamaids Martha Mitchell and Kathleen Turner of Chicago. They have the perfect remedy for sizzling days as they skim over the water. The slalom stars, borrowing a bit of technique from the skiers, were chosen reigning queens at the water ski follies in Chicago's Railroad Fair.

AMERICANS TOOK TO AIR IN JUNE

Whether for vacation or for business, Americans really took to the air in June. Airlines are reporting record-breaking traffic loads during that 30-day period.

United, American, Capital, TWA, and Northwest report June continued the uptrend in traffic of the previous two months.

The aircoach service inaugurated by Capital Airlines last November, is proving increasingly popular. Operated only at night, the flights cost passengers no more than train coach fare. Capital reports operating at 99 per cent of capacity between New York and Chicago in June. Northwest has been filling its coach-service planes between New York and Seattle more than 92 per cent of capacity recently.

United Airlines has issued a free booklet called "Lines to Ladies." In word and picture it describes what to take on an air trip and what to leave at home. It suggests the most appropriate and comfortable clothing to wear, tells how to make and pick up reservations, answers questions about how it feels to fly and enumerates some of the comforts of air travel for children. The booklet is available at United ticket offices.

The reason some men would be happy to be traffic cops is so they can talk to somebody else the way their wives talk to them.

High Prices Help Farmers

TREND OF MARKETING IS KEENLY FELT BY RURAL AREA RESIDENTS

WASHINGTON—Back in 1932 Americans paid an average of 20 cents a pound for meat. In 1939 they paid a little more—24.4 cents a pound. By 1947 they were paying more than twice that amount, 55.4 cents per pound.

These figures came to the surface in a recent survey made by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture to discover what portion of the consumer's meat dollar goes to farmers and processors.

From the information obtained, this pattern appears: When prices are low, the farmer comes out on the short end, while packers, wholesalers and retailers collect a relatively large share of the dollar. When prices are high, the reverse is true, the farmer getting the lion's share.

There are lots of ways for an old man to make a fool out of himself without taking dancing lessons.

Mill Villages Go To Workers

INDUSTRIALLY-OWNED TOWNS ARE RAPIDLY DISAPPEARING IN SOUTH

CHARLOTTE, N. C.—The southern mill-owned village is fast disappearing. A trend toward the disposal of the textile villages through the sale of homes to employees on easy terms began just before the war. A number of large concerns such as Marshall Field & Company Manufacturing Division, Burlington Mills, Calloway Mills, and others sold their villages. In the last year the movement has gathered momentum.

There are several real estate firms in the South which specialize in such sales. One firm estimates it sold 10,000 houses to textile mill employees in the decade which ended in 1945. Since the end of the war, scarcely a week passes that the trade press does not note the sale of a mill village somewhere in the Carolinas, Georgia, or Alabama, the four states in which the southern textile industry is principally situated.

Generally, too, whether the homes are owned by the employees or the mills, the villages have been greatly spruced up in the postwar years. The modernization movement in the industry since the war has generally included the modernization and beautification of mill villages and mill property, with the addition of extensive recreational and community projects in many of the villages costing up to $250,000.

It is estimated that perhaps half of the several hunrreds of thousands of textile workers in the South own their own homes. Quite a few mills, while desiring to hold on to their village property, build homes for employees at cost outside the mill village and sell them on easy terms. In recent years many industrial workers have come to own small farms in the country and commute to work.

Few mills house anything like all of their employees. The mill village came along in a day when the mills had to locate near shoals for water power, and there was no easy transportation. Village housing has not kept pace with increased employment in recent years, and there have been fewer housing developments and virtually none of course, during the war years.

An exception to this trend has been the few new housing developments, in some of the South's so-called "model" mill communities. At Joanna, S. C., a number of homes and a modern apartment building have been built. There also has been considerable construction in the attractive mill villages of Greenwood Mills at Greenwood and Ninety-Six, S. C.

These homes, which rent for 50 cents a room a week, are all brick and have tiled roofs, modern conveniences, garages and landscaped yards. The company, which does its own construction, also builds homes outside the villages for employees who desire to own them, and sells them at cost on easy terms.

At Cothran, S. C., on the outskirts of Greenwood, where Greenwood Mills is building a new multimillion-dollar rayon plant, a complete planned community is going up, combining a maximum in beauty of surroundings with convenience to the residents. One hundred houses, five to seven rooms, are going up, with space for future expansion as may be necessary. They could hardly be duplicated in an average city for $10,000 or $11,000, and are so varied in architecture there is no monotony.

WILSON SAID—

Legislation cannot save society. Legislation cannot even rectify society. The law that will work is merely the summing up in legislative form of the moral judgement that the community has already reached. Law records show how far society has got. Try the experiment Enact a law that is the moral judgement of a very small minority of the community and it will not work. Most people will not understand it, and if they do understand they will recent it, and whether they understand it and resent it or not they will not obey it. Law is a record of achievement. It is not a process of regeneration. Our wills have to be regenerated, and our purpose rectified before we are in a position to enact laws, that record these moral achievements — Woodrow Wilson.

STORY OF THE BIBLE

How Moses and the Israelites Built the Tabernacle

And Moses was with the Lord on Mount Sinai forty days and forty nights, and he neither ate nor drank. And the Lord gave Moses many commandments and asked him to build a tabernacle. Now when Moses came down from the mountain his face shone with such a bright light that the people could not look at him. So Moses put a veil over his face, then talked to his people. He told them that God wanted them to build a tabernacle so that He could dwell with His people and they could worship Him. Everybody was to help . . . everybody was to make offerings.

"And they came, everyone whose heart stirred him up, and everyone whom his spirit made willing, and they brought the Lord's offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congregation, and for all his service, and for the holy garments."

Everybody gave willingly . . . the men gave gold, the women brought their bracelets and earrings and jewels, the children brought little precious things of their own. And God was pleased.

Today God doesn't ask you to give up all your possessions; He merely asks that you be true to Him. It isn't easy in this modern world with sin and temptation lurking around you, waiting to catch you off guard. But going to church makes it easier . . . easier to be true to God . . . easier to avoid temptation. Go to the church of your choice every Sunday.

For The Ladies: A Diet That Really Works

We went out visiting the other night and the ladies were talking away about weight-reducing diets. One of them had a special "15-day Hollywood diet" guaranteed to slim her down fifteen pounds' worth. Another was living on bananas and skim milk!

I might have known the missus would get the bug, too, and sure enough the other day she asks me, "Joe, what kind of a diet do you think I ought to go on?"

"Mother," I says, "the only diet I would ever recommend to anyone is simply moderation. I wouldn't trust any of those get-thin-quick diets. Simply cut down on desserts, bread, butter, sweets and fats—but when you do, even do your cutting down moderately."

From where I sit, moderation is the watchword. Moderation with food, with smoking or with the enjoyment of a friendly glass of temperate beer or ale. Actually, moderation adds to the enjoyment of just about anything.

TWO ERAS MEET IN LONDON . . . Young America and old England might have been an apt caption for this photo, with something symbolic easily read into the scene, Dowager Queen Mary of England, now in her 83rd year, beams her royal smile at blonde, beautiful and youthful Sharman Douglas, typical American girl. Miss Douglas is the daughter of the United States ambassador to Great Britain. The ... and the girl met at the Odeon theatre.

ANNUAL FINANCIAL REPORT OF THE VILLAGE OF TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN

The Honorable President and Trustees
Tecumseh, Michigan

Pursuant to engagement, I have audited the books of accounts and records of the Village of Tecumseh and Tecumseh Cemetery Association for the period beginning February 21, 1948 and ended February 20, 1949.

I reviewed the system of internal control and procedure of the Village of Tecumseh and Cemetery Association without detailed audit of all transactions, but tested supporting evidence of receipts and disbursements to the extent that proved adequate.

Securities in Perpetual Care Fund were examined and verified, and shown on inventory at cost or face value.

The attached Condensed Receipts and Disbursements of the Village of Tecumseh and Cemetery Association present a correct result of transactions for the period under review and are in agreement with detailed audit report submitted to President and Trustees, a copy of which is also on file at the Village Clerk's office.

● That's the verdict of those who know combines. If you always have clean, upstanding crops, you may not really need a combine so capable as the Case "A." But for small seeds like clover, that take real rubbing to thresh out . . . or a brittle crop like beans . . . or fine, fluffy seeds like some of the grasses . . . or even grain that is tough to thresh, the "A" is in a class by itself.

An if She's Got Too Many Curves In Her Body, We'll Iron 'em Out

Yuh gotta be a speshulist in yur line, we says, fur two reasons, Furst yur gotto make a impreshun and, second, yuh gotta speshulize if your goin' to get bisniz. Wahl, we ain't long on the impreshun stuff, but when it comes to bisniz, boy, we got it.

And talkin' about speshulizin, we done done that, too. We've recently added another surgical ward to our hoss-pitul and she's commencin' to get filled up. In this here new ward we speshulize in plastic surgery—only ourn's iron surgery. We takes them cars whats been wrinkled up in a smashup or somepin and we irons em out. Ain't nothin' we can't do in our operatin room. And, when we gets thru, man, there she is. Standin' right before yuh shinin like new and purrin like a kitten.

Tother day a feller brot in an iron hoss what had smashed into a tree. Pretty sorry lookin, she was, but she was still breathin. That's all we needed. She didn't have half as many curves as Mae West when we got thru, an as fur wrinkles, waal, she was as free of em as a June bride.

And that ain't all, we changed her complexun. She was a dark blue when she came in sick and we sent her out as bright red as any spanked baby yuh ever seed.

Yep, we do all this in our hospital. We'll do it fur yuh or any of yur friends, too. Jist drop in and make an appointment. We're gettin a big kick out o fixin bent bodies and torn ligiments. Course, its our bisniz, why shouldn't we?

NINETY-NINTH YEAR NUMBER FORTY-FOUR | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, AUGUST 4, 1949 | FIVE CENTS A COPY

IF YOU'RE A VETERAN YOU MAY HAVE SOME CASH COMING

Service Groups To Assist In NSLI Dividend Refunds

The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will assist all local veterans in applying for their National Service Life Insurance dividends, it was announced today by Jerry DuFour and Earl Kruger, commanders of the Underwood-Orr post No. 34, American Legion and Hall-Slater post No. 4187, VFW, respectively.

"Our posts will have the necessary applications which veterans will have to make to the VA to get their NSLI dividends," the commanders said. "Every veteran who held his NSLI policy for 90 days or more will have a refund coming to him. The VA expects to pay out approximately $2,800,000,000 in these refunds. Payments per veteran are expected to average about $175 according to the VA. Applications should be filed as quickly as possible because it will take weeks and months for a veteran to get his refund check."

Processing booths will be set up at the homes of both organizations to aid the veterans in filling out applications. Blanks will be available the latter part of August or the forepart of September, it was said. Veterans are to watch The Herald for further information.

Actually, Commander DuFour explained, the American Legion and V. F. W. will put on the biggest manhunt in history in trying to locate veterans who are eligible for the NSLI funds.

"The VA estimates that some 16,000,000 veterans are entitled to NSLI refunds," Commander Kruger added. "Actually today the VA has the home address of only six million of eligible veterans. The American Legion and VFW will help it to locate 10,000,000 others."

Council Members To Get Pay For Use of Their Cars

Members of the Tecumseh village council, who, in the future, drive their cars on official business, will receive compensation at the rate of 7 cents per mile, the council voted at its meeting on Monday evening. Heretofore, no allowance for such mileage had been made.

The council awarded the contract for the construction of a sewer in the northeast section of the village to Rossi and Son of Romulus, at a cost of $8,072.10. The sewer must be completed within 60 days.

Construction of a new sidewalk paralleling the park on the south side of Shawnee street, between Evans and Ottawa street, was approved. Transfer of the beer and wine license of Leo and Stella Kurchock of Rocket Tavern to Vincent J. Muzzillo and Albert F. Fabiano was granted.

VFW Team Wins Softball Title

TROPHY WILL BE PRESENTED LATER THIS MONTH AFTER A "DONKEY GAME"

An undisputed championship was earned by the VFW softball team which, after a season of no losses, was handed a forfeit by B & S, Monday night, clinching the top spot in the Tecumseh Civic Softball league.

Climaxing this season's play will be a donkey softball game in which the champions, before receiving their trophy, will meet an all-star team, picked from the remaining five teams in the league. The date for the donkey game and trophy presentation has been announced as Monday, Aug. 29, and will take place at the Recreation Center.

Tecumseh Products was VFW's only serious rival, but the servicemen put them out of the running by handing them their only defeat in a make-up clash 34 to 5. Freezing the refrigerator men into second place seemed to give VFW the incentive they needed, for the remainder of the season they went great guns.

Monday night FFA was defeated by Products and in one of the most exciting games of the season, the Presbyterian church edged out over Tipton 16-15. Errors accounted for the Tipton loss. B & S forfeited their game to VFW, and in meeting a scrub team VFW lost 10-9.

The season standings are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost
VFW	5	0
Tecumseh Products	4	1
FFA	2	3
Presbyterian	2	3
B & S Grocery	1	4

Play Center Nearly Broke

WAYS OF FINANCING SUMMER PLAY PROGRAMS DISCUSSED BY ROTARIANS

Ways and means of making the Tecumseh Recreation Center a financial success were discussed by members of the Rotary Club, Tuesday evening, following dinner at the Brees House. The center, scene of all of the village's summer playground activities as well as high school athletic events, is on the verge of financial disaster unless some program for its maintenance can be worked out, club members were told.

Robert H. Moore, chairman of the club's community service committee, and Fay Whelan, a member of the Recreation Center Board, explained how, in order for the Center to operate this year it has been necessary for certain individuals to "dig down" into their pockets for cash. At least $2,500 annually is needed for the Recreation to be a success financially, it was said.

Rotarians, in a round-table discussion, expressed the opinion that the Center should be amply financed and play programs continued. Two or three ways of doing this were taken under consideration.

In all probability, Rotary, through Mr. Moore and his committee will submit a plan to the club in the near future for raising sufficient funds to carry on the activities. The Center will be able as a result of special gifts, to meet its expenses this summer but will be unable to function this fall and next year unless some program is worked out.

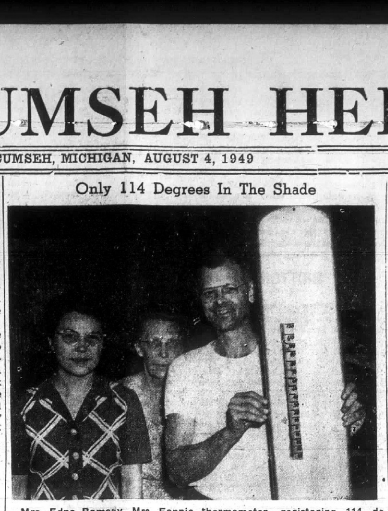
Only 114 Degrees In The Shade



Mrs. Edna Ramsay, Mrs. Fannie Brees and Halsey Eggleston of Campbell's Cleaners, halt their work for a moment for the photographer to snap them and the thermometer, registering 114 degrees, last Monday. Temperatures mean nothing to the folk who clean and press your clothing, summer of winter.

Itinerant Solicitors Bring C. of C. Warning

Local veterans' organizations in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce today issued a warning concerning itinerant solicitors who are making the rounds of Michigan towns selling flags, booklets or other items.

The fact that these itinerant hold membership cards in veterans' organizations and veterans' peddling licenses from the State of Michigan does not alter the fact that the money is entirely for the profit of the individual.

In a joint statement, Jerry DuFour, commander of the Underwood Orr post of the American Legion & Earl Kruger, caommander of the Hall-Slater post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars stated, "Use of veterans' insigna and of patriotic emblems for such private gains is definitely disapproved by our organizations."

Ronald Harris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce stated, "The Chamber of Commerce does not have the power or authority to forbid such solicitations. The only way to discourage these itinerants is to make their operations unprofitable by refusing to contribute."

BRITTON RESIDENT DIES

Funeral services were held Sun. afternoon from the Hemingway and Valentine funeral home in Petersburg for William H. Wright, 62, of Route 1, Britton, who died Thursday at 8 p. m., at his home, after a long period of failing health. Burial was in the Petersburg cemetery.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Ray Watts of Brooklyn, three daughters, Mrs. Len Lewis and Mrs. Lawrence Hanson of Britton and Mrs. Edna Martin of Tecumseh, and one brother, Ed Wright, of Evansville, Ind. He was preceded in death by his wife several years ago.

114 IN SHADE ONLY NORMAL TEMPERATURE

You can gripe and fret and stew and worry about the heat but if your Palm Beach suit, gabardine slacks or sheer rayon dress was "hung up" at the cleaners for four or five days longer than you'd planned, just because the weather was hot and so were the cleaners, you'd fret still more, wouldn't you?

Well, you don't have the worry about that because folk who work in dry cleaning shops work just the same—come hot or cold. It's nothing, for instance, to see the thermometer reach 112 and 114 when it's near one of the steam presses, but the fellow who's putting the crease in your trousers goes right on pressing.

The thermometer you see above is being held by Halsey Eggleston, operator of Campbell's Cleaners, here. The mercury in the tube has climbed to 114, and Halsey's sweating—a little—but he had time to turn and smile, just the same. And that was only last Monday, after the weather had cooled. Behind him are Mrs. Fannie Brees and her daughter, Mrs. Edna Ramsay, who work with Mr. Eggleston in the shop. They, too, are a trifle hot, but women never feel the heat as much as men do, tis said.

And, speaking of heat, Eggleston said that a week ago, during the "warm spell," the thermometer in the shop touched 118 degrees, several times, but, he continued, "you just get used to it."

"It's a little warm in the summer, but in the winter, I notice that our customers linger a little longer when the thermometer outside registers near the zero mark," he said. "But it's all in a day's work, come hot or cold weather."

And so, the next time the temperature and the humidity climb to the 100 degree mark—or even in the 90's—think about the folk who dry clean your clothes.

Maybe it will make you feel cooler, remembering that these folk work in the heat so that you can "look pretty".

DAVID QUICK, AGED 5½, OF S. UNION STREET, IN U. OF M. HOSPITAL

Tecumseh's first case of polio and the third case to be reported in Lenawee county this year, is David Quick, five-and-a-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Quick of 825 South Union street. The child is a patient at University hospital, Ann Arbor, and his condition is said to be not dangerous and improving.

The child first became ill a week ago last Monday, complaining of headache and stomach pains. Later a stiffness in the neck developed. He was taken to Ann Arbor on Thursday where the diagnosis was confirmed. Mrs. Quick is in Ann Arbor with her son.

Mr. Quick said that the child had not been in crowds and that he had not been swimming.

Reports to the parents from the hospital say that the boy's condition is improving but he may not be released for a couple of weeks. There is no paralysis but there is a stiffness in his back at the hips.

The second case of paralysis reported in Lenawee for 1949 was on Monday of this week. Dale Fulls, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Falls of the Clark school district near Deerfield, was the victim. He also was removed to University hospital, Ann Arbor.

Reports to the family from the hospital say that the boy has been placed in a respirator.

C. of C. Is Seeking Anniversary Pictures

The Chamber of Commerce is in need of a few more pictures to complete its permanent pictorial record of the recent 125th Anniversary Celebration.

Since scores of pictures were being taken, the Chamber feels sure that there must be some excellent snaps in the community. Pictures which are particularly needed include some of the Canadian Legion's boy and girl drum and bugle corps, the flag exchange ceremony, and the wreath laying ceremony at the cemetery.

Persons having such prints, or others which they think particularly unusual or excellent, are asked to bring them to the Chamber of Commerce office to see if they would be proper additions to the Chamber's collection.

Drivers Are Cause Of Most Accidents

This may throw you for a loss, drivers, but it's surely worth thinking about.

You are in the greatest danger of being hurt or killed in an automobile accident when you are traveling straight ahead between intersections; on a clear, dry day; in a passenger car in apparently good condition; driven by a young man who has more than a year's driving experience, but who is exceeding the speed limit—driving faster than the safe limits of his car, or the roadway, or of his ability to handle the car.

All accidents have their causes, the Michigan Department of Health said. These accidents are caused by DRIVERS.

PLACES AT EXHIBIT

THE HIGHWAY CRISIS

Sometime ago, the Commissioner of Public Roads delivered a startling address, whose main theme was the vast damage being done to our highway by heavy commercial vehicles. Much evidence in support of that is appearing in various states.

According to a story in the Chicago Daily News, written by Roy M. Fisher, "Failure of Illinois officials to enforce truck weight laws is a major cause of the $2,000,000,000 highway crisis facing the state today, highway engineers believe." In this case, the weight limits were lifted as a war emergency measure. After the war, the limits were theoretically reimposed, but there was only a nominal amount of enforcement. According to an Illinois division of highways survey, one-third of the trailer type trucks operating on the state highways carried illegal loads in 1947.

Mr. Fisher also wrote: "Although truckers have long insisted weight has little to do with highway wear, highway engineers point to a growing list of examples to prove the contrary." Some of the huge modern trucks are so heavy that past ideas of the causes of road damage have had to be changed. Roads which will last indefinitely under the stress of normal traffic break down relatively quickly under the big loads. And to build roads which will stand any kind of truck and load involves a staggering cost to the taxpayers.

This has become a national problem. It is a problem which will grow more intense as time goes on. The only sound solution seen, to be the imposition of reasonable weight limits—coupled with strict enforcement of the law. The highways, after all, are a public property, publicly paid for and maintained. They are in a very different category from a railroad right of way which private enterprise must supprot entirely out of its own pocket.

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

Is Michigan slipping as a tourist state?

James Welsh, the "Old Traveler" of the Automobile Club of Michigan, thinks so.

In fact, he provoked quite a controversy among Michigan newspaper editors by saying just this at a summer meeting of the Michigan Press Association at Hotel Top-in-a-bee on Mullet Lake, Cheboygan county.

"I know what I am talking about," he declared. "I travel about the country constantly. Each month I write a travel article on some Michigan city or region for the Motor News, monthly magazine of the Automobile Club. Michigan is not keeping up with the progress made by other states in attracting tourists. We are definitely slipping."

It is the Welsh contention that Michigan people lack pride in their home state. They fail to brag (or even talk) about Michigan's wealth of natural resources, its air-conditioned summer climate, its thousands of white-sand lakes, leadership in hunting and fishing, and such unique scenic attractions as Mackinac Island, Porcupine mountains amid a forest wilderness, and the Tacquamenon Falls.

Why? Michigan people are too complacent. They neglect to greet outstate visitors with warm friendly hospitality and say, "Be sure to see this-and-that before you leave!"

While the prodding "Old Traveler" may have a good point or two, his general thesis of a decline in the Michigan tourist industry was immediately challenged by many booster-minded newspaper editors.

Robert Furlong, secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council, added his conviction to the controversy:

"All available statistics about Michigan's role in the tourist field contradict and deny Welsh's contention that Michigan is falling behind.

"Traffic at the Straits of Mackinaw from July 1 to 5 inclusively was 20 per cent higher than one year ago.

"Despite a state advertising budget approximately one-half that of the leading states, Michigan ranked third among the 48 states in 1948, according to an independent national survey, and this year should be tied with California for second place in dollar volume.

"New York, surprisingly enough to some people, leads all states in tourist travel business. New York City is chiefly responsible for this. New York's state advertising budget for vacation promotion — $500,000 — just doubles that of Michigan. California's state budget is nearly as high.

"Don't overlook these facts: Michigan has 3,000 miles of shore line on the Great Lakes. Michigan possesses 11,000 inland lakes, 36,000 miles of rivers and streams, game and fish for more license holders than any other state in the U.S.A.

"Our bathing beaches are nationally famous. White sand beaches are the rule, rather than the exception. And then there is the prevailing westerly wind from Lake Superior and Lake Michigan which air-conditions all sections of the state.

"What other state in the Midwest can boast of 58 state parks? What other state has created the recreational area plan for a metropolitan area on such a vast scale as Michigan? And don't forget our 62 roadside parks and 300 roadside picnic tables, provided and maintained by the state highway department!"

It is Furlong's belief that Michigan citizens, particularly those living in the tourist regions, cannot afford to rest "on their oars." Forty-five of the 48 states now compete to attract tourists. Eight states joined the ranks in the past two years.

The state legislature this year turned thumbs down on a bill, sponsored by the conservation department, to grant blank-check authority to build and operate hotels and cabins on any state land. Strangely enough, most members of the conservation commission privately frowned on this latitude. So did the state legislature!

The bewhiskered "Old Traveler", now promoting Michigan attractions for ten years, started something when he prodded newspaper editors at Top-in-a-bee. An intelligent and prolific writer, he may have done it deliberately. The result has been a re-appraisal of Michigan's tourist resources and perhaps a reawakening to the need for every citizen to be a friendly host this summer to millions of visitors.

"MY FORD DEALER PROVED HE WAS MAKING THE BEST TRUCK 'DEALS' IN TOWN!"

"When he topped the best previous offer by $100, my Ford Dealer proved he was making the best truck 'deals' in town," says Sam Perlsten.

"But that isn't all. I figure I made another $150 by trading rather than waiting. Used truck values were slipping so fast I would have lost $150 on the old truck if I had waited another 60 days.

"I acted fast. Got my new Ford fast. And I have been saving on gas, oil and repairs in the meantime."

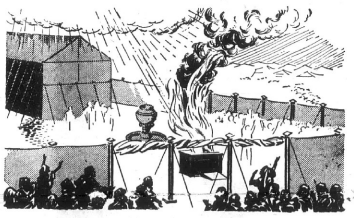
STORY OF THE BIBLE



The Tabernacle Is Completed

"Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle. And Moses was not able to enter into the tent of the congregation, because the cloud abode thereon, and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle. And when the cloud was taken from over the tabernacle, the children of Israel went onward in all their journeys. But if the cloud were not taken up, then they journeyed not till the day that it was taken up. For the cloud of the Lord was on the tabernacle by day, and fire was on it by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel, throughout all their journeys."

The Israelites had faith in God's judgment. They believed in Him . . . they knew that what He did was best. If you could but feel the same way, you would have no worries or problems . . . you would depend utterly on God and he would not fail you. You can show your faith in God by going to church. You need your church just as your church needs you.

● That's the verdict of those who know combines. If you always have clean, upstanding crops, you may not really need a combine so capable as the Case "A." But for small seeds like clover, that take real rubbing to thresh out . . . or a brittle crop like beans . . . or fine, fluffy seeds like some of the grasses . . . or even grain that is tough to thresh, the "A" is in a class by itself.

Unpasturized Milk Dangerous

USE OF RAW MILK, CREAM OR BUTTER MAY RESULT IN ILLNESS

A warning to Michigan vacationists not to drink raw milk or cream, or purchase homemade ice cream, cottage cheese or butter was issued today by the Michigan Department of Health.

"The little jar of country-fresh cream or the pail of farm-fresh milk you buy from a neighboring farm may contain germs which will make your whole family ill, and ruin your entire vacation," the department said.

The warning was given because the department feels that vacationing city-dwellers may not realize that to be safe all milk and milk products must be pasteurized, and that while their regular city supply is safe, the milk and milk products they get from farmers in rural areas may not be safe.

The department said that bovine tuberculosis, typhoid fever, paratyphoid fever, undulant fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, septic sore throat and possibly poliomyelitis can be transmitted by raw milk and raw milk products.

Michigan's state-wide pasteurization law requires that all milk sold to the retail trade as well as the milk, cream, skim milk and other dairy products used in the manufacture of butter, cheese and cottage cheese be pasteurized. Another law provides the same safeguard for ice cream. Seven areas in the state have removed themselves from the full provisions of the protective law and allow unpasteurized milk products to be sold. They are: Ypsilanti, Manistique, Thompsonville, Ontonagan, Baraga and Covington townships Baraga county and Dewitt township in Clinton county.

Vacationists going into areas where pasteurized milk is not available are advised to take a supply of canned milk and creamery butter with them. Where it is necessary for the vacationists to buy raw milk or cream they should pasteurize it themselves.

Here are the directions for home pasteurization:

Place milk in a large clean kettle, pan or double boiler.

Place a cooking thermometer in the milk and heat the milk to 160 degrees F.

Store in refrigerator. Keep below 50 degrees F.

An illustrated wall card of instructions for home pasteurization of milk can be had from local health departments or the Michigan Department of Health Lansing 4, Michigan.

MISSOURI REPEALS LABOR-CONTROL LAW

JEFFERSON CITY, MO.—Organized labor has won its fight for repeal of Missouri's Union Control Act.

Gov. Forrest Smith, with labor leaders as [illegible] has signed a bill repealing the Madison Act almost two years after it was approved.

The Madison Act barred jurisdictional strikes (fights between unions), sympathy strikes, strikes against government, and secondary boycotts (in which a labor dispute ties up a business not involved in the parent strike).

It also set up compulsory arbitration. It said no strikes could be called unless a majority of the eligible union members voted for it.

LIFE OF FLUORESCENT LAMPS LENGTHENED

BLOOMFIELD, N. J.—Westinghouse Electric has announced that the average life expectancy for its most popular type of fluorescent lamps has been lengthened to 7,500 hours, equal to five years of burning in most kitchens, and to almost four years burning on 40-hour work week schedules, in offices and factories, said Eugene W. Beggs, Westinghouse engineer. In schoolrooms where burning periods are less frequent, he added, the life will be even longer.

The most popular sizes of incandescent light bulbs, by contrast, have a life rating of 1,000 hours.

The new rating, tripling that of prewar, was made possible by designing sturdier electron-emitting electrodes in the lamp and by improving manufacturing techniques Mr. Beggs said.

At the same time, Westinghouse announced increases in the rated quantity of light produced by the lamps. The 40-watt, in greatest demand, was boosted 160 lumens to 2,480 lumens. This compares with 2,600 lumens produced by a 150-watt incandescent light bulb.

Square Shootin's What Pays Oft, We Always Says,
When You're Dealin' With Fellers Who Swap Iron Hosses

We ain't sayin' that sometimes we don't make honist mistakes, such things happen to all o' us, but what we say is this, if we make honist mistakes we'll make 'em right.

That' folks, goes for all of the garagin' businis around Butler's hoss-stabul. Whether you're tradin' cars, havi'n yur old hoss fixed up or what not, if yuh think we've made an honist mistake, tell us and we'll make it right.

That's why we say that square shootin' the only kind of shootin' to do, yes suh. Out here in the country, where yur dependint on the return of yur kustomer, yuh gotta treat him right, we says. An' for nearly 20 years we been strivin' to do jist that, and we thinks it pays.

We're so sold on that kind o' dealin' that we're thinkin' about goin' down to Washington and letten them politicians in on th' deal.

We never did know that politician fellers could have so many dreams—and 'spensive ones, too. And regardless of the 'spense they makes 'em come true.

Fellers say, "What do we care for the National Debt." Waal. We kant help thinkin' about way back when yuh could buy a Ford car for less than $370, delivered to yur door. Today, the taxes on a Ford are more than that, to say nothin' about the cost of manufacturn'.

Debts do make a difference, we say, and yuh kant kid the public all o' the time. Some day th' folk's goin to wake up to what their hidden tax bill adds up to and then it'll take more than a lot of Republicans and Democrats to show 'em why they should pay $400 taxes on a new car.

Tecumseh Lays Claim To State's Oldest Grocery Business

If you want to learn the story of progress in business, dating back to the days when covered wagons were in style, when grocery orders were sent in Morse code over telegraph wires from Tecumseh to Macon, and, incidentally, when prosperous farmers bought their crackers by the barrel, you need only to talk to J. Harold Anderson, owner-operator of Anderson's Grocery here. Mr. Anderson has the distinction, in all probability, of owning the oldest grocery store, in point of service, in the state of Michigan. It has been in his family for 100 years, serving generation after generation of "satisfied customers."

Records show that the Anderson store came into existence in early 1850, perhaps in 1849. It was founded by Albert Anderson, the present owner's grandfather, but just where the building that housed the enterprise was located, no one seems to know. Albert Anderson operated the store until 1891 when he turned it over to his sons, Berford and Ernest Anderson and they operated it jointly until 1928 when Ernest died and J. H. Anderson, (the present owner) acquired his interest. In 1930, Albert died and until about three years ago the business was owned by J. H. Anderson and Vevia Anderson, Albert's widow. Harold Anderson bought Mrs. Anderson's interest in 1946, and is now the sole owner. The store has been housed in its present building on E. Chicago boulevard since 1870.

Harold Anderson has records of his grandfather's business back to early 1850. In October of that year, they show, six pounds of sugar could be had for 54c. Four pounds of coffee cost 50c and three quarters of a yard of cambric cost 9c. Combs were expensive, 13c, and thread was 6c a spool, but a pair of shoes cost only $1. A gallon of good old molasses brought 50c and a half-pound of your favorite tobacco was only 14c.

Stories that came down through the family to Harold Anderson indicate that in those early days a grocery store carried "a little of everything," including some drugs, yard goods, notions and what not. That was before the days of electricity, radio, telephone, pavements, automobiles and airplanes. There was plenty of hitching posts for horses, sidewalks were made of planks, and dried apples were a by-produce of every farm.

J. Harold Anderson began clerking in the grocery store about 40 years ago. Even then, he says, bakery bread was not very popular, maybe you sold only half a dozen loaves a day. There were quite a few canned goods, but not a big variety. Oil lamps first lighted the store, then came the "home made" gas lights. Before Harold's time there was a telegraph instrument in the store, connecting Tecumseh with Macon by Morse code.

Yes, delivery service was available to Tecumseh residents, even in those days. Anderson's owned their own horses and delivered in a covered wagon.

Harold likes to recall how his store bought many barrels of crackers at a time—crackers were very popular as a food. And it was not unusual, he says, to sell a farmer a full barrel. The store opened at six in the morning and remained open until midnight on Saturday, 10 or 11 o'clock week days. Lemons were imported from Italy and bananas were available, only at the holiday season.

Anderson's is still doing business over the "same old counter"—and its solid black walnut, installed in the present store about 70 years ago. The old coffee mill also is "still around" but its in the basement.

Asked what he considered the greatest advance in the food business in the past 40 years, Mr. Anderson replied, "frozen foods." "I don't know as its more revolutionary than some other steps of progress, but the people sure have taken to it faster than any other important change in packaging that I can remember."

Early issues of The Herald also testify to the existence of Anderson's Grocery. The Herald was established in 1850 and Anderson's was one of its advertisers then. And, in every subsequent issue of The Herald, there's an Anderson advertisement.

Take It Easy In Hot Weather

PROSTRATION, SUNSTROKE AT ITS PEAK DURING MONTH OF AUGUST

Take it easy these hot summer days, the Michigan Department of Health is warning o rs.

Deaths from heat prostration and sunstroke reach their peak in August. Both result from prolonged exposure to sun or intense heat.

People past their middle years, and those who have high blood pressure, or disease of the heart or kidneys are in more danger than others. Such things as overexertion, dehydration, over-indulgence in food or drink, worry, fatigue, anger, and lack of sleep add to the danger.

These things will help you to prevent heat prostration and sunstroke and to keep cool, the Department suggested.

Avoid prolonged exposure to sun and excessive heat—this includes ball games, tent-shows, fair midways and the like, as well as the beach and garden. Keep the head covered when exposed to direct sunlight.

Wear loose, light, porous clothing, but not too much of that.

Stay where there is circulation of air.

Avoid over-exertion or fatigue. Take recreation such as golf, shuffleboard, hiking, swimming and tennis in small doses.

Eat the same protective food you eat the year around—fruits, vegetables, milk, cheese, meat and eggs, just eat less fried greasy foods and rich desserts. Have some hot food at every meal.

Drink eight to twelve glasses of liquid a day. This includes water, fruit juices, milk, soup, tea and coffee.

Bible School Students Plan Program, Friday

The program and public demonstration of the daily vacation Bible school that has been held during the past two weeks at the Tecumseh Friends Church will be held on Friday evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Eva Clausen and Miss Celeste Richardson have been in charge of this school, which has been very well attended. Songs, choruses, memory work, and a visual lesson will be presented on the program, after which parents and friends will have an opportunity to see the handwork done by the boys and girls.

I will not be in my office from July 25 to August 24 inclusive.

2 Local Men Members Of New Reserve Unit

Lt. Col. Robert French and Maj. Harold Treby, both of Tecumseh, are members of Col. Arthur P. Lopshire's staff of the 5744th Post, Camp or Station Complement Training Reserve Unit, the first army reserve unit to be organized in Lenawee county. The activation of the unit was announced last week by the 5th Army headquarters in Chicago.

Col. Lopshire, who is engaged in farming in Macon township, is commander of the new unit, which will enable army men in the county to continue their military careers on a part time basis. Col. Lopshire entered the reserve in Detroit in 1935 and later went to Washington where he served in the ground c department. He was sent to the European theatre in 1942 and later served in Washington and Korea. Discharged in 1947 he has been teaching in Woodrow Wilson Intermediate school, Detroit.

A number of vacancies remain open in the unit and officers and enlisted men interested in entering the unit may write to Capt. Kerbawy of Blissfield for application forms.

The unit will meet in the D. A. V. Hall in Adrian the first and third Tuesdays of each month. Attendance at the meeting is credited toward retirement pay and promotion.

Golf Tournament Under Way At Club

Ladies Day at the Tecumseh Country Club last week drew 22 women for golf instruction, and practice which followed. Winners for the morning golf-round were; 1, Mrs. Dale Bowen; 2, Mrs. C. O. Butler; and 3, Mrs. Robert H. Moore.

Since the club's inception its lady golfers have been establishing their handicaps and sharpening up their game with a zest for interest. During the month of August the novices as well as advanced players have been given off for matched play in the club's first championship golf tournament, which leads to awards in various classifications. This good natured competition is having as its by-product congeniality and a real enthusiasm for a great sport.

Some 51 women attended the luncheon of last week. Mrs. Jerry Spafford had arranged the flowers and it was presided over by the hostesses for the afternoon of cards. These were Mrs. Ned Rosscrans and Mrs. Hugh Andrews who announced the winners as follows: bridge, Mrs. M. R. Blanden; pinochle, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Neil of Chicago, a guest. Mrs. Ken Hall drew the door prize.

Hostesses to be called before Tuesday noon for reservations for August 17 are Mrs. Jerry Spafford, phone 351R, or Mrs. Ray Shuyter, phone 196. Free class instruction in golf for the ladies will be given by Leo Bishop, golf pro, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Relief From Heat Is Due Over Week-end

Didja say its hot?

The weather man's inclined to agree with you, too, for on Tuesday an official 96 degree temperature was recorded after a sizzling Sunday and Monday, also in the 90's. Yesterday's temperature hit 93 and, unless forecasters go wrong, today, also, will be in the 90's.

But there's relief coming, the weather man says, "over the week-end." What he calls the week-end, he didn't say. It may mean Friday—or possibly Sunday.

But, he says, its coming.

TWO FIRE ALARMS

A welding torch too close to a paint booth caused $50 worth of damage at Meyers Aircraft Co., last Thursday at 8:25 a.m., when the booth caught fire. Tecumseh firemen answered the call and extinguished the flames.

Friday at 12:55 p.m., firemen were summoned to the Frank Pratt farm, north of Tecumseh, where a grass fire was out of control. There was no damage.

PRACTICE RUN?

Tecumseh firemen were called out at 7 p.m., Monday for a practice run. The engines went down North Union St., and over to Van Buren.

Arabian Desert Is Another Hot Spot

You may thing its hot here but, in the opinion of Joseph Satterthwaite, a member of the State Department, stationed at Washington, you haven't seen anything yet unless you've visited the Arabian desert, Bombay and Damascus. Mr. Satterthwaite told some of his experiences with the weather when he spoke to members of the Rotary club, Tuesday evening following dinner at Brees House. He was a guest of his brother, P. C. Satterthwaite.

Telling of the time he was stationed in the Holy Land area, Mr. Satterthwaite said that at times—and for as much as 30 days at a time—the temperature shot up to 120 to 125 degrees, with a humidity of 80. That, he said, is when its hot. You work from 6 a.m. until 1 p.m., and then seek the seclusion of your home.

Satterthwaite has spent 25 years in the department, many of them on foreign assignments. He is here for a brief holiday with relatives.

JOHN LaGORE, JR., BATHING MISHAP VICTIM; BODY RECOVERED BY POLICE

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Everies Funeral Home in Adrian, for John LaGore, Jr., who drowned in Evans Lake, Friday afternoon. Burial was in East Rome cemetery.

The drowning occurred on the east side of Evans Lake, after John, with two companions, Marvin and Wendel Higgins of Tecumseh, had waded out to a raft. John lost his balance and fell into 14 feet of water. There is a sudden drop off on the opposite side of the raft from the shore.

The Higgins boys summoned help immediately and about ten minutes after John had fallen into the water, State Troopers Krans and Chandler of Clinton arrived at the scene. They dove into the water but could not locate the body in the weeds.

The accident occurred at 2:15 p. m., and 41 minutes later the body was removed with grappling hooks. For nearly an hour artificial respiration was used. The drowned lad was pronounced dead by Coroner Paul Mott.

Undersheriff Claude Lossing, who arrived at the scene of the drowning a few minutes after the state police, said the troopers are to be commended for their quick action.

John lived with his father, John LaGore, who survives, on Occidental Road, north of Bilington's Corners. Mr. LaGore is employed by the Tecumseh Products Co. Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. Blanche Travis of Adrian, three brothers, Delton, Robert and Gary, all at home, three sisters, Mrs. Robert Miller of Tecumseh, Betty Lou and Joyce Ann at home, two half-brothers, Alvin of Onsted and Cecil of Morenci, his grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Sanders of Milford, Mich., and a number of aunts and uncles.

Born November 16, 1932 in Petersburg, John had been attending school and working.

The first practice for the Tecumseh Braves, a local independent football team, will be held at Recreation Center, Monday, August 15, at 6 p.m. All those interested are invited to try out. Games have been scheduled for the entire season, the first one to be played at Monroe.

Did You Feel The "Earthquake" Tuesday?

No, Tecumseh didn't have an earthquake, Tuesday evening.

At 6:05 Tuesday afternoon, residents from all sections of Tecumseh felt their houses tremble, dishes rattled and, generally, it was believed that "something terrible had happened."

Here's what it was: D. D. Walper at 110 S. Adrian street, is drilling a well at his home. At a depth of 87 feet there still wasn't sufficient water so the workmen decided to dynamite. One stick was exploded at that depth. It really "rocked" the town.

Nine Injured In Accidents

EIGHT HURT IN HEAD-ON CRASH EAST OF CLINTON; IN HOSPITAL HERE

Mrs. William Moore, 66, of Chicago is in a serious condition in Tecumseh Hospital as the result of an automobile accident Friday afternoon, three miles east of Clinton, in which seven other persons were injured. Mrs. Moore suffered a severe concussion and possible skull fracture, and, according to latest reports from the hospital, has not regained full consciousness.

John Bennett, 73, of Windsor, Canada, is also in Tecumseh Hospital suffering from chest injuries. His condition is much improved. Oza Heath, 36, of Plymouth, who received a badly lacerated leg, was treated at the hospital and later removed to Art Center hospital in Detroit. Susan Rollinson, 59, and Frank Rollinson, 60, of Windsor, suffered contusions and abrasions and were discharged from the hospital Saturday. Roland Rollinson, 26, of Windsor, suffered a fractured right ankle and was released Saturday. Ray Heath, 39, and Caroline Heath, four, of Plymouth, received cuts and bruises and, after treatment, were released.

The accident occurred at 6:34 p.m., when, according to state police of the Clinton post, Mr. Bennett, driving east on US-112, attempted to go around a truck and collided head-in with a car driven west by Mr. Heath.

All of those injured were pas-

Housing Government Responsibility, Executive Says

By Gene Alleman
(Special To The Herald)

LANSING—Are private home builders falling down on the job? Governor G. Mennen Williams thinks so: "If private industry, unaided, could meet this problem (homes for low-income workers) I would be entirely in favor of letting private industry handle it. But the record shows that private industry cannot handle the housing problem alone."

In advocating public housing whereby rents are subsidized to taxpayers, Williams points to the four years' experience of Detroit, as reported by the Detroit Housing Commission. "The housing needs of the City of Detroit increased during the last four years by a total of more than 144,000 dwelling units. During the same period, the private building industry constructed a little more than 27,000 units, leaving more than 117,000 Detroit families still without adequate homes."

"According to the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, 446,400 new homes were started under construction in the first six months of 1949. This is 95.8 per cent of the record rate of production set in 1948 when 1,038,000 homes were completed. More than one-half of these homes were built to sell at $7,500 or less.

"The U. S. Federal Reserve Board is authority for information that 40 per cent of these homes cost less than $5,000. Financing of homes is still the number one problem. Senate Bill 7.2, extending Federal Housing Administration guaranteed-loans, must be acted upon before Congress adjourns."

"Everyone is aware to some degree of the acute housing problem which has afflicted us ever since the beginning of the second World War," he said recently.

"Many of us, regardless of our economic position in life, have faced housing problems. I, myself, had a difficult time finding a suitable home for my family in Lansing. With the exception of a very wealthy few, there isn't any group of our citizens which hasn't felt in some way the effect of the lack of homes."

Governor Williams also feels that the "denial of homes to veterans is particularly flagrant contradiction of all that America stands for. The men and women who fought in World War II risked their lives for the defense of OUR homes. It is an ironic tragedy that as an indirect result of their victorious struggle, there are no homes for them."

Alles, who serves as spokesman for Michigan home builders, maintains that hundreds of homes are now available throughout Michigan to war veterans at attractive terms.

"Down payments are not required from World War II veterans who can obtain Veteran Administration approval," he said. "Monthly payment including interest and taxes on a two-bedroom house varies between $40 and $47. The VA requires interest of not more than 4 per cent on such mortgages. This advantage to the veteran becomes a handicap because of the difficulty in finding lenders, in view of the lack of cash payment, who will accept this lower-than-going rate.

"Private builders have advocated that Congress should increase this interest rate to 4½ per cent, the prevailing rate paid by non-veteran home owners. This would make veteran mortgages equally attractive and marketable."

One requirement in the new federal public housing act, recently adopted by Congress, is that cities which obtain mederal housing subsidies must eliminate slum dwellings in an amount equal to the number of new public housing units provided.

A Washington business service has assured home builders that the federal housing program will call for only about 15 per cent of the housing industry's total capacity of one million homes per year. As subsidized rents are limited to low-income workers it is the intent of Congress that the program will meet a demand almost never filled in the past by private builders.

Governor Williams may have had this in mind when he declared builders had failed to do the job. Home builders do not agree.

In the long run, the public will be the judge.

Mail Service To Be Extended

ACTING POSTMASTER NOTIFIED OF WASHINGTON APPROVAL THIS WEEK

Mail delivery by "foot carriers" to three of Tecumseh's new subdivisions, as requested recently by F. E. N. Thatcher, acting postmaster, has been approved by post-office authorities in Washington, Mr. Thatcher was notified this week. In all probability, the new service will be available here during the early part of September, it was indicated.

The new carrier service will affect Herrick Park, the extension of Indian Acres on North Union street, and the so-called Quaker Oats subdivision, it was said. Heretofore, these areas have been served by rural carriers.

The Washington authority warned that before mail delivery by "foot carrier" can be offered, the new subdivisions must first meet the requirements for postal delivery service. This, it was said, includes sidewalks, or the installation of walks from the house to a paved street, houses must be numbered, suitable mail boxes or slots installed, and other provisions.

It is believed that in the three subdivisions mentioned most of the requirements have been met so that service can begin next month. This, of course, will relieve the load of the present rural carriers.

The acting postmaster also has applied for more lock boxes at the postoffice but this matter still has not been cared for.

It was pointed out that despite Tecumseh's growth in the past 10 years, the post office still is doing business with approximately the same amount of help, and in the same building using the old equipment.

Mail, both incoming and outgoing, for the Tecumseh Products Co. alone now amounts to as much, or more, than all of the mail handled for the village 15 years ago, it was said.

Dial Telephones In Britton Soon

$7,000 CASH AVAILABLE, $25,000 PLEDGED TO CONVERT PRESENT SYSTEM

Dial operated telephones in Britton are to become a reality—and soon—it was announced following the final reorganization meeting of the Britton Telephone Company, held at the town hall, last week, when 156 votes were represented. Seven thousand dollars of preferred stock has been sold and $25,000 additional is pledged to date for financing the system.

At the election of officers, Lee Keeling was re-elected president, Bernard Clement vice president, Myrtle Taylor secretary-treasurer and William Kuster and Percy Cadmus directors. At the directors' meeting it was voted to proceed as rapidly as possible with conversion of the Britton Exchange to the dial system and to request bids from various manu- facturers for dial system.

W. F. King, telephone engineer and consultant of Lansing, in charge of conversion to the automatic dial system, was present at the meeting. Many recent improvements and refinements of the dial system were told by J. H. Stanley of North Electric.

Mabel Moore will be retained as assistant secretary and collector. Under the new system, dues will be collected monthly and several new classifications will be required by the public service commission.

CLYDE A. BARBER BURIED IN BROOKSIDE

Funeral services were conducted from the Green Funeral Home, Saturday afternoon, for Clyde A. Barber, who died suddenly last week Wednesday. The Rev. Luther H. Moore officiated and burial was in Brookside cemetery.

The bearers were Glenn Driscoll, Perry Satterthwaite, James Freckelton, H. H. Hanna, Fay Anderson and Harold Anderson. Friends and relatives attended from Detroit, Lansing, Adrian, Toledo, St. Joseph, Saginaw, Clinton, Ypsilanti, Celina, Ohio and Clark Lake.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

In one of his recent columns, Walter Lippmann, who is perhaps the best of the publicists, asked why all our ambitions and costly plans for world rehabilitation have fallen so short of expectations. He put it this way: "Beginning with the world bank and the monetary fund, which were followed by the British and the French loans, which were followed by the Marshall plan, we have tried to reconstruct a world economy in which our partners and friends could earn their way toward a rising standard of life . . . But we have not succeeded, and once again the economic relations of Europe and North America are at a crisis."

Mr. Lippmann's explanation for this tragic failure is an interesting one. He said, "The crux of the problem and the heart of the crisis is that Europe must buy absolute necessities from us where-as there is almost nothing that we have to buy from Europe."

In other words, the United States, even as it has bcome the dominant Western power, has attained an unprecedented degree of self-sufficiency. With few exceptions, we can produce and manufacture within our borders everything that we need to maintain and to improve our standard of living, and we are capable of doing this for a far larger population than we have now. In Mr. Lippmann's view, this situation is in itself a result of war. He observes that the story is told again and again of how war has exhausted the wealth and the energy of Europe. But the other side of the story is far less well known. To quote him again, "It is how the wars have affected the United States, causing by forced draught an increase not only in American productivity but also in American self-sufficiency . . . Wars in Europe have compelled this country to save itself and to save Europe, including Russia, by developing its own industrial and agricultural production to a point where it is largely self-sufficient with great surpluses in addition."

The present British dollar crisis, which has led the government to drastically curtail buying from this country, is in point. It certainly seems true that some of the policies and practices of the socialists now at the helm in England have speeded up the trouble, and have brought matters to a head a year or two earlier than might have been the case otherwise. However, the fact that we no longer need to buy British goods in any great quantity dominates the whole picture. She had hoped for a great export trade with us which has not materialized. If she cannot sell she cannot long buy, for the dollars which go out are not being replaced.

No one has yet found a solution to this great problem. It shows how rocky and tortuous we are finding the road to world peace and stability.

We are all cowards at heart. most of us would rather buy a useless remedy for the toothache than go and have it pulled out. It's hash.

● That's the verdict of those who know combines. If you always have clean, upstanding crops, you may not really need a combine so capable as the Case "A." But for small seeds like clover, that take real rubbing to thresh out . . . or a brittle crop like beans . . . or fine, fluffy seeds like some of the grasses . . . or even grain that is tough to thresh, the "A" is in a class by itself.

Drive one of our demonstrators and see for yourself how Ford Overdrive smooths your ride. Your engine speed actually drops 30% without any drop in road speed. For example, while your car's road speed stays at 50 m.p.h. your engine speed drops to 35 m.p.h. in Overdrive. This actually adds to engine smoothness and quietness, and engine life. It saves you up to 15% on gas and oil—it's like getting a dollar's worth of gas for 85c. Cuts service costs, too. And for added safety, a touch on your gas pedal releases a magic-like surge of power that makes passing and hill climbing a breeze.

It accents the new FORD "FEEL"

Take the lower, level "Mid Ship" Ride . . . the power of new V-8 or Six engines . . . the "feel" of "Hydra-Coil" and "Para-Flex" Springs . . . the 35% easier "Magic Action" Brakes. Add the many other "firsts" of the "Fashion Car of the Year" and you'll see why you should be ordering your Ford now.

Take the wheel . . . try the new Ford "FEEL" at your Ford Dealer's!

County Normal Needs Students

JOBS AS TEACHERS ARE PRACTICALLY ASSURED THOSE WHO ARE GRADUATES

Ten more students can be accepted for the fall term of the Lenawee-Monroe County Normal at Clayton, formerly located at Blissfield, which will open September 7, it was said today. The quota fixed by the State Department of Public Instruction is 25 and at the present time only 15 students have enrolled. Application should be made at once through the office of the County Superintendent of Schools at the Court House in Adrian.

Upon graduation from the Normal a certificate is granted which allows the graduate to teach for two years in any primary school district in Lenawee or Monroe county where not more than two teachers are employed. The certificate may be renewed by taking additional college work. Teaching positions can practically be assured because the state department is desirous of obtaining more teachers with regular certificates to replace those now teaching on special certificates.

Applicants must be high school graduates with at least a "C" average. Normal offers a one-year teacher-training course tuition free Actual cost to the student averages less than $50 which covers books and supplies.

Alice Lawhead of Britton has been accepted for the 1949-50 school term as have Helen Ladd and Nancy Jean Wagner of Adrian, Dorothy Potts of Pittsford, Shirley Moore of Hudson, Mary Lathrop and Alice Russell of Manitou Beach, Patricia Aldrich of Clayton, Dorothea Griffith of Sand Creek, Mrs. P. L. VanTuyle and Shirley Winners of Jerome, Phyllis Gould of Morenci, Marian Bitter of North Adams and Rosemary Korte and Marilyn J. Discher both of Monroe county.

Says Truman Spending Road To Totalitarianism

COLUMBUS, OHIO — President Truman's program of huge government spending is leading the United States into a totalitarian state, Senator Robert A. Taft declares.

Mr. Truman, the Republican quarterback asserts, apparently has little regard for revenue provided by the people and the necessity of cutting government spending.

"Any President except one obsessed with the panacea of government spending would have cut his budget to meet the revenue provided by the people," Senator Taft charged in a radio address over the Mutual network from Columbus. His talk was a reply to the President's recent "fireside chat."

"Huge government spending has from the beginning been one of the essential features of Mr. Truman's program to follow the labor socialized government of England into a totalitarian state, directing the lives and activities of its citizens," Senator taft declared.

"It is complete nonsense to say that the government cannot cut its expense. There is not a bureau in Washington which couldn't cut 10 per cent of its personnel and be more efficient.

"An average of 10 per cent reduction would balance the budget."

Dwarf cows have been added to a California zoo we are informed. So that's where this condensed milk comes from.

"$12.50 took care of my $1,024.00 hospital bill...thanks to BLUE CROSS

CASE #120-949425-72

Mrs. _____, wife of a Blue Cross Hospital and Medical-Surgical Plan subscriber, was admitted to general surgery in a participating hospital. Hospitalized for 37 days, her bill came to $1,024.00. She had to pay only $12.50 (because a private room was used the first 5 days). Blue Cross covered the rest—and paid her doctor $140 as well.

How about you and your family? Are you protected against unexpected hospital and medical bills?

One out of every ten persons in Michigan will go to a hospital this year. New medical techniques usually mean costly drugs and equipment—so that typical hospital bills are often three times as high as in 1941. That's why you and your family need BLUE CROSS protection now more than ever.

No other health-care plans offer so much for so little

BLUE CROSS—Michigan's most widely used health-care plans—wholly non-profit—pays out in benefits more than 85c from each dollar received.

BLUE CROSS Hospital Plan provides up to 120 days of care in participating hospitals, NO CASH LIMIT on the wide range of benefits covered.

BLUE CROSS Surgical and Medical-Surgical Plans give liberal benefits for operations . . your own doctor's hospital calls in non-surgical cases.

FEAST your eyes, folks—and reach for your checkbook.

For here, in one stunning, swift-lined bundle, is everything—yes, everything—you've been hoping for.

New style note? Well, just look at that brand-new idea in front-end styling. Grille, bumper, bumper-guards and even parking lights all combined in a single, sturdy assembly that means you can't "lock horns" with other cars!

New over-all size? We've trimmed inches from its over-all length for handiness in traffic—yet here's still the generous wheelbase that spells a level-going ride.

New roominess? Swing open the doors—a thumb-touch does it!—and gaze on the biggest interiors you can buy for the money, with sofa-wide front seats and no less than 12 more inches in rear-seat hiproom.

Slip behind the wheel. Finger-easy Synchro-Mesh transmission if you choose—the satiny smoothness of Dynaflow Drive* as optional equipment if you want the very latest thing.

And if power is your meat—just lift the bonnet and look on a husky Fireball power plant of 110 horsepower with conventional transmission, 120 with Dynaflow Drive.

Surely here's a car big as your fondest ambition—yet price-wise it's right down your alley! Fits modest family budgets as it fits modest-size garages, puts Buick in reach of still more people!

So here's really a "must see" item! On display now, in three trim-'n'-tidy body types, it won't stay long on dealers' floors. Go now—see it and get that order in!

Ben E. Hammack, jr., Weds Petersburg Girl

The St. Alphonsus church in Deerfield was the scene of a lovely wedding, Saturday morning, August 6, when Miss Arlene Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Smith of Petersburg became the bride of Ben E. Hammack, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hammack of Tecumseh.

The Rev. Fr. George H. Kerby, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony at 10 o'clock at the side altar, which was decorated with arrangements of mixed flowers, palms and burning tapers.

Nuptial music was played by Mrs. Fred King, church organist, who accompanied Mrs. Ralph DeSpelder, aunt of the bride, when she sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Fashioned of sheer white marquisette over taffeta, the bride's gown was styled with a fitted bodice featuring a low round neckline with large lace bows attached on each shoulder. Tiny buttons extended down the back and the sleeves were long. The full skirt extended into a long train with insertions of lace bows. Her fingertip veil of illusion edged with white lace fell from a plaited marquisette bonnet edged with scallops of lace. The bride's only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a white prayer book covered with rosebuds and stephanotis, ending in a cascade of white streamers.

The bride's attendants were her sisters, Mrs. Benjamin McWilliams, matron of honor, and Mrs. Kenneth Beck, bridesmaid, who were gowned in dotted swiss over aqua and pink, respectively. The dresses were styled with fitted bodices, small round collars and full peplums, with tiny covered buttons extending to the waist in front. The skirts were circular. As headdresses the bridal aids wore half bonnets of dotted swiss trimmed with daisies. The matron of honor carried a large fan with an aqua background covered with yellow daisies and Carleston rosebuds and the bridesmaid's fan had a pink background covered with white daisies and pink rosebuds.

Ned Ruesink of Tecumseh attended Mr. Hammack as best man and the ushers were Kenneth Beck and Benjamin McWilliams.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith chose a black and white sheer dress with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother selected a navy and white dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony dinner was served at the Masonic Hall in Petersburg to 45 guests. Miss Patricia Hammack, sister of the groom, was in charge of the guest book. The reception in the evening, held at Whiteford Community Hall, was attended by over 250 guests from Kentucky, Washington, D. C., Toledo, Ohio, Deerfield, Blissfield, Detroit, Leslie, Adrian, Britton, Dundee, Petersburg and Tecumseh.

When the couple left on a week's trip through Northern Michigan and Wisconsin, the bride was wearing a blue linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Upon their return they will reside in Deerfield.

The bride graduated from Petersburg high school and Lenawee-Monroe County Normal and has been teaching at the San Fread school in Erie during the past year where she will resume her duties this fall. The groom graduated from Tecumseh high school and is associated with his father in the grocery business.

Defines Rules In Road Mishaps

DO YOU KNOW WHAT TO DO IN CASE OF A TRAFFIC ACCIDENT?

What would you do in case of an accident? You are unique if you know the answer, says Frances Newton, who saw her first automobile accident six months ago and found she hadn't the slightest idea what she was supposed to do as a witness—nor had anybody else she talked to afterwards. Writing in McCall's for August, she reveals the astonishing lack of information and literature on what to do after an accident has happened and tells you some of the little-known rules of the road which she uncovered in personal interviews with traffic authorities:

"After six months of intensive research I have satisfied myself that no such rules to guide unfortunate participants in road accidents exist. In their anxiety to prevent traffic accidents our safety propaganda agencies have completely overlooked the need for a code to help those who inevitably will become involved.

"I began my search in the New York Public Library. After that, I tried the American Automobile Association, the American Red Cross, and the New York City Police Department. None could supply the accident rules I wanted.

"The captain at the New York City Police Department dictated a list of things that are supposed to be done after an accident.

"1. Get license number of other car or cars.

"2. Get name of driver.

"3. Get driver's license number.

"6. Note time.

"7. Note direction in which cars were proceeding.

"8. Note the presence or absence of traffic lights or policeman on crossing.

"9. Note weather conditions.

"10. Note type and condition of pavement.

"11. Note make, year and model of other car or cars.

"12. Note damage to other cars.

"15. Get names of witnesses.

"16. If no policeman on duty and damage exceeds $50, or if person or persons injured, report to police or precinct station.

"17. Report to State Motor Vehicle Bureau within 24 hours on forms available in precinct stations.

"18. If insured report to insurance broker or company.

"19. Passenger in car involved in accident responsible for discharging above obligations if driver incapable. Owner equally responsible, even though not party to the accident.

"From Mr. J. Stannard Baker, director of research of the Traffic Institute at Northwestern University, and one of the leading traffic authorities in America, learned that there are four things to consider when one is involved in a traffic accident:

"1. Keep the accident from getting worse — aid to the injured, prevention of fire, avoidance of involving additional vehicles, especially at night, protection from pilferage and so on.

"2. Avoid the obstruction of traffic or its delay, which, inasmuch as it may prevent further accidents, might be grouped with the first item.

"3. Avoid doing things which will make teh accident more costly in one way or another. Make no statements as to responsibility which will cause you to seem liable. Keep out of the clutches of ambulance-chasing lawyers and doctors. Avoid gyp garages and towing services, hastily accepting claim settlements, irritating or antagonizing the investigation officers, other persons involved and so forth.

"4. Fulfill legal and contractual requirements regarding the reporting and furnishing of information in connection with the accident to the city, state, insurance companies or others interested."

Why Did Hitler Discount U. S.

DOCUMENTS NOW AVAILABLE AT WASHINGTON TELL NEW WAR STORY

WASHINGTON — Hitler had plenty of sound warning from his own advisers that the United states was strong and would fight to keep Great Britain from going under.

But the mystical German dictator also read a book—

This volume by a German-American set forth that President Roosevelt was leading America to ruin. Hitler showed apparent preference for this argument. His own Foreign Office regarded the book as completely distorted.

These prewar facts were disclosed here in official German records published by the State Department.

They were among 400 tons of captured enemy documents. The United States, Britain, and France have undertaken jointly to detail from them an inside story of Germany's foreign relations over 27 years.

Included in this installment are documents showing:

1. Advice on the probable United States course was given Hitler in 1937-38 by his aide, Capt. Frizt Wiedemann, and from Washington by Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff. But Hitler meanwhile read "with great interest" a treatise by one Baron B. G. von Reichenberg entitled "Roosevelt-America: A Danger."

When Captain Wiedemann personally reported to Hitler after an American tour the Foreign Office recorded that Wiedemann's "persuasive power" was diminished by what the Fuhrer had read. Herr Dieckhoff shortly was recalled to Berlin.

2. The Nazi government coldshouldered Fritz Kuhn and the Jerman-American bund, on the urging of Herr Dieckhoff. The envoy reported to Berlin that a proposal to form an assault troop in the United States of from 10,000 to 20,000 saboteurs was "childish" and "dangerous." He said the American police would quickly seize the list of members.

3. The German ambassador to Britain reported that American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy told him in London in 1938 that Mr. Roosevelt was "not anti-German" but relied spotty advice. Mr. Kennedy was represented as strongly impressed by reports on Germany by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The German envoy said Colonel Lindbergh had spoken very favorably. Mr. Kennedy was quoted as saying that German-American relations were damaged by the Jewish question not so much because the Nazis wanted to get rid of the Jews but because of the loud clamor with which they went about it.

4. President Roosevelt's Chicago speech of Oct. 5, 1937, proposing a "quarantine" of aggressor nations, was taken by the Nazis as directed at Japan and possibly Italy, rather than at Germany.

These reports on Nazi official views of the United States three years before Pearl Harbor were among about three score documents bearing directly on German-American relations.

Ambassador Dieckhoff, in his reports from Washington, recorded numerous meetings with Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles. He called Mr. Hull "good but timid."

In advising his government to have no links with the German-American bund, Herr Dieckhoff said the American "secret service" was highly efficient. He was puzzled that the American Government and public opinion turned against the Nazis when Hitler's troops marched into Austria.

German Ambassador to Britain Herbert von Dirksen, in reporting on his talk with Ambassador Kennedy in London, said he received a "very good impression" from Mr. Kennedy. He quoted the American envoy as saying it was "extremely regrettable" that Interior Secretary Harold Ickes had blocked the delivery of helium for German zeppelins; that President Rooseveit had favored supplying it.

Herr Dirksen said he was told Mr. Roosevelt was "not anti-German but desired friendly relations with Germany." Mr. Kennedy was quoted as saying nobody gave a friendly word about Germany to the President.

Many housewives tell us that they prefer to buy their fruits and vegetables from our frozen foods locker in preference to the garden-fresh varieties.

Here is the reason: When they buy fresh-frozen fruits or vegetables they are instantly ready for serving. No time need be wasted in preparation, neither is there any waste to the food.

If you like to be convinced, we invite you to buy one or two packages of fruits or vegetables and try them on your own table.

Customers' Corner

Have you ever noticed the date stamped on each carton of A&P eggs? It is put there to protect the quality and freshness of this perishable item.

An egg that is Grade A when it is inspected and packed could become Grade B or C by the time you buy it if it has been improperly or slowly handled.

We don't want that ever to happen to an A&P egg. That is why we put the date when the eggs are graded on each carton. Eggs not sold within a few days of that date are removed from sale even though they are still of good quality.

If you should ever find that any of our egg cartons bear old dates or that any eggs fail to live up to our high quality standards, please tell us about it. Please write:

STORY OF THE BIBLE

The Tale of the Rock and the Water

For nearly forty years the Israelites wandered from desert to mountain to valley in the great wilderness. They did not [illegible] to enter Canaan, or did they try to go back to Egypt. They waited for the time to come when God would be willing to lead them to the promised land. At one spot where they were camping, the wells began to dry up, and there was no water for the people and their cattle and sheep to drink. The people began to complain.

"And the Lord spake unto Moses saying, 'Take thy rod, and gather thou the assembly together, thou, and Aaron, thy brother, and speak ye unto the rock before their eyes; and, it shall give forth his water, and thou shalt bring forth to them water out of the rock; so thou shalt give the congregation and their beasts drink.' And Moses and Aaron gathered the congregation together before the rock, and he said unto them, 'Hear now, ye rebels, must we fetch water out of this rock?' And Moses lifted up his hand, and with his rod he smote the rock twice; and the water came out abundantly, and the congregation drank, and their beasts also."

Now God was not pleased with Moses and Aaron because they had failed to do just as He had commanded them. Because of their disobedience, God said they both should die before the Israelites crossed over into the promised land. Today nations disobey God simply because they want to be master of all. What they say is right . . . what they do is right . . . God's commands don't matter to them. It is no wonder that there are wars and unhappiness in the world. But if you listen to God and follow His commands, you shall find happiness in your hearts. Begin by going to church every Sunday.

Kalamazoo Is Paper Center Of The World

Did you know that there is an area in Michigan that produces more paper than any other area in the world?

Kalamazoo is the center of this spot where almost every kind of known paper to man is made. Michigan's leadership in this industry is a simple story of profits, pure water, position and people . . . all mixed in a boiling pot of pulp, paper stock and primary chemicals.

The first paper mill was founded in Michigan three generations ago by a New England paper maker who sensed the future enormous market for paper in the great industrial midwest. No less important to the industry were the capitalists who took initial risks in supplying the money for the building of the mills and purchase of expensive machinery so necessary for the manufacture of paper. Of equal importance are the hundreds of highly trained paper makers and skilled workers who gradually concentrated in Michigan.

Water is another important contributing factor to Michigan's success in this industry. One mill alone in Michigan used 14 million gallons in just one day.

For over half a century paper making has been one of Michigan's major industries and today boasts 65 mills spread over 29 communities in both the upper and lower peninsulas. The states paper and paper products industry gives employment of thousands of workers and produces an annual tonnage whose values runs into many millions of dollars.

The only kind of paper that is not made in Michigan is wallpaper. Although paper products are legion in number there are factories in the state producing practically every one of them.

Paper has a thousand usages and stock of varieties must be made to meet all requirements. The greatest tonnage is consumed by daily newspapers.

Kalamazoo has been named the paper city of the world. The city where more tons of paper are made than in any equal area in the world. It is especially famous for food protection papers, writing, and printing papers, book papers, cartons and hundreds of converted items.

Michigan Mirror
Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

LANSING—Every Michigan incorporated municipality—city or village regardless of its size—is eligible to get a share of federal rent subsidies and federal housing grants.

This fact is empasized by Governor G. Mennen Williams.

Furthermore, the governor feels that since Michigan taxpayers pay more to the U. S. treasury in [illegible] federal spending, the Michigan community which does not "get its share" of public housing dollars will in effect be paying for something it does not receive.

Governor Williams told newspaper editors at an Associated Press meeting at the Higgins Lake conservation training school that Michigan could get as much as $500,000,000—a half BILLION dollars.

This startling announcement—so it seemed to the Michigan Mirror factfinder—prompted an inquiry into what it was all about. In brief, here is what we learned at the governor's office:

A 1933 special session act of the legislature permits any incorporated municipality to set up a public housing authority. If the voters approve, the authority may issue bonds, build homes and rent them. So far, the cities of Detroit, Hamtramck, Ecorse, Saginaw, Pontiac and Flint have gone into the public housing business. Grand Rapids voters turned down the idea this summer.

Governor Williams in March asked the state legislature to vote $5000 bond issue as a [illegible] ing fund to help finance the city housing projects.

Because the state constitution forbids use of state money for internal improvements, except in the case of highways, airports and waterways, the idea was abandoned.

The governor would like to submit a constitutional amendment in 1950 to remove this prohibition for state aid to public housing. He also would like to see the 1933 act amended to include counties and townships as well as incorporated municipalities.

How does a municipal public housing authority operate?

If its plans are approved by the federal housing administration (Raymond Foley is the U. S. administrator), the authority can apply fo[illegible] advance of money. The authority pays this back to Uncle Sam when its tax-free bonds are issued and sold.

These municipal bonds are supported by a federal rent subsidy as security for the bonds. This subsidy makes up the difference between housing rent on a COST basis and actual rent on a BELOW COST basis. When the tenant's personal income exceeds five times the annual rent, he is no longer eligible for subsidized rent in the municipal housing project. Likewise, the subsidized rent must be 20 percent less than COST rent in private housing.

How much is all this going to cost the federal taxpayer?

Quoting Foley: "The maximum possible total, with 810,000 units, comes to around $12,000,000,000—($12 BILLION dollars)." The rent subsidies are estimated by Foley to come to around 7 BILLION dollars, spread over 30 to 40 years.

Who pays the cost of running the local housing authority? The administrative overhead is covered by money obtained from bonds and rentals.

How much can Michigan get of the federal housing aid? Not more than 10 per cent may go into one state.

Farm housing benefits are also available. In fact, submarginal farms (those which are not self-supporting) may obtain an outright gift from the Great White Father. A fourth of a billion dollars has been set aside for housing loans to farmers who cannot get private loans.

In 1929 the Federal government spent $1.3 billion on goods and services; $5.2 billion in 1939; $21 billion in 1948, and an estimated $28 billion in 1949. The 1950 spending will be close to $30 billion with a treasury cash deficit of $5 to $8 billion.

Well, there it is: The public housing program in a nutshell.

If your community is interested, officials may write the governor's office at Lansing for details.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Specs And I See Eye To Eye

Asked Specs Allen to go hunting last week. Known him all my life, so I wasn't surprised when he showed up with no gun. Specs doesn't like to kill anything.

Couldn't ask for a better hunting companion, though. We tramp around the woods, and whenever the dogs flush a bird I blaze away while Specs just watches.

Told him once I was surprised he went along . . . feeling the way he does about shooting anything. "Well, Joe," he says, "you do what you think is right and I'll stick to what I think is right. I've no call to dislike you for not seeing everything the way I see it."

From where I sit, open-mindedness is a wonderful quality. There are plenty of things Specs admires that I don't care for. Like his fondness for buttermilk. I'd rather have a glass of beer anytime . . . [illegible] and I don't let little differences get in the way of something big like friendship.

Splendor Returning To House Of Orange

SOESTDIJK, THE NETHERLANDS—Some of the former splendor of the House of Orange has returned with the three-day celebration of the copper wedding anniversary (12½ years) of Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard.

At the Hague palace known as "House in the Woods," the royal couple on July 8 received the nation's gift—a small-scale model of a landscaped, tree-shrouded park to be built around the palace on the grounds ruined by the Germans during the occupation.

At the rambling, white Soestdijk Palace here, where the Queen and Prince live most of the year, they reviewed on July 9 two great parades—one for adults in the morning, another for young people in the afternoon.

Before them marched, in joyous tribute, a cross section of the entire country, including soldiers and post-office clerks, women's associations in national costumes, fisherfolk and cheese carriers, students and football teams. In all, 80 groups were welcomed in the palace garden.

But the climax of the festivity was a small but brilliant dinner and ball at the palace here for 100 of the friends of the royal couple.

It was the first such formal court occasion since the war and served to usher out the postwar simplicity and austerity which have clung to the Netherlands court.

In the Dutch manner, it combined brilliance with simplicity. No government minsters or ambassadors were present, and no guest list was given out.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of John F. Gamboe, who passed away two years ago August 9, 1947.

Death is a heartache nothing can heal.

But we shall remember, no matter how long.

Summer Swim Program Ends

CERTIFICATES AWARDED BY INSTRUCTORS; 53 NON-SWIMMERS QUALIFY

Fifty-three pupils received either swimming or life saving certificates Thursday, August 11, when the summer swimming program, sponsored by the Tecumseh Recreation Board, under the direction of Elven Duvall, came to an official close. Mrs. Luigi Gallo offered "The Pit" for morning lessons, which were given to a total of 2116 children during an eight-week period by the Misses Dorothy and Louise Bowen, both registered Red Cross instructors.

About half or the total enrollment of 270 students were non-swimmers at the beginning of the season. Twenty-seven received beginners certificates, ten, intermediate; seven, swimmers; four, junior life saving and five, senior live saving.

Gerald Aebersold, Barry Freckelton, Joyce Garey of Clinton, Duaine Hay and George Kocman of Milan were awarded senior life saving certificates and those who received junior life saving awards are Carl Freckelton, Robert Hadley, Ernest Scott, and Judy Sisson.

Roger Busche, Lois Crowell, Allen and Anita Dickinson, Ross Hadley, Gary Marsh and Neal O'Hara passed tests which qualified them as swimmers. They were required to do the following: 100 yards breast stroke, 100 yards side stroke, 100 yards back crawl, crawl or trudgen crawl, 50 yards back swim (legs alone), turns (for closed course), surface dive, tread water (1 minute), plunge dive, running front dive and 10-minute swim.

The ten students who received their intermediate certificates were Maureen Boltz, Wanita Cleveland, Barbara Crowell, Anita Dickinson, Barbara Hall, Sandra Judson, Mary Miller, Gary Roberts, Bob Rutherford and Nancy Ann Weaver. They passed the following tests which made them eligible: three types of leg stroke, three types of arm stroke, 50 yards each stroke, 100 yards selected stroke, turning in a closed course, 1-minute float, 20 yds. scull, one-half minute tread water, underwater swimming, standing front dive, running jump in deep water and 5-minute swim.

Before receiving their beginners certificates the non-swimmers were required to pass the following tests: 1. Jump into deep water, level off, and swim 15 yards, turn about and swim back to starting point. 2. Dive into deep water, swim 15 yards, turn around, turn over on life back and rest in floating position for one-quarter minute; then turn again and swim back to starting point. Those who passed the tests were Richard Baker, Betty Barton, Jerry Barton, Betty Bird, Peter Brock, Garry Cameron, Wanita Cleveland, Teddy Cornell, Kent Cronin, Joyce Gray, Ronald Gurtzwefler, Gary Hanna, Gary Hizer, Vicki Johnston, Fred Kohn, Mary Pat McCann, Mary Miller, James O'Brien, Martha Owens, Mary Lou Partridge, Doris Ann Phillips, Tommy Price, Ann Rhoades of Clinton, David Rice, Gary Roberts, Bobby Rutherford and Patricia Smith.

"We are very grateful," the instructors said, "for the interest shown by the parents, which helped make the program progress and to be so successful." They also expressed appreciation to Mrs. Gallo for the use of "The Pit."

The swimming program was the most popular phase of Tecumseh's annual summer recreation program, which, this year, also provided diversion for some 650 other children throughout the eight-week period.

PASTOR ON VACATION

Dr. and Mrs. Norman MacNaughton are on vacation from the pulpit of the Methodist church. Last Sunday morning "Steven" Jodhay, a native of India, who is a minister and is a special student at Adrian College, was the guest speaker. Next Sunday morning, Mrs. Howard Western will be in the pulpit and James Miur, a pre-ministerial student at Adrian College, will be the guest speaker for August 28 and September 4.

PICNIC AT PARK

The Happy Home Builders class of the Baptist Church school enjoyed swimming and a potluck supper at Hayes State Park at Wamplers Lake, Monday evening. During the business meeting it was decided to hold an ice cream social on the church lawn, Saturday evening, August 27.

The next meeting will be held September 12 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cornell.

Famous Tenor Will Give Concert Here

Elvin Bjornstad, internationally famous tenor of Oslo, Norway, will present a sacred concert on Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the Tecumseh Friends Church. He has toured Europe, and has sung in leading European cities, singing in German, French, Italian, English, and Scandinavian. His presentation of familiar Gospel songs is especially appreciated. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend this concert. There will be no admission charge, but a free-will offering will be received.

Monday Club To Have Busy Year

PROGRAM MATERIAL IN HANDS OF PRINTERS; MEETINGS ARE ARRANGED

The material for the year books of the Tecumseh Monday Club has gone to the printers, according to the first vice-president, Mrs. T. Rentschler, who is responsible for the assemblance of the programs provided by the departments and committees. She reports that the programs sound not only entertaining but very educational, which is in keeping with the purpose of the organization.

A glance at the plans for the year reveals a travelogue, information on "Living in Later Years," dramatization of the Atlantic Peace Pact, te chontribution of Nobel Peace Prize Winners toward World Brotherhood, the "Living Madonnas" with musical accompaniment, a sewing day, a "Displaced Person's Own Story," book reviews, a discussion on socialized medicine, Italian music, International News, the "Resurrection of Peace," and a play.

The annual picnic will be at Schneider's cottage at Wamplers Lake, September 12, and the year will open and close with luncheons in the American Legion Home. "A Thanks"-giving Tea, a Silver Tea, four guest days besides a club guest day, when the women's clubs of the neighboring towns will be invited, are included in the year's activities. Most of the meetings will be held in the homes of the members with other club members acting as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Nellie Lucas, 88, Dies After Long Illness

Mrs. Nellie Lucas, widow of the late John Lucas, died Tuesday evening at 8:30 in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edna Stautter, on East Pottawatamie street, where she had made her home since last November. She had been ill for three years and had been confined to her bed since July 4.

Mrs. Lucas, who was nearly 88 years of age, was born November 4, 1861, in Ridgeway township, one of a family of nine children of Jacob and Laura Cheever, all of whom preceded her in death. She had lived all her life in this community with the exception of a few years in Kalkaska.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Edith McCloud of Toledo and Mrs. Stautter, several grand children and great-grandchildren, nieces and nephews. Mr. Lucas died in 1940 and a son Lonnie died in infancy.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the Collins Funeral Home. The Rev. Edward Escolme will officiate and burial will be in Ridgeway cemetery.

Polio Victims Are Recovering

LOCAL BOY HOME FROM UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL, AS IS A LAD FROM BRITTON

Two polio victims from this area, one from Tecumseh and the other from Britton, have been released from University Hospital, Ann Arbor, and are making rapid recoveries, it was said today.

David Quick, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Quick of South Pearl street, has returned from the hospital and is to be about his home. He suffered no paralysis.

David Graham, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Graham of northeast of Britton, also is well on the way to recovery. His case was very mild and he, too, has been brought home from the hospital.

Dr. F. S. Leeder of the Michigan state health department, said today that he was not certain that the polio outbreak had reached its height. Fifty new cases of the disease were reported in Michigan on Tuesday, 26 of them from Wayne county. Detroit now has more than 225 cases.

Yale University scientists have expressed a belief that many of the cases of polio reported this year may be attributed to a new and apparently non-crippling virus, first discovered a year ago.

Patients suffering with the new virus have many of the symptoms of polio, it was said, and the average length of illness is about 10 days. The disease is prevalent during the polio season, but it leaves no permanent injury.

To date, in Michigan, there have been 51 deaths and 840 cases of polio reported. Last year at this time, 138 cases were reported and there were 12 deaths.

Besides the widow he is survived by his parents; two sisters, Mrs. Marian Edwards of Detroit and Mrs. Letha Gainsley of Ann Arbor; two nieces, a nephew and cousins; an uncle, Ross Biddle and an aunt, Mrs. Margaret Frost, both of Macon.

ARTHUR VanVLEET, 76, BURIED IN MEMORIAL PARK

Funeral services were held Saturday from the Dunn Funeral Home in Onsted for Arthur Van Vleet, 76, who died August 10 at University hospital. Burial was in Lenawee Hills Memorial Park.

Mr. VanVleet was born in Ridgeway township and had resided in the Onsted area all his life. Surviving are his widow, Anna VanVleet, two sons, George W. VanVleet of Monclova, Ohio, and Edgar VanVleet at home, a daughter, Mrs. Millard Beede of Walla Walla, Wash., a sister, Miss Gertrude VanVleet, a brother, Roy VanVleet of Tecumseh, and eight grandchildren. Preceding him in death were his parents and one sister, Edna.

During July and August I will be in my office Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday only.

$100,000 Hospital Addition Needed To Meet Public Demands

The most interesting department of Tecumseh Hospital is the nursery with its 16 bassinets, half a dozen incubators, oxygen tanks and other needed equipment to properly care for the new babies in the first days of their lives. Mrs. Lauretta Sturgeon, left, is the nursery nurse, and right, is Miss Evelyn Matthews who relieves her occasionally. In the foreground are two of the incubators, into which premature babies are placed and kept until they obtain a weight of four pounds or more.

During the year ending July 1, Tecumseh Hospital averaged more than eight babies weekly. Of the 37 premature babies born at the hospital, 27 lived and went home with their parents. The 10 babies that died weighed less than two pounds at birth.

Crowded to capacity 99% of the time with a waiting list for many of the surgical cases because of a lack of private rooms, Tecumseh Hospital, more than ever before, is feeling the need for a long-delayed expansion program that would double its size and make it completely available its services to this rapidly growing area.

At the present, the hospital has 34 beds for adults and there are 16 bassinets in the nursery. A 50 or 60 bed hospital, in the opinion of E. M. Campbell, president of the board, would not be too large for Tecumseh if the institution is to meet the community's needs.

"Hospitals never should be crowded, as ours is, if it is to give the service that is expected," Mr. Campbell said. "Records prove that a hospital functions at its best when it is 70 per cent occupied. The reason for this is simple. In the event of emergency, an accident involving 10 or 12 people, there is always room to care for them. In Tecumseh, such an accident might find our hospital filled to capacity."

During the first six months of this year, 718 patients were admitted to the hospital, and 253 emergency patients entered. There were 528 operations, over 4,500 laboratory tests were made and in all a total of 6,612 days of patient care were given.

During the year of 1948-49, ending July 1, 421 babies were born at the hospital. Of that number 37 were premature births, the babies weighing 5½ pounds or less. Ten of the babies, weighing under two pounds, died. The other 27, because of special care and the use of incubators, lived and were released to their parents. The hospital has three portable incubators for infants and three full-size incubators where oxygen may be administered. A premature baby generally is left in an incubator until he weighs four pounds or more.

Tecumseh Hospital is one of the few municipally owned institutions of its kind that keeps its books "in the black" and has a sizeable reserve in cash. According to Campbell, in the more than 10 years that the hospital has been in operation only $6,500 of public funds have been used to meet expenses. Of this amount, $3,000 was put into the ill to get the hospital under way and there has been a $2,500 grant since that time.

As of July 1, the hospital had cash and bonds amounting to about $15,000, and in the 10 years of operation, losses from non-payment of bills has amounted to less than three tenths of one per cent.

"I doubt if many business institutions have operated with a smaller percentage of loss," Campbell said.

In July, the hospital showed a "book loss" of $1,120.38 but the president said that such a "loss" might be expected. July, in all hospitals, is considered a bad month, financially. Then, too, he said, many emergency accident cases were received and they always "cost money."

"Most accident cases," Campbell said, "show a loss to the hospital, financially. Patients are in and out quickly, generally. It is not the intent of the hospital to make money in such cases, hardly to break even. It is the hospital's desire and intent to be of service when service is needed."

Campbell said that he did not see how the hospital could be enlarged in the immediate future.

"We are up to our tax limit here now, and we have a five year program ahead of us to retire bonds with which to pay for a new high school. However, we must be thinking about ways and means of financing a hospital expansion which we all know is long past due," he said. He said that the minimum cost of such an expansion would be $100,000.

Golf Matches Are Under Way

MEN'S AND WOMEN'S TOURNAMENTS AT COUNTRY CLUB NOW BEING PLAYED

A flag tournament featured the golf tournament on Ladies Day at the Country Club, Wednesday, August 10. Each contestant chose her pre-estimated score, subtracted five, and planted a miniature American flag on the spot at which she reached that score. The object of the contest was to see which flag would be closest to the cup on the ninth hole at the finish. Mrs. Ruth Hanna won with a flag posted directly in the cup of the ninth; Mrs. Bobbie Robinson with one on the ninth green and Mrs. Paul Clauda with one close by. Sixteen ladies competed. Mrs. Joe Rohweder and Mrs. Robison were the golf hostesses.

At the luncheon more ladies arriving for cards mingled with those who had just played the course, swelling the number to 42. The tables were decorated with purple and blue petunias arranged by Mrs. Charles O'Neil and Mrs. Russell Carey. Mrs. M. W. Wilson and Mrs. Frank Owen, hostesses for the afternoon, announced the following winners at cards from the seven tables playing: Mrs. Charles O'Neil, pinochle; Miss Joyce Wilson, bridge and Mrs. Hubert VanCamp, door prize.

The second round of championship golf matches for both men and women now in progress must be played by August 21.

NSLI Dividend Forms Available August 29

Application forms for the special dividend on National Service Life Insurance authorized by the Veterans Administration will be available at the Lenawee County Red Cross chapter office on or after August 29, at 157 E. Maumee St., Adrian, Mrs. Ruth Jerrells, the chapter's Home Service chairman, announced today.

The dividend is not automatic, Mrs. Jerrells pointed out, and each veteran must fill out one of these application forms. In general, any veteran who kept his National Service Life Insurance in force for three months or more will be eligible to receive a dividend.

The exact amounts which each policy-holder will receive are not known at this time, Mrs. Jerrells said. The Veterans Administration will work that out between now and the first of the year when the first dividend payments will be made.

Mrs. Jerrells emphasized that veterans should not write to the Veterans Administration about their dividends. "We are assured by the Veterans Administration," she said, "that this will only cause delay in payment. The veteran should not communicate with the Veterans Administration on this matter except to send in the application form. If he has questions about the form about his eligibility, we will do our best to advise him if he will stop at this office."

Kindergarten Ruling Is Made

YOUNGSTERS MUST BE FIVE YEARS OLD BY DEC. 1, TO BE ADMITTED

Under a ruling made by the Michigan Department of Education and concurred in by the Tecumseh Board of Education, children must be five years of age on or before December 1 if they are to enter kindergarten in the public schools here in September, Earl H. Place, superintendent, said today.

The announcement probably will answer many of the questions in the minds of parents who have youngsters nearing school age, Mr. Place said. He declared that his office and kindergarten teachers had had many calls concerning the age ruling.

Unless a child is five years of age on or before the first of December, Place said, the state refuses to give any financial assistance to the district for his or her training.

The superintendent said that this year two kindergarten classes will be operated in Tecumseh, one at the West Branch taught by Mrs. Bertram Updike, and another at Brownville, taught by Mrs. Margaret Heimerdinger. The Brownville school this year, he said, will be exclusively kindergarten.

Last year, Place said, the kindergarten enrollment amounted to 109 boys and girls. This year, he said, the enrollment will be as large or larger.

Exchange Club Enjoys Country Club Picnic

The third annual picnic of the Tecumseh Exchange Club, held Thursday at the Plymouth Country Club, was attended by some 34 members and guests.

In the golf tournament Jack Morehouse won the championship cup with a low score of 80. In the first blind bogey, George McCombs placed first and Leo Bishop second. In the second blind bogey Jack Morehouse placed first. Entries in the tournament were Al Musch, Dick Jennings, Paul Clauda, Rhae Henkel, Clarence Beach, Archie Porter, George McCombs, Jack Morehouse, Leo Bishop, Owen Partridge, Austin Partridge, Charles Stevenson, Fr. Michael G. Collins, L. P. Williamson, Ned Rosacrans, William Wright and Dr. R. C. Limes.

A steak dinner was served at 8 p.m. Door prizes were awarded to William Wehr, Clarence Beach and K. D. Hall.

The club resumes its regular meetings Monday, September 12, when the new officers will be installed.

ARE YOU WASTING PART OF THE FOODS YOU BUY?

Improper Food Preparation Boosts Cost Of Living

Food costs are high; you want to get all you pay for. But the chances are you are pouring some of your food values down the drain, boiling them away or tossing them in the garbage pail.

These facts deserve special attention on their content of vitamins and minerals which the human body needs. Much of the vitamin and mineral content is lost when vegetables get old or wilt, when they are stored improperly, when they are allowed to stand in air, in water or when they are cooked too long or in too much water.

Only those vitamins and minerals left in the food your family eats count as food value for your money, Mrs. Smith said.

Here are some suggestions for getting the most food from your vegetable dollars. You get more for your money in dark green and yellow vegetables — this includes leaf lettuce and green celery. Buy only vegetables in peak condition. Wash vegetables at once and store them in the hydrator of your refrigerator or covered, in a cold basement. The cold moist air keeps them fresh and holds the vitamin C. Pick garden vegetables as near the time of use as possible.

Peel, shell and chop vegetables just before they are to be used. Shredded cabbage and chopped salad greens lose vitamin C if they are allowed to stand in air. Vegetables lost part of their vitamins and minerals of they are allowed to stand in water, either before or after cooking.

Cook vegetables for a short time in as little water as possible in a covered pan. Serve immediately. This preserves both sight and taste appeal, as well as food value.

Save pot liquor for use in vegetable juice cocktails, soup or gravy.

Don't bother to peel potatoes or carrots. They have more food value when cooked in their skins.

Many Michigan people have a taste treat in store when they first eat properly cooked vegetables, Mrs. Smith said, and suggested the following cooking times for fresh vegetables (frozen take less):

Asparagus—5-8 minutes.
Beans, fresh string—15-25 minutes.
Cabbage, green and winter—3-10 minutes.
Carrots, young whole—15-20 minutes.
Carrots, old sliced—20-30 minutes.
Corn—6-12 minutes.
Onions—20-30 minutes.
Peas—10-20 minutes.
Spinach—5-8 minutes.
Turnips, diced—15-25 minutes.

ERROR IS DISCOVERED IN VOLUME NUMBER

Due to an error, made 20 years ago, the volume number on The Herald has been incorrect.

The Herald was established in October of 1950 and a copy of the first paper published is on file at the library, as are subsequent issues.

In October of 1929, when the volume number should have been changed from the 78th year to the 79th it was, by error, changed to the 80th.

To correct this error, the volume number on this week's Herald has been changed.

The Herald will observe its 100th anniversary in October of 1950.

THOSE WICKED PROFITS

One of the most intelligent discussions of what socialism can do to a nation has been written by Dorothy Thompson in a newspaper column. It deals specifically with the British situation, but what is true there is also true in all the totalitarian economies.

"The present practical confiscation of profits stops the building of new capital, interest in profits is killed, and wages, interest and dividends are knocked away," writes Miss Thompson. "Actually not production, but production costs, are rewarded. The businessman is interested to raise, not lower, costs in order to make the net taxable revenue small, not large . . . .

"Socialist planning always shows its worst failures, not in production figures, but in the price level. The enterpriser, exchanging profits for security, in the form of fixed prices and subsidies, stops caring about costs. . . . A rigid economy follows, in regard to all the elements of production, which shows inelasticity in responding to consumers' shifts . . . .

"No one can accuse Socialists of the wicked 'profit motive.' They genuinely desire 'the welfare of the masses.' But this righteousness regarding their own motives induces a peculiarly irritating smugness, blinding them to the fact that 'noble' bureaucratic costs can greatly exceed 'wicked' profits, and that the welfare of the masses has to demonstrate itself by facts, not theories."

We are being urged to follow much the same path that Britain has chosen. A determined campaign is on to nationalize industry. An equally determined campaign would have us accept a compulsory health insurance scheme that differs only in detail from England's enormously costly experiment in this field. The advocates of cradle-to-the-grave security—at a cost which no one can estimate—are beating the drums throughout the land. And, in spite of the tremendous burden of taxation that stifles our initiative, no real effort has been made to cut the cost of government.

Every socialist or communist proposal is based on the appealing fiction that by eliminating profit we will advance the welfare of the masses. Yet, in every case, precisely the opposite result has been achieved. It is not an accident that our high wages and high living standards have been gained under the profit system. The system has its faults—but socialism, as the record proves, has infinitely more and some of them are beyond correction.

NEW BUDGET PLAN FOR USERS OF GAS

C. Alexander, manager of American Gas Service Company here, has just returned from a two-day sales and merchandising conference held at Erie, Pa., home of the Protane Corp., originators of liquefied petroleum gas.

Along with key field and sales executives of the company from 30 states, Mr. Alexander learned of the firm's new unified budget plan for protane gas consumers, and of their entry into the field of automatic domestic heating.

"The unified budget plan," according to Alexander, "will greatly simplify credit procedures and facilitate completion of sales through the elimination of independent financial institutions employed in the past. Customers can now select their purchases and arrange for budget payments, if they so desire, through their salesman at the time of sale."

Petroleum gas heating units, conceded by industry officials to be more efficient than any type of automatic heat being used in rural homes today, are available in both hot air systems with modified air conditioning and hot water heating systems.

CLINTON HOMECOMING DAYS

Thursday evening, August 25, Friday afternoon and evening, August 27, Saturday and Sunday afternoon and evening, August 27 and 28.

Margaret June Deming Weds Marvin L. Martin

The lawn of the Paragon Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil C. Deming of Tipton was illuminated with yellow lights, Sunday evening, August 14, for the eight o'clock wedding of their daughter, Margaret June, and Marvin Lamont Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seamon Martin of Tecumseh.

As Loehengrin's wedding march was played by the pianist, Mrs. Woodrow Hunt, the bridal party preceeded to an archway surrounded by baskets of garden flowers, where the double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. W. N. Taylor.

As a program of nuptial music was being played, the guests were seated by Richard Hackenburg and Robert Cornell of Lincoln Park. Mrs. Richard L. Carter sang "Because" accompanied by Mrs. Hunt.

Preceding the bride was the maid of honor, Miss Jennie Martin, sister of the groom. Hubert Norcross, cousin of the bride, assisted Mr. Martin as best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a light blue taffeta floor length gown, fashioned with a Peter Pan collar edged with lace, which formed the cap sleeves. Her matching mitts were lace trimmed. A fingertip veil of blue tulle was held in place with a halo crown adorned with tiny blue and pink rose buds. The bride's only jewelry was a heart shaped pendant, a gift from the groom, and she carried a bouquet of light rose gladioli with pale blue ribbon streamers.

The bride's mother was attired in a flowered black and white Bemberg with white accessories and a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's mother wore blue and rose gabardine with black accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

Immediately following the ceremony a buffet lunch was prepared and served by Mr. and Mrs. Alec Hackenburg of Lincoln Park. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Ethel Hyatt of Dearborn and Truly Ogden and Barbara Hall. The linen covered table was attractively decorated with white tapers in crystal holders with a centerpiece of blue delphiniums, white gladioli and pink sweetpeas in a crystal bowl. The three-tiered wedding cake, a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Hackenburg, was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The bride attended Tecumseh high school and the groom attended school at Tecumseh and Manistique. He served five years in the U. S. Army, four and one-half years of that time being spent in the European area. He is now employed by the Quaker Oats Company of Tecumseh.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside on South Ottawa street in Tecumseh.

Miss Betty Lou LaGore Weds Paul A. Minster

Miss Betty Lou LaGore, daughter of John LaGore of Tecumseh and Mrs. Blanche Travis of Adrian, became the bride of Paul A. Minster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Minster of Manitou Beach, in a ceremony which took place at the Adrian residence of Rev. W. A. Rush, who performed the single ring service, Monday evening, August 8, at 9:30 o'clock, in the presence of the immediate families.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a white crepe street length dress with white accessories. She wore a single strand of pearls and a lavender orchid. Mrs. Robert Miller of Tecumseh attended her sister. She also wore a white dress with white accessories and her corsage was of yellow gladioli. Keith Hurlbut was best man.

Because of a recent bereavement in the bride's family, plans for a larger wedding and reception were abandoned. After the ceremony the couple left to spend a few days in northern Michigan. They are at home in an apartment at 1108 East Maple Avenue in Adrian.

Tecumseh Music Club Hold Potluck Picnic

The annual potluck picnic of the Tecumseh Music Club was held at the Merrie Moore cottage at Sand Lake, Friday, August 12. Some 21 members and guests were served on Mrs. R. S. Moore's Mexican porch, where even the salt and pepper shakers and the hand crocheted rugs on the floor, carried out the Mexican design.

After the delicious dinner the members gathered on the sun porch for an informal meeting, during which it was decided to change the meeting date from the fourth Tuesday to the third Tuesday of the month, bringing the first meeting on September 20.

A delightful review was given by the ten members of the club who attended Waldenwoods for a wonderful day on July 28, each giving their own varied impression of the day.

We believe our customers are entitled to top quality food at low prices, served in clean, healthful surroundings.

That's why we train and instruct our employees to keep all trays and cases and scales scrubbed and sanitary; to keep refuse and packing cases out of the aisles and off the sidewalks; and to keep floors and grocery racks clean and orderly.

STORY OF THE BIBLE

The Last Journey of Moses

The time appointed for Moses to die finally came. Even though he was very, very old, he still thought of his people, and asked God to set some other man before them to lead them after he should die. One day Moses talked with his people for the last time, then walked away from them and climbed over the rocks till he came to Mount Nebo. He went higher and higher till his people lost sight of him, and God showed him his people's promised land. Moses saw how beautiful were its green valleys and its wooded hills, and he was happy. Then God closed the eyes of His faithful servant.

"So Moses the servant of the Lord died there in the land of Moab according to the word of the Lord. And He buried him in a valley in the land of Moab over against Bethpeor; but no man knoweth of his sepulchre unto this day. And Moses was an hundred and twenty years old when he died; his eye was not dim, nor his natural force abated . . . And there arose not a prophet since in Israel like unto Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face. In all the signs and the wonders, which the Lord sent to him to do in the land of Egypt to Pharaoh, and to all his servants, and to all his land."

The story of Moses is essentially a human story. Moses was a man—a man of outstanding courage and faith—but because he was human, he was sometimes weak. You're human too . . . it's easy to fall by the wayside. You want to be good, but it is so easy to lose way. At your church you receive advice, guidance, and inspiration. So go to the church of your choice regularly.

Miss Marilyn Weseloh Bride Of J. G. French

Miss Marilyn Jean Weseloh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Weseloh of Tecumseh, and Junior Gabe French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gabe E. French of Clinton, were united in marriage, Friday evening, August 12, at the First Presbyterian church. The Rev. B. O. Bashore read the double ring service at 7:30 o'clock before the altar which was banked with arrangements of palms and white gladioli. Burning tapers in candelabra cast a soft glow over the wedding party.

As Mrs. Kenton Hunt played a program of nuptial music, Stanley VanDeusen and Harold Gibson seated the guests. The family pews were marked with white satin ribbons. Robert McKee attended Mr. French as best man.

A ballerina length gown of candlelight satin was chosen by the bride for her wedding. Fashioned in princess lines with a stand-up princess collar, the gown featured tiny self-covered buttons which extended from the neckline to the hem. The open crowned candlelight horsehair hat was trimmed with a ribbon which matched the orchid the bride carried on a white Bible. Mr. Weseloh gave his daughter in marriage.

As maid of honor, Miss Joyce E. Zeigler wore an Emerald green satin gown, which was fashioned identical to that of the bride's. Her matching green horsehair hat was trimmed with a dusty rose ribbon and she carried a bouquet of dusty rose roses and spires of delphinium.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Weseloh selected navy blue sheer with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. French was attired in a navy and white sheer print with navy accessories and a red rose corsage. The grandmother of the groom wore a sheer green and white print with a corsage of roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement for some 100 guests. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with green and yellow, matching the floral centerpiece. Mrs. LeRoy Feldkamp of Saline, cousin of the bride, and Miss Nerissa Fosdick of Tecumseh served the guests who attended from Grand Rend, Canada, Phoenix, Arizona, Jackson, Detroit, Rochester, Newport, Adrian, Britton, Saline, Hudson, Clinton and Tecumseh.

The bride graduated from Tecumseh high school with the class of 1945, attended Siena Heights College in Adrian for two years, and is now employed by the Tecumseh Products Co. The groom graduated from Clinton high school and is employed by the Ford Motor Co., in the Central Follow-up Division.

Michigan Mirror

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

Governor Williams is not Michigan's first governor to enjoy talking at luncheons and dinners, crowning festival queens and otherwise being the answer to a program chairman's prayer. Kim Sigler used to thrive on these things even while the legislature was thrashing about at Lansing.

Williams stuck to the job faithfully while solons were in town. But he waived aside all arguments in June and July for a speaking schedule that resembled a barnstorming trip. Like Sigler, he prefers travel by airplane.

The governor's staff is now convinced that many voters prefer to have their governor "work at the job." Result: Fewer speaking engagements are being booked for "Soapy" next fall. The governor and his family are residing during August at the governor's home on Mackinac Island.

When to call the legislature into special session is a decision yet to be made. The governor insists Michigan should enact a new tax immediately if it is to avert financial chaos next spring. He plugs vigorously for a corporation income tax rather than a personal income tax, and defends his position as not favoring a "soak the consumer" levy.

Even if the legislature were to adopt a flat personal income tax, says the governor, taxpayers would soon favor a graduated income tax by constitutional amendment.

Victor Knox, speaker of the house of representatives, is convinced Michigan voters would never approve a tax boost or a new tax until actual need had been demonstrated. A treasury deficit will furnish such proof, says Knox. This reasoning influenced Republican legislators, he said recently, to sidestep the issue of new taxes until 1950.

If this strategy is adhered to, Republican legislative leaders will await 1950 to see how much money is needed and then cut the cloth accordingly. To do anything now, so this argument goes, is to guess at a future development.

But 1950 is also re-election year for many legislators, as with state elective officials. To impose a new tax in an election year is regarded by some as something next to political heresy.

The more the Republicans wait, the more their opponents are going to lambast the party for protecting big corporations from a tax on their profits. Governor Williams wishes to put the G.O.P. on the defensive in 1950. He has been hammering away at the corporation tax consitenly in 1949 speaking tours.

A week or so ago we had the opportunity to swing into the Upper Peninsula as far west as Marquette and Escanaba. Everywhere we were asked about Secretary of State Fred M. Alger Jr. and State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, two prospective candidates for governor in the Republican primary next spring. Also: "Is Dr. Keyes going to run for governor this time?"

Aside from saying that Alger, Brake and Keyes are ALL definitely interested in the nomination, we managed to stay neutral. Partisan politics have no place in this Main street column. But the inquiries do show an interest or anxiety of Republican observers about 1950.

Another point: Harry F. Kelly is a possible candidate. Would a "third term" issue lessen his proved popularity with Michigan voters? That is something for the hot-stove league to talk about this fall.

Cooperative efforts to curtail Michigan's highway traffic toll are beginning to bring dividends. For three consecutive months a decline in traffic deaths has taken place. Maxwell Halsey, executive secretary of the Michigan state safety commission, reports the next objective is to make highways more safe for children. "More than 4,500 children were killed or injured in Michigan traffic accidents last year," says Halsey.

Does your community need a hospital? The Federal government will pay one-third of the cost of construction, providing the local community raises the other two-thirds. This aid is limited to about $11 million dollars for Michigan.

Hugh J. McGoldrick, Williams-appointed director of the state office of hospital survey and construction, reports that seven projects are now under way and three more will break ground next Fall. The ten hospitals and hospital additions will add 1,009 beds to Michigan's facilities.

There was a time, believe it or not, when if some girls had appeared on the streets with no more on than they wear now their fathers would have been arrested for failure to provide.

How human are you?

QUIZ FOR HUSBANDS

1. Do you ever daydream about how pleasantly you'll spend your time when you can quit work and retire?
2. Have you ever bought a sweepstakes ticket, bet on a horse race or taken a chance on an automobile?
3. If you had some money earmarked for savings and you saw a good buy in a fishing rod you wanted very much, would you be tempted to buy the rod and make up the amount for savings later on?
4. Do you expect to live in a more comfortable home or own a more expensive car ten years from now than you have today?
5. Do you seem to save less money out of each pay check than you think you should?

QUIZ FOR WIVES

1. Have you ever lost your temper with an inadequate old stove, icebox, or other piece of out-dated household equipment that you can't afford to replace?
2. Do you want your children to have an education as good as or better than the schooling you yourself had?
3. Have you ever entered a contest with a big cash prize, or thought what you'd do with the money if a relative should leave you a small fortune?
4. Have you ever been disturbed by the idea that you might be a financial burden to your children sometime in the future when they're grown and setting out on their own?
5. Does a bona fide $25 value priced at $18.75 appeal to you?

IF YOU ANSWERED more questions with a "yes" than a "no," you're very human indeed!

It's natural to want the future to bring you more of the things that money can buy.

It's natural, too, to find it hard to put away money for the future—with so many ways to spend it today.

Listen, Gals! Yuh Don't Need To Slap a Feller's Face Any More When He Tells Yuh Your Built Like a Truck--He Means Ford Truck

Yuh guessed it. Them new Ford trucks what young Henry's makin' down at Detroit are really sumpin. Day was, yuh know, when trucks were jist trucks. They had big tires, big bodies, no lines and looked like somethin' yud hate to be like. But not so today. Man they got jist as good lines as any stage dancer yuh ever seed and, besides, they got what it takes to make a truck a truck.

When yuh read somewhere that our new trucks have got protection style that's modern to the minute—that fairly shouts of stamina and power, of safety and efficiency, that's jist what we mean. The clean purposeful lines of the new Ford Bonus Built Trucks identify America's most advanced hauling equipment. The new nearly-flush grille and fender contouring streamlines the appearance of the whole front end and also provides protection to the headlamps and parking lamps.

Yuh wonder now why a gal don't mind being likened to a Ford?

Wa'al, if yuv got a hauling problem, if yur haulin' costin' yuh too much with the 'quipment yuv got, we'd like to figger in half tons, three-quarters, ton, ton and a half and two ton and, new in the field, is the two and a half and three tonners.

There's a Ford truck for every job, under all conditions. They're built to serve yuh ekonomikally. They're engineered, every inch.

If it's haulin' problems that's botherin' yuh, kum in and see us. We got the answers in these new Fords.

Schools To Open On September 7

CLASSES TO BE HELD IN 10 LOCATIONS; PLACE OUTLINES PROGRAM

The 1949-50 school year will open Wednesday morning, September 7, at 9 a.m., at which time all students are expected to enroll at the school areas indicated below. This includes all kindergarten children. Earl H. Place, Superintendent of Schools, announced today that the 39 teachers of the Tecumseh Public Schools have been called back for Teachers Meetings on Tuesday, September 6, before the students arrive.

Plans are now complete to hold school in ten locations this fall. Additional rooms and four new teachers are necessary because of the anticipated enrollment of 1051. The new locations are the Youth Center Building, a room in the Methodist Church, and the basement of the Presbyterian Church.

It is expected that grades seven through 12 can be moved into the new high school building not later than the Christmas vacation time, possibly before. When this becomes possible, classes will be discontinued in all the churches, Library basement, Youth Center, and East Branch School. Students attending school in these locations will be housed in the Central Building.

At Brownville School there will be morning and afternoon kindergarten sessions for beginners who will be 5 years old on or before Dec. 1, 1949 and who live North of Chicago Boulevard. The kindergarteners who come in from District No. 5 will attend the afternoon kindergarten at Brownville.

All parents of kindergarten children are directed by Dr. H. C. Huntley, Lenawee County Health Officer, to take their children to a physician for a physical checkup before school begins. The form to be filled out by the physician can be obtained from the office of the Superintendent of Schools if the family has not been provided with one through the census taker. The information should be turned in to the kindergarten teacher when the child enrolls.

Parents of kindergarten children are asked to bring the child's birth certificate on September 7.

At West Branch there will be a morning and afternoon kindergarten of all beginners who live South of Chicago Boulevard and who likewise will be five years on or before December 1. The first grade at West Branch will consist of about one-half of the children who attended West Branch kindergarten last year preferably those who live nearby. The second grade group will be made up of those students who attended first grade at West Branch last year.

At the Baptist Church there will be a third grade for students who were in the second grade there last year. Other students will be assigned this section to equalize the number of students in the three sections.

At the Library there will be a third grade. Students who attended the second grade at West Branch should report here.

At the Presbyterian Church there will be a section of the second grade for those students who attended the first grade at Brownville last year. There will also be a section of the fourth grade for those who attended the third grade at the Library last year.

At the Methodist Church there will be a section of fourth grade for those who attended the third grade at the Baptist Church last year.

At the St. Peter's Episcopal Church there will be a third grade for those who attended the second grade at East Branch last year.

At the Youth Center near the St. Peter's Episcopal Church there will be another section of the first grade. Those students who attended the Brownville kindergarten last year should report to the Youth Center.

At East Branch the first grade will be made up of the other half of last years West Branch kindergarteners. The second grade at East Branch will be those students who attended the first grade there last year.

The third grade students at the Episcopal Church last year should report to the Central Building for the fourth grade. All other grades should report to the Central Building.

All grade students who did not attend school in Tecumseh last year should report to Mr. Smith in the Central Building for assignment on the morning of September 7. All new Junior and Senior High School students will report

Ramsay To Get Loot Stolen From Rectory

The Michigan State Police of the Clinton Post have assured the Rev. Allan L. Ramsay, rector of St. Peter's Church, the return of several articles stolen from St. Peter's rectory last June.

The robber, Larlfield Como, gained entrance by breaking a window into the kitchen. Among the articles taken were a .25 caliber Colt Automatic, a gold pocket watch, two gold coins and several other pieces of money. Como also entered the rectory of St. John's Church, Clinton, and took the offering from the church service and a collection of pennies belonging to the family of Jack E. Warner, lay-minister. In Jonesville, Sturgis and several other communities the burglar made entries to churches and rectories. At this time he is serving a three to five year prison sentence in the State Prison of Southern Michigan.

Upon their return from a vacation in Arizona the Ramsays found no sign of a disturbance in the rectory except the broken window and finger print powder used by the State Police in proving that Como was the man who entered the rectory.

Three Injured In Road Mishaps

DEAN AMMER HURT NEAR DETROIT; EARL BRYAN AND WIFE ALSO INJURED

Three Tecumseh folk were injured in two accidents that happened on Sunday and Tuesday.

Dean Ammer of West Pottawatamie street, suffered injuries about the head, face and mouth, Sunday afternoon, when the car he was driving and another operated by four teen-aged Detroit folk, crashed on the Express Highway near Bellevue road. Mr. Ammer was taken to Eloise Hospital and later came to his home here.

Ammer was on his way to Detroit and the other car involved attempted to cross the Expressway from a dirt side road without making a stop. Both cars were badly damaged but the Detroiters were not hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bryan of S. Ottawa street, suffered bruises, Tuesday afternoon, when the car they were driving was sideswiped by an automobile driven by Anthony Debeenedetta of Philadelphia, Pa. The accident happened on M-52, two miles south of Billington's Corners. The Bryan car was going south and the Philadelphia car, traveling north, crossed the center line of the highway as it passed a cattle truck. Both cars were badly damaged.

Prosecuting Attorney Rotary Club Speaker

"The county prosecuting attorney is supposed to know all of the answers to all of the problems, including family difficulties and industrial headaches," Rex B. Martin, Lenawee's prosecutor, declared, Tuesday evening, when he spoke to members of the Rotary Club, following dinner at Brees House. He was the guest of Robert French, local attorney.

Mr. Martin told of the many questions posed by visitors to his office and declared that it is sometimes difficult to know which way to "step" in the interest of society, generally.

Martin pointed out that in reality he is the county's attorney, but, he said, "it also is my job to protect the innocent as well as to prosecute the guilty."

MRS. HARRY ROSACRANS BURIED IN TOLEDO

BLACKSMITHING IS RAPIDLY BECOMING A LOST ART

Although the iron horses—the automobile and the tractor—have raised havoc with his business, J. Floyd Elliott, for 50 years the "village blacksmith," finds his shop today one of the busiest spots in Tecumseh and his knowledge of iron and steel at an ever-increasing demand.

Operating a blacksmith shop today, Mr. Elliott says, is far different than it was 40 years ago when he and his father, James Elliott, attached 176 shoes to horses in a single day. The record for the Elliott shop on South Evans street, was established some years before when James Elliott and his three helpers attached 226 shoes in a day.

"That's a lot of shoes and a lot of horses," Elliott said, "and believe it, it's a lot of work. Shoeing horses is a real job," he said with a twinkle in his eye, indicating that he didn't feel too badly about the tractor and the auto mobile replacing the horse as a means of work and transportation.

Elliott comes from a family of blacksmiths. His father, James, came to Tecumseh from Clough, County Antrim, Ireland, in 1871. The story goes that when he arrived here he had only 25 cents. The next day he got a job in a blacksmith shop on South Pearl street and three years later he bought out the James Pencil shop, which was located between the present Elliott shop and the Elliott wagon shop at the corner of Kilbuck and Evans streets. James Elliott built the brick building that now houses the shop in 1881, the year that J. Floyd Elliott, the present owner, was born, and a few years later he acquired the wagon shop, which still is a part of the Elliott property.

Floyd says that he can't remember the making of wagons in the Elliott shop but he does remember the building of bob sleighs, the manufacture and repair of wagon wheels, etc. Floyd started to work for his father in 1899 and purchased the shop from him in June of 1931.

"How did I learn the business?" he asked the question in answer to another one. "Well, I worked part time for my father and believe me he knew when you were qualified. His father and his grandfather and all of the Elliotts as far back as the family knows were blacksmiths."

There are only five blacksmith shops in Lenawee county at the present time. Blacksmiting, except in industrial plants, is rapidly becoming a lost art. "Its work," Elliott says, "and I guess that not many of the young fellows like the trade too well."

Today, in his shop, Elliott spends most of his time with repair work. Plow shares, tires on wagon wheels, broken farm implements and a world of other things

THS Band To Play At Fair

WILL BE ONE OF SEVERAL MUSICAL GROUPS INVITED TO STATE EXPOSITION

The 40-piece Tecumseh high school band, directed by Clare Camburn, will present a half-hour concert in the Music Shell at the Michigan State Fair grounds, Monday, September 5, it was announced by Graham T. Overgard, musical director.

More than 60 bands representing every section of Michigan will participate in the musical program throughout the Centennial Michigan State Fair September 2 through 11. Each band coming to the fair will perform in the Music Shell and members of the organizations will be guests of General Manager James D. Friel and the Fair's Board of Managers at many of the Fair's special attractions, including a roast beef dinner.

The high school bands will provide only one of the highlights of the finest entertainment programs ever put together for a Michigan State Fair, it was said. Among the stage, screen and radio stars will be Bob Hope, who will come direct from Hollywood for his first appearance at a State Fair. He will headline a twice daily eight-act vaudeville show in the Coliseum September 2, 3 and 4.

A daily feature will be a parade on the Fairgrounds, featuring beautiful performers, contestants in the Fair's drum major contests and the high school bands on hand that day.

BURIED AT RIDGEWAY

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon from the Collins Funeral Home for Mrs. Nellie Lucas, who died August 16 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edna Staulter. The Rev. Edward Escolme officiated and burial was in Ridgeway cemetery. The bearers were Frank Gottschalk, Eugene Welling, Raymond Pask, Don Cash, Paul Martin and Percy French. Friends and relatives attended from Toledo, Ypsilanti, Adrian, Holloway, Tecumseh, Britton and Ridgeway.

$20 FIRE LOSS

The Tecumseh fire department was summoned at 4 a.m., Friday, to the Bill Petrovich residence at 115 East Logan, where an overheated motor on the furnace blower had caught fire. Damage was estimated at $20.

NO CHURCH SERVICES

There will be no Sunday school or morning service at the Tecumseh Baptist church for two weeks, Sundays August 28 and September 4, but Rev. B. O. Bashore, pastor, will be heard over station WABJ. Regular lessons and services will be resumed Sunday, September 11.

Harris Returns From Institute At Evanston

Ronald E. Harris, Chamber of Commerce secretary, was at Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., last week to attend the 26th annual National Institute for Commercial and Trade Organization Executives, from August 15 to 20.

The intensive six-day course in business trends and organization management features a faculty of experienced business authorities and is designed to broaden the effectiveness of trade associations and Chambers of Commerce, as well as to train the executive.

Amateur Radio Show Is Planned

An amateur radio performance, featuring some 20 acts and including a concert by the high school band, will be staged at Recreation Center here, Friday evening, September 9, at 8 o'clock, it was announced today by Robert H. Moore, chairman of the Rotary Club's community service committee. The public is invited to attend as well as to participate in the entertainment and tickets, now on sale, are 60 cents for adults, 30 cents for children.

"We intend to stage this show as nearly expense free as possible," Mr. Moore said, "and all money made will be turned over to the Recreation Center to make possible its continued operation. The Center is nearly broke, financially, and we hope that this show will pave the way for other money making entertainments from which the proceeds will be turned into the Recreation treasury."

The Rotary Club is assuming all responsibility for the show and Mr. Moore has accepted the general chairmanship. Other Rotarians, some 50 of them, are assisting him in the sale of tickets, the arrangement of the stage, seating, program, etc.

Included in the show, at which the Rev. B. O. Bashore will act as master of ceremonies, will be acts from Rae Nita's Dance Studios, Jackson, including local talent, Babe House and her Hammond organ, quartet singing, other local acts, and the band music.

"We want everyone to seek a part in this entertainment," Moore said. "Persons who would like to participate should fill in the entry blank, to be found in another page of this newspaper, and leave it at Hodges Drug Store. This is a community show in every way."

Winners in the amateur show will be selected on an applause meter and prizes for winning acts will be contributed by merchants. Tickets for the show may be purchased at Butler Motor Sales, The Tecumseh Herald, Hodges, Cameron or Wright Drug stores, and at the R. S. Moore & Son Co.

Donkey Softball Scheduled at Recreation, Monday

Climaxing this season's softball play and getting the football season under way, the Tecumseh Recreation Center board of control is sponsoring a donkey softball game to be staged at the Center's diamond, Monday, August 29, under the lights, beginning at 7:45 p.m. The VFW aggregation, undisputed civic league champions, are in hopes of riding to another victory when they meet an all-star team, composed of members of the remaining five league teams, on the backs of "professional" donkeys. Before play begins the champions will be awarded a trophy by Elven Duvall, summer recreation director and high school coach.

Next Monday's special attraction is one phase of the board's program to raise funds for the operation of the Center. The Tecumseh Braves, an independent football team, will begin play soon, as will the high school team. Another special program is being planned by the Rotary Club for the benefit of the Center.

"It takes the support of the entire community to keep the Center on a paying basis," Fay Whelan, president of the board, said. "Because our funds are about depleted we are staging these special attractions to give residents good entertainment for their money, instead of having to 'pass the hat' for donations," he continued.

Tickets for the donkey softball game are on sale by members of the league or may be purchased at the gate, Monday night. "The game promises amusement for every member of the family," the president declared, "and we're hoping for a good crowd."

Gas Discovered

DRILLING FOR WATER, WORKMEN FIND GAS ON RAYMOND GUY FARM

Natural gas was discovered on the Raymond Guy farm, Wednesday morning, in an "unnatural" way.

Drillers were drilling water on the farm located on the Tecumseh-Macon Road, when water spurted into the air, then stopped suddenly. Suspecting gas, the workmen lighted a match, which confirmed their suspicions by igniting the poisonous substance. The Tecumseh fire department was called at 9:50 a.m., and extinguished the flame with chemicals. A depth of 137 feet had been reached, it was said.

Because of the intense pressure, workmen were unable to cap the tube immediately.

Mrs. Marion Fleming Held On Check Charge

Mrs. Marion Fleming, 35, Tecumseh, is free on $1,000 bail pending her appearance at the September term of circuit court, where she will face a charge of forging some $300 worth of checks, cashed by Lenawee business men. Mrs. Fleming was arrested here on Monday and, according to W. J. Hanna, deputy sheriff, she confessed the crime and waived examination in justice court.

Two of the checks which the woman cashed were presented in Adrian and brought the police of that city into the case. They have been investigating, along with sheriff's officers, for nearly two weeks.

A comparison of the handwriting on the forged checks and on actual checks issued by Mrs. Fleming by handwriting experts showed that the writing was the same, police said. When the woman was confronted with the evidence she readily admitted her guilt, Deputy Hanna said.

Care Pledged To Polio Cases

NATIONAL FOUNDATION SAYS FUNDS ARE SUFFICIENT TO CARE FOR EVERYBODY

Paul Ahleman of Adrian, chairman of the Lenawee Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said today that despite the tremendous challenge of widespread polio epidemics this summer the National Foundation "would see to it that no victim of the disease goes without proper medical care for lack of funds."

"In view of staggering outlays for polio treatment both this summer and last," he said, "I think it advisable to reassure the public that the National Foundation and its Chapters will take whatever steps may be required to provide care for all those who need it.

Mr. Ahleman, noting that the polio incidence rate this year was running far ahead of last year's near-record total of 27,895 cases, said that never before in history had the nation experienced two such epidemic years in succession.

"Last year," he said, "National Headquarters of the Foundation sent $7,000,000 to Chapters whose treasuries had been drained to provide medical care for patients. Already this year almost $4,000,000 has been dispatched to critical areas, and the end seems far from sight.

"I want to make it perfectly clear, however, that despite this financial crisis, the National Foundation has no intention of defaulting its obligation to underwrite medical care for those who need financial assistance and to carry on its extensive research and professional training programs."

Mr. Ahleman said the National Foundation was fighting current epidemics "in every way it knew how," aided materially by a tremendous backlog of experience in coordinating previous epidemics.

"The National Foundation is unique," he said, "in its ability to mobilize all its forces in times of epidemic. Respirators, hot pack machines and other vital equipment, together with specially trained personnel are being speeded to critical areas this summer on a scale never before imagined."

Despite a highly successful March of Dimes campaign last January, he added, county chapters in critical areas throughout the county had, in many cases, quickly exhausted their 50% share of campaign receipts and had been forced to call on National Headquarters for financial assistance.

"This assistance," he said, "has been forthcoming at a rate twice that obtaining in 1948—which in itself was an epidemic year second only in severity to 1916 in the history of the disease in this county."

Last year's epidemic, he said, had cost approximately $17,000,000 for medical care alone, county chapters providing $10,000,000 of this amount and National Headquarters the rest. This did not, he added, take into account the huge cost of the "polio research and professional training program.

"With a heavy carry-over load from 1948," he said, "it seems inevitable that our costs will be much higher this year. And we must not forget that research cannot be neglected, if polio is ever to be erased as a menace to our children.

"In these circumstances only because the situation is a grave one, but at the same time I wish to reiterate the pledge of the National Foundation . . . that no sufferer from infantile paralysis will go without the best available medical care for lack of funds, regardless of age, race, creed or color."

M. S. C. Student Ends Own Life

WENDELL O. MAHRLE, 24, CLINTON, HANGS SELF IN NEWBERG SCHOOL YARD

At the conclusion of a state police investigation, Coroner Ed M. Braun of Adrian has ruled the death of Wendell O. Mahrle, 24, of Clinton, a suicide. The handcuffed body of the senior honor student at Michigan State College was found hanging at 6:30 a.m., Monday, in the Newberg school ward, two miles south of Clinton. Death came a few hours before the discovery was made by Troopers Morrison and Krusniak, who were on routine patrol from the Clinton post.

State police reconstructed the suicide as follows: Mr. Mahrle obtained a seven or eight foot piece of clothesline rope from the basement of his home, attached a patent snap to the rope and then tied the ends together. He then made a noose in the rope, put it around his neck, threw the rope over the bar of a playground swing about five feet from the ground and handcuffed himself. To the chain between the cuffs he attached the snap and then threw himself backward, strangling himself to death. The body was discovered in a sitting position on the ground.

"There was no reason why Mahrle could not have stood up and taken the weight off the rope if he had wanted to," officers said.

Police said the handcuffs were Mahrle's and that he obtained them as a member of the navy on shore patrol duty in World War II. The key to the cuffs, which he ordinarily kept in a box at his home, was found in his pocket. There was no sign of a scuffle at the scene, there were no bruises on the body, and his car stood in the school driveway. His purse, containing more than $120, was in his pocket.

Officers said that they traced Mahrle's activities on Sunday and until about 2:10 Monday morning, when he left some friends west of Clinton. It is believed that the suicide took place about 3 a.m.

Mahrle was the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Mahrle of Clinton. He would have been a senior at Michigan State College, and was an excellent student. During the past summer he was employed at the Tecumseh Electric Supply in Tecumseh as a radio technician.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from the Hause Funeral Home, Clinton, the Rev. O. E. Priest officiating. Members of the Clinton post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, were in charge of the services at the grave in Riverside Cemetery.

Golf And Luncheon Planned For Wednesday

Mrs. H. H. Hanna and Mrs. Willis Porter will be in charge of golf at Ladies' Day at the Tecumseh Country Club, next Wednesday, August 31. Card and luncheon hostesses, to be called by Tuesday noon for reservations, are Mrs. W. D. Hite, phone 1332, and Mrs. Herbert Dillon, phone 86R. Members may bring guests.

Rain did not deter eighteen women from appearing for golf instruction last Wednesday, August 17. Leo Bishop, golf pro, was equal to the occasion and gave a very instructive demonstration of "putting," using his indoor equipment. The golf tournament planned for the day by the hostesses, Mrs. Joseph Lane and Mrs. E. V. Wight of Clinton, however, had to be cancelled.

At one o'clock 38 women enjoyed luncheon in the banquet room where bouquets of zinnias had been arranged by Mrs. Abernathy, mother of Mrs. J. W. Spafford, who with Mrs. Ray Sluyter presided as hostesses over the eight tables of women assembled for cards. Winners were as follows: bridge, Mrs. L. C. Jacokes; pinochle, Mrs. Walt Pfaus; door prize, Mrs. Orville Laidlaw.

The play-off matches in the championship tournament for men and women continue. The appearance of trophies to be awarded when the winners are determined is adding zest to the competition, while laying the groundwork for a real spirit of fellowship among the members.

I will be at the United Savings bank for the collection of taxes the following dates: Saturday, August 27, all day; Saturday, September 3, and Saturday, September 10, mornings only. September 10 will be my last day at the bank for that purpose.

A SPIDER IN THE PAPER

Many years ago Mark Twain was editor of a small-town newspaper. A reader wrote in saying that he had found a spider in his paper, and wanted to know if that was an omen of good or bad luck. Mark Twain answered: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertised so he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Retailing has come a long way since those days, and the art of advertising has undergone great development. And advertising, by stores or any other kind of business, is a typical outgrowth of the competitive system. It is the best possible means of reaching the people who want goods and services, of urging the merits of one brand as against another, and of encouraging the consumer to go to some particular retail outlet. That it benefits the consumer goes without saying. No storekeeper could long charge an excessive price with competitors offering in print the same or an equivalent product at a lower price. And deceptive advertising always defeats its own purpose. The wise merchant advertises aggressively, but he bases his story on appeal not fiction.

The growth of the chain systems did much to encourage retail advertising. The chains advertised their merits in the search for trade—and the independents did the same thing in order to hold and to expand their own business. This was good for all concerned—consumers, stores, and newspapers.

Salesmanship is a driving force in keeping the American economy running. Advertising is the heart of it.

Princess Calls Akron, O., Home

REFUGEE ROYALTY COMES TO U. S. BECAUSE ARMY CAPTAIN BEFRIENDED HER

AKRON, OHIO—Because an army captain rescued her two young daughters from the Russians—and possible exile to Siberia—Princess Katherine of Hungary, a Hapsburg, is living in Akron today.

One of the last of the Royal family of Hapsburg that ruled Central Europe for nearly four centuries, the Princess felt like a travel-weary DP when she stepped off the train at Akron with her two daughters, Princess Sarelta S, and Princess Ildiko, 7.

The woman who formerly occupied a sumptuous villa in Budapest, was wearing a plaid skirt, an old sweater, and crepe soled sport shoes. Her two little daughters also wearing sweaters, had on the snub-toed German shoes and heavy wool socks they had worn during their years of exile in Konigsburg, Germany. But around their necks were chains and lockets bearing the Hapsburg emblem. And Princess Katherine handed out a neatly engraved calling card with her name and title on it, and told how she was a direct descendant of Empress Maria Theresa of Austria.

Somewhere in their trunks enroute to Akron, she said, were a few precious jewels and pictures left from the days when they were Hungary's royalty.

There was a brief ceremony of greeting at the train as Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hall, their hosts here, stepped forward to greet the family their brother had rescued. The Halls long have been in correspondence with the princess.

Two Akron marines, a bit ill at ease at playing escort to royalty, also were on hand. The marines presented the princess with a gardenia corsage, a gift of the Halls.

The family had arrived in Boston on the United States transport, Gen. R. L. Howze. They were among 944 displaced persons on that ship.

Just how the lineal descendants of Empress Maria Theresa of Austria happened to hit Akron as DPs came out bit by bit after the princess arrived.

Chris Hall, a restaurant owner here, told how his brother, Capt. Joseph Hall, also formerly of Akron, first encountered the princess and her family as they fled [illegible]

Captain Hall was stationed near the town where the Hungarian Royalty was quartered. He knew that the Russians were taking over that town as a part of their zone the next day and that the princess and her children would probably be shipped to Siberia.

He decided to rescue the princess from her precarious position. "All I know is that the captain loaded us into his jeep. I didn't know where we were going but I felt safe because he wore an American uniform," Princess Katherine says.

Captain Hall drove the family to the American zone and found quarters for them. He wrote his mother, Mrs. Anna K. Hall of Akron, now of Arizona, about the princess.

Mrs. Hall immediately started a correspondence, which ended finally with arrangements for the princess and her two daughters to come to America.

Princess Katherine now calls Mrs. Hall, "Aunt Anna."

She has been separated from her husband, who is living in South America, she said.

Asked if she ever would like to return to her land behind the Iron Curtain, the Princess's face grew very sad.

"I would like to very much some day," she said.

Telephone expansion doesn't just "HAPPEN"

Money for telephone expansion can come only from investors . . . everyday people who put their money into telephone stocks and bonds.

The money you pay for telephone service must be used only to meet expenses and pay a fair return to these investors for their confidence in your telephone company's business ability.

Thus, the wave of telephone expansion programs throughout the country means more than just better telephone service. It is a thrilling example of continuing faith in the American free system in all forms of business.

Michigan's Marriage, Divorce Rates Down

Michigan's divorce rate has been cut in half in the past two years, the Michigan Department of Health announced today. The marriage rate has declined a fourth in the same period.

Both divorces and marriages are continuing the downtrend which followed the war-created 1946 peak. Still Michigan's average of one divorce for every 3.9 marriages exceeds the national average of one divorce for every 4.4 marriages.

Records in the Statistical Section of the Michigan Department of Health show that while 10 people in every thousand in Michigan got divorces in 1946, five in every thousand got divorces in 1948 and that while 28 in every thousand undertook marriage in 1946, 20 in every thousand undertook marriage in 1948.

Marriages declined from an all time peak of 73,808 in 1946 to 61,986 in 1948. Divorces declined from a peak 29,158 in 1946 to 16,017 in 1948. Actual rate of persons married per one thousand estimated population in 1946 was 27.6 and in 1948 it was 20. Actual rate of persons divorced per one thousand estimated population in 1946 was 10.2 and in 1948 it was 5.2.

Since the officials at Washington have listened to just about everybody else in the land why not call in a few taxpayers and see what they have to say.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

If They're Wild, They Belong To Tik!

Saw Tik Anderson last week and was reminded of the first time I ever spoke to him. The missus had sent me out one Saturday afternoon to hunt for some blackberries.

I took a long hike and couldn't find any. Finally, I came to Tik's house along that low stretch east of the fork on River Road. "Hi there," I says, "any blackberries around here?"

Tik says, "There used to be—but I don't know much about things that grow wild." Later, I found how Tik supports his family by picking berries. Ever since, I've been like the rest of folks in town—respectful of his right not to tell where "his" berries grow.

From where I sit, respecting other folks' rights comes natural in our town . . . in America for that matter! Whether it's a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of beer or ale, or whether it's Tik Anderson's right to keep secret where his berries are, it's all a big part of a real democracy!

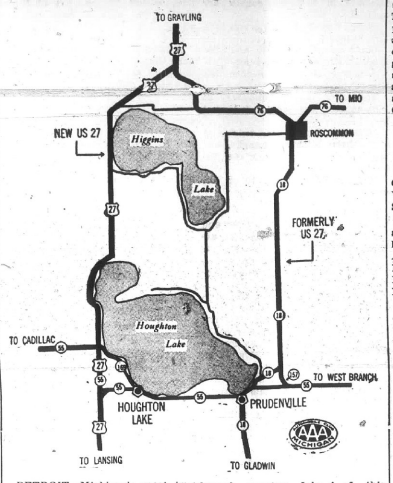
Here's The Change In U. S. 27



DETROIT—Michigan's most important highway relocation and renumbering in many years—U.S. 27 near Houghton Lake — has thousands of motorists puzzled yet, according to Automobile Club of Michigan's travel manager Harry N. Rogan. With opening of the new road July 4, motorists' confusion began.

Rogan's department has received a large number of calls and letters from Michigan motorists who've driven on what is now M-18 from Prudenville to Roscommon on the east side of Houghton and Higgins Lake asking where U.S. 27 has gone. Signs formerly identifying this road as U.S. 27 have been placed on the new highway to west of Higgins and Houghton Lakes, he said. With formal opening July 4 of this stretch of modern concrete highway in this important resort area, it became U. S. 27.

From Roscommon to the intersection with new location of U. S. 27, the old road is now numbered M-76. M-55 numbers have also been changed to avoid the resort area northwest of Houghton Lake village, Rogan explained. This is now numbered M-169. M-55 follows south on U.S. 27 and then east through Houghton Lake village to Prudenville on the old U.S. 27.

For the benefit of those who may wish to mark the changes on their maps, Auto Club's travel department has drawn the attached spot map of the Houghton Lake area with road markings all up to date.

Miss Marcheta Gillespie Bride Of Joseph Busch

St. Joseph's Catholic church in the Irish Hills was the scene of a lovely wedding, Saturday, August 20, when Marcheta Gillespie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Gillespie of Clinton, became the bride of Joseph Busch of Clinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Busch of Hayward, Calif. The Rev. Fr. M. J. Witkowski read the double ring service at two o'clock before the altar decorated with palms and white gladioli.

White gladioli tied with white satin bows marked the family pews. The guests were seated by James Matthews of Clinton and Grant VanDeusen of Ann Arbor while Miss Joyce Brighton of Onsted played a proprам of nuptial music.

As the organist played the traditional wedding march the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Fashioned of white satin, the bride's gown was styled with a high round neckline and yoke of marquisette. The long fitted sleeves ended in points over the hands and self-covered buttons closed the back of the bodice. The hipline was draped with folds of satin, which extended into a long circular train. A Chantilly lace coronet held the bride's fingertip veil of silk illusion and her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a crescent bouquet of white gladioli and white roses.

Mrs. Charles Brown attended her sister as matron of honor and wore a gown of white embossed marquisette over pink taffeta with a pink nylon net hat. She carried a crescent bouquet of white gladioli and pink roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on the Clinton-Macon road following the ceremony. Mrs. James Matthews served punch and Mrs. Roger Gillespie cut the four-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Martin Korth, Mrs. Grant VanDeusen and the Misses Joan Gillespie and Mary Davis assisted with the serving.

When the couple left for a week's trip to Washington, D. C., and Virginia, the bride was wearing a charcoal grey dress with black and green accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Upon their return they will reside in Pleasantdale Park in Clinton.

A graduate of Clinton high school and Cleary Business Colleges of Ypsilanti, the bride is employed as a bookkeeper in the accounting department of the Tecumseh Products Company. The groom graduated from Clinton high school and spent 13 months in the army service in the South Pacific area. He is now a partner in the Clinton Country Market.

ONSTED

Mrs. Philip Sayre and Mrs. Charles Shultis will entertain the Whist Club at the former's home, September 15.

Mrs. Duane Renner was honored at a cradle shower at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard Atkin of Springville, recently. Prizes were won by Mrs. Renner, Miss Joyce Bailey and Mrs. Wayne Renner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Redfield are visiting their daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benedict of Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davis of Boyne City.

Miss Carol Ann Aebersold is a guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Aebersold of London, Ohio.

The Rev. and Mrs. F. D. Hague have been spending a week at Chattanooga, Tenn., and points in Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kline and children Karen and Gerry of Columbus, Ohio, visited friends in town, Friday.

There was a time when half the people in this world didn't know how the other half lived. But that was before the government began passing out doles.

It isn't hard for a man to eat his words nowadays for most of them are a lot of applesauce anyhow.

We are told that there are 293 ways of making change for a dollar. That's interesting, but how do you get hold of the dollar.

The modern girl gets a good laugh when she hears how the old fashioned girl had to stand under the mistletoe to get kissed.

BRITTON

Berkley-Buttolph

Palms and lavendar chrysanthemums decorated the Congregational church Saturday evening for the wedding of Bonnie Buttolph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Buttolph to Donald Jay Berkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Berkley, of Milan. The Rev. C. B. Gould of Dwight, Ill., read the double ring service.

Wedding music was presented by Stanford Smith, Alice Moore and Ardath Gripton vocalists, accompanied by Rosemary Gilmore.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white slipper satin gown, fashioned with a bertha collar with tiny self-covered buttons extending down the back of the bodice, the long tight sleeves ended in points over the hands with a full skirt which swept into a court train. A full length veil was caught by a halo of seed pearls. The bride carried a satin covered Bible topped with a white orchid.

The bride had her college roommate as maid of honor, Mary Lou Ricica. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Marie Dunbar, Mrs. Pat Coffey and Betty Berkley. Junior bridesmaid was Sue Palmer and flower girls were Ann Beauchamp and Kathleen Forsythe.

A reception was held immediately following service for 250 guests in the church parlors.

The couple left later for a trip to Canada, the bride wearing a gray suit, blue accessories and the orchid she carried during the ceremony.

The bride who received her bachelor of science degree from Michigan State Normal College in July will be employed during the coming year by the Dundee Community School. to Mr. McDowell for assignment on the same morning.

It will probably be necessary to make some adjustments to equalize the class size in the grades. The cooperation of parents has always been excellent and the teachers confidently anticipate and need a continuation of that fine support, Mr. Place said.

The grade school faculty will use Wednesday afternoon, and all day Thursday and Friday for home visitations. The teachers will call upon the parents whose children they have enrolled in grades kindergarten through sixth. It is believed that the home and the school should work closely together. These visitations will assist all concerned to begin the school year with an understanding of specific problems that will help both parents and teachers, it was said.

In the Junior and Senior high school, students will take part in a special testing program Wednesday afternoon, Thursday and Friday, September 7, 8 and 9. This data will provide students and teachers with very valuable information concerning interests, abilities and aptitudes of students. The guidance program should function effectively for the benefit of the student.

Beginning Monday, September 12, all grades will begin at 8:45 a. m. and at 1 p.m. All sections of the kindergarten, first, second and third will be dismissed at 11:30 a. m. and 3:30 p.m. All other grades will be dismissed at 11:45. In the afternoon grades four, five and six are to be dismissed at 3:45 and the Junior and Senior high school at 4 p.m.

Students who come by bus to attend kindergarten and grades one and two, except for District No. 5, should go to West Branch, the third grade to the Library and all others to the Central Building.

The following list contains the names of all teachers of the Tecumseh Public Schools for the 1949-50 school year:

Iron Hosses

that need repair keep him busy from early morning until 6 or later in the evening. His 50 years of experience in the shop have given him a wide knowledge of mechanics and, besides, he knows his metals. He can tell at a glance if a weld can be made, and he knows just when to remove the red-hot iron from the fire. The trick, of course, is knowing when and where to "strike while the iron is hot."

Elliott's long years in the community have won him a host of friends and the half dozen chairs in his shop generally are occupied by men who drop in for a few minutes of visiting. Children, too, love to watch him mold the red hot metal and, once in a while, a horseshoe nail is turned into a fine ring.

Elliott has always been interested in civic affairs and he served on the village council for the first time in 1912. Again in 1928 he was elected to the council and he was seven times named village president. He retired from that office only a few years ago.

As a hobby, the village blacksmith raises peonies — thousands of them. Until a year ago he had a large lot on West Pottawatamie street where he raised the flowers and sold the bulbs. He now has a lot in Brownville with a few hundred plants.

"I'm not as interested in flower raising now as I was a few years ago," he said. "I guess I get a little too tired during the day to work for four or five hours in my garden at night." But, nevertheless, he loves flowers.

Mr. Elliott and his wife reside in the old family home, immediately north of his shop. They have one son, George, and two grandchildren, of whom they are mighty proud, too.

RADIOPHOTO BRINGS SON HOME . . . John Langaves, New York, sees his son, Christos, who is in Germany, via radiophote. The 21-year-old son was under treatment of doctors in a Berlin hospital. The young GI, listed as AWOL since January 16, told United States authorities that he was arrested by Russian police as a spy suspect and kept in captivity for the five months he was missing. He accused the Russian captors of brutal and animal-like treatment of him. Medical examination showed he was suffering malnutrition. The Russians voluntarily released him and allowed him to return to the American zone. U. S. military police checked his story while he received medical attention.

Ohio Yearly Meeting Of Friends In Damascus

The Ohio Yearly Meeting of the Friends Church will convene in annual session at Damascus, Ohio, August 23 to 28.

Representing more than eighty churches in Ohio, Michigan, Iowa, North Carolina and Virginia, this will be the one hundred and thirty-seventh annual gathering of the yearly meeting.

The week will feature reports by the Superintendent of Foreign Missions, Reverend Walter R. Williams, D.D., and by the General Superintendent, Reverend Claude A. Roane.

The visiting speaker will be Reverend J. G. Bringdale, D. D., of Seattle, Washington, who will preach each day at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Clerks of the yearly meeting are Ralph S. Coppock, Alliance, Ohio, and Edward Escolme, Tecumseh, Michigan. Music will be in charge of Earl Smith.

A special feature of this year's session will be a daily broadcast at 7:30 to 8:00 p.m. over Station WCMW, Canton, Ohio, which operates on a frequency of 1060 kilocycles.

In addition to the gospel services, business sessions will be held each morning and afternoon.

Bryan And Sisson Families In Reunion

The 44th annual reunion of the Bryan and Sisson families was held Sunday, August 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bryan. A picnic dinner was enjoyed on the lawn by some 43 members present.

During the business meeting letters were read from relatives in Herlong, Calif., Oberlin, Kas., Guymor, Okla., McCook, Neb., Fort Collins, Colo., Charleston, W. Va., and Muskegon and Durand, Mich. Data to complete a family tree, which was started a year ago, was collected. Miss Edna Bryan of Florida forwarded an article concerning the origin of the name "Bryan," as compiled at Washington, D. C. It contained many interesting facts about the name and early families bearing it.

Officers re-elected for the coming year are: president, Oscar Bryan; vice president, Frederick Bryan; secretary and treasurer Mrs. Floyd Bryan. Mrs. Bert Kopka was introduced by the president and gave a number of amusing readings. Frederick Bryan showed moving pictures to the children and presented each child with favors. Next year's reunion will be held at the Frederick Bryan home in Britton, the third Sunday in August.

TEST RUN . . . Photographers, newspapermen and cheering Berlin civilians greet the U. S. army convoy of 60 trucks and escort vehicles rumbling into Berlin after making the 105-mile run from Helmstedt to Berlin to test the extent of the Soviet restrictions on road traffic. Shortly before the Russians let the trucks through the Helmstedt checkpoint, the Soviets relaxed their "red-tape slowdown" on truck traffic between western Germany and Berlin. Officials weren't sure whether the sending of the convoy had anything to do with the easing of Soviet restrictions, but the vehicles ran into no difficulty and delivered 120 tons of food to feed the population.

Atomic Energy Show At Fair

STATE EXPOSITION VISITORS AT DETROIT TO LEARN OF SECRETS

A tremendous Atomic Energy Show, organized by the United States Atomic Energy Commission, will be one of the most attractive features of the Centennial Michigan State Fair September 2 through 11 in Detroit.

This was announced by James D. Friel, State Fair general manager, upon his return from Oak Ridge, Tennessee where he and a committee flew to make arrangements for the 14-ton official atomic energy show.

Accompanying Friel were Edwin Smith, a Fair Board Member of Detroit, and Stanley Telesa, assistant Fair Manager.

This will be the first public viewing of the complete show. Portions of the show are still under construction but will be completed by Fair time. There will be no admission charge.

Among the projects demonstrated by the show will be:

1. What atomic energy is
2. History of atomic energy
3. Effect of radiation poison
4. Peacetime application of atomic energy.

The 14 divisions of the show include the Martland Exhibit, the Watch Dial Counter, Isotopes Exhigit, Instrument Branch Exhibit, the Ven de Graff Generator, the Wilson Cloud Chamber, a fission tube, Kellex Corporation Nuen Reactor, a cartoon exhibit "Dagwood Splits the Atom" and a Dime Eradicator.

The Dime Eradicator is a device for changing a spectator's dime into cadmium in a matter of seconds.

The atomic energy show will be housed in White Hall at the Fair grounds. It will occupy more than 2,000 square feet and portions will be more than eight feet high.

Friel was jubilant that the Michigan State Fair will present the show as a centennial feature. A number of other groups and organizations were seeking the first showing but it was awarded to the Michigan State Fair.

The American Chemical Society Exhibit from the Brookhaven Laboratory and the Atomic Energy Commission in Long Island, New York, may be included in the show. Teless will fly there this week.

Traffic Deaths On Down Grade

MONTH OF JUNE SHOWED 26 PER CENT CUT OVER YEAR AGO, POLICE SAY

June was the third consecutive month in which there has been a downward trend in traffic deaths in Michigan, according to the monthly statistical report of the State Police.

Fatalities numbered 87, a reduction of 31, or 26 per cent, under the 118 killed in the same month a year ago. There were 3,352 persons injured, a reduction of 191, or five per cent, but total reported accidents increased to 11,165, a gain of 245, or two per cent.

As during April and May, most of the net fatality reduction was on rural trunkline highways, but there was also a substantial decrease in urban areas.

During the first six months of this year there have been 586 persons killed, 18,034 injured and 66,760 accidents reported. Compared with the same period last year, there were 11 fewer deaths, or two per cent, injuries increased 223, or one per cent, and reported accidents were down 2,183, or three per cent.

Bicycle and ran-off-roadway deaths increased, while there was a reduction in pedestrian fatalities and those caused by collisions.

Mileage for the month of May, the last month for which figures are now available, showed a gain of six per cent over the same month a year ago. Mileage for the first five months showed a four per cent increase as compared with the same period of 1948 and the death rate per one hundred million miles of travel was down one per cent.

Ann: "Don't blame your house . . . what you need is a Lennox Heating System! Why, you'd have warm air flowing gently through every room, without drafts or temperature differences between the ceilings and floors!"

Betty: "Wouldn't temperatures change when the furnace is going and stopping?"

Ann: "No—a Lennox works most all the time, gives you temperature changes less than a teeny fraction of a degree!"

STORY OF THE BIBLE

Rahab Conceals The Two Spies

When God bade Joshua to lead His people into the land of Canaan, the Israelite leader sent two men to the wicked city of Jericho to learn all they could about that fortress. Now when the two spies entered Jericho they met a woman named Rahab and stopped to speak with her. Meanwhile the king of Jericho learned the whereabouts of the men of Israel and sent soldiers to kill them.

But the woman Rahab was a woman of God, and she hid the men under stalks of flax on the flat roof of her home. And the soldiers departed without finding them. Then Rahab helped the men to escape from Jericho, and the two Israelites promised Rahab she and her home would not be harmed when the armies of Israel captured the city.

Today there are many women of God like Rahab who are not afraid to do righteous works despite great personal risks. These women are active workers for the church in every community. Support your church by taking a vital interest in its great work. Attend your church services every Sunday.

Michigan Mirror

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

Has your home-town attracted new industries since VJ-Day?

Many small towns in Michigan have.

Any traveler in Michigan who visits small towns is instantly impressed with this fact. Industrial decentralization — that $20 phrase for the splitting up of big business into little business — is putting new payrolls and pep into many Michigan communities of less than 10,000 population.

Even Henry Ford II has conceded that the River Rouge plant, soon to be the stage for another costly and wasteful strike, has become too big to be run efficiently. The snarls of city traffic do not help any, either. City life isn't what it's cracked up to be for both the manufacturer and the worker. Hence the continuing trend of industry into small cities and towns.

A "Michigan Mirror" survey offers these spot examples of Michigan small towns which have attracted new industries since the war:

Gladstone—$80,000 branch plant of the Coleman Canning Company of Coleman, Wisconsin. From 150 to 200 persons will be employed during the season.

Baldwin—Packing Material Company, making cartons and mounts for refrigerators and stoves. (Union demands for same wage scale as Detroit and Flint have resulted in plant shutdown at frequent intervals.)

Blissfield — Blissfield Manufacturing Company, employing 23 persons, makes refrigerator units.

St. Ignace—Paul Bunyan Company and Barrett Logging Company, manufacturers of FHA-approved half-log pre-cut or prefabricated homes and producers of lumber and logs, kiln dried.

Gaylord — Standard Products Company employs 55 men and women with $3,000 weekly payroll, Branch of Standard Products Company of Port Clinton, Ohio. This firm makes door channels for General Motors and other automobile manufacturers.

Clare — Clare Manufacturing Company, home industry which makes carburetor parts for Fort Motors Company. Payroll for 200 to 400 persons.

Cedar Springs—The "Red Flannel Town" has a new industry, Blockraft, Inc., which moved from Grand Rapids and makes high grade wooden blocks and toy departments. Payroll for 30 persons.

St. Johns—Sealed Power Corporation with 200 employees makes piston rings. Division of Muskegon plant. Also, Federal-Mogul Corporation, also with 200 workers, a division of a Detroit plant.

Harrisville—A group of businessmen of Harrisville formed the Industrial Development association and bought five acres of land within the city limits. Building was leased to Erb & Marshall of Port Huron, makers of "Kenwood" winter garments. At present 25 women are employed; 50 women will be at work by January 1.

Sturgis—Six new industries furnish employment for 270 persons and $12,150 weekly payroll; Grava-Flow Company, plumbing equipment; Sanitor Company, restroom equipment; Sturgis Carton Company, packing cartons; Sturgis Foundry Company, auto parts; Universal Diesel Company, Diesel engine parts, and M & R Dietetic Laboratories, Inc., processed milk foods. M & R is a branch of Columbus, Ohio, concern. Others are independents.

Newberry—Atlas Plywood Company, employing 120; Flint River Fuel & Lumber Co., employign 40. Both are branch firms.

Bangor—Here is one of the top Michigan small towns in point of industrial progress. Listen to this: Six new industries furnish employment for approximately 500 persons; 150 new homes built during past 18 months. Municipally owned baseball, softball, football park rebuilt and lighted. Village debt free. Six new business buildings in past two years.

The firms: Standard Coil Products, radio parts manufacturer, branch of Chicago firm; De-Wel Metal products from Chicago in 1946 employs 80 men; Bangor Plastics, branch of Benton Harbor firm; Howard Engineering Co., from Otsego; Well-Made Garmet Company, feeder branch of Chicago main factory.

If your town is not attracting new industry, we recommend you visit Bangor and see for yourself!

These are a few examples of industrial progress in Michigan small towns.

Other illustrations will appear in the "Michigan Mirror" here next week.

Try this on your stereoscope!

But, today, there's an invention that beats those stereoscopic pictures all hollow. No—it isn't television.

It's the Payroll Savings Plan—an automatic method of saving that all but puts you on that liner and says "bon voyage."

So simple, so painless, so sure—the Payroll Savings Plan sets aside a small part of your earnings each and every pay day, puts it in United States Savings Bonds.

And those bonds grow and GROW. In ten short years they pay you back $4 for every $3 you put in today.

A self-fattening investment—guaranteed by Uncle Sam—that will let you do things for your family and for yourself that you could never do without such a convenient plan.

And, if you're not on a payroll, there's the equally convenient, equally profitable Bond-A-Month Plan at your bank.

Latin Press Is Given Warning

MUST KEEP ALERT IF FREEDOM IS TO CONTINUE, PUBLISHERS ARE TOLD

QUITO, ECUADOR—The fifth Inter-American Press Congress has been told that freedom of the press [illegible] Latin-American countries.

A 6,000-word report presented to the press freedom committee warned that newspapers should "keep themselves eternally vigilant against the possible abuse of power by the state." It made no recommendations.

Julia Garzon, editor of La Prensa, New York Spanish language daily, presented the report. He is secretary of the press freedom committee set up by the fourth Press Congress at Bogota, in November, 1946.

Other members of the study committee are Tom Wallace, editor emeritus of the Louisville Times; Dr. Pedro Cue, director of El Mundo of Havana; Dr. Luis Ignacio Andrade, manager of El Siglo of Bogota; and Bernardo Ponce member of the staff of Excelsior of Mexico City.

Portions of the report quoted from an Associated Press review of world censorship on June 5. The report expressed the hope that "the right to freedom of thought should become universal."

The position of the press in Argentina was dealt with at length because of the great influence the newspapers in that country have had in the Spanish-speaking world.

The report noted "specific cases of police censorship and postal hindrances" in Argentina and observed that [illegible] newspapers there "have endured during the last 10 years various difficulties, pressures and even violence."

Summing up the situation in Argentina, the report said: "Without exerting prior censorship, there is a resort to indirect means to impede the printing of a publication or to prevent its distribution."

Government rationing of newsprint in Argentina was "anomalous and partial," the report said. It observed that various newspapers had suspended because of inability to get newsprint or because of government regulations of various types.

The report pointed out that the Government of Panama recently announced the lifting of censorship there last spring and said the Bolivian press enjoys "natural guarantees" and is permitteed to criticize the present regime.

The position of the press in Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Peru, Venezuela, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Colombia also was discussed.

In Cuba, the report said, one radio station was closed for a short time on the grounds that it was in arrears on taxes, and a Communist station was closed for good. There has been no interference with newspapers, the report added.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

SHE LOOKS LIKE A KITTY, BUT HAS SOME OF DOG'S CHARACTERISTICS

Siamese Cats Got War Training, Same As German Police Dogs

Just as it takes all kinds of people to make up a world, so does it take all kinds of cats and, strangely enough, one of the world's strangest cats is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Adamson of 401 West Kilbuck street.

Lu Ling, 9-year-old Siamese kitty, with blue eyes and fawn seal point markings on her ears, is Tecumseh's strangest pussy. She is the only cat of her kind in Tecumseh, and while there may be a few other in the county, it is said that there are probably not more than a dozen or so of the animals in Michigan.

Siamese cats, while they resemble the American cat, also have many of the characteristics of a dog. They appear to have the dog's instinct to follow their master and they also desire their master's undivided attention. For instance, Lu Ling resents being "forgotten" when the Adamsons leave home and, likewise, she greatly enjoys a ride in the car with them. She likes to retire about 10:45 in the evening and, if there's company in the house, she promptly goes to the foot of the stairs and begins her cry. And, too, Siamese cats cry differently than American cats. They have a different voice.

Lu Ling is fussy about her food. She likes meat and she wants it cooked. There her menu ends, except for fruit. She is especially fond of apples, apricots, pears, peaches, etc. She will consume some milk, but it first must sour. She likes so-called "store cheese" and some of the fancy cheeses but she refuses to eat cottage cheese. Vegetables are definitely out.

The main difference between a Siamese cat and an ordinary cat is that the Siamese cat is shorter and, perhaps, a little taller, and has a deeper voice. Like all cats, they shed the nails on their front feet every so often. Their hind legs are a little longer than their front legs, and they have the greatest power in their hind legs.

"Lu used to be a fighter, and it didn't matter whether it was a cat or a dog," Mr. Adamson said. "She kept them all out of our yard but, of late, since she's older, her disposition seems to have improved."

Lu was born in Falls Church, Va., and the Adamsons got her as a kitten. Her father and her great-grandfather were imported from Siam. She was born, according to her birth certificate, on July 15, 1940. Siamese cats usually live until they are about 20 years of age.

Mr. Adamson has made a study

You'd never guess that Lu Ling, sitting peacefully on the lap of her master, Geo. H. Adamson, was capable of being trained for war duty the same as German Police dogs were trained during World War II. Nevertheless, in some of the early wars, Siamese cats played an important part, according to historians. Lu Ling is the only Siamese kitty in Tecumseh and is one of about a dozen in Michigan.

BRAVES TO TRAVEL TO MONROE FOR FIRST TILT IN 194 SEASON

By Max Brandt

Tecumseh's semi-pro football team, the Braves, has been practicing nightly for the last two and one-half weeks, preparing for the first tilt on September 11, when they will travel to Monroe.

The team this year is composed of several veteran players from last year along with some new recruits. Between 25 and 30 players have been "sweating off those extra pounds" and getting themselves into condition for the coming season. Neville Hart, former Tecumseh high school coach, is coaching the squad this year.

This is the second year that Tecumseh has had a semi-pro team, and from what the local fans saw last year, Tecumseh can expect some very good football this year. Coach Hart has less than two weeks before the Braves open their season by traveling to Monroe.

Coach Hart will use the single wing and short punt formation for his attack this year and this should provide some exciting and high scoring football for the fans.

The Braves this year will play games on Saturday and Sunday nights at the Recreation Center field.

The season's schedule is as follows:

September 11, Monroe, away, 2:30 p.m.; September 17, N. Toledo Merchants, home, 8:15 p.m.; September 21, Adrian, away, 8 p.m.; September 25, Hudson, away, 2:15 p.m.; October 2, Rossford, O., away, 2:15 p.m.; October 8, Adrian, home, 8:15 p.m.; October 12, Coldwater, 8:15 p.m.; October 16, Fenton, away, 2:15 p.m.

MRS. EVA A. CASE DIES FROM INJURY

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Dunn Funeral Home in Onsted for Mrs. Eva A. Case, 86, who died at Adrian Bixby hospital Sunday afternoon. Burial was in Madison cemetery.

Mrs. Case had suffered a broken hip 30 days ago and had been a patient at the hospital since then. Born in Adrian township July 29, 1863, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Howell. She was a lifelong resident of Lenawee county. She was a member of the Tecumseh Friends church, Adrian Rebekah lodge and a life member of the Grange.

BURIED AT CLINTON

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon from the Hause Funeral Home in Clinton for Mrs. Jennie Young, 83, who died Thursday morning at the Parrett Nursing Home in Tecumseh where she had been a patient for three weeks. The Rev. C. S. Riggio officiated and burial was in Riverside cemetery, Clinton.

Surviving are a son, Orel E. Young of Morenci, Ariz., and a granddaughter. Her husband, Edway C. Young, died three years ago.

Board Orders Payment Of Anniversary Bills

The board of directors of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, in meeting Tuesday evening, authorized the underwriting of the deficit incurred in the recent 125th Anniversary Celebration, staged by that organization and ending July 5.

The report to the board showed that the total expense of the celebration was $14,286.34 and that receipts amounted to $10,783.11, and that the deficit was $3,503.10. Of that amount, it was pointed out, $357.60 was invested in flags and other decorations which can be used for subsequent events.

The board reviewed the statement and then ordered the remaining unpaid bills to be paid from the Chamber's treasury. The largest single item of expense was $3,000, paid to the John B. Rogers Co., for the staging of the pageant.

Donkey Game Seen By 1,200

By Max Brandt

Before a laughing crowd of 1,200 fans, the champion V. F. W. softball team played a donkey game with an all-star team, composed of players from the other five teams in the civic league, Monday evening, under the lights, at Recreation Center.

But it was the donkeys that put on the show, for most of the players spent the evening on the ground. The game ended in a one to one tie for two reasons. The first and biggest reason was because the players couldn't get on and stay on the donkeys. The fans had many laughs during these stunts.

The players had a second headache—one of many aches and pains—because after they did get on the animals, the beasts of burden had a mind and will all of their own as to where and when they would move.

Presbyterians Resume School

ENLARGED BASEMENT WILL AFFORD NEW CLASSROOMS ON SUNDAY

Entering its second year under "Christian Faith and Life—a program for Church and Home," the Presbyterian Church School will commence its 1949-50 year this Sunday, September 4, at 10 a.m.

For the past six weeks the church school has been recessed. When the pupils return next Sunday they will find completely new facilities for the children of the younger departments. The completed new basement will afford room for classes which have outgrown their former room space.

Parents of children in the beginner and primary departments are urged to accompany their children to church school this Sunday in order that they may help them find their proper class rooms.

The teaching program of the Presbyterian church throughout the country will be on the theme, "The Story the Bible Tells." This is the second part of the three-year cycle now in use. Last year the theme was, "The Life of Jesus Christ," this year, "The Bible," and next year the theme will be "The History of the Christian Church." On the completion of this cycle, the three themes will be repeated. Thus, the pupil who has come up through the church school will, on completion, have studied each of the three above subjects at five different age levels.

Parents of all church school pupils are invited and urged to avail themselves of the parents' material provided for their home use in working with their children. Further word will come to them regarding the Parents' Preview later in September and Rally Day, September 25.

CLINTON HOMECOMING REPORTED A SUCCESS

CLINTON — The Chamber of Commerce here reported complete success in its three-day home coming event ending Sunday, with a net profit for the organization of about $2,500. The affair featured concerts by six bands, a carnival with rides and concessions, and a program of fireworks. The balloon ascension, scheduled for Saturday night, was called off because of rain.

Quaker Plant Shares Profits

LOCAL EMPLOYEES SPLIT $6,500 "MELON" IN JOB DIVIDENDS

It was Christmas in August at the Tecumseh plant of the Quaker Oats Company as 53 employees received nearly $6,500 in annual profit-sharing checks, last Friday.

This 14th yearly "job dividend" added an average of about $122 to local employees' regular earnings during Quaker's recently ended business year. Donald T. Nixon, plant manager, explained that the profit-sharing checks went to all permanent employees. He said that eligibility of an employee is chiefly dependent upon six months or more of service.

Similar checks also went out to workers in Quaker's Chicago headquarters and in its other plants, grain elevators and sales offices in various parts of the country. Total profit-sharing sum this year was nearly $991,000.

Voluntarily established by management in 1936, the plan sets aside for profit-sharing each year a fixed percentage of Quaker earnings after preferred stock dividends, but before taxes and common stock dividends.

Most important, the plant allows employees to share profits whenever Quaker has a successful year by providing them an income over and above their regular earnings.

During the 14 years of Quaker's profit-sharing plan, employees have shared a total of $8,105,250.

A letter from Donold B. Lourie, Quaker president, accompanied each profit-sharing check. He reported that "this past year we were able to hold volume on most items. We have lowered our selling prices on a number of our cereals, ready-mixes and dog food products. Further, our livestock and poultry feed prices have been adjusted weekly. We have tried to do our part in bringing down the cost of living."

He further told employees that if the company is to be competitive and maintain good earnings in the new fiscal year, the cost of doing business must be lowered. He asked employees to help watch daily expenses and look for ways of doing their jobs more effectively.

Home Talent Benefit Show Has 20 Acts

EVERYTHING IS ARRANGED, CHAIRMAN SAYS, FOR SEPT. 9 ENTERTAINMENT

Practically all of the details have been worked out and rehearsals are scheduled for the 20-act amateur "radio show" that will be staged at Recreation Center here, Friday evening, September 9, at 8 o'clock, Robert H. Moore, general chairman, said today. The show is sponsored by the Rotary Club and all profits will be turned over to the Center to swell its rapidly-dwindling treasury. In the event of rain, Mr. Moore said, the show will be given in the high school auditorium.

"Rotary is interested in this show for two reasons," Mr. Moore said. "First, we want to make some money for the Center and, second, we want to give those folk who attend a bang-up entertainment. I believe that we will succeed, and I hope, sincerely, that the community will respond."

R. O. Bashore, pastor of the Baptist church, will act as master of ceremonies and he will be assisted by George Rogers of Station WPAG, Ann Arbor. The show will be staged in the fashion of all radio amateur entertainments. There will be four or six acts, including local talent, from Rae Nita's Dance Studios at Jackson, and 10 to 12 acts from Monroe, including the winners at a radio show presented at the Monroe County Fair. There will be quartet numbers, accordion numbers, tap and ballet dancing, hill billy and many others. The Tecumseh high school band will play and Babe House will appear with her Hammond organ.

Tickets for the entertainment are now on sale by all Rotarians and at Hodges, Wrights, Cameron's Drug Stores, Butler Motor Sales, R. S. Moore & Son Co., and The Herald. Adult admission is 60 cents, children 30 cents, including tax.

A coupon in another page of this newspaper may be used by those desiring to enter their act in the show. The coupon should be left at the Hodge store. Winners will be decided by an applause meter and prizes will be awarded.

MOTOR DAMAGED

About $75 worth of damage was done to the electric motor of the walk-in meat cooler at the East End Meat Market on South Maumee street, when fire was discovered Friday at 7:30 a.m. The Tecumseh fire department answered the call and extinguished the flames. The cause of the fire is unknown.

NEW TYPE REGISTRATION FOR HI SCHOOL; KINDERGARTENERS MUST SEE DOCTOR

An enrollment of over 1,050 pupils is expected next Wednesday, September 7, when doors of the Tecumseh schools are opened to begin the 1949-1950 school year. Classes will be held in 10 locations with a total of 39 instructors on the teaching staff.

A new form of enrolling for classes will be initiated by the high school on the opening day when all students from the seventh through the 12th grades will be classified alphabetically according to their last names, Earl H. Place, superintendent, said today.

Enrolling will take place in the high school gymnasium and those with last names beginning with A to E will sign up at 9 a.m., from F to K, 10 a.m.; L to Q, 11 a.m.; R to T, 1 p.m.; U to Z, 2 p.m. A book rental card must be purchased before the student may classify.

A three dollar fee will be collected from all students from grades seven through 12, Mr. Place said. The grade students will enroll at the locations indicated in last week's Herald and the book rental fee for these pupils is $2.50.

MOTORISTS! WATCH OUT FOR THE CHILDREN

There'll Be A Million Kids On Way To School Next Week

Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Lee M. Thurston, today announced the launching of a Child Safety Program for the month of September.

"Nearly 4,500 school children were killed or injured in pedestrian and bicycle accidents in Michigan last year," he said.

Dr. Thurston emphasized the fact that with the reopening of schools over one million children once more will be crossing the street. Tens of thousands of them will be crossing the street on the way to and from school for the first time.

The September Child Safety Program is sponsored by the Michigan State Safety Commission, of which the State Department of Public Instruction is a member and its 69 Member Advisory Committee. The commission has conducted a series of nine zone meetings throughout the state at which the program was presented to law enforcement, school and safety officials. Over 200 communities and over 300 law enforcement agencies will participate in the program.

"I hope that every school in Michigan will invite a law enforcement officer to participate in its safety program," Dr. Thurston said.

The schools of Michigan, with the cooperation of the safety agencies, are doing one of the best jobs in the country of teaching children to walk safely. But even the best trained child is apt to forget, especially in September when they have been away from their teachers for three months. Thus, all drivers should adopt the slogan "Watch Out for Kids."

Nearly 9,000 parents had their homes saddened by traffic accidents to their children last year. I appeal particularly to the parents in Michigan to support this program. "Remember, the next saddened home may be your own."

Dr. Thurston expressed appreciation for the assistance being given to the public educational part of the program by the Michigan Oil Industry Public Information Committee. The oil industry is contributing 127 outdoor advertising billboards, 3,700 posters in filling stations, 50,000 leaflets, 400 street car and bus posters and over 100,000 safety buttons for children, all carrying the message "Watch Out for Kids."

MR. HOOVER'S SPEECH RANKS WITH LINCOLN'S
(Put This In Your Scrap Book)

Herbert Hoover's speech at Palo Alto warned Americans they were riding to a "dead-end . . . on the last mile to collectivism."

"Think of the Next Generation," he pleaded. Government Spending, he declared, threatens to "rob posterity of its inheritance."

He said the average citizen works 61 days a year to support the Government and pay its bill, and that proposed additional spending would add another 20 days' work.

"You might want to work for your family instead of paying for a gigantic bureaucracy," he challenged.

Mr. Hoover said:

"The American mind is troubled by the growth of Collectivism throughout the World."

"We have a few hundred thousand Communists and their fellow-travelers in this country. They cannot destroy the Republic. They are a nuisance and require attention. We also have the doctrinaire Socialists who peacefully dream of their Utopia."

"But there is a considerable group of fuzzy-minded people who are engineering a compromise with all these European infections. They fail to realize that our American system has grown away from the systems of Europe for 250 years. They have the foolish notion that a collectivist economy can at the same time preserve personal liberty and constitutional government."

"Most Americans do not believe in these compromises with Collectivism. But they do not realize that through governmental spending and taxes, our Nation is blissfully driving down the back road to it at top speed. . . ."

"Aggression of groups and agencies against the people as a whole is not a process of free men," he declared. "Special privilege either to business or groups is not liberty . . . our officials are forced to think in terms of pressure groups, not in terms of need of the whole people. Think it over."

Highlights of Herbert Hoover's 75th birthday address included:

No Nation grows stronger by subtraction.

Along this road of spending, the Government either takes over, which is socialism, or dictates institutional and economic life, which is facism.

Most Amerifans do not believe in compromises with Collectivism. But they do not realize that through government spending and taxes our Nation is blissfully driving down the back road to it at top speed.

The steady lowering of the standard of living by this compromised Collectivist system under the title "austerity" in England should be a sufficient spectacle. It aims at a fuller life but it ends in a ration.

We have not had a great socialization of property. But we are on the last mile to Collectivism through government collection and spending of the savings of the people.

Thinking and debate on these questions must not be limited to legislative halls. We should debate them in every school. We should resort to the old cracker barrel debate in every corner grocery.

As spendthrifts we are on our way to rob posterity of its inheritance.

Tuberculosis Is On Decline

DISEASE IS RAPIDLY LOSING GROUND AS A MAJOR HEALTH ENEMY

Tuberculosis in Michigan continues to lose ground in one of the major public health advances in the state's history, Dr. John A. Cowan, director of the division of tuberculosis and venereal disease control, said today.

The disease which took the lives of 104 persons in every 100,000 of the state's population in 1900, took the lives of only 25 per 100,000 population in 1948. The disease has been pushed from second to ninth cause of death in the state in the past half century.

Credit for victories in the battle, most of which have occurred in the past three decades, should probably be given to improved methods of treatment which made huge onslaughts on the disease in the 1925 to 1930's and to new "wonder" drugs recently put in use; to better casefinding including the mobile chest x-ray units of the Michigan Department of Health; federally purchased units for x-ray of persons entering general hospitals and x-ray services of industries and other organizations; as well as to prompt hospitalization made possible by better casefinding. Other considerable factors are the state aid to counties for hospitalization of the tuberculous, and the work of state and county tuberculosis association.

Michigan now stands seventeenth among the 48 states with its death rate of 25.2 and its rate compares favorably with the national rate of 29.8.

Dr. Cowan pointed out that while at the turn of the century in Michigan, "Consumption" struck down frail young women and children in their school years, tuberculosis is now taking on an entirely different aspect. Almost two-thirds of the 1948 deaths from the disease were among men and more than two-thirds of the deaths were of people over 40 years of age.

Further advances against the disease will be made through increased casefinding among Michigan people who are in the last half of their "three score and ten," Dr. Cowan said.

WILMINGTON, DEL. — Board Chairman Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of General Motors Corporation, predicted there would be plenty of new cars to go around by the end of this year.

"In all probability the latter part of the year will see a lowering of existing production levels on the part of all producers, General Motors included," he told more than 400 stockholders at the annual meeting here.

However, Mr. Sloan said he expected the number of potential new automobile pu[illegible] to remain well above prewar levels. He expressed a similar opinion on business conditions in general.

He pointed out that business has been moving toward a lower level and added that "nobody knows when the new level will be reached or what it will be."

"But," he said, "it is my opinion that the new level will be, in terms of physical volume of production, considerably higher than the general prewar level."

Second quarter earnings of General Motors, Mr. Sloan declared, should compare favorably with the first quarter net income of $136,763,338 or $3.04 a common share.

The company, he said, has "no present plans" to produce a smaller car.

General Motors expenditures for plant facilities and special tools are continuing at an annual rate [illegible],000,000 in excess of depreciation and amortization, Mr. Sloan continued. This, he said, influenced the corporation to retain in the business a larger percentage of profits.

But "the corporation's capital position has been strengthened to the point where it is more in line with current needs," Mr. Sloan added, and "therefore it is hoped that our dividend policy may move in the direction of the prewar pattern." He described the common dividends of $1.25 for the first two 1949 quarters as "in line with that trend."

Kroger

Sink or Swim

One difference between old, tough peas — and young, tender peas — is that the old ones sink and the young ones float in a salt-water solution. On the basis of that fact Kroger Food Foundation scientists have developed a highly accurate method of determining maturity and quality of peas. This test is one of many used by the Food Foundation to safeguard the quality of food sold in your Kroger store.

War Babies To Enter School

"Are your children ready for school—from a health standpoint?" This question, Dr. A. E. Heustis, state health commissioner, asked Michigan parents today.

"Michigan's second contingent of "war babies," 110,000 strong, will enter school for the first time this fall. Every one of them should be in the best health possible and should be protected against diphtheria, whooping cough, smallpox and lockjaw before he takes his place in the schoolroom," Dr. Heustis advised.

"Many Michigan children received their immunization treatments or booster doses during the statewide immunization campaign in May, but those children who have not had immunization or booster doses should be taken to a physician at once," Dr. Heustis said.

The Michigan Department of Health recommends immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough, smallpox and lockjaw before the child's first birthday, followed by booster doses against diphtheria, whooping cough and lockjaw at three years and booster doses against all four diseases at age five, before the child enters school.

"The new school situation will place added demands on the child's energy and morale. He should be in the best health possible to enjoy and adapt himself to the new situation and to get the most from it," Dr. Heustis pointed out.

"If the child who is to enter school this fall has not had a complete physical examination in the past six months he should be taken to a physician for examination now. Where treatment is recommended, the physician's advice should be followed at once to insure optimum health when school opens.

"The child should get plenty of rest before school opens. He should be protectd from unnecessary exposure to disease, but his adjustment to school life will be better if he is allowed to play with other children in his own neighborhood.

"Then one other precaution: Show the child the safest route to school, and take him over it, pointing out any hazards which may exist. Present day protection against communicable disease makes accidents the greatest threat to child life in Michigan," the Health Commissioner said.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aylesworth

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aylesworth will observe their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday, September 6, at their farm home three and one-half miles northwest of Tecumseh, where they have lived all their married life.

Fred F. Aylesworth and Elsie O. Updike were united in marriage September 6, 1899, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Updike of Tecumseh, by the Rev. W. L. Farnum, pastor of the Tecumseh Baptist church. They were attended by Earl Updike of Tecumseh and Aileen McCollum Berger of Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Aylesworth have one son Raynor, and two grandsons, Douglas and Ramon. No celebration is being planned.

of Siamese cats and he says that until about the turn of the century they were not permitted out of Siam. Originally, they were owned by Siamese royalty and were taught to fight in early wars much the same as German police dogs were taught during the last two wars. Only the royalty owned the cats.

About 1900 some of the cats were smuggled to England and later to the United States. Now they may be imported.

Mr. Adamson has done some world traveling, is an authority on precious stones, and is an expert watchmaker. He designed watches that were used by the United States during World War II, and he is the owner of Time Laboratory, Tecumseh.

Asked why he hunted for years until he was able to buy a Siamese cat he replied: "I guess I just wanted something different in cats. I like to have things a bit different and what I have I like to have as nearly perfect as possible." He didn't say so, but apparently he believes that Siamese cats are the most perfect cats. And they should be, they are priced from $100 up.

Schools Expect

construction before or at Christmas time, the superintendent declared. When this occurs classes will be discontinued in all the churches, library basement, Youth Center, and East Branch school. Students attending school in these locations will be housed in the central building.

In order to enter kindergarten a child must be five years of age on or before December 1, 1949, according to a state ruling. All parents of kindergarten children are to take their children to a physician for a physical checkup before school begins. Dr. H. C. Huntley, Lenawee county health officer, has directed this move. Forms to be filled out by the physician can be secured at the superintendent's office in the high school building for those parents who received none from the census taker.

Home visitations will be conducted by the grade school faculty Wednesday afternoon and all day Thursday and Friday, when the teachers will call upon the parents of the students they have enrolled in their classes. These visitations are designed to acquaint teachers and parents with specific problems which may be encountered with the children.

The junior and senior high school students will take part in a special testing program on the same days. Believing that the guidance program should function effectively for the benefit of the student, Mr. Place said the data from these tests will provide students and teachers with valuable information concerning interests, abilities and aptitudes of students.

Beginning Monday, September 12, all grades will begin at 8:45 a. m. and at 1 p.m. All sections of the kindergarten, first, second and third will be dismissed at 11:30 a. m. and 3:30 p.m. All other grades will be dismissed at 11:45. In the afternoon grades four, five and six will be dismissed at 3:45 and the junior and senior high school at 4 p.m.

The Lenawee County Fair Board has designated Friday, September 23, as "Tecumseh Day," when the high school band will appear in the parade. Local schools will be dismissed so that all students may attend.

Donkey Game

The two teams spent a lot of the time chasing the donkeys around the field after they were so rudely tossed off their mounts. Polley scored the V. F. W. run in the second inning on a homer, while the all-stars tied it up when Feight scored in the third inning.

Several of the boys were given some gentle jolts from the flying hoofs of the donkeys. The fans who saw the game came away with sore sides from laughing at the antics of this new style softball game.

Coach Duvall also presented the local American Legion Junior baseball team, county champs, with a trophy, and each player was given a miniature baseball player on a pedestal.

This was the first year for the civic league and it is the hope of the organization next year to expand both in teams and playing nights.

The line-ups for Monday night's game are as follows.

VFW	All-Stars
Spooner	Henkel
Garlick	Driscoll
Chase	VanWinkle
Mueller	Young
Polley	Judd
Brandt	Boyd
Starkey	Hamilton
Hamilton	Cameron
Randall	Whitt
Crosby	Shaltz
Louden	Swarts

Safety Contest

Committee and other safety organizations.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, in a letter to L. D. Crusoe, vice-president and general manager of the Ford Division, said:

"Certainly every motorist should check and double check the mechanical condition of his car for safety's sake, and you at Ford are making such a check easily available for all drivers throughout the country.

"And I am sure that this free check-up and safety contest, with its attractive prizes, will make Americans more safety conscious—it will save lives."

In order to participate in the contest, Mr. Butler pointed out, motorists must bring their car or truck, of any make, to the dealership for a safety check at absolutely no cost or obligation to the motorist.

Free checks will be made on the brakes, steering, headlights, rear and stop lights, tires, windshield wipers, muffler, glass, horn and rear view mirror.

Butler Motor Sales will place an attractive safe driver reflector insignia on the car or truck inspected and motorist will be given an entry blank to participate in the contest.

The motorist must then complete in no more than 50 additional words the following statement:

"All cars and trucks should be safety-checked periodically because ....."

A jury of prominent persons in national safety circles will judge the winners. Only one entry per car or truck may be entered.

Girl Scouting

purpose of this meeting is to determine the extent of community backing in the Girl Scouting program and the advisability of continuing such a program.

The agenda of the meeting will be:

(1) Inform those present what the council is and who comprises it.

(2) Familiarize those present with problems confronting the association and what they, as a community can do to help.

(3) Decide from those present what troops will be continued this year.

(4) Explain what duties and obligations are expected from each volunteer position in Scouting under the council.

(5) Outline plans for the 1949-50 council year.

The meeting will be called to order by Mrs. Grenval Spangler, retiring president of the Association. She will introduce Mrs. Elven E. Duvall, who is to succeed her on November 1, 1949. The discussion of the agenda will then be conducted with free response from everyone present.

"The Association urges Tecumseh's support and attendance of the meeting because it concerns Tecumseh's daughters," the president emphasized.

Cars Will Kill More Than Polio

AS MANY TO DIE OVER WEEK-END AS ALREADY HAVE DIED OF PARALYSIS

Accidents during the three-day Labor Day weekend alone will take almost as many Michigan lives as polio has taken so far this year, the Michigan Department of Health warned today.

This would not be true, the department said, if people had the same fear of the family automobile that they have of polio. Last year 75 times as many Michigan people died in accidents as died of polio.

Hazards during the Labor Day weekend will be the same as those of any summer weekend, except that excessively heavy traffic will greatly increase the danger of automobile accidents.

Traffic, swimming and boating, over-exertion in the hot sun and falls are the hazards to be considered. Start early and drive with care. Do not mix alcohol with driving, swimming, boating or any exertion in the hot sun. Observe swimming, diving and boating precautions. Remember that you can fracture your skull or break your neck in a fall from a porch rail, off a window ledge or down the cottage steps as well as from a fall from a haywagon or horse.

Have the same respect for Labor Day hazards that you have for polio and you'll be here to vacation another year, the Department concluded.

Gold Covered Statue

TOLEDO—A bronze statue nearly 10 feet high, covered with gold and declared by art experts to be the most important piece of sculpture ever to come to the United States, will be exhibited in the Toledo Museum of Art from September 4 through September 25.

This is the statue of Saint Louis of Toulouse, created by Donatello, of Florence, in 1423.

During World War II the statue, along with other valuable bronzes, was hidden in an unused railway tunnel near Florence.

In the course of five centuries, it had become covered with an extremely hard, green coating, causing doubt whether any trace of the original gilding remained. Upon removal of the statue from the tunnel, the task of proving whether this was the case was undertaken. Two years of hard work revealed the gold in all its shining brilliance.

The City of Florence then lent the statue for exhibition in a few American cities. Voluntary contributions from visitors to the exhibition will be used by Florence in reconstructing its famous and beautiful Santa Trinita bridge, also a product of the Fifteenth Century, which was destroyed by the Germans in 1944.

Miss Rosemond Allen Bride of Robert W. Hoag

Miss Rosemond Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen of Tecumseh and Robert W. Hoag, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoag of Belleville, Mich., were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in the Seventh Day Adventist church in Adrian. Elder George Elstrom, pastor of the church, officiated at the service.

Recorded Hammond organ and harp music was heard by the guests preceding the ceremony. Mrs. Gordon Gove of Tipton sang "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning," accompanied by Barbara Allen of Detroit.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose white satin and net for her wedding gown. An organdy ruffle featured the bodice which was made with a sweetheart neckline and puff sleeves. The full net skirt fell over satin. A tiara of seed pearls crowned the fingertip veil which was edged with lace and the bride carried a cascade of white gladioli centered with pink rosebuds and tied with long satin streamers.

Mrs. Gertrude Luttman of Detroit was matron of honor and was gowned in yellow satin, styled with a full net overskirt. Her veil was in matching yellow and she carried a bouquet of gladioli. The two bridal aids, Miss Anita Allen, sister of the bride, and Miss Esther Hoag, sister of the bridegroom, wore identical gowns of blue and pink, respectively.

Leola Gove, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl and wore a miniature bridal dress and veil.

Some 200 guests attended the reception held at the Tipton Grange Hall. The four-tiered wedding cake was topped by a miniature bride and groom. Miss Vernita Withrow of Tipton presided at the punch bowl. The assisting servers, all gowned in colorful formals, were Miss Marian Murphy of Wampiers Lake, Mrs. Arthur Voss of Tecumseh, Beulah Withrow of Tipton, Ione Marietta of Owosso and Barbara Allen of Detroit. Marian Zumstien was in charge of the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoag will make their home in Lincoln, Neb., where he will enter his last year at Union College. He is studying physical therapy. Mr. Hoag is a veteran of World War II having served two and one-half years with the U. S. Army in the Pacific Theater.

STORY OF THE BIBLE

THE WALLS OF JERICHO

Now Joshua laid seige unto the wicked city of Jericho, and at the Lord's command the people of Israel marched once around the high walls of the city. This the Israelites did for six days, but the walls of Jericho remained impregnable.

"And the Lord said unto Joshua . . . 'Seven priests shall bear before the ark seven trumphets of rams' horns: and the seventh day ye shall compass the city seven times, and the priests shall blow with the trumpets' . . . And the priests blew with the trumpets: and it came to pass . . . that the wall fell down flat. . . . and they took the city."

Joshua was a man who did not ask questions of the Lord but did exactly what the Lord told him. The result was a great miracle. Today your church has need of those men and women who want to obey the commands of God. Help your church in its miraculous crusade against the enemies of righteousness. Your church needs you—you need it!

To Take 'Bound' Out Of Bounding Main

NEW YORK—The United States Navy may soon take the "bound" out of the bounding main.

Naval engineers have devised a new ship-stabilization system designed to reduce the rolling motion of vessels by 80 per cent, according to Third Naval District Headquarters here. Extensive sea tests of the "activated tank" method now are planned at the Naval Shipyard, Norfolk, Va.

Successful stabilization would greatly improve the accuracy of shipboard weapons, say naval ordnancemen and engineers. It would simplify carrier landing operations and expedite the discharge of cargo and troops from anchored vessels in open seaways.

Carrying a prototype of the system, the Peregrine, a large minesweeper, will test its effectiveness in rough weather at sea off the Virginia capes in August. Naval engineers and architects have studied the method for a number of years, but no sea tests have been made since the addition of recent modifications.

Built to operate on a counterbalance principle, the new stabilizer consists of two pairs of large tanks mounted on opposite sides of the ship, the navy explains. Each tank is half filled with ballast water. Transfer ducts across the ship connect the bottoms of the tanks.

Electronic equipment detects the ship's roll almost before it starts and sets pumps at work shifting the water rapidly back and forth to offset the rolling motion, according to the navy.

The system would "cost in weight" less than some other stabilizers (about 1 per cent of a ship's displacement), naval engineers believe. It would increase a ship's monetary cost by about 3 per cent and require 2 per cent of its propulsive power, the engineers estimate.

Naval experiments with the system began in 1937. Suspended in 1940, they were resumed after World War II.

Traffic Takes 2 County Lives

PALMYRA MAN AND BLISSFIELD GIRL FATALLY HURT OVER HOLIDAY WEEK-END

Two Lenawee lives were added to the long list of traffic and accident fatalities over the Labor Day holiday week-end when nation-wide, some 500 persons were killed, a sharp increase over the 280 deaths reported over Labor Day in 1948.

Elon F. Borton, 63, Palmyra, was killed at 11:30 Saturday night as he stepped off a bus on US-23 in Palmyra. He was struck by a car driven by Richard Faussett of Adrian and his body was hurled for several feet. A second car, driven by James Klatz of Toledo, ran over the body. After a police investigation neither driver was held.

Mr. Borton and his wife had returned only a few hours earlier from Detroit where they attended the wedding of their son.

Miss Joan Mae Fritz, 18, Blissfield, was killed Friday afternoon when her car overturned. The accident happened on Silberhorn Road, east of Blissfield. The car left the road, overturned and pinned the girl beneath. Her two companions, Miss Betty Briggs, 16, and Miss Joan Knoblauch, 17, were able to summon help. Miss Fritz died of a broken neck. Her companions were not seriously hurt.

Police and sheriff's officers said that the Palmyra and Blissfield accidents were the only serious mishaps in the county over the holiday. There were several minor accidents, in which cars were damaged and passengers were hurt slightly.

Locally, police said, driving was for the most part "safe and sane," although traffic on M-50 and 52 was extremely heavy.

A car owned by Donald La-Bounty and parked on West Chicago boulevard suffered $75 worth of damage, Monday evening, when it was struck by a car driven by Henry Meyers, Rt. 1, Britton. The accident happened at 9:45. Police said that Meyer's car was damaged to the extent of $200. They gave Meyers a ticket for reckless driving and he is to appear in court today.

Clay R. Carswell, 116 N. Maumee street, suffered bruises Monday at 2:15 a.m., when the car he was driving overturned and struck a fire hydrant on Mill street. The accident happened when the brake on one of the wheels of the car locked. Police said Carswell's car was a total loss.

Emil Tulop, 419 So. Evans street, was given a summons for failing to have an operator's license after his car and another driven by Andras Gonzules of Adrian collided on South Evans street at 3:15 Friday afternoon. Gonzules suffered cuts on his neck and one ear and Tulop's arm and knee were injured. Both cars were damaged.

Injured In Ohio

Donald Smith and his wife, Dorothy, are patients in Citizens hospital, Barberton, Ohio, as the result of an automobile accident which occurred Saturday morning on Route 24, near Barberton.

Mrs. Smith suffered severe head and leg cuts and a broken rib. Doctors are still examining her to determine the full extent of her injuries. Mr. Smith suffered a forehead cut, chest injuries and leg cuts.

The mishap occurred when an automobile in front of the Smiths stopped suddenly causing the Smith car to hit it. Another automobile coming at a high rate of speed behind the Smith car was unable to stop and rammed into the rear end of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who reside in Herrick Park, were enroute to Pennsylvania to visit relatives.

DUSTIN IS DELEGATE TO STATE MEDICS MEET

One Tecumseh doctor of medicine will serve as a delegate to the House of Delegates, policy making body, of the Michigan State Medical Society when that group opens its annual meeting in Grand Rapids on September 18 according to J. S. DeTar, M.D., Milan, speaker of the House.

The representative from this area is R. L. Dustin, M.D.

The House of Delegates will meet prior to the 84th Annual Postgraduate Conference which opens at the Grand Rapids Civic Auditorium, Wednesday, September 21. The conference this year features scientific lectures by more than a score of the leading medical teachers and clinicians in the country.

Flowing Well Found On Newburg Road

After drilling for two weeks, during which time he bored through four feet of slate rock, Christian Ernst, Macon well driller, struck flowing water at a depth of 69 feet on the Myron Harrington farm, which Albert Tonneberger purchased recently. The property is located on the Newburg road.

The water flows at a rate of 36 gallons a minute from a four-inch casing and, Ernst said, if it had been allowed to continue to flow without being capped, in seven days it would have made a lake. The pressure was felt before the rock was even reached, the driller said, and water shoots into the air as high as the house top.

Mr. Tonneberger said he will pipe the water into his house and throughout the barn.

20 Act Show At Recreation Friday Evening

AMATEUR RADIO PERFORMANCE SPONSORED BY ROTARY FOR BENEFIT OF PARK

Twenty acts are scheduled for the Amateur Radio Show to be presented on Friday evening, September 9, at Recreation Center, Robert H. Moore, chairman of the event, said today. The show is sponsored by the Tecumseh Rotary Club and all proceeds will be turned over to the Center in an effort to swell its rapidly dwindling treasury. The show will start at 8 p.m., and, in the event of rain, it will be presented at the high school auditorium.

"We hope to clear $500 from this performance," Mr. Moore said, "and we are operating practically without expense. All of the money that we take in will go directly to Recreation in an effort to keep that project financially sound until we can find other sources of income. The project, in my opinion, deserves civic support and I earnestly hope that a good crowd will attend the Friday show."

Some of the acts on the amateur stage will be from Tecumseh and others will come from other parts of the state through the courtesy of Haddix & Sons of Monroe. Several of the acts were at the Veterans Hospital, Detroit, last week-end.

In the five to 15 year age group, these acts are scheduled: Tap dance, Sonny Liparato; a novelty number, Don Brost; accordion, Joe Caruso; Hawaiian hulu, Belenda Locker; accordion, Sam Bacarella.

In the 10 to 15 year group are these acts: Dance, Marlene Weber; novelty dance, Archie Straits; singing duet, Joan and Dina Surwitz; Stair Steppers, Joan and Dina Guss; Scotch lassies, eight Tecumseh girls; Mexican hat dance, Tecumseh boys and girls; flute solo, Sally Rentschler.

In the 15 to 21 year age group are: Quartet harmonaires, accordion solo, Dick Marino; dance, surprise guest; accordion, Fred Basin; song, James Zieskie; Rumba rhythm, Shirley Soule, Wilma Campbell and Joyce Bullen.

In the over 21 years group are: Guitar hill billy number, Kenny and Coreen Whitaker; one man band, Bob Neff; River Days, Tom Henry; Hammond organ solos, Babe House.

The high school band will play a concert at the beginning and again at the end of the show.

Winners in all classes will be determined by an applause meter and prizes will be awarded accordingly.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore will act as master of ceremonies assisted by Geo. Rogers of radio station WPAG, Ann Arbor. Jimmy Fields, former pianist with Paul Whiteman, will assist and the accompanists are Mrs. Herbert Dillon and Mrs. Glenn Driscoll.

Tickets for the show may be purchased from any member of the Rotary Club or at the following downtown stores: Wrights, Hodges and Cameron Drug, Butler Motor Sales, R. S. Moore & Son Co., and The Herald.

ROTARIANS ENJOY TRIP TO THE NETHERLANDS

Members of Tecumseh Rotary Club enjoyed "a trip to the Netherlands," Tuesday evening, when R. Morgan Lyman of American Air Lines, Detroit, showed three reels of colored motion pictures, following dinner at Brees House. The pictures "took" the visitors on an imaginary tour of the old world and brought them back to New York by plane. Another reel, also in color, showed the Berlin airlift in operation. This film was new and Tuesday's showing was one of the first in Michigan.

$1,400,000 Subdivision Is Launched

Two views of the first group of 179 new houses, built in Tecumseh Acres—the old Green Acre Farm on Adrian Road—by a Detroit construction firm. The $1,400,000 project is completely approved by the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration and, according to the owners, should be completed within two years. Ten of the houses already have been finished and are occupied and others are laid out so that building will continue throughout the winter months.

179 New Houses Will Be Built In Tecumseh Acres

TEN HOUSES ALREADY CONSTRUCTED AND SOLD; WINTER PROJECT PLANNED

Ultimate construction of 179 new houses in "Tecumseh Acres," a site that has been a show place in this village for nearly a century, has been announced by Town & Country Homes, Inc., a Detroit construction company. H. Brooks Barron, secretary-treasurer, expects that all of the houses will be completed within two years and that the streets in the 240-acre plot will be finished by early Spring.

Ten of the first block of new houses have been constructed and sold, foundations have been laid for four more of the houses and the engineering has been done for 21 more. This last block of 25 houses will keep workmen busy during the winter months and, in the Spring, another group will be started.

The new dwellings, five rooms and bath with furnace, are built in five designs. They are story-and-a-half, 24 by 30 or 26 by 28 feet, and are priced under the $8,000 mark. Lot sizes are from three-fourths to one and a fourth acres. There are such features as tiled bathrooms, steel kitchens, oil heat, etc. The subdivision has the approval of the Veterans Administration and carries a No. 1 rating by the Federal Housing Administration, according to Glenn H. Kohler, local representative.

The site of the new subdivision is better known to Tecumseh folk as the Green Acres farm, bounded on the east by Adrian street, the south by Russel Road, on the west by Occidental Road and on the north by the corporation limit. All of the acreage is just outside the corporation.

The large house on Green Acres which made it the showplace of the community was built 93 years ago by Nehmiah M. Sutton. The author of Mr. Sutton's biography describes the farm in this manner:

"One of the most beautiful homesteads in Tecumseh township. It comprises a fine body of land, and a handsome and commodious two-story dwelling which stands nearly a quarter of a mile from the main road and is approached by a beautiful avenue, flanked on either side by handsome shade trees and ending in well-kept grounds. Everything about the premises indicates the existence of cultivated and refined tastes, and the family was among the most widely knows and highly respected citizens of Lenawee county."

A. B. Harding recalls that many years ago as a boy he worked for Mr. Sutton. At that time Sutton employed 25 men and three women on his estate. Sutton also owned nine-tenths of the stock in the village opera house which was built in 1878 and was known as "Sutton's Opera House." It was the center of all civic activities, and some of the best road shows of the years played here.

Sutton was born June 21, 1829, in Cayuga county, N. Y., where he was reared until seven years of age. In the spring of 1836 he removed with his parents to Michigan and they located on a 640 acre farm near Battle Creek which his father purchased. In those days Indians were more numerous than white folk. But the elder Sutton was a man of great energy and resolution and he built up a good home in the wilderness, spending his last days in ease and comfort. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Sutton came to Raisin township where she died in 1871.

Nehmiah Sutton married Miss Mary E. Satterthwaite on March 13, 1854. His bride was a native of this state and a daughter of Reuben and Rachel Satterthwaite, pioneer settlers.

The picturesque Sutton farm was purchased last Summer by the Town & Country Homes. The Detroit concern also has other subdivisions under construction in Ann Arbor, Wayne, Garden City, Ypsilanti and Adrian.

Fall Fur Show Scheduled At The Country Club

The style show of furs and fall ensembles will be an additional luncheon attraction at Ladies Day at the Tecumseh Country Club, next week, September 14, with Mrs. Orville Laidlaw in charge of the arrangements. Furs will be modeled with ensembles from two local stores by some 40 members of the club.

Hostesses for September 14 to be called for reservations by Tuesday noon are Mrs. Ned Baldwin, phone 273, and Mrs. Chas. O'Neil, phone 10M1.

Ladies Day at the Club is now a well established and popular event on the weekly agenda. Golfing in the nippy air is particularly exhilarating and cards continue to hold their attraction.

Last week Mrs. H. H. Hanna and Mrs. Willis Porter had arranged a handicap tournament which was won by Mrs. Porter. Tied for second place were Mrs. Leo Seidel and Mrs. Frank Smith.

Mrs. W. D. Hite and Mrs. Herbert Dillon, assisted by Mrs. Russell Carey, general chairman of cards, presided over the luncheon in the banquet room and arranged nine tables for cards in the lounge. Mrs. Dalton Walper was the recipient of the prize for bridge, Mrs. Keith Barron for pinochle and Mrs. Marvin Watkins, door prize.

Neville Hart Heads Teachers Club Here

Neville Hart was elected to head the Teacher's Club of the Tecumseh public schools, when that group met Tuesday morning after the first of the teachers meetings being held this week by Earl H. Place, superintendent.

Other officers elected are: vice president, Mrs. Lois Service; secretary, Mrs. Margaretta Garlick; treasurer, Myles Runk.

ORDINANCE IS PASSED TO CONTROL NUISANCES

An ordinance to control and define certain public nuisances, prohibiting the creation and maintenance of such nuisances and providing for their abatement and penalties therefor was passed by the village council, in session Monday evening. The new law, it was said, is aimed particularly at the maintenance of livestock and poultry within the corporation limit.

The council also appropriated $200 to Recreation Center as the village's share of the cost of operation of a summer playground for children during the past months. Another $50 was appropriated for the forthcoming Hallowe'en party.

Council granted the school district permission to use an abandoned parade ground on Shawnee street, between Maumee street and the east line of the Frank Barrett property, as a parking lot for school cars.

Reports of the several department heads were read and placed on file.

Braves To Meet Monroe, Sunday

INITIAL GRID GAME OF SEASON TO BE PLAYED SEPTEMBER 11 AT 2:30

By Max Brandt

"King Football" will put in its initial fall appearance on Sunday, September 11, when the Braves, Tecumseh's semi-pro team, plays Monroe there at 2:30 p.m.

For the past three weeks, 25 hopefuls, under the direction of Coach Neville Hart, have been practicing three times weekly at the local gridiron. The squad has shed those extra pounds and is settling down to working out offense and defense. Several of last year's stars are being counted on to carry most of the load but Coach Hart has some new boys that may help the team a lot.

The Braves offense will center around the single wing right and left. The team will have several defense formations which Coach Hart hopes will stop the opposing teams. The Braves, in their second year of operation, should provide local fans with a good brand of football as they did in the first season.

The Braves open their home season at Recreation Center, next week Saturday night at 8:30 p.m., when their opponents will be Howell, Michigan. Season tickets for the Braves four home games are now on sale and may be purchased from any player. All home games will be played Saturday nights at 8:30 p.m. Tickets will also be sold at the gate.

LE	Purkey
LT	Creger
LG	Tilton
C	Murphy
RG	J. Kensler
RT	Tirb
RE	Sisson
B	Aten, E. Kensler, Baker, Colson.

A complete corrected schedule for the season will be published in next week's issue of The Herald.

TO MEET WEDNESDAY

The Harmony Home Makers will meet Wednesday, September 14, at the home of Miss Mary McWilliams for an afternoon meeting. The program will be followed by tea. The hostess will be assisted by Mrs. Victor Voorhees.

MISSION GUILD

The Florence Weld Mission Guild will meet Monday, September 12, at the home of Mrs. Albert Jahn for a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. Members are to bring coupons. Mrs. Ted LaBounty is transportation chairman.

Clarence Fox Injured In Gas Explosion

Clarence Fox, 217 East Cummins, is in Tecumseh hospital with second degree burns on his face and forearms, suffered Friday evening when an abandoned automobile gasoline tank exploded after being ignited by an acetylene torch. Hospital attendants said Mr. Fox is improving satisfactorily.

The mishap occurred when Mr. Fox, cutting some old automobile bodies with the torch, began to work on the tank. There evidently was a little gas left in it and this exploded. Mr. Fox was thrown backwards and stunned. He was removed to the hospital later.

School Bell Calls Children

A total enrollment of 1,050 in all grades, kindergarten through the twelfth, is expected in the public schools here by Earl H. Place, superintendent. As of last night, Mr. Place said that he had not had an opportunity to assemble all first day of school grade registrations, but, he declared, only 80 registered for kindergarten on Wednesday. One hundred kindergarteners were expected and this enrollment is likely to increase over the week-end.

Today and Friday are given over to teacher visitation in the homes of students and actual school work will begin on Monday.

All teachers are on the job, Place said, and the schools are functionly smoothly.

The new $400,000 high school, now under construction, will be ready for formal opening about January 1, it was said.

Monday Club To Hold Annual Picnic Meet

The annual picnic meeting of the Tecumseh Monday Club will be held on Monday, September 12, at Schneider's cottage on Wamplers Lake. A potluck luncheon will be served at one o'clock by Mrs. Louis Schneider, Sr., with the officers assisting. Members may bring guests.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Don Goddard, the first vice-president, Mrs. Truman Rentschler will preside. Anyone wishing transportation or who has extra room in her car, should call Mrs. M. G. Partridge, chairman of transportation. A resume of the year's program will be given during the meeting. The Club's year will be opened officially on October 10th with a luncheon at the American Legion Home and a program to be provided by the past presidents.

W. S. C. S. TO MEET

The W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Ellsworth Collins, Wednesday, September 14, at 2 p.m.

Crash Is Fatal To Motorist, 45

COOPERSVILLE CONTRACTOR FATALLY INJURED IN IVES ROAD ACCIDENT

Howard E. Benedict, 45, of Coopersville, Michigan, was fatally injured at 7:10 Tuesday evening when the truck in which he was riding and a car driven by Edward Eisner, 25, Rt. 1, Tecumseh, crashed nearly head-on on the Ives Road, just west of Occidental Road. Mr. Benedict was removed to Tecumseh Hospital but was dead on admittance. He suffered a fractured skull.

According to state police from the Clinton post, Benedict was riding in the truck driven by his son, Ralph L. Benedict, 20, and was traveling east on Ives Road. The Eisner car, in which Edmond Eisner, 57, was a passenger, came out of the Eisner driveway and headed west and the two vehicles met nearly head-on. The Benedict car overturned and the victim was pinned under the cab.

Coroner Paul Mott was called, and ordered the body removed to the Collins Funeral Home. It was taken later to a funeral home in Coopersville.

Benedict was the contractor on the new one-room Seventh Day Adventist school that is nearly completed on the Ives Road, just off M-52. He is survived by a wife and seven children. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

OLD SPORTSMEN SHOULD TAKE A FEW HUNTING LESSONS

Boy, 14, Traps Two 20-lb. Red Foxes Near Tipton

If some of Lenawee's seasoned fox hunters, many of whom have hunted the elusive animals for years without success, would care for a few lessons in successful trapping, Jack Greenwald, 14-year-old schoolboy, probably would be happy to act as teacher.

Anyway, Jack, who lives with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Listman, two miles south of Fisher's Corners near Tipton, has trapped two foxes and has collected the $10 bounty paid by the county.

It seems that the animals have been bothering the poultry on the Listman farm and Jack has for months been giving his father a sales talk on buying fox bait and scent from a western concern. Finally, he won the argument and he baited his traps for the first time last Thursday night. Friday morning there was a fox in each trap.

According to Clayton Greenwald, Jack's father, the foxes, both males, weighed about 20 pounds each. They are of the red variety and, he says, there must be several of them in the Tipton area. They have been hunted with a gun with little success and, heretofore, nobody has been able to trap them.

It seems that you can't trap foxes in rainy weather—the bait fails to lure them. So, Jack is praying for dry weather again and, incidentally, more foxes in his traps.

PRELUDE TO COMMUNISM

In one of his recent speeches, Winston Churchill had this to say about the acts of the Labor Government in Britain and the men who head it: "They have squandered the reserves and resources which have been gathered in the past and have darkened and narrowed the future of every man, woman and child in this famous island.

"It is all the more amazing that they should have brought us down like this and given us such hard times during four years when they have not only been eating up our savings, but have enjoyed the enormous advantage of outside help on a scale never known in the history of any country in time of peace."

Britain's great wartime Premier then observed that the United States and Canada have loaned and given England some $7,000,000,000, and added: "Our socialist spendthrifts and muddlers have dissipated every overseas asset they could lay their hands on and, in addition, have exacted and extracted from our people a higher rate of taxation than was required at the very height of the war."

It is true that Mr. Churchill spoke at a political meeting, in his capacity as the leader of the opposition. It is also true that Britain's most acute problems stem from forces and events which were beyond the power of any party to prevent or control. But these facts do not in any way undermine the validity of what he said. The fanatic drive toward socialism and regimentation at any cost, coupled with government seizure of such basic enterprises as the coal mines, the electric industry, banking, and the rest, has sapped the energy and the will of the British people, no less than their economic resources. It has almost totally destroyed incentive. It has turned practically everyone into a ward of the state. Only the bureaucrats and politicians can make major decisions.

At other times Mr. Churchill has warned that Britain's present course could end in actual communism. The fact that Mr. Attlee and other British leaders are men of good will must not blind us to that truth. When government takes over all power, all resources, all the instruments that sustain life, the stage is set for the dictator—the man on the white horse. And the police state, backed by the concentration camp, is created.

What will finally happen to once-great, one-free England remains to be seen. In the meantime, we can profit by her tragic example. When we destroy free enterprise and establish socialism, we directly endanger all the other freedoms too.

Miss Lois A. Johnson Weds Dr. Geo. Wilson

Miss Lois Allie Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Allie Johnson of Chicago, became the bride of Dr. George Clayton Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Wilson of Tecumseh, Monday, August 29. The altar in the Lutheran Redeemer church in Chicago was decorated with palms, burning tapers and baskets of white mums and gladioli for the double ring service, which was read by the Rev. George Ehrich at 5:30 o'clock.

Miss Carolyn Louise Wilson, sister of the bridegroom and Dr. Silas Warner of Chicago, fraternity brother of the bridegroom, were the attendants.

Miss Dorothy Enrich, organist, played the wedding march and accompanied Miss Betsy Huseboe when she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnson selected dove grey satin with matching accessories and the groom's mother wore navy blue with matching accessories. Both mothers wore an orchid corsage.

After the ceremony dinner was served to 14 guests in the Emerald room of the Gracmere hotel. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The bride graduated from high school in 1946 and from the Lutheran Deaconess hospital as a registered nurse in 1949. Graduating from Tecumseh high school in 1942, the groom received his medical doctor's degree in 1948 from the University of Illinois, where he was affiliated with Phi Beta Pi fraternity. He completed his internership at Harper hospital in Detroit, July 1, 1949.

Dr. Wilson is stationed at Eglin Field, Valparaiso, Fla., where he is serving one year of active duty with the U. S. Navy as a Lt. j.g.

NEW TYPE OF "CRUSHER" IS SOUGHT BY SCIENTISTS AT STANFORD

Physicists at Stanford University will begin tests soon on the first 15-foot section of a new-type atom-smasher, which is expected to achieve 1,000,000,000 electron-volt output when it eventually attains its full 160-foot length.

It is an atom-smasher of the linear accelerator type, using lightweight "bullets," electrons, to pepper the atomic nucleus in attempts to find out what keeps these miniscule "solar systems" in their assigned orbits. This first section is expected to produce some 70,000,000 to 80,000,000 electron-volts.

A preliminary report has been given by Richard F. Post of the Stanford physics department at a meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in San Francisco.

Presenting his paper, Mr. Post paid tribute to Dr. William W. Hansen, Stanford physicist who, until his passing, directed the design and early development of the Stanford accelerator. It is being built as the principal instrument in a new $281,000 Microwave Laboratory built at the university, under a contract with the Office of Naval Research.

Mr. Post stated that a working model of the accelerator had been constructed which produces electrons of more than 6,000,000 volts.

Tests on this working model have indicated the basic soundness of Dr. Hansen's theories and design, Mr. Post said.

He also reported that a high-power vacuum tube has been built and operated at an output adequate to meet the enormous electrical appetite of the completed accelerator.

Power for the accelerator will be generated by a series of such tubes which will be turned on in pulses of only a little over a millionth of a second, then turned off for a sixtieth of a second before being turned on again.

Electrons will move along this powerful microwave at a speed close to that of light.

Atomic disintegration occurs when a speeding electron, to which tremendous mass and energy have been imparted by acceleration, strikes an atom in its path.

The resulting collision is expected to smash "large hunks" from the atomic nucleus and to produce heavier mesons. Mesons are by-products of cosmic ray collisions.

Mr. Post said that the billion-volt electrons will come out of the accelerator "like water out of a spigot," Mr. Post indicated that these heavy electrons will provide a new method of studying both the properties of the electron and the proton and possibly the neutron.

The editor of the country paper went home to supper smiling radiantly.

"Have you had some good luck?" his wife questioned.

"Luck! I should say so. Deacon Tracey, who hasn't paid his subscription for ten years, came in and stopped his paper."

—George Milbur.

I used to save pennies with so-called bargains. But sad experience taught me that saving pennies cost dollars in the long run. It pays to buy finer drycleaning. Finer drycleaning helps clothes wear longer, keeps colors brighter, stays fresh after many wearings. Now I really save!

Only one word fits it —

Wonderful!

You know how it usually is—slow and steady is the rule in automotive progress.

But every now and then it happens. Along comes a car that's new all over—like this one—and headlines sing the news.

Take the styling of it—fresh and smart and really exciting from its non-locking bumper-guard grilles to the jet-plane look of its fenders.

Take the outward size of it—handy in traffic, easy to garage, actually more room and a sweeter ride in fewer over-all inches.

Step inside—and stretch yourself in the biggest interiors ever found in a Buick Special, with a full twelve inches added to rear-seat hiproom.

Try the power of big 110 or 120 hp high-compression Fireball engines—sample the restful levelness of a ride that sets the standard for the industry.

*Optional at extra cost.

Finally, look at the price tag. Measure its figures against others—and see if any car, even in the lowest-price field, gives you so much of what you want for each dollar you invest.

Miss Ardyth M. Cole Weds Ralph Mohr, Jr.

The marriage of Miss Ardyth Mae Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman E. Cole of Tecumseh, and Ralph A. Mohr, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Mohr, sr., of Adrian, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, September 13, in the Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, with the Rev. J. A. de Ruiter reading the double ring ceremony at three o'clock.

For the occasion the altar was decorated with white gladioli with touches of pastel colors matching the gowns of the attendants of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. Large white satin bows marked the family pews.

Guests were seated by Wallace Wilkins and Jack Burnett. Before and throughout the ceremony, Mrs. deRuiter played organ selections including "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me."

Fashioned of white marquisette over white satin, the bridal gown featured a full skirt hooped with three tiers of matching lace, which also edged the full length court train. The bodice of the gown was styled with long sleeves ending in points over the hands and a lace yoke. Pearl clips held the bride's fingertip veil and she carried a cluster of white roses with satin streamers. The bride's jewelry was a single strand of pearls and matching earrings.

The bridal aids, Miss Rhonda Hunter, honor maid, and Miss Audrey Shuch and Mrs. Daniel Nuzillo, were gowned in orchid, pale green and pale yellow marquisette, respectively. The gowns were identical in style. Dainty horseshoe bands of flowers formed the headdresses and each of the attendants wore mitts of white nylon. As flower girl, Judy Daniels, cousin of the bride, was dressed in pink taffeta with a pink net overskirt. They all carried matching colonial bouquets.

Mrs. Cole selected dark green waterfall taffeta with brown accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore blue crepe with gray accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Harley Cole, was attired in green taffeta, and two great-grandmothers of the bride, who attended the wedding, Mrs. Amelia Lemke and Mrs. E. T. Cole, wore black with corsages of white carnations.

White streamers and bells decorated the basement of the church for the reception which followed the ceremony. Some 150 guests were served refreshments of coffee and daintily colored sandwiches of white, pink, yellow, orchid and green, further carrying out the color scheme of the bridal party. Later the five-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom was cut by Joan Buehrer, and served, with ice cream centered with pink wedding bells and punch, by Charlene Joseph and Sherry Fielder. Mrs. William Damon, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Ted Golat and Mrs. George Baily also assisted with the wedding. Mrs. Golat made the wedding cake.

Mrs. Clifford Anderson, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book and recorded guests from Toledo, Swanton, Metamora, Monclova, Sylvania and Holland, Ohio, and Blissfield, Adrian, Onsted, Dundee, Britton, Holloway, Tipton and Weston.

When the couple left on a trip through the southern states the bride was wearing a two-tone gray suit with black accessories and her mother's corsage of white carnations. On their return they will reside near Adrian where the groom is engaged in farming.

The bride graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1948 and is employed by the Tecumseh Products Company. The groom graduated from Onsted high school in 1946.

BEWAILING THE BEARDS . . .

For ages, a man's beard was considered to indicate strength and manhood. To some nations, it was almost sacred.

The Greeks wore beards until the time of Alexander, who made his soldiers shave, lest enemies grab them by their whiskers. The Romans started shaving about the same time. Scipio Africanus, great general, is reputed to be the first Roman to shave every day.

Philip V, King of Spain, was unable to grow a beard, so his loyal courtiers scraped bare their own chins. Peter the Great, Czar of Russia, caused the greatest downfall of beards. Until his reign, the Russians had worn mattress-like beards.

Wanting to reform his country, Peter ordered, among other things, that gentlemen and merchants would either shave, or pay a beard-tax of one hundred roubles. Commoners were also taxed, at lower rates.

No doubt barbers rejoiced, but great was the grief of most bewhiskered men. Many of them saved the shorn fuzz and placed it in their coffins, for future burial!

Heart Disease Leads As Killer

CANCER IS NOW IN SECOND PLACE; APOPLEXY IS THIRD, ACCIDENTS, FOURTH

Heart disease is still the greatest killer of them all, Dr. Albert Heustis, State Health Commissioner, said today in reporting Michigan's ten leading causes of death for 1948. Diseases of the heart caused 18,726 of Michigan's 56,520 deaths last year.

Cancer is in second place, but caused less than a half as many deaths as heart disease. Apoplexy was in third place and accidents, in fourth.

There were no changes among the first seven major causes of death, but tuberculosis which had been in eighth place in 1947, exchanged place with diabetes which had been in ninth place.

Only two communicable diseases remained among the major causes of death—pneumonia and tuberculosis—and both were giving way to early diagnosis and newer methods of treatment, Dr. Heustis pointed out.

Deaths due to apoplexy, nephritis (kidney disease) and premature births were down also from their 1947 figures.

Deaths due to heart disease, cancer, accidents, diabetes and arteriosclerosis were up from their 1947 figures.

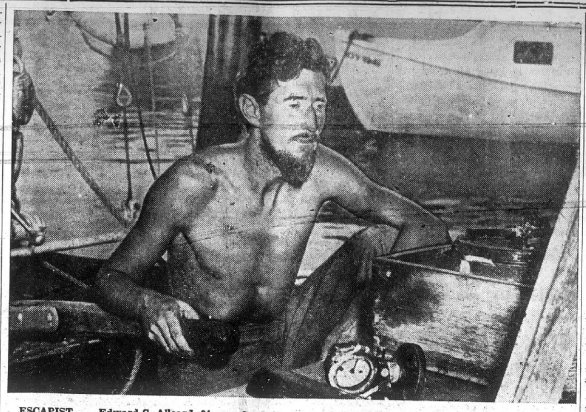
	1948	1947
Heart Disease	18,726	18,412
Cancer (includes Leukemias and Aleukemias)	8,261	8,110
Apoplexy	5,170	5,292
Accidents	4,017	3,848
Nephritis	2,473	2,567
Pneumonia	1,853	2,089
Premature Births	1,820	1,953
Diabetes	1,771	1,618
Tuberculosis	1,561	1,641
Arteriosclerosis	1,085	1,031



ESCAPIST . . . Edward C. Allcard, 34, naval architect from Surrey, England, rests in the 29-foot yawl, the Tempiress, in which he sailed from Gibraltar to the United States in 81 days. The escapist from British austerity braved storms, sharks, and sail breakdowns, but arrived at City Island, N. Y., in good shape, having lost only 10 pounds. His voyage took him along 4,500 miles. He said he sailed to escape form-filling in England. "I wanted the freedom only offer by the sea," he said. He doesn't like for people to ring him on the telephone, and detests alarm clocks and routine schedule. Unlike most tourists, he expressed no opinion of America.

Are You A Good Or Bad Mother?

SELF-IMPROVEMENT MAKES BETTER MOTHERS THAN SELF-SACRIFICE

Are you the sort of mother who has submerged her personal life to become the devoted slave of her children? Or has your sense of values told you that you can be a good mother and at the same time live your own life independent of your children? One mother who dared to spend time on her appearance, a social life with her husband, an interest in music, reading and a part-time job was severely criticized by her friends and neighbors as a selfish mother. Writing in McCall's for September, Helen Colton describes this mother's views as they were told to her:

"Young mothers of my generation seem to have extraordinary notions about the obligations of motherhood. Most of us are behaving as though to be a good mother a woman must prostrate her life before her children, curtail her own cultural interests, make her own wardrobe and appearance second best to her children's. She puts aside the once precious husband-wife relationship and replaces it with the momma-poppa relationship.

"In this slavish worship of the child I think we young mothers are doing a lot of damage. By this smother love we are breeding a generation of weaklings who will not be able to adjust to an adult world in which they are no longer king. We are making our husbands the displaced persons of the American family. We are selling our appearances, personalities, intellects and marriages down the river — all under the noble guise of being good mothers.

"It is more important to a mother's morale, poise and sense of well-being to be well dressed than it is to her child's. Mothers have husbands to please, and besides, they are frequently meeting people on whom they want to make a good impression, even if it's only the acquaintances they run into at the supermarket.

"Children will be unhappy, of course, if they look conspicuously different from their playmates. But they are much less concerned about clothes than grownups are. I buy or make serviceable clothes for my daughter, in gay colors and durable fabrics that I don't have to iron. I give her a chance to enjoy beautiful color and design by allowing her to select some of her own clothes. I don't take the time to iron pleats and ruffles, but I do replace small buttons with large buttons and enlarge the buttonholes to make it easier for her learning mind and fingers.

"This past year the cost of living became so high we couldn't manage any longer on my husband's earnings as an auto mechanic, so I got a job as campaign manager for a Congressional candidate. I could have gotten a job with more regular hours, but, considering myself a separate entity from my child, an individual who is also entitled to happiness, I felt I had a right to take a job I loved in preference to one I would have detested, even though the latter could have meant more time for my daughter.

"The parent who finds her intellectual needs completely satisfied in her companionship with he child is a bad mother. She is lazy, unwilling to read and learn enough of what's going on in the world so she can take part in discussions.

"During the years my daughter is growing up I am keeping in touch with what's going on around me, so that when she breaks away from home with school activities, friends and interests of her own I will not feel that I've given up the best years of my life to an ungrateful child.

"The money I could spend for children's books helps buy records for my own collection, but my daughter and I rarely miss a Saturday afternoon at the library, where we borrow those same books. She isn't taking music lessons, but we often sing and dance together so she can develop a sense of rhythm.

"Our child gets everything necessary to her happiness — love, affection, understanding, time, intelligence, companionship, education — but none of them so extravagantly and so obsessively that my husband and I are deprived of our fair share of them.

"Since I want my daughter to have a childhood without strain, a well adjusted adolescence and a mature womanhood independent of Momma, I must now have a life of my own independent of her — even if the world calls me a selfish mother."

D. A. R. TO MEET

Abi Evans chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet Friday, September 9, at Mrs. Louis Schneider's cottage at Wamplers Lake, for a potluck dinner at 12:30 p.m. Members are to call Mrs. Hoyt Whelan for transportation.

WHICH ARE YOU?

I watched them tearing a building down,
A gang of men in a busy town;
With a ho-heave-ho and a lusty yell
They swung a beam and the side-wall fell.

I asked the foreman: "Are these men skilled,
And the men you'd hire if you had your will?"

He gave a laugh and said: "No indeed!
Just common labor is all I need.
I can easily wreck in a day or two
What builders have taken a year to do!"

And I thought to myself as I went my way,
Which of these roles have I tried to play?
Am I a builder who works with care,
Measuring life by the rule and square?
Am I shaping my deeds to a well-made plan,
Patiently doing the best I can?
Or am I a wrecker, who walks the town,
Content with the labor of tearing down?

Miss Anna Aebersold Weds William K. Brown

St. Peter's Episcopal church was the scene of a beautiful wedding, Tuesday, September 6, when Miss Anna L. Aebersold, daughter of Mrs. Lois Aebersold and the late Lloyd Aebersold, became the bride of William K. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Brown. The Rev. Allan L. Ramsay read the double ring service at four-thirty o'clock before the altar which was decorated with hampers of shaded white to yellow gladioli and altar vases of white gladioli. Yellow gladioli tied with white satin bows marked the family pews.

Seated at the organ, T. J. Tonneberger played a program of traditional wedding music preceding the ceremony.

As the bride approached the altar on the arm of her brother, Fred Aebersold, who gave her in marriage, she was gowned in white taffeta. The ballerina length dress was fashioned with a fitted bodice featuring a rounded scalloped neckline. The hemline of the overskirt of nylon chiffon was also scalloped. The bride wore a tiny Juliet cap of white taffeta with white pinocahis chrysanthemums across the front and in clusters at the sides, and carried a colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums and white roses, tied with white satin ribbon.

As maid of honor, Miss Marian Pennington of Ridgeway wore yellow taffeta, ballerina length, styled with a fitted bodice. The wide collar was edged with scallops. She carried a colonial bouquet of bronze shaded chrysanthemums and yellow roses and her Juliet cap was made of yellow taffeta with side clusters of bronze bebe chrysanthemums.

Richard Colson attended Mr. Brown as best man and the ushers were Gerald Aebersold, brother of the bride and Curtis B. Brown, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Aebersold chose a brown print for her daughter's wedding and with this she wore dark brown accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Brown wore toast-colored crepe with dark brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

After the ceremony dinner was served at Bauer Manor to the bridal party and members of the immediate families. Centering the table was the wedding cake topped with white roses and satin ribbon. White roses were also spaced at the edge of the plate.

When the couple left on a motor trip to northern Michigan the bride was wearing a navy blue suit with pink and navy accessories and a corsage of Lily Pons roses. Upon their return the couple will reside on a farm near Ridgeway.

Both the bride and groom graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1948. Until recently the bride was employed in the office of Dr. A. H. Brown. Mr. Brown is attending Michigan State College and during the summer months is employed by the Meadowridge Jersey Farms.

Friends and relatives attending the wedding were from Stryker, Ohio, Coldwater, Ridgeway, Clinton and Tecumseh, Mich., and Mishawaka and Albion, Ind.

School Time Calls For Bigger Lunches and Dinners

Yes, Mother, we know the story, now that school has started. We know that the children, once home from school, are searching for the cookie jar, and that sandwiches and cold meats are in great demand.

And we also know that school time calls for more hearty lunches and dinners . . . food that will "stand by . . . stick to the ribs" for longer hours.

If you'll shop with us we can supply everything needed for that "rib sticking job" and, what's more, you'll like our high quality. It actually costs less because it goes farther.

Michigan Mirror

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

Everyone knows — except the city union organizer — that it costs less to live in a Michigan small town.

The worker's dollar goes farther. That is why a lower hourly wage rate can buy just as much as a higher hourly wage rate in the big town. The worker usually has less distance to travel to and from work; he finds rent to be lower. He can purchase a homesite for less money. Even the carpenter's bill will be less. Foodstuffs are more reasonably priced, too.

And, as any manufacturer will tell you, lower labor cost is needed in a small town if the company is to compete with the low unit cost of goods produced in the city by big-volume mass production methods. Only a big plant can afford big machines.

It has been the experience of many Michigan small towns that industry prospers, and payrolls grow for workers, where a differential in labor costs prevails. Where union organizers induce the workers to demand city wages, production costs get out of hand. The plant often has to close.

These observations grow out of the "Michigan Mirror" survey of new industry in Michigan small towns, of which this is the concluding report. Belding lost a hosiery mill for just this reason. Baldwin's new industry to make bases and crates for Gibson refrigerators and General Electric stoves and deep freezes has been closed repeatedly because of excessive labor demands. A Muskegon firm proposed to open a foundry in Baldwin. When the labor situation at the Packing Material Company came to a head, the Muskegon division located elsewhere.

At Oscoda a community progress club sponsored a "building bee" to provide a plant for the Oscoda Door Manufacturing Company.

At Kaleva in Manistee county is a prime example of American free enterprise. Like the maker of the better mouse trap, William Makinen developed a bait that caught fish. His home workshop has grown into an assembly line plant employing 70 persons at peak production. Seven salesmen were on the road last spring. The season's production by August 1 was 2,000,000 baits!

The Kaleva story is one of economic opportunity through individual enterprise and willingness to risk individual savings.

Montague—Chamber of Commerce raised $5,000 for new foundry. Foundry employs 30 men. Machine shop may eventually employ 40.

Elk Rapids—Elk Rapids Packing Company began operations July 12, 1948. This year approximately 4,000,000 pounds of sour cherries and 200,000 pounds of sweet cherries were canned. Peak employment was 220 persons. Robinson Metal Products, employing five persons, produces a plywood paddleboard for water sports.

Birmingham—Asphalt pavement mix plant of Allied Chemical & Dye Corp., NYC. General offices and warehouse of Great Lakes Tractor & Equipment Company.

Escanaba—Branch of Harnischfeger Corp., Milwaukee, producing electrical welders, truck cranes and sugar cane loaders. 200 employees. Wells Crate & Lumber Company, 50 workers. Fence Company of America, rustic fences, pre-fab cabins, 75 workers. Jacobson Furniture Company, 40 workers. Escanaba Glove Company, branch of Chicago firm, 40 workers. Delta Furniture Company, radio cabinets, 30 workers. Insulation Manufacturers Corp., 15 workers.

Bellevue — Cheney, Limestone Company, extracting lime, crushing for agricultural lime, road chips. Nine employees. Rickman Roofing Company five to 12 men.

Vicksburg — Viking Products Company, air line equipment for welding machines, 20 workers and $1,500 weekly payroll. KaMaK Corp., punch press operations for automobile industry. Bendix strike caused summer layoff.

Greenville—Gibson 1949 wage figure is 269.03 per cent higher than comparative week of 1940. Federal Mogul also way ahead of pre-war.

Midland—Dow Chemical Company is still expanding.

Grand Haven—Nine new local industries, none of them branch plants! A few examples: Michigan Plastic Products, toys, aquarium-automotive-refrigerator parts. Electrical Assemblies, Inc., transformers, cord sets, relay saddles. Royal Oak Industries, contractor's and mason's levels.

Coldwater—Federal-Mogul Service, branch of Detroit firm, has expanded.

These examples indicate the opportunity still exists for new industry in Michigan small towns. New industry brings new payrolls. Everyone benefits — merchants, professional men, farmers and workers themselves.

STORY OF THE BIBLE

ACHAN CONFESSES BEFORE JOSHUA

After the great victory of Jericho, Joshua had the Israelites burn the city, and God commanded that no one should keep anything from the ruins. But there was a man named Achan who disobeyed the Lord and kept a beautiful garment, some silver and a shining piece of gold.

And it came to pass that the Israelites attacked another city and were defeated. Upon hearing the sad news, Joshua tore his cloak and prayed before the ark of the covenant, asking God why He had visited this trouble upon His people. And God answered Joshua that a man of Israel had violated His command. Then did Joshua search for the guilty man, and he was found, and the Israelites punished Achan by stoning him unto death.

In the world today there are many Achans who value material wealth more than the word of God. Your church is always fighting the Achans of the world who would replace religious love with material pleasures. Your help is needed in this fight. Start by attending the church of your choice this Sunday.

Friends Hold Annual Meeting

YEARLY SESSION, INCLUDING TECUMSEH, COMPLETED AT DAMASCUS, OHIO

The Ohio Yearly Meeting of the Friends Church which convened in any session at Damascus, Ohio, August 23-28, reports a record attendance. The broadcast of each evening service over radio station WCMW, Canton, was instrumental in bringing these meetings before the attention of many who do not regularly attend the sessions.

General Superintendent Claude A. Roane of Alliance reported that the home missions department of the Yearly Meeting has plans for the establishment of new churches in Akron, Ohio, Aswego, New York, Broadview Heights, Ohio, and Boston Heights, Ohio. During the past two years, two new churches have been built, at Celina, Ohio, and at Danville, Virginia.

The highlight of the week was when Dr. Walter R. Williams, superintendent of missions, reported the progress being made in missionary work in Central India. A well-equipped station, purchased from an English missionary organization, will soon be staffed with missionaries. Although converts to christianity in Central India are cruelly persecuted and threatened with death, the mission is going forward and converts are being won. Present were two retired missionaries to India, Miss Esther Baird of Burton, Ohio, and Miss Carrie Wood of Portland, Oregon, each of whom has served more than forty years on the field.

Dr. Charles E. DeVol of China delivered the missionary address to a packed house on Sunday afternoon. He told of the zeal of the Chinese christians to propogate christianity. "It is not unusual," he said, "for the Chinese christians to invite in his neighbors for family devotions each evening. These may number from forty to one hundred." Dr. DeVol stated that it is indeed a dark hour for China but that China has had dark hours before and has survived each crisis. He believes that she will survive this crisis, that in due time missionaries will be permitted to return and carry on their work.

The following were dedicated (ordained) to the ministry: Robert Ford of Newport, Rhode Island, Forrest Lamneck of Marion, Ind., Katherine Lamneck of Marion, Ind., Kenneth Headland of Boston Heights, Ohio, James Morris of Cleveland, Ohio, and Ralph Smallwood of Newport News, Va.

Pastoral appointments for the ensuing year were made as follows: Charles E. Haworth to Canton, Ohio, John P. Williams to Adrian, Michigan, Ralph Smallwood to Ypsilanti, Michigan, Paul T. Osborne to Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, Owen W. Glassburn to Beloit, Ohio, and S. Hurley Cross to Pomona, North Carolina.

Edward Escolme, pastor of the Tecumseh Friends church, and Mrs. Escolme and daughter Elizabeth attended the meeting.

TIPTON

The Ladies Aid Society met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Merrick Dibble. Supper was served by the September committee.

A reception was held by the Grub school Community Club Saturday evening for Mrs. Clifford Billmeyer of Brooklyn, teacher of the school, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Hunt.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Advertising properly used, can render valuable service to the consumer, by being able to sell more of what you produce at a lower price; thereby taking it out of the luxury class. You may say that an advertised commodity sometimes costs more than a similar unadvertised commodity. Why? Because advertisers have already created a market into which the unadvertised product can go without any cost of promotion.

Ordinarily the cost of advertising is a mere fraction of the selling price. Once a satisfied customer becomes a regular customer, the advertiser need not wait long for returns from his investment.

If its news call The Herald.

14 Are Injured In Auto Mishaps

TECUMSEH HOSPITAL BUSY AS THE RESULT OF TRAFFIC WRECKS IN THIS VICINITY

Fourteen persons were hurt, some of them seriously, in a series of automobile accidents in this vicinity over the week-end. The victims were removed to Tecumseh Hospital for treatment.

Eight were injured, one of them seriously, when a truck loaded with people was struck from the rear by a car at 7:35 p.m., Sunday, on M-50, two miles east of here.

Pauline Johnson, 17, of Britton, suffered severe shock and a possible skull fracture. She was riding in a car with Kenneth Sancho, 26, who was treated at the hospital and released. The Sancho car struck the rear end of the truck driven by Margarito Barrera, 41, Britton. Both the truck and car were traveling east, state police reported.

Others hurt, all from Britton, were: Tony Barrera, 19; Dolores Seina, 18; Ralph Tello, 18. They suffered cuts and bruises, were treated at the hospital and then released. Julia Reyna, 38, suffered fractured ribs; Rayes Seina, 16, fractured right elbow; Mary Barrera, 16 chest injuries.

Five were hurt, four seriously, in a two car crash on the Palmer road, southwest of Britton, about 3:30 Saturday afternoon.

Those hurt were: Glenwood Griewahn of Britton, bruises; Mrs. Griewahn, fractured skull and vertebra; their daughter, Mildred, aged two years, possible skull fracture and internal injuries; Gerald Wilcox, Tecumseh, compound fracture of the left elbow and bruises; Mrs. Wilcox, chest injuries and possible skull fracture.

The accident happened at the intersection of two dirt roads when cars driven by Griewahn and Wilcox collided. Neither driver saw the other until it was too late to avoid the wreck. Both cars were badly damaged.

Miss Hazel Kerschner, 19, of north of Clinton, was removed to the hospital in an unconscious condition after the car she was driving and a truck driven by Cecil Corbin, 23, Adrian, sideswiped on the Adrian Road, near US-112 at midnight, Friday. Miss Kerschner was able to return to her home on Saturday.

Braves Ready To Meet Howell

By Max Brandt

The football season got off to a good start in both Lenawee and Monroe counties, last Sunday afternoon when the Tecumseh Braves traveled to Monroe. At 2:30 p.m. Tecumseh's semi-pro footballers took on the Monroe Athletic Club in the opening game of the year, and were defeated 13 to 0 by a very polished outfit, this being Monroe's fourth year of operation.

The game, played in near perfect weather for both fans and players, was battled out under cloudy skies and was a bruising fight all the way. One of the biggest differences between the two teams was the Monroe quarterback, Bruce Lennard. Under his near perfect direction, the Monroe A. C. team moved nicely to their first victory of the season and put the Braves on the losing end of the score.

Monroe won the toss, received the kickoff and started to march down the field but the Braves line stiffened and Monroe fumbled with Tecumseh recovering. Both teams battled it out at midfield during the rest of the quarter. At the start of the second period, the Braves, led by Poley and Baker, hammered away at the Monroe line without much success. Then Monroe, with Lennard calling signals and throwing passes, marched down the field to their first score. Al Powers, Monroe fullback, crashed over from the three to score. On the extra point try, the Tecumseh line crashed through to block the kick.

Tecumseh received the following kick off but fumbled as the half ended. During the half, Coach Hart pepped up his chargers. They came out and took the kickoff, starting an offensive of their own. But again it was the

Natural Gas Is Near Certainty

WILL BE AVAILABLE IN TECUMSEH IN SPRING, CONSUMERS BELIEVES

Natural gas service will begin in Tecumseh next spring under present plans of Consumers Power Company, Division Manager H. H. Koelbel announced today.

A franchise authorizing the company to provide natural gas service was approved by the voters in 1945. World War II was still in progress and wartime restrictions on gas service extensions were in effect. In asking for the franchise, the company said it would be at least a year or two before it could lay its mains in Tecumseh's streets and connect local gas customers.

"The delay has been greater than we anticipated," Mr. Koelbel said today. "The War delayed for several years the expansion of gas pipeline facilities from the Southwest, and since the War there have been further delays caused by the shortage of materials, strikes in the steel industry, and other factors.

"Now the situation is beginning to clear up, and it looks as if we could come into Tecumseh in the Spring. We are planning to lay mains here as soon in 1950 as there is good construction weather."

Natural gas used in Tecumseh will be brought here from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas via the pipeline system of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company. Consumers purchases gas from Panhandle for distribution in Michigan communities.

The same restrictions on gas usage will apply in Tecumseh as in other communities served by Consumers, Mr. Koelbel said.

"Unless there is some change in the meantime," he said, "that means we will be able to connect customers who wish to use natural gas for domestic purposes such as cooking or water heating and commercial customers whose use of gas will be moderate. Under present restrictions, we cannot connect additional house-heating customers or customers who wish to use natural gas in large quantities for boiler fuel purposes.

"We hope that the time will arrive within a year or two when all restrictions on use of gas can be lifted. When that happens, Tecumseh will benefit the same as all other communities."

ROTARY CLUB HEARS ADVERTISING DIRECTOR

The importance of advertising, especially when it is personalized, was pointed out in an interesting talk by Marvin Hahn of the Hahn Advertising Agency, Detroit, when he spoke to Rotarians following dinner at Brees House, Tuesday evening. He was the guest of C. The speaker reviewed briefly the fundamentals of advertising, of the rapid, steady up-swing in family incomes, and declared that merchants should take these into consideration in drafting their sales messages. Especially, Mr. Hahn stressed the need for "personalized" advertising, rather than the stereotype form.

Hi Band Wins Trophy At State Fair Concert

The trophy presented to the Tecumseh high school band at the Michigan State Fair, recently, is on display in Greens clothing store window. The award was made to Clare Camburn, director, during a half-hour concert, played in the band shell at the State Fairgrounds in Detroit, Labor Day, and he in turn presented it to his band.

The band made a striking appearance in their new uniforms and played exceptionally well, according to remarks heard during the concert. Several of Detroit's musicians made favorable comment regarding their fine work. The boys and girls were able to mix pleasure with business too, for the bus left Tecumseh early in the morning and left the fairgrounds only when the evening's entertainment was over.

INDIANS WILL MEET PITTSFORD UNDER THE LIGHTS; COACH IS HOPEFUL

6,500 Children Killed In Traffic Accidents Last Year

The current traffic safety campaign to protect children is the result of child traffic accident records, according to Sgt. C. M. Miller of the Clinton post of the Michigan State Police.

"The slogan, 'Watch Out for Kids,' that has been selected for this month in connection with the reopening of school just about tells the whole story," Sgt. Miller said.

"Last year nearly 6,500 children were killed or injured in traffic accidents in Michigan. Of these 4,500 were child pedestrians or bicyclists. This tragic toll must be reduced, and the only way is for drivers to assume the responsibility of being extra careful whenever they are in an area where there may be children.

"Children are impulsive and they also forget. They'll dash out into the street or the highway and do other dangerous things without thinking. Certainly they're violating the rules of safety, but that isn't much consolation when there's an accident.

"With the arrival of September more than a million Michigan children are again crossing the streets and highways each day on their way to and from school. It's up to the drivers to protect them from harm by being alert and cautious.

"In other words, watch out for kids."

Schools, police agencies and various organizations have joined in carrying on the child safety program.

Tecumseh May Sponsor Running Races At Fair

In all probability, Tecumseh will sponsor the running races scheduled for the Lenawee County Fair track next Tuesday afternoon, it was announced here today. A purse of $400 is being solicited.

Dr. Wm. Britton and Lee Irelan are arranging the races and Mr. Irelan said today that he expected some 40 horses would be entered. It may necessitate four races, he said.

A pony race also may be run, one with ponies measuring 48 inches in height, another under 56 inches.

ABOUT 1,000 PERSONS AT "MOONLIGHT AND STARS" PERFORMANCE HERE

Nearly 1,000 persons attended "Moonlight and Stars," amateur radio program staged last Friday evening at Recreation Center by the Tecumseh Rotary Club. The show netted $432 before taxes. After taxes are paid the balance will be turned over to the Center to swell its nearly-depleted treasury.

"I'd like to take this opportunity to say thank you to those who cooperated in the venture," Robert H. Moore, general chairman, said. "We had, in my judgment, an excellent show and there was no expense in connection with its staging. Everything was donated so that, after taxes are paid, the Recreation will realize nearly $400."

The show included 20 amateur acts, some of them near professional. From Tecumseh there were the Scotch Lassies, the Mexican Hat Dancers, a flute solo by Sally Rentschler, Hammond organ selections by Babe House and a concert by the high school band. Other acts came from Monroe.

Prizes to winners, determined by an applause meter, totaled $52 and all of these were donated by Rotary club members.

"The show was planned and directed by Mr. Moore, who is chairman of Rotary's community service committee.

Store Hours Here Unchanged

RETAIL DIVISION OF C. OF C MEETS AND DISCUSSES PROBLEMS

There will be no change in night openings for the present by Tecumseh stores it was decided at a meeting of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce, held Tuesday morning at the American Legion.

A trend toward change in buyers' habits and local changes in factory payroll times had led the merchants to believe that a discussion of procedure would be advisable. Some thirty merchants attended the meeting and participated in the discussion, ending in the decision that present practices should be continued unless further observation should make a change seem advisable.

The merchants also voted not to make a special closing for Tecumseh Day at the Lenawee County Fair. Friday, September 30, has been designated as Tecumseh Day, but the group felt that too many Tecumseh shoppers use Friday as one of their favorite shopping days to make closing desirable.

The Rotary Club's plans of repeating a window decorating contest for Hallowe'en was heartily endorsed. This popular feature of the Hallowe'en celebration inaugurated last year is expected to draw still further interest this year with efforts being made to introduce colored pictures into the window drawing contest.

Ronald Harris, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, urged the merchants to "tighten up" on their attitude towards various charitable solicitations. Solicitors have made the rounds of Tecumseh merchants without a sanction from the Solicitations Control Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. By refusing to contribute unless the solicitor has a sanctions letter, the merchants can soon stop a large number of out-of-town and other undesirable solicitations, he said.

A committee consisting of Mrs. George French, chairman; Ned Baldwin, Paul Hadsell, William Wright, and Oscar Bryan was appointed to make plans and set dates for a fall "Trade Day."

Sharp Upturn In Enrollment

1,064 REGISTERED IN LOCAL SCHOOLS; FIRST GRADE ROOMS BULGING

One thousand and sixty-four pupils have enrolled in the Tecumseh public schools, exceeding last year's number on opening school day by 99, Earl H. Place, superintendent, said at his office today. An unexpected upturn in first grade registrations boosted the anticipated enrollment of 1,050.

In the kindergarten there are 82 registrations and morning and afternoon sessions are being held in the West Branch and Brownville schools.

One hundred and twenty-one first graders are being housed in the West Branch and East Branch schools and the Youth Center. In the second grade there were 86 registrations and these students are attending classes at West and East Branch schools and the Presbyterian church.

Eighty-five third graders are attending school at the Baptist and St. Peter's churches and the basement of the public library. Classes for the fourth graders, of which there are 96, are being held in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches and the Central building.

All other grades are housed in the Central building, where the overcrowded condition will be relieved by the new high school building which is expected to be in readiness by Christmas. At that time the junior and senior students will move there and the elementary grades will move into the Central building, eliminating the need for the churches, library, youth center and East Branch school.

In the fifth grade there are 74 registrations; sixth, 73; seventh, 76; eighth, 70; ninth, 87; tenth, 72; eleventh, 84; and twelfth, 98.

In some cases, especially the first grade, shifting to other locations was necessary, Mr. Place said, and he expressed his appreciation to parents for their patience until their children were settled.

High school football begins this Friday, September 16, when Pittsford travels here to meet the Indians at Recreation Center. The kickoff is at 8 p.m.

He saw overseas service with the United States Army in 1918 and 1919. In 1923 and 1924 he was attached to the Department of Political Science of the University of Michigan. In 1924 and 1925 he served in the American Consulate at Stuttgart. He was appointed Foreign Service Officer on September 13, 1926 and since that time has served at many posts in Central and South America and the Near East. He was appointed assistant chief, Division of the Near Eastern Affairs, November 1, 1945. INSIDE YOUNG USA

The widely known newswriter and commentator, John Gunther, with an objective look, has written on the habits and doings of the various peoples on this globe. One of his topical works dealt with what goes on inside the United States. The other day, talking to a group of boys who had won top awards in the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, sponsored by General Motors, Charles F. Kettering narrowed the discussion but kept to the basic point.

The group at that meeting in Detroit was made up of the most successful competitors in a contest that had attracted inquiries and entries from 200,000 boys. The competition on car design had won $4,000 college scholarships for the boys most successful. That was why Mr. Kettering was talking about what was "inside" the youth of the United States.

"There are two kinds of opportunities," said Mr. Kettering. "There are the ones that are outside, that you go looking for, and those that are inside, the kinds of opportunities you have used in this contest. I always have great deal more respect for the opportunities that are inside, because you know where they are all the time.

"Perhaps never in this history of the World have young people had the opportunities they have today. No one can paint a picture so grand or so intricate or so worthwhile that it can't be attained by the skill of the American people.

"It has been said that in England everyone has security from the cradle to the grave, yet individually the English are the most unsecure people in the World.

"I gave a commencement address a couple of years ago, in the field house of a university. There were baskets on the walls at the ends of the hall, one for visitors, and one for the home team. I was thinking about security, so I asked the group there if people would pay to see a basket ball game in which the score had been set in advance. Well, of course, in that event you would start an investigation to find out who had guaranteed the score. Whenever anyone grants to guarantee a score before the game, you will become suspicious. All the people in America need is a ball field, or a place in industry in w... their work."

No guarantee, but an opportunity. That is what Mr. Kettering, the greatest inventive genius alive in the World today, was talking about.

Sure You Haven't A "Blind Spot"?

As I was driving down Main Street last Saturday, another car swung out right in front of me. It turned out to be Buck Blake. He wasn't going fast. It was just that he had something else on his mind at that particular moment.

Buck's really one of the nicest fellows I've ever known. But, sometimes he gets to day-dreaming on the road. He sort of gets a "blind spot" to what's going on about him!

Now, lots of normally considerate folks have their "blind spots." It could be anything from day-dreaming while driving a car to humming out loud at the movies.

From where I sit, it's mighty important to be on guard against your own "blind spots." The other fellow has a right to his "share of the road," too—whether it's having a taste for a temperate glass of sparkling beer or a desire to listen to some classical music if he wants to.

Because that sum puts in your garage—

STYLE that's as fresh as a dew-laden daisy, from those brand-new non-locking bumper-guard grilles to the double-bull's-eye taillights.

SIZE that's mighty handy in traffic, a real relief in modest-size garages, a wonderful aid in parking.

POWER that is lively, frugal, ever-thrilling because it comes from a high-compression, high-pressure Fireball straight-eight.

A RIDE we'll put against anything else you can find, regardless of price—soft, pillowy, gentle. We call it matchless because we think you will too.

HANDLING? Well, this price is the price on a Buick SPECIAL with finger-flick Synchro-Mesh transmission—as light and easy as you'll find on any non-automatic-drive car.

But a few more dollars per month will also give you the silken luxury of Dynaflow Drive—the soft, easy, restful drive the very biggest Buicks boast.

Go learn more from your Buick dealer. Sure as sunrise, you'll make up your mind to buy this one.

Fall Style Show Is Staged By Country Club

The ladies of the Tecumseh Country Club and their guests enjoyed a special innovation yesterday when a style show of furs and fall ensembles was presented, using club members for models. Among these were many daughters about to return to college. No lovelier background might have been furnished them than the club's well appointed lounge enhanced for the occasion by the importation of cottage shrubs and fall flowers.

Football was the motif carried out by bronze and yellow chrysanthemums on the long tables about the room. Some 100 guests were seated at 1 p.m., and after a special luncheon the models displayed several ensembles from two local women's wear shops as they moved about the tables to the strains of music played at the piano by Mrs. Herbert Dillon. Suits, afternoon dresses, cocktail gowns, and blouses with accessories were among the offerings obtained locally.

Charles Matthews of a fur company introduced his fashions interpolating professional remarks about furs in general and his company's styles in particular. These included every type of fur and fur style current this season, and added to the program the luxurious note which found response in every lady present.

The general chairman of the popular event was Mrs. Orville Laidlaw. Mrs. Bert Ousterhout lent her talent to the decorations along with the hostesses, Mrs Ned Baldwin and Mrs. C. B. O'Neill. The models of the college group were the Misses Louise Bowen and Marilyn VanWinkle Michigan State College; Louise Wilson and Shirlie Moore, Michigan State Normal College; and MarLou Gilman, University of Michigan. Others who were used to enhance the styles were Mrs. John Smith of Adrian, a professional model, Miss Jean Marie Herrick, visiting from New York and who has also modeled, and Mrs. Wm. Kiefer of Rockford Ill, formerly Ruth Schneider. Among the local models were also two recent brides, Mrs. Herbert Farver and Mrs. Robert Laidlaw and a bride-to-be, Miss Barbara Kerby; also the Mesdames, R. H. Moore, Philip Colgrove and Virgil Tucker.

Mrs. Gertrude Schneider, general chairman of the club ladies, and Mrs. Russell Carey, general card chairman, assisted the hostesses.

For the September 21 Ladies Day hostesses to be called for reservations by Tuesday noon are Mrs. Orville Farver, phone 138, and Mrs. Frank Smith, phone 320.

BRITTON

Ferow-Steuwe

The North Bilssfield Lutheran church was the scene of an attractive wedding Saturday evening at 8 o'clock when Miss Adeline Steuwe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Steuwe of Britton, became the bride of William Ferow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ferow of Riga. The Rev. William Weinlander read the double ring ceremony.

The organ prelude was played by Miss Arlene Weinlander while the guests were seated. The ushers were Raymond Steuwe, and Herman Steuwe, jr., brothers of the bride, Lowell Smith, LaVern Moll, Kenneth Ferow, brother of the bridegroom and Herbert Neiman. Eugene Fisher of Ottawa Lake sang "Because" as the bridal party entered the church and later sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white satin with traditional long train and fitted bodice of Chantilly lace. The French imported lace veil fell from a halo of rhinestones. The bride wore a rhinestone necklace and earrings, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade shower bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Harlan Preston, sister of the bride, as matron of honor was gowned in peach color fashioned after the bride's. The bridesmaids were Miss Norma Steuwe and Miss Delight Steuwe, sisters of the bride, gowned in pastel green and blue, and Miss Jessie Miller, Miss Beverly Brown, Mrs. Harry Bailey and Miss Bernice Moll, wearing pastel yellow, pink, orchid and pink respectively. All wore rhinestone necklaces, gifts from the bride.

Linda Preston, niece of the bride and Sharon Studnicka were flower girls in white gowns with pink trim. Larry Preston, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer and Paul Ferow acted as best man for his brother.

Miss Marion Rieve was in charge of the guest book at the church. The reception followed at the V. F. W. hall at Ottawa Lake. The bridal table featured a four-tiered cake which was cut by Mrs. Gertrude McCollum and served with a buffet luncheon. Mrs. Mabel McCollum assisted with the gifts. Later dancing was enjoyed.

The bride is a graduate of Britton High School, class of 1946 and has been employed at Lohr Restaurant in Britton. The bridegroom is employed at Tecumseh Products Co. After a short trip the couple will reside at Ottawa Lake. Friends and relatives attended from Saginaw, Bay City, Caro, Fairgrove, Adrian, Clinton, Macon, Britton, Tecumseh, Detroit, Toledo and Sylvania.

Braves Ready

bigger Monroe line that stopped them, although only after they had reached into Monroe's territory.

Late in the third quarter, Lennard again started tossing the pigskin around the field. Using line smashes, he set up his final toss. This was a beautiful 34 yard pass to his fullback Al Powers, who went over the final stripe for the score. Cork Powers kicked the extra point and Monroe led 13 to 0.

The Braves came storming back in an effort to break the string of goose eggs on the scoreboard. Tecumseh's backfield filled the air with football but most of these passes were knocked down. In the last few minutes, Monroe intercepted one of Aten's passes, only to have Tecumseh come right back when VanCamp grabbed one of Lennard's tosses. But the time for the last period ran out on the local team and the game ended.

One of the bright spots of the game for the local fans was the punting of Poley and the line smashers of Baker. The Braves line played a very creditable game against a heavier and more experienced Monroe team.

The first home game of the season for the Braves will be played Saturday night, September 17, when their opponents will be from Howell, with the kickoff at 8:30.

Sunday's lineups were as follows:

STORY OF THE BIBLE

JOSHUA COMMANDS THE SUN AND THE MOON TO STAND STILL

Then spake Joshua: "Sun, stand thou still upon Gibson; and thou, Moon, in the valley of Ajalon." And the sun stood still, and the moon stayed until the people had avenged themselves upon their enemies.

It was many years ago when this great miracle was granted by God to the people of Israel in order that their enemies might be defeated. In this day and age, your church, whatever or wherever it may be, carries on the unceasing war against the adversaries of God. No prodigious physical miracle, such as Joshua's stopping the sun and the moon has occurred recently, but each day the churches perform less spectacular but no less important miracles when they propagate and encourage tolerance and decency in a world sorely in need of these qualities.

At this moment the churches of the world are concertedly opposing tyranny and oppression as fervently as the Israelites opposed these evil forces in the time of Joshua. It is your duty as a religious person to join your church in this momentous task. Attend the church of your choice regularly and participate actively in its great work!

Father And Son Often Strangers

ADOLESCENT BOYS NEED FATHER'S COMPANIONSHIP MOST, EXPERT SAYS

Many a father and his adolescent son have become complete strangers, largely because they see so little of each other and because the father is so often called in to do the big punishing jobs. Adolescence is the time when a boy needs his father most and when they could both become good friends by sharing their time and their interests, according to child expert Toni Taylor. Writing in McCall's for September, in collaboration with Dr. Alice V. Keliher, of New York University's School of Education, she has these suggestions to parents:

"A father alone can fulfill some of his son's most pressing needs during adolescence. It is he who provides a 'blueprint' of the adult made for his boy. It is he who must understand and acknowledge the conflicts that disturb his son's 'growing up.' And it is he who must help the child to overcome destructive behavior by showing him the reason for it.

"Adolescence is a lonely age when the child may feel like a pariah, unable to please adults and often at odds with his own companions. This feeling of isolation can be relieved immeasurably by a father who remembers the trials of his own adolescence and assures his son that his problems and worries are common to most adolescents.

"This is the time for a father to let his son know what he believes in; to show him how he earns the family living; to let him go into town with him, see where he works and meet some of his co-workers. To the boy this is evidence that he is being accepted by men and, more important, by the one man whose respect he most needs.

"A man who perhaps put aside a pleasurable hobby in the early days of a busy career may now find that it is something he and his son can enjoy together. The boy will be delighted to discover that his father is a whiz at fishing or carpentry. The father may learn that his son, despite the testimony of his report card, learns quickly and well. Most important of all, father and son are likely to discover that they enjoy each other.

"If a boy knows that he will not be ridiculed he can reveal some of his inner thoughts and feelings. He can ask what he wants to know about sex; he can tell his father how he feels about girls; and he can begin to understand himself.

"A wise father will not tell his son what to think; he will help him to think for himself. And he will be more impressed by direct contact with his boy's active, inquiring mind than by his grade in arithmetic.

"And a wise mother will do everything she can to promote a rich contact between her husband and son. She will not only discuss the boy's progress with his father, she will see that her husband has a chance to judge for himself. By taking a fair share of their son's discipline on her own shoulders, by being alert and sensitive to the needs of each for the other, she will discover that her value to both is deeper than she may ever have thought possible."

Miss Mary J. Walters Weds John Brown, Jr

Miss Mary Jean Wolters, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Elliott of Tecumseh, and John W. Brown, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brown of Ann Arbor, were united in marriage, Friday, September 2, by the Rev. Donald C. Wilson. The ceremony took place in the University of Michigan Women's League Chapel at three o'clock.

Some 50 relatives and family friends were seated by Jack Stepman of Detroit and Robert Wolters of New Hudson, brother of the bride. Charles E. Diebolt of Detroit assisted Mr. Brown as best man.

The bride chose ivory satin for her wedding gown, the bodice of which was styled with a nylon tulle yoke and long sleeves. Tiny buttons extended down the back and the skirt was made with a short train. Her veil was fingertip and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Mrs. Eleanor Wolters Smith was her sister's matron of honor. Her gown of gold satin was styled like the bride's and she wore matching hat and gloves. She carried a formal bouquet of autumn flowers.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Henderson Room. Mrs. Lee Brown of Ypsilanti poured and Miss Nancy Lathers of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Robert Wolters served the guests. Miss Virginia Fogle was in charge of the guest book.

When the couple left on a trip to northern Michigan the bride was wearing a purple gabardine suit with topaz accessories. Upon their return they will reside at 201 N. River St., Ypsilanti, while Mr. Brown completes his senior year at Michigan State Normal College.

The groom graduated from Cooley high school in Detroit and served in the U. S. Navy for over two years. The bride graduated from Tecumseh high school, attended Albion College and graduated from Cleary College. The past year she took post graduate work there.

Police Get New Two-way Radio

TRANSMITTER-RECEIVER SET IS GIFT TO VILLAGE BY R. W. HERRICK

A new two-way radio set, making it possible for local police to communicate not only with state police or the county sheriff's department but with their own scout car as well, has been installed in the local department, it was announced today. The set is the gift of R. W. Herrick, president of Tecumseh Products Co.

The new set, of latest design, has both transmitters and receivers in the scout car and at police headquarters, making it possible for an officer to sit at his desk at headquarters and communicate with the police car anywhere within a radius of 35 or 40 miles.

"This is a distinct advantage," Chief Earl Bowen said today. "Previously, if a call came in for an officer and the scout car was out we had to wait until it returned. Now, it is possible to instantly radio to the car and the call can be answered in a matter of minutes. Likewise, police, at the scene of an accident, can radio to headquarters for ambulance service or for any other need."

The frequency on all police radios is being changed, Chief Bowen said, and it will be about the first of the year before the local set, which is of the new design, will be able to communicate with Adrian because of this reason. However, after the other county police sets have been brought up to the new standard, constant contact with them will be possible.

Tecumseh, it was pointed out, is one of the very few small communities with transmitting and receiving sets available to its police. Mr. Herrick gave the police a radio transmitting set previously but with that set it was not possible to communicate with the scout car. With the new radio, local police cars and police headquarters are as well equipped. insofar as radio is concerned, as are any departments in the state.

Hillsdale Fair Begins, Sunday

RELIGIOUS SERVICE TO FEATURE OPENING OF 99TH ANNUAL EXPOSITION

The 99th Hillsdale County Fair will open Sunday, September 25, with a religious program featuring an address by Rev. E. W. Martin, pastor, First Church of the Nazarene, Detroit, in conjunction with a band concert.

All buildings on the grounds have been made ready for the large exhibit of agricultural products, it being necessary to erect tents for the overflow exhibits. The 4-H Club will feature the largest show they have ever had at the Hillsdale Fair.

Through the co-operation of the Hillsdale County Health Department and its director, Dr. M. R. French, all grounds and buildings have been thoroughly sprayed with DDT. There will be the largest showing of farm machinery that has ever been on the Hillsdale fair grounds. Every available foot of commercial exhibit space has been sold.

The Woman's Congress will feature their usual fine programs for the 64th year. All exhibit space in the school building has been assigned. There will be for the entertainment of the public the usual high class entertainers, as well as five days of harness racing and baseball games.

Thursday has been set aside as "Governor's Day."

World's record horsepulling contests will be held Tuesday and Wednesday.

PHOTOGRAPHER TALKS TO THE ROTARY CLUB

Photography as a vocation and as a hobby was the subject of an interesting talk by Arthur Wilson of Kalamazoo, when he spoke to Rotarians following dinner at Brees House, Tuesday evening. He was the guest of L. W. Larsen.

Mr. Wilson, a professional photographer, told many of the do's and dont's of picture taking and then demonstated many types of cameras including the new Land camera which produces a finished picture in a minute. His talk was both interesting and educational.

New Girl Scout Group Organized

ACTIVE YEAR IS PLANNED BY ORGANIZATION; MORE LEADERS SOUGHT

The Tecumseh Girl Scout Association held its first meeting of the current season on Wednesday, September 14, at 8:30 p.m., in Tecumseh High School. The thirty women who were interested in the Scouting program and showed their interest by attending the meeting helped to organize troops for the new year. Mrs. Grenval Spangler, retiring president, conducted a short business meeting. She then introduced the new president, Mrs. Elven E. Duvall, who presided over the remainder of the program.

Mrs. Duvall explained exactly what duties were expected from each volunteer position in Girl Scouting under the present association. She stressed the importance of co-operation between leaders and committees. "The Girl Scout troop is not the sole responsibility of one individual. It is a success through the co-operative efforts of the leaders, committee and the association," said Mrs. Duvall.

Consumers To Celebrate 100,000 Farm Customer

Connecting of Consumers Power Company's 100,000th farm customer will be celebrated October 6 with a public barbecue, farm exhibition and speaking program on the Cletus R. Fredericks farm in Wheatland township, Hillsdale county, the company announced today.

Serving an area embracing most of the counties of the Lower Peninsula, Consumers claims more farm customers than any other electric company in the United States. Its total of 100,000 represents about 56 per cent of all Michigan farms receiving electric service from any source.

About 99 per cent of all Michigan farms are now electrified.

A&P Answers U. S. Charges

DENIES COMPANY HOLDS MONOPOLY; SUIT IS SLAP AT BUSINESS ECONOMY

Do the American people want A & P put out of business?

This blunt question was asked in an advertisement published by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company in 2,000 newspapers this week. It was in answer to the anti-trust suit filed in Federal Court in New York last week, calling for dissolution of the company.

The statement explained that the suit was brought under the anti-trust laws which were passed to prevent anyone from getting a monopoly and then raising prices to the public.

"We have never done any of these things," said A & P. "Nobody has ever shown we have anything even approaching a monopoly of the food business anywhere. Nobody has ever said we charge too high prices—just the opposite. We would not have had any of this trouble if instead of lowering prices we had raised them, and pocketed the difference.

A & P stated that the entire American system of efficient low-cost, low-profit distribution is threatened because "if the anti-trust lawyers succeed in destroying A & P, the way will be cleared for the destruction of every other efficient large-scale distributor.

A & P said that while the interests of the owners of the company were of little importance, millions of consumers, hundreds of thousands of farmers, thousands of manufacturers and business men and the firm's 110,000 employees would be hurt if A & P were destroyed.

"We feel that it is our responsibility to all these people to defend by every legitimate means this company and the low price policy on which it was built."

C. Tefft Hewitt, aged 71 years, former resident and prominent in library circles throughout Michigan, died recently at his home in Muskegon. He was born in Tecumseh July 13, 1871, and has donated many books to the Tecumseh public library. In June of 1948 the institution received a photostatic copy of the Tecumseh Democrat, published on June 25, 1826, from Mr. Hewitt.

Retiring from the Hackley Public Library a year ago after serving 20 years as librarian, Mr. Hewitt had been in failing health for six months. Food Handlers To Have Classes

COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT ARRANGES SESSIONS AT ADRIAN AUDITORIUM

Announcement was made today by the Lenawee County Health Department that the food-handlers' classes in the county will be held September 27 and 28 at the Civic Auditorium in Adrian from two until four o'clock in the afternoon, and eight until ten o'clock in the evening. The evening classes will be a repetition of the afternoon sessions, thus allowing foodhandlers who cannot attend in the afternoon to come in the evening.

We are hoping, said Dr. H. C. Huntley, director of the Health Department, that every person who owns or works in a food establishment will take advantage of this opportunity and attend these classes. This school, he said, is primarily designed to teach safe handling methods and proper dishwashing and sterilization, thus protecting the health of the public.

Charles H. Niggeman, sanitarian of the Health Department, said that W. H. Haskell, D.V.M. and Tom Laughlin of Beloit, Wisconsin, have been secured to conduct the school. These men, said Mr. Niggeman, have been conducting such schools throughout the mid-

Country Club Meeting, Friday

IMPORTANT BUSINESS SESSION TO BE FOLLOWED BY DANCING PARTY

An important meeting for the membership of the Tecumseh Country Club, including a surprise party and dance, has been announced for Friday evening by C. W. Gilman, secretary of the club.

"This meeting is important to every member," the notice to stockholders reads, "and your board of directors earnestly requests a one hundred per cent attendance as a decision must be made that will, in our opinion, be as pleasant to you as to us at our last board meeting."

The membership meeting will be preceded by a buffet dinner beginning at 7 o'clock. Later, trophy winners in the recent golf tournament will receive their awards, and dancing will be enjoyed after 10 p.m.

The notice concluded that it desires young folk to attend the dinner and meeting but it is suggested that only young folk of dancing age attend Friday's sessions because of the important business meeting prior to the dance.

C. O. Butler, chairman of golf, has announced that on Sunday, September 25, Adrian Country Club members will be guests here at an inter-city sweepstakes tourney, starting at 9 a.m. It will be a handicap meet and some 35 to 50 are expected. Members are urged to notify the committee, including V. C. Haight and Clarence Beach, of their plan to attend.

Reservations for breakfast, luncheon or dinner will be accepted.

Reception Held For 41 Teachers

A reception for the teachers of the Tecumseh public schools was held Thursday evening, at the high school by the Parent-Teacher Association. Some 175 persons were in attendance.

Mrs. Ray Sluyter, president, conducted the business meeting after which Mrs. Thomas O'Hara, program chairman for the year, announced the following numbers: two tap dances by Grace Moore, Nancy Randall, Dulcie Bowen and Patsy Purcell; two vocal solos by Mrs. Murray Day and two vocal duets by Marlys and Evelyn Arnold, accompanied by Mrs. Herbert Dillon; two vocal solos by Wallace Whiting, accompanied by Mrs. Jerry Spafford.

In a very clever manner Mrs. Sluyter introduced the 41 teachers to the audience and in so doing presented each with a corsage or boutonniere. The corsages were made by Mrs. Lawrence Price, Mrs. Howard Wick, Mrs. Duncan Oilphant, Mrs. Robert Hanna and Mrs. Kenneth Ringman.

The next meeting will be held October 20, because of conflicting dates on previous Thursdays.

WIN LOP-SIDED GAME AT RECREATION, FRIDAY, BY 9 TO 0 SCORE

By Don VanCamp

The Tecumseh high school Indians opened their football season, Friday night, at Recreation Center by rolling over Pittsford, 19 to 0, before an enthusiastic crowd of fans, who saw a smooth-working winning aggregation that will give their opponents some stiff opposition this year.

The first quarter got under way with Tecumseh kicking off to Pittsford, who brought the ball to their own 25 and were stopped cold by an almost perfect defensive line. Pittsford kicked out of trouble only to find Tecumseh's offense wanting to hit paydirt. After getting into Pittsford's territory the Indians were forced to kick after an exchange of punts. The first quarter ended with Tecumseh on Pittsford's seven yard line.

The second period started off with a bang, with the fine passing of Dave VanWinkle and the tricky running of Ronnie Henkel. On the warpath the Indians scored on a pass to Beasley. The half ended with Tecumseh threatening to score again.

With the second half getting under way Tecumseh came back with more fight than before, Henkel took the kick off and returned it to his own 45 where VanWinkle took over and with some good blocking went to the visitors 39 yard line. Dick Whelan tossed a pass to set up the second touchdown, which VanWinkle took with good blocking from the line.

The fourth quarter opened with the Indians again hitting paydirt as a result of a 39 yard drive. Tecumseh, back on it's one yard line because of a 15 yard penalty, did the unexpected by passing. VanWinkle passed to Whelan for 25 yards, then VanWinkle took the ball and roared through to the Pittsford 39. VanWinkle again took the ball and passed to Henkel

Braves Defeat Howell, 39-0

CROWD SEES RAPID-FIRE GAME AT RECREATION; TO PLAY HUDSON, SUNDAY

By Max Brandt

The Tecumseh Braves, following the example of their younger brothers, the Indians, last Saturday night rolled over the Howell Athletic Club 39 to 0. The game, played under threatening skies at Recreation Center, before a crowd of 350 fans, saw a well-balanced attack with four of the local lads scoring. Tecumseh's semi-pro team scored early and often to pile up a 13-point lead in the first quarter and a 19-point margin at half time.

Tecumseh received the kickoff and in four plays rolled 62 yards from their own 38 to their first touchdown of the season. Francis Tirb scored on a reverse after taking a handoff from Bob Baker. Poley's place kick was wide. The Braves, with three minutes left in the quarter, scored their second touchdown of the period. This time they moved from the Howell 39 in eight plays with Poley smashing over from the seven yard line on a quick opening play. Poley's kick was wide and the Braves led 12 to 0 as the second quarter started.

WE SHOULD THINK, TOO

U. S. News and World Report has published an unusually interesting interview with Geoffrey Crowther, editor of the Economist of London, dealing with Britain's difficulties and their possible solution. What gives it a particular importance is that Mr. Growther, who is regarded both here and abroad as an outstanding authority on British affairs, has been sympathetic with many of the Labor government's policies and actions—but, at the same time, sees grave dangers in some of them.

Thus, in one section of the interview, he said, "Taxation is so heavy now that there really is very little reward for anybody to work any harder. And I'm not only talking about the high-income executive. I'm talking about the ordinary workingman. He knows that, as soon as his earnings exceed about $30 a week for a single man, as much as 36 per cent is deducted in tax off any additional money that he makes . . .

"Next the social services. Though I'm one of their most convinced advocates, I think they've been allowed to run riot in this country. It's been made a little too easy to lead a soft and easy life, and in various ways we have got to put that right . . .

"And the old Victorian belief that a high standard of living comes from a high standard of production, or, to quote another famous slogan, that 'He who does not work, neither shall he eat,' has been allowed to slide too much into the background . . . We have got to make some moral return in that direction."

Regardless of the side one takes, it is obvious that one of the greatest issues of the time is that of the welfare state—of ever-expanding social services by government, paid for in one way or another at an enormous cost to capital, labor, and all the taxpayers. The situation Mr. Crowther speaks of has approached the crisis point in Britain, and the Labor government is being reluctantly compelled to impose a still greater degree of austerity on the people. In part, Britain's present economic emergency is due to the fact that her goods are expensive to compete in world markets, and this, in turn, results from the problems Mr. Crowther described.

Here is one of the reasons why Congress has been cold to so many of the provisions of Mr. Truman's legislative program. Our social security program is nowhere near so broad as England's. Still, it is costing employer and employe very great sums in payroll levies, and the rates are to progressively rise. So cradle-to-the-grave social security has not found the favor among the lawmakers that the President hoped for.

Do You Want Your A&P Put Out Of Business?

Last Thursday in New York, the anti-trust lawyers from Washington filed a suit to put A&P out of business.

They asked the court to order us to get rid of most of our stores and also the manufacturing facilities which supply you with A&P coffee, Ann Page products, Jane Parker baked goods, and other quality items we produce.

It would mean the end of A&P as you know it.

This poses a basic question for the American people: Do they want to continue to enjoy lower prices and better living? Or do they want to break up A&P and pay higher prices, and have lower living standards?

What do you want?

Why Destroy A&P?

This suit was brought under the anti-trust laws. These are good laws. They were passed about fifty years ago to prevent any company, or any group of companies, from getting a monopoly in a field and then raising prices to the public.

A&P has never done any of these things.

Nobody has ever shown that we have anything even approaching a monopoly of the food business anywhere. As every housewife knows, the retail grocery business is the most competitive in the country and we do only a small part of it.

Nobody has ever said we charged too high prices — just the opposite. This whole attack rises out of the fact that we sell good food too cheap. We would not have had any of this trouble if, instead of lowering prices, we had raised them and pocketed the difference.

Nobody has ever said that our profit rate was too high. During the past five years our net profit, after taxes, has averaged about 1½c on every dollar of sales, which is less than almost any other business you can think of.

The American people have shown that they like our low-price policy by coming to our stores to do their shopping. If A&P is big, it is because the American people, by their patronage, have made it big.

Obviously, it is the theory of the anti-trust lawyers that the people have no right to patronize a company, if their patronage will make that company grow, and that any big business must be destroyed simply because it is big, and even if the public gets hurt in the process.

Do You Want Higher Prices?

There is much more involved in this case than the future of A&P. The entire American system of efficient, low-cost, low-profit distribution which we pioneered, will face destruction and the public will suffer.

A&P was the first chain store in this country. For more than ninety years we have tried to build a sound business on the simple formula the founder gave us: "Give the people the most good food you can for their money." Year after year we have tried to do a better job, make our business more efficient, and pass the savings on to the consumer in the form of lower prices.

Our efforts along these lines have led other grocers to keep their costs and profits down.

In the old days before A&P, food that cost the grocer 50¢, often sold as high as $1.00 at retail.

Today, food that costs the grocer 50¢ generally sells to the public at less than 60¢.

The methods we pioneered have been adopted not only by other grocers, but by merchants in other lines. There are today literally hundreds of chain stores, voluntary groups and individual merchants operating with the same methods and in the same pattern here under attack.

If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in destroying A&P, the way will be clear for the destruction of every other efficient large-scale distributor.

Who Will Be Hurt?

There has never been any question in our mind that it is good business and good citizenship to sell good food as cheaply as possible. As Fortune Magazine said about A&P some time ago, "It is firmly attached to the one great principle — the selling of more for less — that has made the desert bloom and the nation wax great."

We sincerely believe that we have helped the American people eat better and live better.

We believe that the hundreds of thousands of farmers and manufacturers who have voluntarily sought our business have profited by our fast, low-cost distribution of their products.

We know that our 110,000 loyal employees enjoy today, as they always have, the highest wages, shortest hours and best working conditions generally prevailing in the retail food industry; and that these men and women have found in A&P good opportunities for security and progress.

We know that thousands of businessmen — the landlords who rent us our stores, the haulers who operate our trucks, the people who supply us with goods and services — have a big stake in our operations.

Obviously, all these people will suffer if this company is put out of business.

What Shall We Do?

Frankly, they could make an enormous amount of money by breaking up A&P, as the anti-trust lawyers wish, and selling off the parts.

But is this what the American people want? Do they agree with the anti-trust lawyers that our food prices are too low, and that we should be put out of the picture so other grocers can charge more?

Frankly, if this were the case, we would not want to continue in business.

But we seriously doubt that this is the case. Twelve years ago, an effort was made to tax this company and other chain stores out of business. The public rallied to our support. They said they liked our quality foods and our low prices. As a result of their opposition, the tax was defeated.

Now we are faced with this new attack through the courts. We are faced with the heavy costs and all the trouble that lawsuits involve.

But we believe this attack is a threat to millions of consumers who rely on us for quality foods at low prices; to farmers who rely on us for fast, low-cost distribution of their products; and to our loyal employees.

We feel that it is our responsibility to all these people to defend, by every legitimate means, this company and the low-price policy on which it was built.

Pittsford's team just couldn't get their offense going so the Pittsford coach sent Carpenter, a heavy tackle, into the backfield to pick up three of their five first downs.

The Tecumseh varsity reserves took over in the fourth and went right on making yardage.

Tomorrow night will be a big one for the Indians, when they travel to Morenci to meet the L. C. A. A. champions of last year. The game will be played under the lights.

Jane E. Hoekstra Is Bride Of Corp. C. Hensen

Jane E. Hoekstra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoekstra of 505 N. Pearl Street, and Corporal Charles E. Hensen were united in marriage at a small home wedding, Monday evening in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hensen, 415 West Kilbuck. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Lena Cox.

Attending the couple were the bride's cousin, Barbara Hicks of Monroe, and the groom's brother, Chester E. Hensen of Tecumseh.

The bride was attired in blue satin with which she wore a corsage of red roses and a necklace of pearls.

Large baskets of asters and zinnias were used effectively in the living room and the ceremony was read by candle light.

Refreshments were served from a lace covered table centered with bride and groom dolls. Tall white candles in double crystal holders, red dahlias and a two-tiered wedding cake, topped with tiny rose buds, completed the table arrangements.

Later the couple left on a short trip. Cpl. Hensen has been at Fort Riley, Kas., the past six weeks and leaves this week for Arlington, Va., where his bride will join him soon.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and is employed in the United Savings Bank. The groom graduated from Adrian high school in 1944 and served two years in the U. S. Navy. He has attended Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill., and Adrian College.

re-organization plans a leader's training program will be conducted beginning the first week of October. These classes are designed to orient leaders and assistants in Girl Scout policies, procedures, and history; the conducting of troop meetings and ceremonies, handicrafts, folk dancing, singing, hiking, and many other parts of Scouting. They will give old leaders a chance to brush up on these points and will give new leaders a chance to become thoroughly informed and "at home" with the program before beginning their duties.

Other plans outlined by Mrs. Duvall for the Scouting year included similar training for committee men and women and council members; a leader's organization where interesting people with special talents will be introduced regularly to give leaders fresh ideas for troop meetings and programs; a drive to encourage more adults and scouts to participate in the Girl Scout organization.

Committee women from fifteen troops reported that eight women so far have volunteered their services as troop leaders. Mrs. Glyde Wittrup, Mrs. Mildred VanWinkle, Mrs. Duncan Oliphant, Mrs. Sarah Wick, Mrs. Marge Rohweder, Mrs. Louise Partridge are beginning work with six Brownie troops. Mrs. Anna Mae Bowser will continue with her Senior Scout troop. Mrs. Julia Titley will work with one Girl Scout Intermediate troop. There are still vacancies for three Brownie troop leaders and four Intermediate troop leaders. Applications for membership in three newly organized Brownie troops for second graders who will be seven years old by December 1, 1949, will be taken by Mrs. Duvall along with leaders' applications.

"Girl Scouting is fun for everyone," said Mrs. Duvall. "Our organization will welcome the assistance of everyone who believes as we do that Girl Scouting is a rewarding community service for the girls of Tecumseh and the adults who participate. It is a mutual association which gives mutual benefits to each individual and to the community.

"Pounding Party" Enjoyed By Pastor

METHODISTS HONOR DR. AND MRS. MacNAUGHTON AT THE CHURCH, SUNDAY

The "Pounding" Party given in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Norman MacNaughton at the Methodist church, Sunday evening, proved to be a source of enjoyment and fun for some 100 Methodist members and their friends who attended. The pastor and his wife received the guests at the door as they arrived, not knowing that later in the evening they were to be recipients of the "Pounding."

Mrs. E. A. Collins introduced a program of music with Nita Spangler, Wilfred Waldron, Jr., Mrs. John McColl, Mrs. John Hamilton and Mrs. Wilfred Waldron participating. Mrs. Truman Rentschler reviewed parts of the book "Papa Was a Preacher" by Alyene Porter. When the "Pounding" Party scene was described, it suddenly became a reality in the lives of those present because Sally Rentschler, Mrs. Ed Pangle and F. E. N. Thatcher presented an impromptu program which was typical of that day and then the "pounds and ounces" of fruit, vegetables, melons, staple foods, home made jams, jellies, relishes and other good foods were presented to the MacNaughtons as a token of esteem for them.

It was the pastor's first experience of this kind according to Dr. MacNaughton. The idea dates back to the days when gardens and farms were plentiful to draw upon for the needs of the parsonage, such as food, wood, hay and feed for the horses, etc. Some of the local people recall when that method was used in Tecumseh as part pay for the minister. However, it was called a "Donation Party" in this section of the country.

The guests were served punch and wafers from the refreshment table by Nadine Carney, Carol Harper, Beverly Hay and Nita Spangler, who are members of the Youth Fellowship.

Mrs. Mertie Waring was responsible for the arrangement of several baskets and bowls of flowers which beautified the social room for the occasion. The members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service were hostesses of the evening.

Rev. B. O. Bashore's painting ability "overflowed" into the Post Office last week, when he accidentally began a one-man campaign for a new building or at least a clean-up of the present one. It all happened when the Baptist pastor relieved himself of a gallon can of paint by placing it on the slanting writing desk as he turned around to pick up his mail. The inevitable happened and when the can hit the floor the lid jarred loose, spilling the paint, a beautiful shade of oak. Coming to the aid of the preacher was one of his faithful members, Robert French, and together they managed to smear the liquid around with newspapers. This done, they decided it was necessary to do something about the wetness of the pigment, so postal employees lent the pair some heavy wads of rope and with this they sopped it up the best they could. Needless to say, the phone at the Baptist parsonage has been busy with fans complimenting Mr. Bashore on his ingenious ability to get himself into "predicaments" at the most opportune times. The latest mishap occurred just when the morning mail was being sorted and the office is busy with patrons at that time.

On Monday, September 26, the church will be host to the fall meeting of Lansing Presbytery. Ministers and elders from the area between Blissfield and Lansing will meet at 9:30, the meeting beginning with the sacrament of Holy Communion.

Presbyterian men will gather at the church Tuesday evening, September 27, at 8:00 for the September meeting of the Presbyterian Men's Club. Presbyterian Family Night will be held at the church next Wednesday evening, September 28, at 6:30 p.m.

Family Night To Be Held By Presbyterians

At the family night to be held at the First Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening, September 28, at 6:30 p.m., there will be a showing of a new film, "Into The Good Ground," following the potluck supper. This is a new type of film on the Bible.

Prepared by the Westminster Press and produced at a cost of $50,000 by the Pathescope Company at the Fox Studios, it tells the story of a middle-aged man, Dan Gardner, honest but bewildered, who finds himself facing frustration in his work and in his daily life because he couldn't understand the Bible. The whole story is so developed as to make clear the kind of Bible study that can make the Bible clear. It is a film for parents and young people.

Family Night is designed for the entire family. There will be entertainment for small children. Parents will enroll their children for the coming year in Church school at the close of the meeting and receive their new reading books and parents' magazines, but this program is not limited to adults.

Free Chest X-Rays At The County Fair

People visiting the Lenawee County Fair this week were urged today to join with "thousands of Lenawee county residents who now protect their health by an annual chest x-ray."

Dr. H. C. Huntley, director of the County Health Department, called attention to the free chest x-ray which is offered during the fair by a mobile unit of the Michigan Department of Health. No age group is immune to TB, he stated, although it is so infrequent up to the age of 15 that the x-rays are limited to persons over the age of 14. Dr. Huntley emphasized that all reports are confidential and that the entire procedure only requires a few seconds as it is not necessary to remove any clothing.

The Michigan Tuberculosis Association, through the sale of Christmas seal funds, and the Lenawee County Medical Society are co-sponsoring this annual fair chest x-ray program. In the past two years over 6,000 persons have been x-rayed during fair week, and it is hoped that this year the number can be raised to 10,000.

It was emphasized also that the greatest satisfaction in having an annual chest x-ray, which will reveal such conditions as TB, Cancer of the Lung, Bronchiectasis and many abnormalities of the heart, is in knowing for sure that you are O.K.

This year the unit is located at the north entrance to the Merchant's Building and the local Health Department is aided in the registration by the women of the Farm Bureau.

Golden Anniversary Observed By Rebekahs

The Tecumseh Rebekah Lodge celebrated its Golden anniversary, Friday evening, in the newly-decorated rooms of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, No. 14. Some 150 members and guests from Adrian, Ypsilanti, Milan, Britton, Hillsdale, Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Blissfield, Onsted and Brooklyn, took part in the observance.

Mrs. Eva Beevers presented the program which included the singing of old fashioned songs by a group of the members, a memorial in memory of deceased members by the Past Noble Grands, a piano solo by Wanda Cleveland, a reading by Carmen Matthews and a brief talk by the Rev. B. O. Bashore, grand chaplain of the I. O. O. F. of Michigan.

Refreshments were served in conclusion.

On the afternoon of August 23 fifty years ago, the assembly officers instituted the lodge and the Adrian chapter initiated 31 candidates in the evening.

The hall was located on the third floor of the building that now houses the VanCamp & Riley store. The late Ida Snell, grandmother of Mrs. Bert Ousterhout, was the first Noble Grand and the local chapter is named for her. Mrs. Mary Furgason is the present Noble Grand.

Braves Defeat

break in the early minutes of the quarter. Tecumseh recovered a Howell fumble on the Howell 32. The Braves moved fast and had their third score in seven plays as Tirb crashed over from the seventh. This time Foley's kick split the uprights. The Howell team couldn't get much of an attack started, as the Braves forward wall was crashing in on every play and stopping the Howell backs before they could get under way.

Tecumseh kicked off to start the third quarter but had the ball right back in their position as Howell fumbled on their eight-yard line. On the next play Dick Colson raced around his right end to score. The extra point kick was blocked. The Braves added another marker late in the period when the Braves tried an aerial game. Colson faded back and tossed a pass to Quarterback Aten for the score. This series of plays covered 57 yards. Osburn swept the right end for the extra point.

Late in the first quarter, Howell, behind Quarterback Smith, put on a determined effort to crack the Tecumseh goal. Howell moved to the Tecumseh 19 yard line but were halted there as the Braves took over on downs. Tecumseh stormed back down the field to score their final touchdown. With Aten and Colson throwing passes, the Braves moved 81 yards with End Don Purkey going over the goal line on the end around. Jack Osburn crashed over for the extra point. The game ended as Tecumseh was intercepting one of Howell's passes.

The entire forward wall of the Braves played a good strong game as well as the backfield. Next week the Braves will travel to Hudson to play a game Sunday afternoon. The team appreciates all the loyal followers of their games.

The lineups for Saturday night's game were as follows:

Council May Create a Special Assessment District—Section 14. In event that the sidewalks to be built, rebuilt or repaired under the provisions of this ordinance shall comprise one block or more and it shall become necessary for the Village to perform such improvement, the Council may, in lieu of the other methods provided by the terms hereof create a special assessment district to defray the cost and expense thereof.

Section 15. In event that it shall become necessary because of any change in grade as heretofore or hereafter established by the Village Engineer to construct or rebuild any sidewalk heretofore or hereafter built under the terms of this ordinance, the entire cost and expense thereof shall be paid by the Village of Tecumseh from the Sidewalk Fund.

Cash Is Needed To Fight Polio

FOUNDATION'S FUNDS DWINDLING; LOCAL CONTRIBUTIONS URGED

Confidence that the entire community would give whole-heartedly to the Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive was expressed today by Paul Ahleman of Adrian, chairman of the Lenawee chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The drive is being held this week.

The campaign is a last resort because in no other way can the National Foundation continue to aid increased numbers of polio patients without slowing up scientific research and professional education. It is the first emergency drive in the history of the fight against polio in the U. S.

"All of us are deeply touched by the pathetic plight of those afflicted with this cruel disease," Mr. Ahleman said. "In our own midst we have seen polio strike, affecting eight children and adults in our own county, killing one. We have been alert to the signs of danger, secure in the protection of March of Dimes funds, guaranteeing that no one would be deprived of the best available medical care for lack of money.

"But today that security is shaken by financial crisis. The high cost of polio throughout the nation has depleted the epidemic aid resources of the National Foundation. But it hasn't exhausted the sympathy and generosity of the American people. No one of us would condemn any child to a life of prolonged suffering for lack of money to pay the bills for his medical treatment and care. We'll get the money—and give it, to help our children walk again."

Contributions are needed quickly, Mr. Ahleman emphasized. "We shall not try to reach everyone personally in this drive. We know that Lenawee residents recognize the need. Money may be sent in envelopes addressed to POLIO, care of their postmaster or left at collection agencies established in each community by the local polio chairman."

John Cameron of Cameron Drug Co., is chairman of the drive in Tecumseh and he emphasized today the need for emergency funds. Locally, he said, persons may mail their contributions to POLIO in care of the postmaster or, if they desire, may leave their gifts at the United Savings Bank.

Joe: "Serves you right. When I put in a Lennox Heating System, I see that it supplies the right amount of heat in the right places—economically. That's because I locate and install pipes, registers, and heat controls correctly!"

Al: "Hey—would a Lennox, ah, break me?"

Joe: "It would save you! Lennox systems for gas, oil, and coal are reasonable—planned and put in right to give years of trouble-free, economical heating. Want an estimate?"

Al: "In words of one syllable . . . FER GOSH SAKES YES!"

It shall be the duty of every owner, agent or occupant of any such lot or lots or parcels of land, within twenty (20) days after the date of such notice, to build, rebuild or repair such sidewalk, in accordance with the ordinances of the Village of Tecumseh and the specifications for building, rebuilding and repairing sidewalks furnished by the Village Engineer. If said owner, agent or occupant shall neglect or refuse to build, rebuild or repair such sidewalk, within the time specified in such notice, it shall be the duty of the Village Engineer to cause all such improvement as set forth in said notice to be performed as soon as practicable.

The Village Engineer shall keep an accurate account of all items of expense incurred by the Village in carrying out the provisions of the preceding section, and upon the completion of said improvement shall render a verified account thereof to the Council, with a description of the several lots or premises upon or in respect to which said expense was incurred, and the name of the owner or person chargeable therewith, if known. The Council shall thereupon determine what amount of such expense or part thereof shall be charged against each of such persons and upon each of the several lots and premises benefitted thereby and shall require the Village Clerk to report the same to the Board of Assessors to be levied as a special assessment against such premises in accordance with the Village Charter.

All such suits may be brought in the name of the Village of Tecumseh by any such person, firm or corporation, for his, her or their use and benefit, provided that said village shall not be liable for any costs occasioned by any such suit.

Provided, that the Council may for any of the causes enumerated in this section suspend any such license or permit until the next regular meeting of the Council, and cause such license or permit to be delivered to it. At the next regular meeting of the Council such sidewalk builder or licensee may appear before the Council and be heard and the Council after such hearing, may revoke or suspend such licensee permanently, or for a lesser period as it may deem advisable.

Repairs—Section 11. Whenever for any reason any sidewalk shall become out of repair and in such condition as to be a menace to the safety of the public, the Village Engineer shall be authorized to make immediate repairs to the same, the costs and expense of which shall be paid by the owner, agent, or occupant of the premises in front of or adjacent to which such sidewalk is located. It shall also be the duty of the Village Engineer, when permits shall be issued hereunder for the building, rebuilding or repairing of any sidewalks as soon as practicable to establish a proper grade therefor and place grade stakes showing the same, and the specifications to be furnished for the construction of all such sidewalks shall provide that such sidewalks shall be built according to the grade as established by the Village Engineer.

Council May Create a Special Assessment District—Section 14. In event that the sidewalks to be built, rebuilt or repaired under the provisions of this ordinance shall comprise one block or more and it shall become necessary for the Village to perform such improvement, the Council may, in lieu of the other methods provided by the terms hereof create a special assessment district to defray the cost and expense thereof.

Section 15. In event that it shall become necessary because of any change in grade as heretofore or hereafter established by the Village Engineer to construct or rebuild any sidewalk heretofore or hereafter built under the terms of this ordinance, the entire cost and expense thereof shall be paid by the Village of Tecumseh from the Sidewalk Fund.

Meaning of Sidewalk — Section 16. The term sidewalk as used herein shall be deemed to mean and include any sidewalk, crosswalk or driveway adjoining any public street or alley and abutting or adjoining any private property.

Have You Heard About The Swaps We're Makin', Yuh Aint? Wa,al Yud Better Be Coming To Our Stabul, Feller!

Come on down whare the overhead's low as th' prices on th' windshields, whare every stall has a slick car, tough asa mule an' skitish asa cot; where more hoss-tradcared for, only one owner, and you'll lookheard of. We got back to th' good old hoss and buggy days, and you'll find your dollar bigger than car wheels down here.

Today's pacer is a '48 V-8 de luxe tudor with the good old name of Lizzie. And let us tell yuh that the name is the only old fashioned thing about her. She's sound o' wind and limb, gentle, and any child or old lady kin drive her. She's only gone 11,062 miles—hardly broken in. She's been well cared for, only one owner. and you'll look a long way before you find a better used one. Music and heat go with this one.

Today's runnin' champion is a '41 V-8 coupe. This one's had a little exercise but we ain't asking much for it, either. It's got good wind, good shoes, and its got a fresh paint job. With a little work it could easily win honors at the County Fair. If yuh want to swap, we'll do that, too.

We've got some other critters we won't misrepresent much, either. Fur instance: We've got a 1941 Mercury. Tha's also sired by this feller Ford. It's one of them smart convertible jobs, and the motor's jist been overhauled. Price is right, too.

Other's in the stabul include a 1937 De Soto sedan with nearly new tires; a 1939 Ford de luxe tudor with heat and music. Boy this hoss'll give somebody a lot a use. Then there's a 1946 Ford tudor de luxe with radio, music, new tires and low mileage. A 1946 long wheelbase Ford truck with four new tires, two others standing by, and motor's jist been overhauled.

If yur looking fur v-lues, our horse stabul is the place to find 'em.

Bush-Type Potato Is Hailed In Texas

TEXAS—A bush-type yam developed near Gilmer in east Texas is proving one of the most popular types of sweet potato—so popular that agricultural authorities throughout the state are urging the common crawling vine type its planting. The bush type was developed by E. L. Murff of Normangee, near Gilmer, who first discovered the bush yams among his yam vines in 1936. He carefully kept the bush potatoes separated and planted them again next year. Most reverted back to but a few were of the bush variety. Mr. Murff continued to plant the carefully selected bush potatoes until he has now developed the new variety which is attracting national attention from agricultural experts.

Letters have been received from several foreign countries asking details of the bush-type potato. South American countries are especially interested in the variety and letters of inquiry also have been received from Australia and from India.

The bush potato stands something like a peanut bush. The Murff Puerto Rican, as the potato is officially known, has juicy, yellow meat. It has been proved by agricultural experts in Texas to outfield other sweet potato varieties 50 to 100 per cent, yields a more uniform crop, produces non-stringy, high-quality meat, and simplifies harvesting. This means less labor and more profit. The bush Murff is easier cultivated than the crawling vine-type yam. It rapidly is coming into popularity throughout the sweet-potato sections of east Texas and neighboring Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

JUICY . . . Just put Elaine Lang (left) and Sue Thornwall on opposite sides of a bowl of frozen orange juice and it's only a matter of minutes before its ready to drink. The girls are prepared to demonstrate with the frozen beverage before delegates to the institute of food technologists in meeting in San Francisco.

Counties May Require Vaccination Of Dogs

Any Michigan county will soon be able to require rabies vaccination of all dogs whether or not the county is under quarantine for rabies, according to the Michigan Department of Health.

The department, which is interested in rabies from the standpoint of prevention of human hydrophobia, made this statement today in explaining provision of a new law which becomes effective September 23.

Any Board of Supervisors, in its October session, can pass a resolution requiring every dog in the county to be vaccinated before it can be licensed, the Department said. Previously it was necessary for a Board to ask the Department of Agriculture to establish a quarantine and wait until the county was quarantined before the Board could require that all dogs be vaccinated. The change was made by Public Act No. 35 of 1949.

The most important measures for control of rabies in animals and hydrophobia in humans are the compulsory vaccination of all dogs and the impounding and destruction of stray dogs, the Department advised. There would be little danger of deaths from hydrophobia, or little necessity for painful anti-rabic treatment of humans if all dogs in the state were vaccinated.

WHY THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD STRIKE?

Over twenty years ago, the Congress of the United States passed the Railway Labor Act. It was hailed by union leaders as a model for the settlement of labor disputes.

THE LEADERS of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Order of Railway Conductors, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen on the Missouri Pacific Railroad have refused to avail themselves of the peaceful means provided by this Act for settling their disputes. They insist that they be the sole umpire of their own disputes over the meaning of contracts.

There is no Need for Strikes

With all of the available methods for the interpretation of contracts, there is no need for a strike or even a threat of a strike, but the leaders of these railroad unions have ignored the ordinary procedures established by law and insist upon imposing their own interpretations of their contracts by means of a strike.

The wheels have stopped rolling on the Missouri Pacific. They may stop rolling on other railroads at any time. Recently the Wabash Railroad was forced to discontinue operation for several days under similar circumstances.

What are These Strikes About?

These strikes and strike threats are not about wage rates or hours. They result from disputes over the meaning of existing contracts. They cover claims for a full day's pay for less than a day's work, or for payments for services performed by others who were fully paid for the work done.

President Truman's Board Condemns Strike

There is an established legal method for handling disputes involving existing written contracts—just as there is such a method of settling any contract dispute which you may have in your daily life.

The President of the United States appointed a Fact Finding Board to investigate and adjust the Missouri Pacific dispute. This Board reported, in part, as follows:

"... It is with a deep sense of regret that we are obliged to report the failure of our mission. It seems inconceivable to us that a coercive strike should occur on one of the nation's major transportation systems, with all of the losses and hardships that would follow, in view of the fact that the Railway Labor Act provides an orderly, efficient and complete remedy for the fair and just settlement of the matters in dispute. Grievances of the character here under discussion are so numerous and of such frequent occurrence on all railroads that the general adoption of the policy pursued by the organizations in this case would soon result in the complete nullification of the Railway Labor Act. . . ."

Obviously the railroads cannot be run efficiently or economically if the leaders of the unions ignore agreements or laws.

Provisions of the Law which are Disregarded

There are five ways under the Railway Labor Act to settle disputes over the meaning of contracts:

1—Decision by National Railroad Adjustment Board.
2—Decision by System Adjustment Board for the specific railroad.
3—Decision by arbitration.
4—Decision by neutral referee.
5—Decision by courts.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad has been and is entirely willing to have these disputes settled in accordance with the requirements of the Railway Labor Act. Regardless of this fact, the union leaders have shut down that railroad.

Innocent Bystanders Suffer Losses and Hardships

There are about 5,000 engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen on the Missouri Pacific. They are known as "operating" employes, and are the most highly paid of all employes on the nation's railroads, but their strike action has resulted in the loss of work to 22,500 other employes of the Missouri Pacific. In addition, they have imposed great inconvenience and hardship upon the public and the communities served by that railroad.

The Railway Labor Act was designed to protect the public against just such interruptions of commerce.

If these men will not comply with the provisions of the law for the settlement of such disputes, then all thinking Americans must face the question, "What is the next step?"

For A Very Wonderful, Friendly Reception

. . . and we honestly mean it when we say THANKS for the fine reception that you accorded our new store, Friday and Saturday. There were "o's" and "ah's" to be sure and, frankly, we'd have been a bit disappointed if there hadn't been because we've worked and strived to bring to the folk round-about what we believed to be one of the finest "all-around" men's, women's and children's furnishings shops in Lenawee County. For your fine patronage, then, we repeat our "Thank You." If you found it impossible to be numbered among the hundreds who paid us a visit, we invite you to come at your convenience. We'll appreciate, too, your suggestions and your criticisms. We want this to be YOUR store, and we'll do everything in our power to make it so.

Guess who's losing sleep over this one?

FOR years, folks have talked about the "low-priced three" in the car business.

For a generation these have been the same three cars, unchallenged for position simply because they were lowest priced.

But take a look at the beauty pictured here and ask yourself:

How would you like to compete with it when it wears a price tag any new-car buyer can reach, gives you straight-eight performance for less than many sixes?

Truth is, this one sets a lot of standards that are going to be hard to match.

This handy size—a dream in traffic, yet generous in interior room—is a "must" for cars yet to come.

The lift of high-pressure Fireball power—the level-going comfort of the Buick ride—the luxury of Dynaflow Drive, here optional at modest extra cost—all these are wanted things others just can't overlook.

So why not do the obvious thing and go see the car that's causing sleepless nights in Detroit?

Study its smartness, test its room and comfort, try its handling, note the precise figures of its delivered prices.

You can do all that on a single trip to your Buick dealer's—and make your selection of a wide choice of equipment and colors at the same time.

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

Two developments have taken place at Lansing which put Governor G. Mennen Williams in the familiar role of a state executive who seeks more power.

It was the theme of Governor Kim Sigler that the people held the governor responsible for results and that the governor should hold power in proportion to this responsibility. Sigler's efforts to centralize responsibility and power in the governor's office were rebuffed by the state legislature. Legislators disagreed.

Since winning election as Sigler's successor, Williams has sought to strengthen his hand. He has done this largely by partisan appointments. A number of these appointees were unsuccessful Democratic candidates for state offices.

Reinstatement of Brig. Gen. Louis A. Kunzig as executive director of the liquor control commission has been ordered by the state civil service commission, of which William Palmer, democrat, is chairman.

Kunzig was fired by two Democratic members of the state liquor control commission. The reason given was the civil service position of executive director was no longer needed, and Kunzig's salary of $10,000 a year should be saved in the interest of "economy." The third commission member, a Republican, charged that Kunzig was ousted for "Political reasons." Memories of old liquor scandals were revived and aired.

While Governor Williams maintains he is not involved in the Kunzig row, it is unlikely that Kunzig would have been fired if Williams had opposed such action by his appointees who hold majority control. And so the controversy automatically puts the governor into the picture. Responsibility of the acts of appointees goes with the governor's power to appoint.

The second development affects the new state department of administration, director of which is appointed by the governor. When John Perkins returned to the University of Michigan after inducing the legislature to go along with Sigler's recommendation for limited centralized controls over state departments, Prof. William Steadman of Wayne University was chosen by Governor Williams.

The Williams-controlled department recently informed Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, that the highway department must turn over its purchasing. Stephen J. Roth, attorney general, said the department of administration was within its legal rights.

Ziegler, who was re-elected last April, promptly charged Williams as seeking to "grasp new, additional power regardless of the effect on costs, efficiency or operations." He said the highway department's purchasing system has had the support of the legislature, state supreme court and former attorneys generals for 25 years.

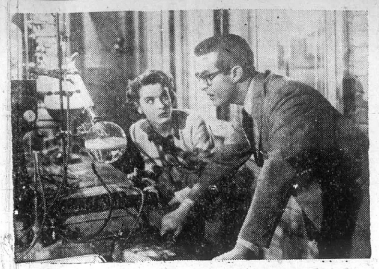
Behind the charges of "politics" between the Republicans and the Democrats is the prospect that the real answers to these controversies must come from the State Supreme court itself. For example, it was argued at the civil service commission hearing on the Kunzig case that the liquor control commission had full authority to abolish any post even though the post had been created by the civil service commission.

George J. Burke, member of the civil service commission, replied: "Do you mean that the authority of civil service ends with the creation of a new position? What would stop any other department from following the precedent you are attempting to set here?"

In the highway department case the attorney general's ruling is challenged by a state-elected official, the state highway commissioner.

These are constitutional questions, made to order for the State Supreme court.

In the meanwhile, they serve to focus attention again on the role of the Michigan governor—whether he be Republican Kim Sigler or Democrat G. Mennen Williams—with respect to responsibility and power.



Professor Ray Milland makes a startling experiment with the assistance of Jean Peters in this scene from "It Happens Every Spring," which co-stars the pair with newcomer Paul Douglas, Sunday and Monday, September 25-26, at the Strand.

Girl Scouts To Have Busy Year

LEADERS MAKE PLANS FOR PROGRAMS AND RE-OPENING OF TROOPS

Monday evening Tecumseh Girl Scout leaders met informally at the home of Mrs. Elven E. Duvall, to discuss their plans for opening troops, next week.

Mildred VanWinkle with Virginia Ross as her co-leader will welcome all of the Brownies of Troop No. 1 at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Scout cabin. Julia Titley will meet with the Scouts of Troop 5, formerly led by Irene Hay, in the Scout cabin Thursday at 4 p.m.

Janet Maples will be at the Scout cabin Monday at 4 p.m., to meet with Troop 8. These girls last year met with Esther Claudia as Brownies but this year "flew up" to Girl Scouts. Troop 10 Brownies, who were led by Helen Morningstar last season, will be led by Sara Wick at her home beginning Thursday at 4 p.m.

Louise Partridge will meet with her Brownie troop of last year at the Methodist church on Tuesday afternoon. Roberta Holmes will be assistant leader to Marge Ronweder and troop 13 will meet Friday afternoon at the Scout cabin at 4 o'clock.

Troops 2 and 6 of Girl Scouts still need leaders. As soon as leaders become available troops will be notified of meeting nights. A similar situation exists in Brownie troops 9, 12 and 14. Women wishing to volunteer their services as leaders should contact Mrs. Duvall, president of the Girl Scout Association.

Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock Lela Oliphant, Kathryn Cameron and Glyde Wittrup will greet new beginning Brownies at the Scout cabin. These prospective Brownies will be given Parent Consent blanks to take home and be filled out.

All of the leaders and Mrs. Duvall discussed plans for forming a leader's club, which will be separate from the Association meetings. The leaders felt they would receive more assistance from such a group in respects to leader training, conducting troop meetings, handicraft, singing and dancing and special troop projects.

Quaker Earnings Slump During Year

COMPANY POLICY TO REDUCE PRICES RESPONSIBLE FOR REDUCTION IN INCOME

Both net earnings and dollars sales of The Quaker Oats Company, Chicago, declined during the business year ended June 30, John Stuart, chairman of the board, told stockholders today in the annual report.

While earnings dipped to $8,-173,642 from $8,437,138 in the previous year, sales declined to $207,-037,483 from $235,478,696

Most of the 12% dip in dollar sales, Stuart said, is due to the company's action during the year in lowering prices on many of its food and feed products. In reducing so many of our selling prices, he said, "we have been trying to do our part in bringing down the fits of the United States company cost of living."

He pointed out that while prowere somewhat better than last year, the consolidated figures were pulled down by a decrease in the profits of the Canadian company. "This decrease was largely the result of reduced exports to sterling area countries caused by Britain's curtailment of dollar purchases," Stuart said.

Dividend payments during the year were $4,992,189; and more than $2,800,000 went for further modernization of the firm's grain elevators, new packaging machinery at various plants, and additions to the livestock and poultry research farms in Illinois.

Inventories were held well below the level of the preceding year. "Although we continue to follow the policy of minimum working requirements and hedging purchases whenever safely possible, we must absorb, with declining grain prices, some inventory loss.

FALLS FROM CAR

Evelyn Witherell, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Witherell of Clinton, suffered cuts and bruises Friday afternoon when she fell from a moving car west of Clinton on US-112. She was x-rayed at Tecumseh hospital and is now at her home where she is recovering.

T.P. Players To Stage Comedy

"THE OLD SOAK," A LAUGH PROVOKING PLAY, TO BE PRESENTED OCT. 7-8

The Product's Players group will open its season with a comedy production entitled, "The Old Soak," at the United Products Workers Union hall, Friday and Saturday, October 7 and 8. In view of the popularity gained in the Players' first year of acting, Si Kring, director said "The Old Soak," are anticipating capacity audiences at both showings.

The play does not in any way belie its title, and, although bootlegging is no longer the order of the day, the habits, purposes and temperament of today's citizens are the same as then. It is expected that the appearance of "Al", the bootlegger, at both opportune and inopportune moments will awaken fond memories of days gone by.

Mr. Kring has been cast as "The Old Soak" and Evelyn Eyler will portray his wife, Matilda. A fine characterization is done by Duncan Oliphant as Cousin Webster Parsons, a teetotaler. The romantic interest in the play is Joan Burke, in the part of Lucy. Her male interest is Henry Stein.

The part of Clemmie, the son, a would-be "Big Shot," is taken by Bob Hite. Betty Fish has been cast as Ina Heath, an "artist," and although she appears only once in the play, she does a fine characterization. The hired girl, Nellie, in the person of Clara Rehatzare, shames the Old Soak in displaying the effects of a few shots of "unrighteousness" of the brand that was prevalent in prohibition days.

In polite circles "Al," played by Walt Atwell, is known as an "interior decorator," and is not so polite circles as a "bootlegger" in days gone by.

"The Old Soak," Clem Hamley, is fond of quoting both the "Good Book" and Shakespeare, sometimes getting them slightly mixed, but always gets his point across—to his own satisfaction.

TIPTON LAD PROVES HIS FOX BAIT WORKS

When Jack Greenwald, 14-year-old schoolboy, announced early in September that he was using a new type of fox bait to trap the animals on his grandparents' farm near Tipton, he wasn't foolin'. At that time he trapped two foxes and collected $10 in bounty.

Last Thursday he trapped a third fox and Saturday he got another. All of the animals he has caught thus far are males.

The animals have been bothering the poultry on the farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Listman. Jack thinks, if he has good luck, he will eliminate the pests and, at the same time, swell his own pocketbook.

2 Gridders Hurt In Morenci Game

CAMPBELL, POPULAR CENTER, STILL IN HOSPITAL UNDER OBSERVATION

By Don VanCamp

Morenci, defending L. C. A. A. league football champs, beat Tecumseh Friday night on its own gridiron, by the score of 56 to 0. In the first quarter, Morenci scored 14 points. Willie Campbell scored the first touchdown with a handoff from VanWagner and ran 63 yards to paydirt.

Morenci's veteran backfield had too much speed for the Indians. Each Morenci back scored at least one touchdown. Campbell tallied four times, VanWagner twice and Packard and Crout each scored once. Morenci used the T and single wing.

Tecumseh lost the service of one of its star players, Owen Campbell, center, who is still in Tecumseh hospital under observation, the result of injuries. The Indians also lost one of their subs, Larry Hart, also a center. Larry got to see only a few seconds of play when he broke his wrist.

Next week Tecumseh will battle Clinton at Recreation Center, with the kickoff at 8 p.m.

Tecumseh — Centers, Campbell, Hart; guards, Jackson, Judd, Eggleston, Rockwell; tackles, Slear, Baily, Ousterhout; ends, McDowell, Karsten, Aebersold; VanValkenburg; backs, Beasley, Henkel, VanWinkle, Whelan, Breitenwischer, Bowen, Hamilton, Henry.

Score by quarters:

Morenci	14	21	7	14—56

The "walking blood bank," established here in June by the Hall-Slater post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has contributed 27 pints of blood in this community since its inception, George Wittrup, in charge of the bank, said today.

"The blood bank is made up entirely of V. F. W. members," Mr. Wittrup said, "and we believe we are making an important contribution to the welfare of the community by maintaining it." The blood bank is open for public use and without charge. Numerous times, it was said, the bank has been asked to give blood outside the community and this has been done without question.

Some 135 men are participating in the bank, although a few have yet to be typed. The V. F. W. members give blood to replace the plasma which is used at Tecumseh hospital and in a few cases direct transfusions have been given.

Students Name Class Officers

NEW GUIDANCE PROGRAM INAUGURATED IN SCHOOL ON FOUR-YEAR BASIS

Following spirited elections in all grades, officers of the several classes have been named in the junior and senior high of the Tecumseh public schools.

A new plan for overall guidance of the pupils during their high school careers was inaugurated this fall and James McDowell, principal, selected Delmar Crisp as guidance director. Mr. Crisp will have charge of all matters pertaining to guidance and will be assisted by teachers appointed by Mr. McDowell as counselors for each class. These counselors will follow along with each grade as the years pass so that the classes will have the same counselors for a four year period. In this way it is hoped that more adequate counselling may be done as the counselors will know the problems of each individual pupil better than has been possible in the past.

The student council has also gotten under way to a good start and has published the programs for all the home games. Mr. Furbush has been appointed as advisor and he will work with Dave Green, president; Jerry Bowen, vice-president; Beverly McLaury, secretary, and Gerald VanValkenburg as treasurer. The council has many plans for activities and events during the school year.

SEMI-PROS WIN SECOND GAME IN HARD-FOUGHT CONTEST, SATURDAY

By Max Brandt

Tecumseh's semi-pro football team, the Braves, moved their scene of operation to Hudson, Sunday afternoon. The Braves came away from the battle the victors by a 6 to 0 score. The game was played under perfect conditions and it was hard fought all the way. Tecumseh's team now has won two straight games after losing their opener to Monroe.

The battle started with Tecumseh kicking off to Hudson. Hudson A. C. tried to penetrate the Braves' line and then kicked. After an exchange of punts, Hudson put on their strongest drive of the afternoon. The march carried 36 yards from the Hudson 46 to the Tecumseh 18. The drive was halted when Tecumseh recovered a fumble.

During the second quarter the battle was fought between the 40 yard lines. Both teams showed very strong defenses and this was the reason for the tight scoring of the game. The Braves took to the air in the period and Kensler, Tecumseh halfback, hit on two of these and moved the team deep into Hudson territory. One pass to Purkey was good for 25 yards and the other to Aten for 22 yards. Hudson's defense halted the drive and the half ended a minute later.

Tecumseh started the second half by receiving the kickoff. Again the game centered around the mid-field stripe as play became rougher and gains smaller. Late in the third period, Quarterback Aten engineered the Braves into Hudson territory only to have Hudson's defense rise up and stop them. Hudson kicked back to Tecumseh because Coach Neville Hart's chargers forced them to. The Braves forward wall was playing its best of the year and at times there were more Tecumseh players in Hudson backfield than Hudson players.

At the start of the fourth quarter, Aten got off a beautiful punt that rolled out of bounds on the Hudson seven yard line. Hudson tried three line plays and then kicked out of their end zone but the Braves came right back. Mixing passes and line smashes, Aten moved the ball to the Hudson 6. Kensler threw a long pass to Aten from the Hudson 30 to the six. But again, by using an eight man line, Hudson prolonged the scoring and as Quarterback Sturgis of Hudson tried to punt out of danger, he fumbled the pass from center and Tecumseh recovered. On the next play the Braves fumbled, as play was very, very rough, and Hudson recovered. The Hudson team, on their own seven yard line, tried one and run that lost four yards and then as they went to kick again, the Braves big forwards crashed through and blocked the kick. The ball rolled backwards into the Hudson end zone when End Ted Sisson fell on it for a touchdown. The extra point kick was wide.

It was late in the quarter and a desperate Hudson eleven took the kick off and took to the air. From their own 28 Hudson's squad moved through the air to the Tecumseh 28 where Jack Osburn intercepted one of Sturgis' passes and the game ended a minute later with Tecumseh on the move.

It was one of the most bruising games the Braves have played in two years of operation and the entire squad came through with flying colors and no loss of players. In the forward wall, Jim Kensler, Purkey, Sisson and Murphy played

SEVENTY CENT CIGARETTES

If you buy a pack of cigarettes in England, they'll cost you about 70 cents. A glass of beer involves an outlay of 30 cents or so. If you're lucky enough to be able to find bacon or butter the price tag will stagger you. So it is with everything—save for the barest necessities, such as bread and turnips, and cheap grades of clothing and other manufactured goods.

The reason is that the British government establishes the price for which goods may be sold. There is no competition as we understand the word in this country. There is no need for the producer or the retailers to try to do a better job than the next man, and to sell cheaper, or to offer a better quality, or to work at other consumer inducements. In a controlled economy, the political bosses make the decisions, and the rest of the people can choose between liking it and lumping it.

The British government has established high prices on a long list of items because it wants to make a tremendous profit—which it does. In a free economy, by contrast, the man who tries to gain such a profit is hell-bent for bankruptcy. His business will simply go to other manufacturers or, in the case of retailing, to other stores. A compelling example of what competition does is found in the fact that, as a general rule, the profits are earned by retailers on each dollar of business done is smaller than it was in the OPA era.

No nation has ever had abundance—save for the inner few—under a controlled economy. All it gets is more and more scarcity.

Non-Partisan News Letter

By Gene Alleman
(Special to The Herald)

Because more people rely on newspapers for information than on other media, Michigan governors hold press conferences twice a day.

The governor discusses problems of state government with reporters. The daily newspaper, in the matter of hours, carries news on these developments.

Woes of Michigan grape growers were aired recently at a conference called by Governor G. Mennen Williams and covered by the press. Oddly enough, grape growers apparently boycotted the meeting, as none of them showed up. How to dispose of the 1949 grape crop was announced as the theme. Testimony was given to the effect that growers were demanding $100 a ton, whereas the Welch Grape Juice Company, leading processor, was willing to pay $75. Miles Nelson, state department of agriculture, said the 1949 crop was normal, no surplus existed, and the quality was not up to par. He also told this writer that California grape growers were getting $25 a ton.

Clarence Bolander, information chief of the agriculture department, said that 26 per cent of Michigan's grape crop was usually sold as fresh fruit; 6 per cent was purchased by housewives for jelly and jam; and the remainder was sold to processors for grape juice or wine.

A Detroit produce man reported the modern housewife shuns the chore of making jelly, preferring to purchase ready-made products from the corner grocery. He said the new generation apparently had new ideas, and that applied to Detroit's Italian section, too.

As the grape conference went round and round, getting nowhere fast, testimony quickly focused attention on the general problem of marketing Michigan food crops. It was revealed that Michigan's 1949 apple yield was 11 million bushels, as compared to 4 million bushels last year and a 10-year average of 6 million bushels.

Whereas the grape growers were apparently disinterested in state intervention, Michigan apple growers are very much interested. And yet the solution is not easy. For example, it was pointed out that many apple growers prefer to sell apples in bulk, not in smaller packages as preferred by many retailers and housewives.

Under state agricultural advertising law, any group of growers can qualify for limited state aid if they raise their own funds on a matching basis. Apple growers have done this for years. Furthermore, they raise a substantial sum of money annually by a 1-cent contribution on each bushel of apples sold. This fund is administered by the Michigan state apple commission.

Because of the 1949 bumper crop, which incidentally is of excellent quality, the state department of agriculture has offered to provide $4,000 from the department's special fund to augment the commission's program of promotion.

Minard Farley, Jr., enterprising secretary of the apple commission, said growers were seeking cooperation of Florida outlets in an effort to obtain an apple haulback for truckers who bring fresh citrus fruits to Michigan.

The Lake Michigan shore is one of the most important fruit belts in the United States. Grapes, peaches, apples and pears are concentrated here. Michigan ranks third in number of vines and peach trees and acreage of strawberries; fourth and fifth in number of apple and pear trees.

The hardier fruits, moreover, are widely distributed in the southern portion of the state. Romeo's peach festival is an example.

Michigan agriculture requires the efforts of many persons other than full-time farmers and family workers. In 1948 more than 50,000 seasonal workers were employed at the peak demand in August.

That's where the state of Michigan comes into the picture for inspection, marketing and advertising.

You will have an opportunity to enjoy Michigan apples this fall, winter and spring at attractive prices. As for grapes, the growers apparently patched up their difficulties, and all is well. At least we hope so.
